Modified Attendance System Being Used On Trial Basis

A modified system of dealing with class attendance is being used on a trial basis this year, according to Dean of Administration Ralph G. Harshman. The rules for class attendance, as listed in the University catalog, are still technically in effect, Harshman stated, and this modified system might be considered a change in procedure.

In a memorandum to faculty members Sept. 25, Dean of Faculties J. R. Overman listed the following procedure for handling student class attendance:

Daily reports on attendance are to be made by faculty to the registrar's office. All absences are to be recorded as unexcused unless the student presents an excused absence blank from the office of the Dean of Students. The responsibility for obtaining and presenting these excuses rests with the student.

The faculty member is to notify the dean of the college in which the student is enrolled when he feels that the student's total absences, excused and/or unexcused, are endangering his academic performance or the morale of the class, the memorandum stated.

The dean of the college would officially notify a student if he is to be dropped from a course for absences which the instructor considers endangering his academic record or the class morale.

Dean Harshman explained that the former practice of giving double cuts for absences at the last class meeting before vacation would not be in effect under this modified system.

He also stated that the former ruling of unlimited cuts for students on the Dean's list is no longer effective.

Under the attendance regulations listed in the University catalog, excused or unexcused absences from class are generally limited to two more per semester than the number of times the class meets each week. Dean Harshman said that the registrar's office notifies the instructor if a student exceeds the number of absences he is permitted, under the catalog regulations.

This fall the Faculty Council presented four possible plans of class absences to the entire faculty for a vote. The results of this vote and the four plans are now being studied by the Executive Council.

June Graduates To Register Monday

Pre-registration for the second semester begins Monday, Nov. 30 for students who expect to graduate in June 1954, August 1954, or February 1955.

Seniors should make an appointment with the dean of their college between Nov. 30 and Dec. 9. Students enrolled in the College of Liberal Arts should also make an appointment with their advisors during this period. Seniors majoring in music in the College of Education should see Prof. Merrill C. McEwen of the music department prior to their appointment with the dean of the College of Education.

Juniors, sophomores, and freshmen will meet with their advisors from Dec. 10 to Jan. 13. Completed schedule envelopes are to be submitted to the Office of the Registrar during the pre-registration period. Students who do not pre-register will not be permitted to arrange a schedule of classes until the final registration days for the spring semester which are Feb. 1 and 2.

Freshman Publishes Poem In Anthology

"In Peril," a poem written by Elizabeth Applegate, a freshman at the University, has been accepted for publication in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry. The Anthology is a compilation of the finest poetry written by the college men and women of America, representing every section of the country.

Forum To Discuss Class Attendance; Four Plans Studied

Student absences from class will be the topic of a Student Senate - sponsored forum discussion Tuesday, Dec. 8, Richard Daley, chairman of the affair, has announced.

Four plans for handling class attendance will be discussed by panel members, Daley said. Members of the panel have not yet been chosen.

The University executive council is at present studying four plans for handling student "cuts" from classes, and these will be used in the discussion.

Students will be allowed to ask questions and voice their opinions on the various plans on a questionnaire.

Members of the committee planning the panel are Student Senators Jean Goldinger, Robert Bostick, Sally Schmidt, Sue Carlisle, and Roger Kasten.

Senators Hear Talk On NSA From Delegate

Joseph Saunders, regional chairman for the Ohio-Indiana district of the National Student Association, explained at length to Student Senate Monday night what NSA can do for Bowling Green. Saunders, a student at Notre Dame University, is visiting this region and was invited by Senate to stop off during the trip and speak here.

He pointed out that the functions of NSA are divided into four fields: international, national, regional, and campus. Saunders spoke briefly on the first three areas in order to concentrate his remarks on the local level. He did state, "NSA represents you all over the world as the voice of American students." He added that it gathers and distributes ideas on a national scale, conducts a leadership training program, publishes a national newspaper, and holds a national convention each summer in one of the 20 NSA regions composed of approximately 350 colleges and universities.

At campuses throughout the country, NSA has established a student service which enables students to get merchandise discounts from local merchants by purchasing a discount card from the student governing body. Senator Bruce Gethin questioned him concerning the clause in the preamble to the NSA constitution which advocates the elimination of discrimination from campus organizations.

Saunders explained that resolutions adopted at the national convention by the member schools are not binding on the individual campuses, but are recommendations of procedure. NSA can not force the organizations to do anything against their will.

Paint Company Plans Senior Interviews

Eugene O. Chandler, assistant director of the bureau of appointments, has announced that during the week of Dec. 1, the Glidden Paint Co. and the Lazarus Co. will be on campus to interview students.

The Lazarus representative, William L. Bergman, will be on campus Dec. 1, and Robert McKay, Glidden representative, will be here Dec. 3. Mr. Chandler remarked that this will be the week following Thanksgiving vacation and therefore interested students should make interview appointments before leaving for vacation.

Next week the Chevrolet Co., of the Cleveland Division of General Motors, will be on campus.

News Takes Vacation Will Be Back Dec. 4

This is the last issue of the B-G News until after Thanksgiving vacation. No paper will be published Tuesday.

A special feature section will be added to the next regular edition, Friday, Dec. 4. This section will contain features of all types, written by students in Journalism 303 and the B-G News staff members.

Students Approved For Sub-Committees

At Monday's session, Senate, upon the recommendation of the reviewing committee, approved four sub-committees to the public relations group. Susan Moran, Peggy Payne, and Nancy Fleming were placed on the Senate relations committee. Clark Brown, William Luallen, and Connie Wood will serve on the research committee. Publicity will be handled by Gladys Freiderking, Alice Wojton, Henrietta Ellis, Eunice Cunningham, and Charles Hodges. Senate rallies will be aided by Janice Crouch, Janet Albers, Raymond Dyer, and Joanne Michel.

The two motions introduced by Richard Daley last week were approved by Senate. The first called for the purchase of two dozen copies of "Parliamentary Procedure Made Easy" for distribution to the Senate members. His second motion established an order of procedure for bills initiated by the executive committee. All bills must be numbered and titled, signed by the author, and given to the Senate secretary before introduction at Senate meeting.

An opening for sergeant-at-arms exists, Senate Pres. Charles Green announced. Interested freshman students should consult him. The constitution of the Secretarial Club was delegated to the Senate parliamentarian, Herbert Collier, for his approval.

Pember Foresman, vice president of Rho Sigma Mu, radio honorary; Charles Hornaday, former president of Delta Sigma, men's honorary in journalism; and Donald Hammerstrom, present president of Delta Sigma, congratulate Mr. Thomas on his narration presented in the Men's Gym Sunday evening.

Lowell Thomas Narration Tells Story Of Research In 'Ice Field'

By GERALD MURRAY

Lowell Thomas narrated "The Ice Men," a movie taken during one of his less publicized expeditions into the snow fields of Alaska, Sunday evening in the second Artist Series program.

The movie describes the Ice Field Research Project which is centered on a 750 square mile field near Juneau, Alaska.

Pres. Ralph W. McDonald introduced Mr. Thomas as "a ubiquitous Buckeye," meaning that he is a man who is everywhere at the same time. Pres. McDonald had qualified his statement in a detailed introduction which revealed that Mr. Thomas, other than being the most listened to news commentator and narrator in the U. S., has four earned college degrees plus several honorary degrees. Pres. McDonald also said Thomas

Wilberforce Seminary Singers To Give Concert Here Sunday

THE PAYNE SINGERS

Group Plans Sing In Main Auditorium

Payne Singers from Payne Theological Seminary, at Wilberforce, will give a concert at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 22, in the Main Auditorium. The concert is sponsored by the United Christian Fellowship. There will be a free will offering during the evening.

The group will sing "Adoramus Te" by Palestrina, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach, "Ave Maria" by Arcadelt, "O Word of God Incarnate" arranged by Hungerford, "Jesu, Priceless Treasure" by Bach, "Bless the Lord of My Soul" by Iloltov Ivanov, "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte, and "Rise Up, O Men of God" by Reed and Culver.

Also to be sung are "Where'er You Walk" by Handel, "Now Thank We All Our God" by Crueger, "A Prayer of Thanksgiving" a Dutch Folk Song, "Meadow Lands" by Knipper, and "You'll Never Walk Alone," arranged by Ringwald.

Spirituals consisting of "Honor, Honor," "His Name So Sweet," "Certainly Lord," "Somebody's Calling My Name," "Been In The Storm," "Joshua Fit de Battle of Jericho," "Hallelujah, Amen," from "Oratoria Judas Maccabeus," by Handel.

Three solos will be sung during the program. One by Cloyd Trouth, tenor, another by Melvin Campbell, baritone, and the last by Raymond Andrews, tenor.

Allen To Give Recital In Aud. Monday Night

Warren Allen, assistant professor of music, will present a concert in the PA Auditorium Monday evening at 8:15.

The program will be: Part one, "Ich habe genug, Cantata No. 82" by Bach. Part two, "Leider" (Wohl den ich oft, Alles endet, was entstehet, Fuhr meine Seele) by Wolf. Part three, "The Fields Are Full" by Ivor Gurney, "Orpheus with his Lute" by Williams, and "Mountains" by Rasbach.

According to Albert Schweitzer, the theme of the Cantata No. 82 is death which makes unparalleled demands on the dramatic imagination of the singer who would depict convincingly this transition from the resigned expectation of death to the jubilant longing for death.

The selections in part two might well be considered as Wolf's own epitaph for they were the last ever written by him. The music was composed to go with original sonnets by Michaelangelo.

The third part of the program features an interesting treatment of the same subject by two different composers in two different interpretations. Both selections are based on Shakespeare's version of the story of Orpheus in the Underworld. All four of the composers in this group are contemporary.

Accompanying Mr. Allen in this concert will be William Alexander and Gerald McLaughlin, violins; Merrill McEwen, viola; Phyllis Carpenter, violoncello; Richard Ecker, oboe; and Lenora Cohen, continuo. All are members of the Bowling Green music department.

View IFC Meeting

Cleveland Tickets On Sale Today At Travel Bureau

Today is the last day to obtain tickets for the bus to Cleveland on Nov. 25, David Nicholls, chairman of the Alpha Phi Omega travel bureau, announced. Tickets will be sold from 9 to 12 and 1 to 4 p.m. in the north side of the Well. Ticket price is $4.

The Cleveland bus, which seats 37, will leave the Ad. Bldg. at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday. The Dayton bus has been cancelled because not enough tickets were sold, Nicholls said.

There will be no chartered trains for Thanksgiving. However, three or more students going to New York or Buffalo on the same train may get a slight reduction on the ticket price by calling Nicholls, 4091, or the APhiO lounge, 31564. Tickets to Cleveland by bus may also be obtained by calling the APhiO number.

Betty Bellaire, Kappa Delta; Beverly Curry, Kohl Hall; Patricia Lash, Alpha Xi Delta; Nancie Mannheim, Gamma Phi Beta; Marilyn Paulhus, Alpha Phi; and Thora Tait, Alpha Chi Omega, were chosen as the six Key Queen finalists. The election was held Wednesday in the Nest, where 1177 students voted for Key Queen and Key King.

Six Key King finalists are James Ladd, Phi Delta Theta; William Cunningham, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Richard Thomas, Delta Tau Delta; Ted Lazas, Delta Upsilon; Sam McCoy, Theta Chi; and Gerry Van Barga, Falcon Hall.

Upperclass student senators were also voted upon. A total of 828 upperclassman elected William Bittner, Herbert Collier, and Richard Mahoney as their representatives.

One Act Play Set For Drama Clinic

A one-act play using arena staging will be presented for the Drama Clinic, Nov. 21, announced the director, Robert Richey, assistant professor of speech.

Those in the play include Carolyn O'Connor, Larry Selka, Daniel Wawrzyniak, Richard Shaw, Robert Smith, Maxine Brown, and Janine Vescelius. Dolores Kolt-hoff is assistant director and Eunice Cunningham is head of properties.

The play "Good Housekeeping," written by William McCleery, tells of the antics of wife, daughter, and friends to induce Charles Burmet, the college president, to enter politics despite of his disapproval. It is originally a three-act play, Professor Richey said, but for the clinic it was cut to one act.

A Phi O Schedules Bloodmobile Visit

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit the Bowling Green campus again Dec. 8, announced Edward Thal, chairman of the Alpha Phi Omega blood bank committee.

The bloodmobile will be here from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The quota has been set at 125 pints. On the first visit this year 143 pints were collected.

Students over 18 but under 21 need to have their parents sign the parental release form. Forms can be obtained for students who wish to take them home with them for their parent's signature over Thanksgiving vacation by contacting Thal, 37824, or the A Phi O lounge, 31564.

Panel On Cuts

Student Senate is making plans to give students information and provide them with an opportunity to air their views via a questionnaire on a subject dear to their hearts: handling of absences on class attendance. A panel discussion on various plans will be held Dec. 8, under Senate sponsorship.

Student Senators have realized that this topic is one in which every student has an interest and one which he will undoubtedly have an opinion. Exact format for the discussion has not yet been decided but the discussion will include an explanation of the plans now being considered by the University executive council. Students will be allowed to express their opinions concerning the plans.

A modified system of absences is now being used on a trial basis. The executive council is studying four possible plans, including the present system. A vote of the faculty on its preference of the system was taken, and the results of that vote were turned over to the executive council for consideration.

A report on the feeling of the students on these cut systems could very well be presented to the executive council. Student opinions, based on the correct information obtained at the discussion, could be of value to the council in understanding the student feeling.

This panel discussion will give the student body a complete understanding of what is being done, and give them a chance to express their opinions. Such an action indicates an alert Senate, responsive to the needs of the students it represents.

Inter-Dorm, Off-Campus Association Organizes

Purposes of the Interdormitory and Off-Campus Association were explained at a mixer Friday in the Women's Bldg. Nearly 200 students, entertained by games and dancing, heard the proposed intentions of the association, now in the process of organization.

The purposes of the new group are fourfold: to sponsor campus mixers and dances; to organize interdormitory and off-campus exchange parties, dances, and mixers; to serve as a channel between members and the administration; and to cooperate with groups on campus to create an all-campus spirit.

Plans were begun this fall by 20 students interested in increasing the social life of the University. A constitution, now in preparation, will be submitted to Student Senate for approval. If it is accepted, membership in the organization will be opened to all students for a nominal monthly fee. Funds will be used to pay for activities.

Tentative plans include a representative council in which approximately every 20 members will be represented by a councilman. John Cold is head of the organization.

Booklet Listing Student Activities Information Issued

A Directory of Student Activities has been issued by the Office of Student Activities, according to Stuart Givens, coordinator of student activities.

This booklet lists campus organizations in five categories: Honorary and Professional, Departmental, Special Interest, Religious, and Student Government. Each list contains the groups' advisers and their president or leader.

Last year the booklet was printed in alphabetical order. Mr. Givens asks that all student organizations turn in the names of its advisers and presidents to him after their spring elections. This will aid in compiling the information in next year's booklet.

Orders Taken For January Cap, Gown

Cap and Gown measurements for January seniors are being taken at the Book Store between Nov. 20 and 24.

The rose beds north of the Nest have been replanted in back and to the north of the Ad. Bldg.

The Shady Corner

The late Uncle Joe Cannon, while speaker of the House of Representatives, was telling Chauncey M. Depew about a fish he'd almost caught.

"About the size of a whale, wasn't it?" breathed Mr. Depew softly.

"Son," murmured Uncle Joe solemnly, "I was baitin' with whales?"

ROSE BRUNO

Rose Bruno To Sing Messiah Alto Lead

Miss Rose Bruno has been engaged to sing the alto lead in the Dec. 13 performance of "The Messiah," according to Dr. James Paul Kennedy. Although Miss Bruno has never appeared in Bowling Green, she has a wide background of study and personal appearance in Toledo. She has studied at Otterbein College School of Music, Mary Manse College, and The Chatham Square Music School.

Miss Bruno's personal appearances include work with the Toledo Orchestra, Toledo Choral Society, Toledo Municipal Band, Toledo Museum Monday Musicals, Eurydice Club, and Mu Phi Epsilon. Last summer she attended Interlochen National Music Camp where Mu Phi Epsilon dedicated the latest lodge. She also sang a program of solo work.

Other soloists for "The Messiah" who have been announced previously are: Glenn Schnitke, professor of voice at Baldwin-Wallace conservatory, tenor; Mrs. Janice Schmidt, soprano, and Warren Allen, associate professor of music at Bowling Green, bass.

Thomas

appearances with, "watch it, Al—danger ahead." But each time a brief glimpse of a picture would flash onto the screen before Al could cut the scene from the screen.

The studies of the 50-year research program are numerous, but in general the scientists are studying the glacial ice in the field on which the camps are located. From the research data accumulated at the time Mr. Thomas visited the camp, the scientists had discovered that most of the glaciers are receding, and the earth is in a process of warming up.

Sensitive Objects
The ultimate goal of the project is to discover from the glaciers the ultimate causes of climatic changes which the earth is experiencing. Glaciers are said to be the most sensitive objects for climatic research.

The movie described the life of the camp which is isolated to the point that all supplies must be dropped from the air. The only entrance is by plane.

The research on weather conditions is not the only study carried on in the camps. Geologists study the outcrops of bedrock. The Air Force used the ice field for experimentation of dropping supplies and landing on the ice fields. Plants that were found there in the ice were also studied.

Some of the most beautiful scenes of the movie were taken inside of the giant crevasses of the ice field. Scenes which showed cathedral-like rooms and tunnels were found at the bottom of many of the crevasses which reached depths of 100 feet.

The evening proved to be significantly educational and entertaining, especially because it was personally narrated by the most famed voice in the world.

80 Geology Students Meet, Study Valleys, Hills, Mines

Approximately 80 geology students from 5 northern Ohio colleges assembled near a stream-cut valley on the outskirts of Cleveland Saturday morning to start a full day of studying valleys, hills, and mines.

Case Institute of Technology, Ohio Wesleyan University, Western Reserve University, Kent State University, and Bowling Green were represented, with Bowling Green having the most representatives, with 27 students. They were accompanied by Dr. Samuel M. Mayfield, head of the geology department, and John R. Coash, assistant professor of geology. There were approximately 10 students, and their instructors, from each of the other universities.

Quarry Studied

A large sandstone quarry at South Amherst was one highlight of the trip. It was observed that the removal of millions of tons of this sandstone (from several square miles of once flat land) had left this rugged, pitted valley of sheer, white sandstone cliffs. "The man-made 'holes' are from two to three hundred feet in depth," remarked a guide from the Cleveland Quarry Company. Students spent the greater part of the afternoon studying this quarry.

It was learned that sandstone is removed by steam-driven saws, dynamite, and cranes. The clear blue-green lakes at the bottom of the quarry, (which had "no swimming" signs around them) were formed by underground streams that were exposed by removal of sandstone. One of the quarry's sandstone-cutting mills was also toured.

Bowling Green geology students making the trip were Jeanne Michel, David John, Ellen Bush, William Carlson, Al Hewitt, Richard Gerber, Lyle Lauber, Herbert Hackenbush, Roma Parsons, Kenneth Like, David Slough, Michael McEwen, and James Scott.

Also included were James Orchard, Roberta Leech, John Hummel, Robert Smith, Barbara Bedette, Herbert Meeker, Donald Hosmer, Stanley Steed, Gene Fikstus, Jay Metzger, Anthony Mancini, David Hamilton, Robert Martin, and David Grenert.

'Andy' To Introduce Cagers At Rally

A new type of pep rally will be initiated Dec. 3 for the 1953-54 basketball team. It has been labeled "Operation Preview Rally" by the Boosters Club, the sponsoring organization.

The combination pep rally and preview of the players will begin at 4 p.m. in the Men's Gym. The rally will kick-off the cage season with the opening game of the season the next night against the University of Detroit.

The preview of the players will include Coach Harold Anderson introducing the 16-man team. Following this, the team will be split up for a 15-minute scrimmage game.

One of the teams in the scrimmage will include the first eight men on the line-up. They are: Jim Gerber, Al Bianchi, Clarence Yackey, Lou Drago, Bill Rogers, George Reis, Bill Sherin, and Wally Server.

The second half of the team that will form the opposition are Jim Ladd, Jack Hecker, Max Chapman, Dave Gallapoo, Dick Straight, Phil Seker, Jim Reid, and Dick Johoske.

After this 15-minute scrimmage, "Andy" will take out the first 8 men and let JV Coach Dale Herbert go to work on the second half of the varsity with his 11 man crew.

Greek Championship Tilt Halted At Half

The Sigma Chi - Sigma Alpha Epsilon championship fraternity football game played Tuesday was called at the half because of unsportsmanlike conduct on the part of both teams.

According to David Matthews, director of intramurals, the football season is over and no fraternity football champion will be named. Also there will be no fraternity-independent campus championship game this year.

The issue concerning the game is now closed, as is the 1953 football season. Contrary to rumors Coach Matthews is not doing away with intramural football at Bowling Green. "I don't feel that it would gain anything," said Matthews. "The teams must learn to play together in a sportsmanlike manner, and abolishing football would not help in any way."

Jim Ladd, Bradshaw Honored By Players

Bill Bradshaw and Jim Ladd were honored this week as the outstanding 1953 football players on the Bowling Green squad by their teammates.

Bradshaw, the Falcon quarterback, received the most valuable player award, and Ladd won the outstanding lineman award, as voted by the backfield.

Last year Ladd won the little all-American award for his outstanding play. Bradshaw, often called BG's "one-man" backfield, not only sparked the Falcons as a passer, but topped top honors in the Mid-American Conference in passing and kicking.

The Falcon quarterback is the number one punter in the small college division with a 44-yard average for 50 kicks. This mark is only seven-tenths of a yard off the NCAA record set by Jim Washington of Morehouse College in 1940.

Ladd once again led BG in pass receiving, and according to Coach Robert Whittaker has improved his defensive play from game-to-game.

BG Cagers Await Detroit Tilt; Game To Open Falcon Season

By PETE RAY

The long-awaited 1953-54 Bowling Green basketball season gets into full swing Thursday, Dec. 3, when the University of Detroit's young squad tangles with the Falcons in the Men's Gym.

At the guards Detroit will be a bit shallow in depth. Of the five returning lettermen, only one, junior George Fefles, has had previous varsity experience in the outer court position. Sophomores Dan Halling and Ralph Goldstein are the top candidates to fill the opening.

All-American Candidate

Guy Sparrow, highest scoring sophomore in Detroit's history last year and a candidate for all-America this season, is the top offensive threat for the Titans. The 6-foot, 5-inch junior has a variety of dazzling shots, most of which he displayed against the local quintet last year in Detroit. He nearly pulled the game out of the fire with a 27-point outburst.

Roger Duddleston and Ken Prather, both 6-feet, 4-inch juniors, will fight it out for the other starting forward spot. Another junior, 6-foot, 6-inch Bob Decker, will attempt to fill the shoes of Detroit's fine center of 1952-53, Norm Swanson. Backing Decker in the pivot will be soph Ken Blizard.

Although Bowling Green is seemingly loaded with veteran talent, the team has not yet played together as a unit under actual game conditions, despite the fact that all five probable starters are seniors.

Two Giants Return

Rugged Clarence Yackey has been out of a Falcon uniform for two years and Jim Gerber one.

It's the return of these two giants—Yackey after a stint in the Marines and Gerber after a knee injury—along with high-scoring Al Bianchi that has given Bowling Green the eighth spot in the country in pre-season predictions by a national basketball magazine. The Detroit contest should go a long way toward proving whether the Falcons deserve that honor.

Gerber At Pivot

About all that's known about Bowling Green's starting line-up at this time is that those three players will be on it. Beside the 6-foot, 5-inch Yackey at forward will be either Bianchi, 6 feet, 3 inches, or George Reis, 6 feet, 7 inches. Gerber, 6 feet, 6 inches, will undoubtedly open at the pivot.

If Reis starts at forward, Bianchi will be switched to guard alongside 6-footer Lou Drago.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

"Your hair's no yoke" bellowed Sheedy's gal. "Those cowlicks look awful. Why not take the bull by the horns and get yourself some Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's favorite hair tonic? Keeps hair combed without greasiness. Makes you look cud-dly. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Relieves annoying dryness. Contains Lanolin. Non-alcoholic. I won't cow-tow 'til you start using it heifery day." Paul was utterly stunned, so he bought some Wildroot Cream-Oil for just 29¢. He told his girl the good moos and now they're hitched for life. So just steer yourself down to any toilet goods counter for a bottle or handy tube. And remember to ox your barber for Wildroot Cream-Oil too. You'll be the cream of the campus—and that's no bull.

Hyman Reads Paper Based On Research

Dr. Melvin Hyman, assistant professor of speech, will present a paper, "The Comparison of Artificial Larynx and Esophageal Methods of Speech Production," at the twenty-ninth annual convention of the American Speech and Hearing Association Nov. 23-25 in New York City.

Dr. Hyman's paper is based on the doctors' dissertation. His research was based on a large group of people from all over the state of Ohio who had their larynx removed because of cancer.

Recordings Made

Recordings were made of these persons' speech and played back to a group of 450 listeners. From this Dr. Hyman learned which of the types of speech employed, laryngeal or esophageal, is most pleasing to the ear.

Graphic level recordings were also made from which the duration, voice levels, and rate of speech were obtained.

Dr. Hyman will present his paper in the experimental phonetics section.

Harold McGrady, speech and hearing therapy major, will accompany Dr. Hyman and represent the Bowling Green chapter of Sigma Alpha Eta, national speech and hearing honorary.
