STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTIONS BEGIN TODAY

STUDENTS ATTEND OHIO CONVENTION ON PUBLIC AFFAIRS

Burton Gives Principle Speech Of Evening

Five Bowling Green students represented their university at the third annual Ohio Convention on Public Affairs held at Oberlin College, last Friday and Saturday. The delegates (Carl Hawver, chairman; Gene Beatty, Emerson Pelton, Ray Hoops, and Harold Goranson) battled sleet and snow drifts to arrive in Oberlin near noon, Friday. Fourteen other colleges were represented.

Immediately following the opening business meeting, Friday afternoon, the delegates split into eight panel groups, each electing its respective chairman. Bitter controversy waged in several of the more popular panels, as majority leaders tried to soften the minority opposition to the desired resolution.

Glen Jorgenson, general chairman of the convention, was a model toastmaster for the banquet held at Oberlin Inn, at 6:00, Friday evening. The convention delegates were welcomed by the president of Oberlin, and Mayor Harold Burton, of Cleveland, was introduced as speaker of the evening. Mr. Burton spoke entirely without notes. Even if the talk had not

Home Ec. Meet Attended By B. G. Students

A number of Bowling Green University students and graduates numbered among the two hundred attendants at the Annual Regional Student Conference of the Ohio Economics Association March 14. Students who attended were Florice Wray, Leona Fisher, Margaret Frost, Florence Howard, Doris Rice, Grace Heater, Mary E. Gray, Claribel Lee, Dorothy Alshouse, Ruth Alice Danklison, Emma Frietaugh, Jesse Zimmerman, Hilda Creek, Kathleen Amos, Betty Schutzberg, Helen Bermelleya, and Dorothy Miller.

Graduates of the University who attended with their clubs were: Viola Bates, Chesterfield high school; Minnie Milloff, Holgate high; Virginia Smith, Sylvania high; Bernice Detweiler, Tiffin high; Josephine Nicodemus, Tontogany high. Four other clubs that attended were those started by Bowling Green students.

Tours of the Toledo University campus and Art Museum, a luncheon, a tea, and morning and afternoon sessions were features of the day's entertainment.

State School Presidents Confer

Discuss Financial Difficulties

A conference of the presidents of the various state-supported institutions of learning was held at Columbus, March 16. The purpose of the conference was to ascertain, if possible, what was the best procedure to keep the institutions in operation with as little disturbance as possible due to lack of funds in certain classifications of the budget, notably educational supplies and equipment, library books, etc.

No feasible solution was reached although several hours were spent in discussing the situation and possible remedies. Many entanglements appear at this stage with the result that any plan which under ordinary conditions would seem workable runs into serious barriers.

The reason that these institutional heads failed to reach any program of further action is that the group felt that whatever remedy might be attempted would have to be initiated by the General Assembly and the Finance department. Any direct steps taken by the universities would be construed as backed by selfish considerations.

There will be no withdrawals in any of this university's activities if a little more flexibility is shown.

NEWS-BEE DEBATE CONTEST HELD

Students and faculty members of the University officiated at the sub-district News-Bee debate contest held here March 20. Loyal Gryting and Earl Cryer acted as chairman for the affirmative and negative speakers respectively. Dr. Nordmann, Mr. Perry, and Moses Lane, attorney, were judges for the affirmative. Dr. Allen, Dr. Martin, and Dr. Hoppes judged the negative arguments.

The winners chosen were Jennie-Bell Campbell, St. Joseph's high, Fremont, affirmative, and Ellen Omen, Liberty high, Findlay, negative. Other debaters were Mildred Hall, Liberty high, Findlay; Albert Stockmeier, Napoleon; Donald Kleckner, Clyde; Phyllis Schofield, Napoleon; Clair Hartley, Clyde.

Gold medals were presented to Miss Campbell and Omen. The final debate in the contest will be held at Rossford high, Toledo, in April.

How To Vote

Each student should vote for one man, one woman, and one other, either man or woman. The Election Board asks that the above rule be strictly adhered to. Ballots not so marked will not be counted.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB TO LEAVE ON TOUR

Will Give Concert

The University Men's Glee Club will leave Bowling Green on Sunday, March 29, for a concert tour of eleven towns in three days. They will appear in churches and high schools and give either sacred or secular concerts accordingly.

The itinerary as worked out by the manager, James Rohrbach, is as follows:

Bryan Presbyterian church, March 29.

Kunkle Presbyterian church, March 29.

Archbold High School, March 30.

NEW NATIONAL STUDENT GROUP ORGANIZED

Last December, the two leading American student organizations with progressive policies, the Student League for Industrial Democracy and the National Student League, effected an amalgamation to form the American Student Union.

The ASU thus becomes the first full alliance of progressives, liberals, and radicals on the American scene. It is a non-political movement with such objectives as "the attainment of permanent peace, the winning of greater economic security for students, the democratization of education, the fight for academic freedom", etc. Two immediate goals are the promotion of the third Student Strike against War on April 22 in which 350,000 students throughout the country are expected to participate, and passage of the American Youth Act to replace the insufficient and temporary NYA of the New Deal. Chapters of the ASU are being organized on every college campus of importance in the United States.

Social Science Department Split

A split will be made in the Social Science Department of the University in the near future. Two departments, one of economics, and the other, Sociology, will result from the division.

Nearby Firms Get Contracts

With the final contracts signed, the 1936 Key staff this week is bearing down on the actual preparation of the book. The engraving is being done by the Toledo branch of Jahn and Ollier, the photography by Tom Recker, B. G. S. U. Freshman from Perrysburg, and the printing by the Gray Printing Co. of Fostoria.

The photography has been progressing nicely for the last two weeks, and will be concluded for the most part by next Wednesday. Mr. Recker has had previous experience in this field since he did all the photography for the annual of Toledo Scott last year.

Members of the Junior class are urged to cooperate with photographer and Staff in the completion of the small group pictures this week.

All other classes, and organizations should watch the bulletin-board for schedule of group pictures with time and place.

The Key Staff will meet today at 4:00 P. M. in Mr. Crowley's room.

ALBION COLLEGE DEBATERS HERE

Two Albion College women's debate teams met Bowling Green in friendly debate here March 17. The debates were given as a part of the preparation of each college for the trip to Houston, Texas, later in the spring. Firm stands were maintained by the four teams which fact promises much for their success at Houston.

Members of the visiting teams were Margaret Ludwig and Kathryn Miller, affirmative; Thelma Wiedenhammer and Pauline Miller, negative. Bowling Green students on the opposing teams were Frances Woodworth and Emily Fisher, affirmative; Josephine Herman and Linda Dill, negative. Remarks helpful to the participants by Prof. Hance, of Albion and Prof. Carmichael were made at the close of each debate.

Grads Return To City

A number of graduates who are teachers in Northwestern Ohio attended the district meeting of music teachers held in Bowling Green, March 21. Messrs. Hilty and Richard, vocal and instrumental supervisors of Bowling Green schools, were hosts to the group.

FRESHMEN, SOPHOMORES VOTE FRIDAY

Faculty To Vote

Today, the elections for Bowling Green's first Student Council open as Juniors and Seniors ballot on their representatives. Because of the confusion that might result if the entire student-body voted on the same day, the Sophomore-Freshman elections will be held on Friday.

Juniors and Seniors voting today have a large field of candidates from which to choose their class delegates to the Council. Four Junior men (Earl Cryer, Carl Hawver, Bill Jansen, Wayne Phillips, Maurice Reeves) and three women (Rosemary Ketzenbarger; Mary Louise Lane, Martha Mackan) are running for the three positions in their class.

John Gaeth, Dale Kellogg, and Joseph Straley are the Senior men, and Donald MacDonald and Mary Van Fleet the Senior women candidates, of whom three will be elected.

Friday, March 27 is election-day for the Freshman and Sophomore classes. They will choose their representatives from the following nominees:

When You Vote—

Nominations have been made and it is now up to the students of this University to choose those who will act as their representatives in the Student Council.

Mark Twain once said that nobody's opinion was worth a brass farthing, but here is an opportunity to make your opinions count. There is no democracy without the privilege to vote—to render your wishes; and voting is no privilege unless you interest yourself and make use of it. The biggest popular vote this nation ever rolled up (1932, 38½ million) was less than half of the total electorate. Is Democracy slipping from us? We cry about "machine government", but is that a good reason for not voting? (Or is any reason a good one?)

When this Student Council is in office, you must abide by its decisions and follow its regulations. It is only sensible that you take your part in forming it. Besides, it is a very, very new organization and its policies for years to come may be heavily influenced by this first election. So it's up to you!

Shall We Cheat?

An honest student who tries to learn and gain desirable knowledge in most cases is a "C" student. Why? For the simple reason that he acquires applicable knowledge and does not concentrate beating the system. The student who learns to beat the system is the one who gets the high marks. This does not apply in all cases because I know of a few students who get high grades honestly.

I observed a peculiar situation in a test a short time ago. One of the notorious cribbers was in competition with a loyal classmate. During the preceding recitation periods the dishonest student could not carry on an intelligent conversation of the subject matter, while his rival contributed freely and intelligently. Through-out the six weeks test the true student wrote his exam paper to the best of his knowledge, while the fake watched his chance and copied from the book. When the grades were given out an unjustified and unearned "A" and a hard earned "C" were the grades of these two particular students. Perhaps the honest student didn't deserve more than a "C" since the test was not quoted "verbatim". Really, if this is fair we should cheat, memorize, and quote and not weigh and consider the material that we read. As a result one more student will be added to the list of "grade getters and non-learners". Any one can get a "C" and not study, so copy the text and get an "A".

I am glad to say that in one of my classes there is an honest group of learners. We have an honor system and practically no cheating takes place. The professor does not care where we sit, but by force of habit we get beyond reading distance of contestant papers. No one turns in perfect (verbatim) papers, and no one flunks. Consequently your grades are fair and directing because your chance on examination is the same as the other students. If there were more professors of this type in this University every student would learn more and honesty would prevail.

As I see it, cheating is not justified in a group of intelligent and honest students. But, where one cheats everyone should be given the same privilege since grades are based upon test papers that contain exact book answers. Is there no other means of testing? Should examinations require exact book answers? I wonder if the methods and attitudes of our instructors forces a student to cheat in order that he may pass a course. Professors and students what do you think?

Letters To The Editor

My dear hater of local students:

A few weeks ago you wrote an article which has caused much unfavorable comment in local circles. You asserted that Bowling Green High School students are favored by the faculty and by the critic teachers.

Such a statement is absurd. It is common knowledge that going out of town to college gives one a new start, in which previous mistakes and reputations are unknown. Did it even occur to the writer that Bowling Green students who had a poor record in high school and those who are disliked by the college faculty, are seriously handicapped when they attend B. G. S. U.? Perhaps, a few are discriminated against, as well as favored.

I will admit that Bowling Green High School students, as a rule, do far better work, and therefore, receive better grades than the majority of our student body. Why is this true? It is true simply because the local high school gives much better and more valuable college preparatory work than the average high school. Many of those who attend B. G. S. U. have been the victims of such poor high school training that they don't know what college is all about. The local high school teachers not only draw their salary, but they even do some teaching on the side. From the recent products of rural high schools one can see that all a country teacher needs is a dictionary and a toothbrush.

If it were not for the local students and a few more like them, Bowling Green State University's student body would consist entirely of those who are tired of tilling the soil—think they belong in college when in reality they belong behind the plow.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS

been a very interesting discussion of our present political situation, we would still have been delighted to hear a politician who really had something to say, and the ability to say it without reading it from a script.

Saturday morning found members of each panel straining at their leashes, for an opportunity to present their resolution and have them accepted by the convention.

In many cases open warfare was declared when the chairman of a panel gave his report. Minority interests grafted major changes on resolutions, in the form of craftily worded amendments. Lobbying, log-rolling, and parliamentary tricks were used by zealous enthusiasts in behalf of their cause.

Some of the problems discussed in panel, were: traffic, marriage laws, birth control, taxation, unicameralism, city government, labor unions, and other questions of current interest.

Due to the extensive discussion on several of the more popular questions, the convention was extended into an afternoon session. In a business meeting at the close of the convention Dennison University was chosen as the hosts for the

Your editorial of some weeks ago, which I know was not your brain-child, was an unnecessary and inexcusable torrent of abuse, destruction, and unfair arguments.

There was but one constructive suggestion: "If the students would stick together, they would accomplish wonders."

The writer did not foresee that his abuse would encourage them to stick together for but one thing—opposing him.

His remarks, though possibly true, were guilty of the same offense which he so dislikes—"growling" . . .

Let us be both fundamentalists and constructionists! I suggest that the students be invited to reflect on what their school means to them and they to it rather than be invited to go to a warmer locale. (You should hear our friend growl about the cold weather and what fools people are to live in a climate like this!)

We are judged by our school, and our school is judged by our conduct and attitudes while we are here. If we have helped "keep the faith", if we have been respectful of our school, courteous to our profs. and fellow-students, and helpful in keeping the campus beautiful, and if we have attempted at all times to improve our school—cooperating with those who would do the same,—if we have done all these things, we shall not have done them in vain. For even if we remain a minority, our efforts will be recognized by outsiders as improvements in the school: the school will be more respected: we, as graduates, will be better received: eventually, we shall look back on our going here as a good thing—for us and society.

This may be what our friend had in mind. If so, he should have appended it to his abuse. Besides, it's a funny thing about abuse, but each and everyone of us who read that editorial thought the author was speaking of "the other guy"—not us.

Yours for more thought and less "abuse",

Marcus Aurelius

Assembly

Latin students of the University and high school combined their knowledge and efforts in presenting a characteristic program commemorating the bi-millennium of the birthdate of the poet, Horace, March 18. A fitting atmosphere was created by use of appropriate setting and costume and the native tongue of the famous poet. The comprehension and interest of the audience was maintained by explanations and tonal as well as physical gestures. With the smooth perfection of classical times these students demonstrated that they had attained the spirit as well as the knowledge of their subject.

The program was prepared under the leadership of Miss Nielsen and Miss Robson, heads of the Latin departments in the two institutions.

1937 Convention, and Van Meter, of Dennison, was named chairman of that convention.

FRATERNITIES

Commoners

Friends and fellow students! Another six weeks work is behind us and the second semester is well under way. The Commoners are a bit proud of what we consider the finest group of pledges that have ever started the trick toward full Commonership. They are: Richard Spitler, Jack Myers, Elmer Cryer, Kermit Long, Gaylord Wells, Ralph Myers, Roland Morris, Paul Businger, Marcus Chilcote, Paul Pfister, Raymond Light, Frederick Bistline, Dwight Nofziger, Donald McCrory, Don Maglott, Paul Moore, Cal Kellogg, George Walker, and Robert Hendricks. Friends of the sororities, if you have any odd jobs or errands, perhaps one of these fellows could do it for you. If so, give us a ring at the Commoner house.

We have just enough space for one "Commoner Close-up". We will begin with a Senior. Raymond Hoops—alias Butch or Cecil—claims distant relationship to "Hannibal Hoops" of Little Abner fame. Debater and football manager '34-'35. English—major. Industrial Arts—minor. Hobby is clipping valuable pictures from Rotogravure sections. Hopes to travel in Europe after he has taught a few years.

Prexy Addresses A. A. U. P. CRITERIA FOR SCHOOLS DISCUSSED

President Williams, the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the American Association of University Professors, addressed the group upon the topic, "The Function and Methods of Standardizing Agencies for Higher Education."

"In order to establish closer relations between secondary schools and colleges there have developed in various sections of the country associations composed of representatives of institutions of both levels. Six such associations of colleges and secondary schools are well established. All the states of the Union except Nevada are included in one or another of these associations.

In our particular territory we have the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools whose territory extends from Buffalo to Denver and from the Great Lakes to the Ohio River including Missouri.

In 1895 the membership of North Central Association was limited to one hundred and fifty. It took this body ten years to define the term "college", and "high school" for purposes of classifications. This association finally evolved standards which obtained until 1934, with the result that the majority of the high schools offer uniform four year courses, have more adequately prepared faculty, and necessary equipment with which they can satisfactorily complete secondary education. Colleges have raised their standards and are no longer offering secondary work.

Since 1934 changes and modifications are being made in the methods of procedure. In 1916 there were two groups of colleges—Normal colleges and Arts colleges. Today both are placed on equal footing. There is a tendency to encourage initiative and experiment in education. The new plan is not perfect but is considered an improvement over the old in that more data is included and a more liberal attitude is noted.

The criteria for judgment of schools are set up by two commissions, one made up of delegates from colleges and the other of delegates from high schools. The association is not organized and cannot force any program. It operates entirely by prestige. For example teachers in high schools of the north central association must be graduates of N. C. A. colleges and students in N. C. A. colleges must be graduates of N. C. A. high schools. There may be some domination but the unification is helpful.

Election Held

K. P. C. met Wednesday evening March 11, in 103 A.

Officers were elected for next year including Miss Margaret Billings, president; Miss Ruth Ellen Mounts, vice-president, and Miss Ruth Gay, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Crowley was guest speaker. Miss Marilyn Holmden gave a special musical program.

After the program, refreshments were served.

Club Entertains

The Faculty Women's Club was entertained at a St. Patrick's Day party given at the Women's Club Dining Room, March 12. A meal amid seasonal decorations and the regular business comprised the program of the evening. Members of the program committee were Dr. Todd, Misses Shaw, Scruggs, Gray, and Ordway.

Students Chosen

Two students have recently been chosen to represent their classes on the Social Committee of the University. Elizabeth Gaeth has been chosen by the Freshman class as their representative. Arlene Gill will fill the unexpired term of Meltha Carter, Senior representative, who withdrew from school.

Quill Type News

The Quill-Type met Wednesday, March 18 in Recital Hall. The college quartet, composed of Raymond Current, Kermit Long, James Platt, and Tennis Huyek, sang the following:

"Passing By"—Purcell
"All Day on the Prairie"—(Texas Cowboy Song)—David W. Guion
"Po Little Lamb"—J. A. Parks

The quartet was accompanied by Mr. Fauley at the piano. An amendment to the constitution was presented and passed.

A movie film titled, "The Making of the 'New York Sun'" was shown. Mr. Knepper exhibited a huge special edition of the "New York Sun".

Character Will End Series

Mr. Harold Gray, who is the "character" in the book, "Character Bad", will be the speaker at the Westminster Club next Sunday evening. This will be the closing address of the Institute on Interracial and International Problems which has been offered at the Presbyterian Church in the past eight weeks.

President Kenneth Brown of Hiram College is the author of the book, which is centered around the war experiences of Mr. Gray. While many will not agree with Mr. Gray on his stand against the war systems, everyone has respected him because of his willingness to suffer whatever hardships were necessary in order to remain true to his convictions.

The subject of Mr. Gray's address will be "One Man's Answer to the Problem of International Strife".

Everyone seemed pleased with our formal. The decorations were very suggestive of Spring—pink and white blossoms, yellow Forsythia, and a few real Daffodils. Punch and cookies were served. The floor was perhaps too slippery but that only served to make the dancing better. Grandma Dalton seemed to enjoy her Gardenias.

SOPHS CAPTURE TRACK MEET

Victors Take Six Firsts

The largest and most successful interclass track meet was held in the gym last Wednesday night. Each class was well represented with men in every event and the Sophomores won an overwhelming victory with the Frosh finishing second, Seniors third and the Juniors fourth.

The Sophomores won with 49 points, the Frosh had 32, the Seniors 25 and the Juniors trailing with 20. Four records were broken and one was tied during the evening by many future varsity track stars.

Bob Young, a Sophomore, won the 40 yard dash in the fast time of :4.7. Jonsey Ihnat, a Junior won the shot put with a heave of 35 ft. 10 in. George Rozzelle, a Frosh turned in a record breaking victory in the mile run in edging out Pelton a Sophomore. His time of 5:13 was :07.8 better than the old record.

B. G. S. U. is to be represented by a baseball team this spring. Coach Steller called out all fellows interested and many responded . . . due to the lack of a playing field all games will be played away from home . . . the schedule will consist of six or seven games . . . Early conditioning is being carried on in the gym till the weather permits outside drills . . . Football practice is still being held in the gym with the lineman getting onto the finer points in blocking and the backfield getting its work in perfecting plays . . . "Jim" Inman next year's captain is usually the first one at practice and limbers up by skipping the rope . . . Punting into the net keeps him occupied for quite a while . . . His punting partner is usually Kinney with Coach Ockerman giving out some useful pointers . . . Coach Landis has about 35 men out for varsity track and this number is far more than has reported in previous years . . . the fellows seem to take more of an interest in track this year which of course is gratifying to the coach . . . the first intercollegiate meet will be held Saturday night in the gym with Detroit Tech furnishing the opposition.

INTRAMURAL OBSERVER

by Donald E. McCrory

Today the Freshman and Sophomore track squads will engage in a duo-meet scheduled to start at 4 P. M. in the men's gymnasium. This combination should make an interesting meet inasmuch as the Sophomores won first place and the Freshmen second in last week's interclass meet. Both squads appear to be in perfect condition following a week of diligent training.

In the interclass meet last week the Freshmen won three first places, scoring a total of 32 points, just 17 under the Sophs who scored 49 points to win. The Freshmen winners and their respective events are as follows:

440 yd. dash—S. Rower

½ mile relay—R. Basinger, C. Frank, G. Rigdon, S. Rower.

1 mile run—R. Rozelle

Varsity B. G. Club Meets

Last Thursday evening the Varsity B. G. held a meeting which was well attended. Committees were nominated to put over the athletic carnival, and a big show is promised.

A report from the treasurer revealed a prosperous club in the midst of depression, thanks to the cooperation of the "ice cream bar boys" and the "sweet loving co-eds".

Club pins were examined and discussed and notice was given that March 20 was the deadline for the payment of dues.

Blanket awards are to be given to the Seniors who have won the required number of Varsity letters.

Watch for announcements of the big Athletic Carnival. It is going to be a show you can't afford to miss.
