Ohio Board of Regents’ Budget Summarized

The Ohio Board of Regents has recommended a record-breaking $1.3 billion in state support of higher education for the 1975-77 biennium. The Regents’ budget, released Sept. 20, followed a summer of budget hearings with each state-supported university in order to ascertain respective programmatic and financial concerns.

The budget request, which represents a 70 per cent increase over the last biennium’s appropriation, will be presented to the Governor and State Legislature. Final approval is not expected until late next spring.

The 140-page document includes many program recommendations by the Citizens’ Task Force on Higher Education. Among them were three paramount objectives which are supported in the Regents’ budget request:
1. Equal access to higher learning for all.
2. Lifelong learning opportunities for all ages.
3. Emphasis on excellence in higher education through planning and adequate financing.

State appropriations to each of the universities is based upon enrollment, however, after meeting with university representatives, the Regents developed a more detailed formula to reflect actual expenditure experiences in specific programs.

The Regents recommended no increase in student fees in order to relieve middle income families faced with the rising costs of education. This recommendation, along with the increased state appropriations the Regents have requested, would change the state/student cost sharing ratio from its present 60/40 to 75/25 by the second year of the 1975-77 biennium.

The budget includes a section for “Quality Improvement” to fund innovations and system improvements, the Ohio College Library Center and special research. In the area of medical education, the Regents earmarked $1.5 million for health manpower continuing education.

An additional $180 million was requested for replacement of obsolete facilities, utilities and renovations. Recommendations for Bowling Green in particular included an increase in projected appropriations of 42.4 per cent during the 1975-76 academic year, and another 15.2 per cent increase the following year.

The Firelands Branch would receive 73.8 per cent more in state monies in 1975-76 and an additional 22.1 per cent in 1976-77.

The Regents request totals $1,338,648,150 as compared to $783,899,546 appropriated for the 1973-75 biennium.

(A summary of the Regents’ recommendations, along with a comparison with the appropriations for the last biennium, is available from the Office of Resource Planning.)

In October

A tour of recreational facilities on Wednesday afternoon preceded the monthly meeting of the University's Board of Trustees Thursday, Oct. 3. Action taken at the meeting included approval of financing for a number of renovations and improvements on the campus, primarily the construction of a major new entrance and campus information booth near the stadium. The campus information center has been under consideration for the past two years, stimulated by interest of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity. The information center, its access road and parking lot is estimated at $20,000 and construction will be funded through the Parking Services Auxiliary Fund.

FACULTY, STUDENT REPRESENTATIVES REPORT

Ramon A. Cormier, chairman of the Faculty Senate, submitted a report to the Board on the work the Senate expects to accomplish in the coming year. She requested that a forum with the Board of Trustees and the Senate be arranged in the near future. She also said that a report on University committees would soon be published by the Senate, and that publication of a faculty newsletter is under consideration.

Michael Wilcox, student representative to the Board, said the SGA student recreation committee is almost complete and that approximately 350 applications are expected for the six seats on the Advisory Committee on General Fee Allocations. Another meeting will be organized next month. He also said the Student Government Association would like to arrange a meeting with the Board. STATUS OF CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS

The office of the University architect reported progress made on phase II of the Firelands Branch; J. The new residence facility was reported complete.

Nearing completion on the north side of campus near the central services area is this 25,000 square-foot warehouse. The $314,000 storage facility is expected to be ready for occupancy sometime late in October. In addition to its main storage space there is an additional 5,000 feet in the mezzanine area above the offices. The block exterior building replaces the Maple Street warehouse, which the University leased from the city, and which had only 16,500 square feet of storage space. Architects for the building are Rooney and Musser of Findlay.

In addition, when a student or faculty/staff member trades his registered vehicle, he is required to remove the decal and return it to Parking Services to obtain a free replacement. In the past, owners were required to remove the decal from the vehicle that was traded, but were not required to prove that they had done so.

Other changes concerned drivers with medical permits, parking in bike racks and locking of vehicles. All changes are printed in the new copy of Motor Vehicle Regulations.

Dr. Halpern gave up the chairmanship to take the administrative post, making his term one of the briefest in university history — about one month. The new Senate chairman is Dr. Ramona Cormier, professor of philosophy. The Senate is also hard at work to complete legislation on the COUGAR document which will alter the Faculty Charter.

Stuart Givens Elected Senate Chairman-Elect

Stuart Givens, professor of history, was elected vice chairman and chairman-elect of the Faculty Senate at its meeting Tuesday, Oct. 1. Chairman Ramona Cormier announced that she expects the Senate to vote on the completed document at the first meeting in January. Until then, straw votes will be taken on the individual portions of the amendments.

Discussion at the meeting concerned Article II on the University Community; Article VI on the Provost; Art. "unnumbered" on the Provost/SEC conference; Art. V on the Academic Council; Article III, Sec. 3, on policy-making areas of the Senate, and Art. IV on the President of the University. No votes were taken on these amendments.

In an effort to expedite work on the COUGAR amendments, the SEC submitted a resolution to the Senate which would implement Robert's Rules of Order for discussion of the amendments, except that debate on the amendments would be limited to four minutes per Senator and all second speeches be limited to two minutes. An amendment was made to the resolution, which further stipulated that the COUGAR articles be printed and sent to the Senators for study at least 15 days before they are due to come up for discussion at the Senate meeting.

The amendment further stated that written arguments and proposed amendments may be forwarded to the Senate office for printing and distribution at the meeting when the article is scheduled for discussion.

The resolution, as amended, was adopted, and straw votes on the various articles will doubtless begin at the next Senate Meeting.

The 1973-74 Distinguished Teaching Awards were presented to six faculty members at the all-faculty meeting in September. This year's winners were (from left) Wallace DePue, School of Music; Rena Foy, education; Ronald Lomas, humanities; Dr. Robert Gee, president of the Parents' Club, who presented the awards; Gerald Rigby, social sciences; and Chan Hahn, business. Unable to be present for the picture was Rex Lowe, who received the award in the natural sciences area. The $500 cash awards are paid for by the Bowling Green Parent's Club and recipients are selected by a vote of the student body.

"State of the University"
President Moore's Topic
At Annual Faculty Meeting

The annual all-faculty meeting was held Monday, Sept. 23, in the Grand Ballroom of the University Union. Provost Kenneth W. Rothe presided at the meeting, which included the presentation of six Distinguished Faculty Awards and three Research and Development Awards.

Addresses were given by Ramona Cormier, president of the Faculty Senate; Doug Bugie, Student Government Association president; and President Moore.

Dr. Moore's address to the faculty concerned the "state of the University" both present and future. Following are excerpts from his speech:

ENROLLMENT WITHIN STATE LIMITS

"Our enrollment mix appears to be better than ever, the quality measures we have on our entering class show excellent talent, our residences are full, but not overcrowded in the lounge areas as they were in 1973, and with a bit of luck, we won't be penalized for exceeding our enrollment ceiling.

EFFECTS OF INFLATION

"It was largely because of inflation that the Board of Regents, three days ago, shocked the state by asking for a 70 per cent increase in operating funds for higher education in the next biennium. Butressed by the findings of the Citizens' Task Force on Higher Education, these recommendations, if approved by the Governor and if funded by the Assembly — and those are big ifs — will require an unprecedented breakthrough in the financing of higher education in Ohio: $1.3 billion. Encouragingly, present recommendations do not include a jump in tuition.

GOAL: NEW MUSIC BUILDING

"But when it comes to the capital appropriations for this next year, our goal is clear. We want a new Music Building. No other item will have higher priority for us in this session of the Legislature than an adequate facility for the School of Music.

"Once funding is secured from the State for a Music Classroom Building — an effort which has been underway since 1971 — we will then move into high gear to obtain funds from private sources to construct a performing hall. Our nationally prominent School of Music deserves better than the present sub-standard housing in no less than five locations on campus.

LIABILITY INSURANCE

"As a result of legislation passed a few months ago, sovereign immunity for state agencies and institutions will no longer exist after Jan. 1, 1975. Unfortunately, universities are at the same time prohibited from using state funds for the purchase of liability insurance. We shall press for enabling legislation which will allow us to protect the University in this matter.

"A few days ago we purchased liability insurance with private funds which will protect the interests of the Board of Trustees and all university personnel — including faculty and staff — against legal claims of wrongful acts. Your liability limit is $1 million. At best it is a stop-gap measure until corrective legislation is enacted which will permit the use of state funds to purchase insurance and which also will clarify our legal status.

WAGE INCREASES NOT FUNDED

"The supplemental pay bill adopted by the Legislature this summer mandated a much needed increase in wages for employees covered by civil service, and yet provided only a portion of the funds needed. In a time of tight and carefully designed budgeting, you can see how very difficult it is going to be to absorb $282,000 of new payroll costs during the coming academic year. This will of course necessitate either a decrease in services or an increase in costs to the consumer. We elected not to pass on the increased costs directly to the students, but in the immediate future, some rate increase may become necessary.

LEGISLATIVE ELECTIONS NOTED

"These decisions I have just mentioned will be made by a General Assembly that is not yet elected. The early release of the Regents' budget request gives time in advance of November to find out where the candidates stand. "We could very well be entering a period of significant breakthroughs for higher education in Ohio. The groundwork has been laid by the Citizens' Task Force, a superb undertaking in which Bowling Green was strongly represented. Michael Moore was a member of the Task Force and Dick Edwards was the full-time director. I urge you, if you have not done so already, to study the report which has created considerable discussion and favorable reaction throughout the state.

SPECIAL ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS

"The 1974-75 Educational Budget adopted by the Trustees in May contained one very important 'first' for any college or university in the country, as far as we can determine. I refer of course to the Special Achievement Awards. We hope to announce the award recipients during the first week in December, 1974.

"In keeping with the original recommendations of the Advisory Committee on the Educational Budget, we are rapidly moving toward implementation of a President's Fund for Faculty Development. Through financial support from both the President's Club and the Provost's budget, special 'seed-grants' will be provided to aid faculty-initiated projects in teaching, advising, research, service and program development. Details on the criteria for funding and the timing of awards will be released shortly by the Provost's Office.

FACULTY DEVELOPMENT OPPORTUNITIES

"When one begins to assimilate the full range of faculty development opportunities at BGSU — and here I include Dr. Weber's Professional Development Program, the excellent Seminar for New Faculty directed last week by Dr. Hamed and Dr. Stoner, the Special Achievement Awards, the President's Fund for Faculty Development, and various other awards, I seriously doubt whether many institutions can match the level of professional vitality which prevails here.

Some of the significant developments that are underway include:

1. A special financial exigency study — our own early-warning system aimed at eliminating any uncertainties over the impact of declining enrollments on teaching positions. Dr. Michael Moore is conducting this study.
2. Our efforts in attracting women and minority members to our staff have been productive.
3. Plans to launch a systematic evaluation of resource allocation as applied to academic programs.
4. Our national Center for Competency-Based Undergraduate Education, under the direction of Gary Woditsch.
5. In concert with the CUE Center and experience gained through our Modular Achievement Program, we have established a University Division of General Studies in the College of Arts and Sciences.
6. COUGAR has completed its work and we should be moving toward implementation in the near future.
7. We are continuing to strengthen our cooperative relationships with the University of Toledo, the Medical College of Ohio at Toledo, the three area technical colleges as well as the private colleges of the Northwest Ohio region.
8. Our downtown storefront operation — the Center for Continued Learning directed by Annette Johnson."

Arts and Sciences Reorganized

In an effort to create a more functional organizational pattern, the College of Arts and Sciences spent the summer reorganizing its structure according to John G. Eriksen, dean of the college.

Several changes of assignment accompanied the reorganization, primarily the promotion of Allen N. Kepke from assistant dean to associate dean in the Office of the Dean.

In addition, three new areas of responsibility were created:

Ralph N. Townsend, formerly an assistant dean, has been named associate dean and director of the "Office of Resources, Planning and Scheduling.
Howard L. Shine, vice dean, will head the "Office of Degree Program Advising and Counseling.
Richard Giardina will be assistant dean and director of the "University Division of General Studies."

The three new offices replace the previous division responsibilities by academic subject areas, such as "arts and humanities," "mathematics and natural sciences," and "social sciences."

The new plan of organization emphasizes many interdisciplinary functions of the office staff and should facilitate coordination of expanding activities of the college, such as the increased emphasis on advising and the creation of the Division of General Studies. (See adjacent story).

Under the new plan, Donald M. Raguza will serve as assistant dean and Ardath Gilmore as assistant to the dean, in the Office of the Dean.
“Discrimination in Employment”
Topic of Commencement Address

The commencement address delivered by U.S. Representative Martha W. Griffiths of Michigan on Aug. 24 contained some convincing and somewhat shocking evidence of discrimination in education, employment and economic policy.

Rep. Griffiths, a Democrat representing the 17th Congressional District of Michigan, is serving her 20th year in the House. Her talk to the 850 graduates of the summer commencement class concerned their prospects for the future and the discrimination they should expect to encounter.

In discussing discrimination in education, she cited the case of Marco DeFunis, white male and Phi Beta Kappa graduate, who was denied admission to the University of Washington Law School, even though 36 minority students whose college grades and aptitude scores were lower than his were accepted.

“Whatever minority or majority you are part of, you have a stake in equal rights under law,” Representative Griffiths stated.

“Nor does educational achievement guarantee employment opportunity,” she said. “Among persons 25 years old and over who had completed four or more years of college and were employed year-round, full-time, in 1972, the men’s average income was $17,882, and the women’s average income was $9,834 or only 55% as much as the men’s.”

Rep. Griffiths, who was a sponsor of the Equal Rights Amendment and successfully guided its passage through the House in the 91st Congress, said most economists agree that employment discrimination against women is only partially explained by the years they spend out of the labor force while raising families. Fully 30 percent of the difference between men’s and women’s wages is attributed to discrimination in the labor market, she stated.

The Congresswoman also pointed out inequities in economic policy. She said the federal income tax is discriminatory against married couples when both the husband and wife work. She also pointed out that the Social Security system discriminates against married couples where both husband and wife worked outside the home, as compared to a single-earner family with the same total earnings.

Rep. Griffiths said the principle of equality should govern decisions of national policy and the conduct of our personal lives.

“If Americans had not come a long way in overcoming prejudice, we would not have had a President Kennedy, a Justice Marshall, or a Secretary Kissinger,” she said. “Until we go a long way further, we shall never have a Golda Meir.”

Rep. Griffiths was presented with an honorary doctor of law degree during the commencement exercises.

A graduate of the University of Michigan Law School, she was admitted to the Michigan bar in 1941 and became the first woman to serve as judge and recorder of the Detroit Recorder’s Court in 1953.

In Congress, she serves on the Ways and Means Committee and is chairman of the Fiscal Policy Subcommittee of the Joint Economic Committee.

(Copies of the text of Rep. Griffiths speech are available from the University News Service, 804 Adm. Bldg.)
Raymond C. Whittaker, dean of students at Bowling Green, has taken a leave of absence for health reasons. Dean Whittaker is a 1949 graduate of the University, and also earned his masters degree from Bowling Green in 1954. His career at Bowling Green spans the administrations of five University presidents. He has been a very popular dean of students since 1967. Last year he was presented the first William T. Jerome award by the student body. The award recognizes administrators for their contributions to the welfare and betterment of students.

Advertising Policy

University policy concerning use of advertising has been clarified in an announcement from the office of the vice president for public services, James Hof. The policy was formulated by an ad hoc committee on advertising.

Brochures containing statements of official University policy are not authorized for advertising, according to the policy statement. These include University catalogs; general University information, literature and policy statements; brochures on specific academic programs; brochures, posters, flyers and programs for special events;

fund-raising publications such as Presidents Club, University Circle, and the Alumni Center Booklet; and the Alumni Magazine.

In addition, unauthorized status is given to any publication if advertising would detract from the message or the purpose of the item.

Publications approved for advertising include: theatre season brochures or flyers for concert and artist series, envelopes for tickets for performances, University telephone directories, campus map, campus calendar, Student Body Organization brochure, Nutshell, WBGU-TV Program Guide, fraternity and sorority yearbooks, and programs for specific events such as the Miss BCSU Contest, Mud Tug and Beta Little 500, as well as most athletic department publications.

Questions concerning publications not covered in the statement should be directed to the office of the vice president for public services. Any area, individual or group seeking to solicit advertising not currently on the approved list should submit a request for approval to the office.

Achievement Award
Deadline: Oct. 25

The Office of Resource Planning, 231 Adm. Bldg., is now accepting applications and/or nominations for the Special Achievement Awards to be awarded in early December.

Deadline for filing nominations, applications and documentation is 5 p.m., Oct. 25, 1974.

The monetary awards are funded by an appropriation of $100,000 by the Board of Trustees, at the recommendation of President Moore. The awards will be made to selected faculty and staff members who have made outstanding achievements in the areas of teaching, research, program development, or public service.

Procedures for the selection are as follows:

1. All full-time faculty and staff members are eligible to apply and/or be nominated for a Special Achievement Award.
2. Application/nomination guidelines are to be obtained from the Office of Resource Planning, 231 Adm. Bldg., Phone 372-2915, available Sept. 30 to Oct. 25. In order to be accepted, all nominations/applications must conform fully to the prescribed format and procedures. Documentation must be returned to Resource Planning no later than 5 p.m., Oct. 25, 1974.
3. Persons nominated for an award will be so notified by the Office of Resource Planning and requested to provide an up-dated resume following the standard University format and any other documentation or information that might be appropriate. The names of all applicants or nominees will be held in strictest confidence.
4. The Selection Committee appointed by President Moore will be composed of four or five outstanding scholars and leaders in higher education from other universities, foundations and government, and a member of the Bowling Green State University Board of Trustees. The Committee will review all credentials and documentation during an on-campus visitation, select recipients for awards, and determine the relative cash values of awards.
5. President Moore will announce the names of recipients and present the cash awards during the week of Dec. 5, 1974.

Procedures for making the awards were recommended by a 12-member Advisory Committee, appointed by President Moore in July. The committee included nine faculty members, two staff members and one student.

The committee responsible for selection of award recipients will be composed of people not related to the University, with the exception of one member of Bowling Green’s Board of Trustees.

In making their selections, the committee will make no effort to give awards in proportion by departments, colleges or programs. In this way, achievement can be judged on an absolute basis, with no disadvantage imposed on the staff member who is part of an exceptionally productive group or department.

The Advisory Committee will reconvene in January to evaluate the total process and formulate recommendations for future efforts to recognize accomplishments of the University’s faculty and staff.

According to Michael Ferrari, vice president of resource planning, who chaired the Advisory Committee, it is expected that 10-15 per cent of the faculty and staff will receive awards ranging from $500 - $2,000.

Bowling Green’s efforts to recognize outstanding performance in this manner is a first in higher education across the country. The University has already had several inquiries from other colleges concerning the procedures of the award program.

Grants and Scholarships Received

A three-year research grant, which will total nearly half a million dollars, has been awarded to Bowling Green by the U.S. Office of Education’s Fund for the Improvement of Post Secondary Education. The funds are designated for research in the area of competency-based undergraduate education. The first year’s grant totals $158,160.

The research will be carried out at the newly-formed Center for Competency-Based Undergraduate Education (CUE) under the direction of Dr. Gary A. Woditsch.

CUE will first attempt to find a way to identify the level of competency or skill development of entering students. "With students coming to Bowling Green from schools which vary greatly in their programs and their requirements, it is natural that some will be further advanced in putting to good use what they’ve already learned,” Dr.
Woditsch explained, “Why should those students have to take required courses when they already have the skills the courses were meant to develop?”

The purpose of competency identification is to match a student’s undergraduate education program to his own particular background of pre-college education and skill development.

The second and most difficult phase of the research will be establishing criteria for determining the student’s competency achievement as he pursues his undergraduate degree.

Dr. Woditsch said the Center’s goal is not the complete conversion of Bowling Green’s undergraduate offering to a competency-based program. One of CUE’s major functions will be to collect and pool the available knowledge about such programs, and serve as a national clearinghouse of information on the subject.

Most of the research will be conducted by Bowling Green faculty. Specialists from around the country will be on campus to take part in competency-based workshops and lectures during the year. A national conference on the subject will be held in Bowling Green next spring.

The grant is the second major award Bowling Green has received from the Fund for Improvement of Post Secondary Education in the past two years.

In 1973, the University received a $114,000 three-year FIPSE grant to train graduate students who wanted to enter college teaching. The grant resulted in the establishment of the University’s “Professional Development Project.”
