Foreword

On behalf of the Organizing Committee for the 1985 NASSS Conference, we welcome you to Boston and our meetings. 1985 has been an important year for NASSS. It marks our sixth annual conference and the second year of publication of the Journal—both bear testimony to the continuing vitality and growing strength of the field. The Committee has put together what promises to be a most exciting program for you. The overwhelming response to the Call for Papers, and the program which has resulted reflect the high level of scholarly activity among sport sociologists, the diverse interests of our members and the quality of work being done. We hope that you are as excited as we are by the opportunities for scholarly and social interaction which this year's meeting will provide.

The theme of this year's conference is Sport and Social Change. It is appropriate to have social change as our theme. Boston was the center of historic changes in America and the beginnings of sociology were grounded in the changing social structure of nineteenth century Europe. Thus, the Plenary addresses, symposia and free communications sessions explore sport in a changing world and the changing face of sport in light of new and ever-changing social forces. The quality of scholarly exchange will be enhanced by the participation of scholars from across the U.S., Canada and abroad. Participants include many new faces along with the "old faithfuls" and most encouraging is the strong involvement in this year's conference by student members. 1985 has been a banner year for NASSS.

We also invite you to get to know Boston while you are here. Enjoy the sites, immerse yourself in the history of the area, treat yourself to sumptuous dining experiences and have fun.
