Happy New Year!

Sara Bushong, Dean

I invite you to return to campus and experience the new facilities and Center for the Arts opened in December.

The campus landscape has certainly changed over the past few years, and the University Libraries (UL) faculty and staff have been actively introducing its functionality to the campus community.

The William T. Jerome Library facility experienced a great deal of change. The Learning Commons, a one-stop shop for tutoring assistance, has been actively introducing its functionality to the campus community.

Stephen Abram LIBRARY VISITS BGSU

New staff debut

The University Libraries, in conjunction with other divisions of the University, have continued to add new staff to enhance our support services and operations.

While high-profile personnel changes on campus have generated some excitement, the state-level focus on the new faculty’s work, and our leadership team, were equally important.

Employee dedication marked at reception

The University Libraries hosted a reception to recognize the outstanding work of the current fall semester. The event was held at the Library Desk and featured an array of music and food.

Brighten the Season Quilt Raffle

Quilt project supports SCHOLARSHIPS, DECK PROJECT

With the support of a generous donor, the University Libraries created the “Brighten the Season” Quilt Raffle. The funds raised will be used to create a space in the William T. Jerome Library for the learning Commons, the tutoring and academic support center currently located in Moody Hall. The funding will come from the University’s renewal and replacement funds.

The project will incorporate a new, contiguous space above the library’s lower level, with a seating capacity of 60 people. It will also convert the current area into usable floor space while providing natural light to the area.

Library hosts Centennial events

The William T. Jerome Library was the venue for the University’s special events during Centennial Celebration.

The Board of Trustees, in its May 2010 meeting, awarded $10,000 to create a space in the William T. Jerome Library for the learning Commons, the tutoring and academic support center currently located in Moody Hall. The funding will come from the University’s renewal and replacement funds.
