YPSILANTI vs. BOWLING GREEN

FOOTBALL DEFINITIONS

BALL: Of pebble grained leather, enclosing a rubber bladder. The pressure of inflation is $12\frac{1}{2}$ to $13\frac{1}{2}$ pounds. It is 28 to $28\frac{1}{2}$ inches in circumference of the long axis; the short axis is $21$ to $21\frac{1}{2}$ inches. The weight is 14-15 ounces. A white ball may be used for night games.

BLOCKING: Charging into an opponent to prevent him from getting into the play.

"BREAK": An unexpected happening, such as a pass interception, a fumble, the blocking of a kick or a short kick.

FIELD: The field is 300 feet long (not including the 10-yard end zones at each end of the field) and 160 feet wide.

HOLDING: The ball-carrier is permitted to use his hands or arms to ward off tacklers, but no other member of the team in possession of the ball is permitted to hold an opponent or to use his hands or arms to obstruct them. The defensive players are permitted the use of hands to attempt to reach the ball-carrier, but are not permitted to tackle or hold other opponents.

LINE OF SCRIMMAGE: An imaginary line parallel to the goal line and passing through the point of the ball nearest the side's goal line. Actually, then, there are two lines of scrimmage, separated by the length of the ball. The zone between these lines is known as the neutral zone, and may not be encroached upon until the ball is put in play.

SAFETY: When a free ball or a ball legally in control and possession of a player guarding his own goal becomes dead, any part of it being on, above or behind the goal line, providing the impetus which sent it to or across the goal line came from the team defending that goal. A safety counts two points for the opposing team.

SCRIMMAGE: A scrimmage takes place when the two teams are lined up facing each other and the center snaps the ball back. The scrimmage does not end until the ball is dead.

TOUCHBACK: Made when a free ball or a ball legally in possession of a player guarding his own goal becomes dead on, above or behind the goal line, provided the impetus which sent it across the line was given by an opponent.
Is there such a thing as a deliberate fumble play in football?

Suspicious spectators (usually partisans of teams which have been beaten by such a "play") and the pros say "Yes".

There's nothing in the rules against it, but whether it conforms to the true spirit of the rules is a point open to long debate.

Smart professional teams have used the deliberate fumble to score a touchdown and the suspicion is growing that maybe the amateurs aren't so far behind!

A goal-line fumble is easy enough to manage. A halfback starts for the goal line, but is stopped hard. The ball squirts out of his arms, in a goalward direction; an alert team mate falls on it

Ingram, later coach at Navy and California, carried the ball on a weak side play from the seven yard line, after Navy had marched 83 yards.

As he approached the goal line, the ball squirted out of his arms and was captured on the fly by Erickson, of the Great Lakes team, later a star with Washington and Jefferson. The startled Erickson hesitated, then took out down the field. It looked like a sure touchdown.

But as Erickson was passing the Navy bench, one of the weirdest plays in football occurred. Bill Saunders, a substitute, leaped from the bench and tackled Erickson! Pandemonium broke loose! The superintendent of the Academy stepped on the field and awarded the touchdown to the Training Station (although technically the only possible penalty was for having twelve men on the field). The extra point was kicked, and the Great Lakes team won this remarkfor six points. If the defense recovers it's a touchback and the ball comes out to the 20-yard line.

St. Mary's, a team that fumbled 32 times last season, is rapidly gaining a reputation—whether deserved or undeserved is a question—for goal-line fumbling. The Galloping Gaels have scored twice on Fordham in this manner, and won from California in 1934 on a similar "play". On the other hand, a goal-line fumble against U. C. L. A. in 1935 cost them a touchdown when the Bruins recovered for a touchback. Princeton beat Navy in 1933 on a "forward fumble" by Spoffard, and Army scored on Harvard in the same way in 1931.

A historic "forward fumble" that backfired occurred in 1918 when Navy and the Great Lakes Naval Training Station team met in New York for the mythical championship of the United States. Navy, with one of the greatest teams in the history of the Academy, was leading 6 to 0, and was apparently driving for another touchdown in the fourth quarter. "Navy Bill" able game, 7 to 6.

The so-called "fumble" rule of 1929 has removed some of the stigma originally attached to loose handling of the ball. The natural result of this new freedom has been the lateral pass, the shovel pass, and other "basketball maneuvers" that have come into widespread use in the past few years. These are perfectly legal, and so is a fumble; whether a deliberate fumble is ethical is another question entirely.

The fumbling team has everything to gain and nothing much to lose, particularly if the fumble "occurs" on fourth down. A touchdown, the rules say, may be made by legally recovering the ball on the goal line or in the end zone. Among the ways in which a touchback is made, according to the rules, is when the ball is declared dead in the possession of one of the defenders behind his own goal line, provided the impetus which sent it to or across the goal line was provided by an opponent.
In behalf of the coaching staff and players of the Bowling Green State University football squad I sincerely welcome the Michigan State Normal College squad and coaches to inaugurate our home season.

It is indeed a personal pleasure to look forward to the fine type of competition that this game should afford. May the better team win.

Harry Ockerman,
Head Coach, Football

Bowling Green State University and Michigan State Normal today meet in their fifth football game. Aside from the fact that the Ohioans have yet to score a victory over the Hurons, the game bears an unusual significance.

Ypsilanti is the Alma Mater of the B. G. coach, Harry Ockerman. There he starred for four years, being captain one year and being named All-State tackle two years. Upon his graduation he was appointed assistant coach at the Normal, which position he held under his former coach Elton J. Rynearson for eight years.

Coach Ockerman came to Bowling Green University a year ago and he has gained a large circle of loyal followers here already.

Thus today, the student will try to overthrow his teacher. It will be a sportsman’s battle and it is hoped victory will go to the team which deserves it.

This game today marks the beginning of what we hope will be a permanent football relationship between Bowling Green University and a Michigan State Normal College.

Naturally we shall be out there trying to win, but if we must lose, there is no one we’d rather have win than Bowling Green.

During the twelve years in which I have known Harry Ockerman—four as a player and eight as a fellow coach, I have come to have the highest regard for him.

To Harry Ockerman, and to the Bowling Green teams I wish the best of luck.

UNDEFEATED AND UNTIED
THE ALL-TIME RECORD OF MAJOR TEAMS

Just how much of a feat is it for a team to go through a schedule without defeat or tie?

The record books would seem to indicate that the chances are all against such an achievement, particularly in modern days, when competition is evenly balanced and few teams are able to stand out by themselves.

Football's biggest year, the record books show, was in 1898, when nine teams went through the season without defeat or tie. They were, in alphabetical order, California, Colorado Mines, Detroit, Harvard, Kentucky, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Sewanee and Washington University.

Football's leanest years were 1927 and 1931, when no major team was able to skin through the season without at least a tie. In 1927 the only teams with flawless records were Mississippi College, of Clinton, Miss.; Missouri Wesleyan, Peru Teachers, St. Mary's, of Winona, Minn.; Tufts, and Ypsilanti Normal. In 1931 perfect records were turned in by Louisiana Tech, Marysville Teachers, Mount St. Charles, Muskingum, Oklahoma City U., St. Martin's, Southern University, Superior Teachers, the U. S. Coast Guards, of New London, Conn., and Wilberforce.

Following is the all-time record of undefeated, untied major teams:

1870—Princeton and Rutgers.
1871—None.
1872—Princeton.
1873—Princeton.
1874—Princeton.
1875—Harvard and Princeton.
1876—Rutgers.
1877—None.
1878—Princeton.
1879—None.
1880—Michigan.
1881—Williams.
1882—Nav.
1883—Yale.
1884—California, Michigan, Navy and Yale.
1885—Michigan and Princeton.
1887—California, Colorado Mines, Michigan, Penn State and Yale.
1891—Centre, Duke, Ohio Wesleyan, Purdue and Yale.
1892—Butler, Case, Centre, Colgate, Minnesota, Oberlin, Purdue, Washington and Jefferson and Yale.
1893—Case, Grinnell, Miami, Minnesota, Notre Dame, Princeton and Texas.
1895—Miami, Marquette, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Texas and Washington State.
1896—Centre, Georgia, North Dakota and Oklahoma.
1899—Kansas, Montana State, North Dakota and Sewanee.
1900—Auburn, Clemson, Idaho, Montana State, Texas, Tulane and Yale.
1902—California, Montana State, Nebraska and South Dakota.
1903—Nebraska, North Dakota and Princeton.
1905—Army, Illinois, Tennessee and Texas.
1908—Army, Ohio State and Pittsburgh.
1910—Centre, Colorado Mines, Creighton, Oklahoma, Pittsburgh, Texas and Washington University.
1911—Centre, Notre Dame and Texas A. & M.
1912—Colorado, Illinois, Marquette and Yale.
1913—Notre Dame and Oberlin.
1914—Alabama and Dartmouth.
1915—Lafayette, Loyola of the South and Utah.
1916—Loyola of the South and Utah.
1917—Auburn, Colgate and Southern California.
1918—Auburn, Chicago, Harvard, Michigan, Mississippi, Nebraska, Notre Dame and Washington.
1919—Army, Illinois, Tennessee and Texas.
1921—Centre, Notre Dame and Texas A. & M.
1922—Califonia, Drake, Iowa and Princeton.
1923—California, Drake, Iowa and Princeton.
1924—Colorado, Illinois, Marquette and Yale.
1925—Notre Dame and Oberlin.
1926—Albany, Colgate and Southern California.
1927—Notre Dame and Utah.
1928—Ohio, Purdue and Utah.
1929—Ohio, Purdue and Utah.
1930—Albany, Colgate and Southern California.
1931—DePauw and Princeton.
1932—Albany and Minnesota.
1933—Minnesota, Princeton and Southern Methodist.
In 1926, Southern Calif. lost two games—Stanford & Notre Dame—by the same score 13 to 12, and for the same reason. When opponents tried for decisive extra point after touchdown, the kicks were partially blocked by Trojan linemen, but the ball bounced over the goal posts.

Rumpeltes, of North Dakota State, played every minute of conference football for four years: 1922 through 1925.

St. John’s College, of Winfield, Kan., made 236 yds. to 70 against Bethel, in 1925, but lost 6 to 3, when a fumbled punt was recovered by a Bethel man, who ran 25 yds. to a touchdown.

Lipan of Niagara, scored a touchdown on a received punt, without moving a step. The kick by Skierkowski, of St. Bonaventure, went straight up in the air, behind the St. Bonaventure goal line, coming down in the end zone, where Lipan caught it. The game was played in 1929.
