ROUND TABLE MEETING

The annual meeting of the superintendents and principals of Northwestern Ohio was held at the Normal college on April 7th and about 800 school men were present.

On Friday morning the school men were given an opportunity to visit the classes of the college and training school. The college claimed that on previous occasions the students had no opportunity to attend the Round Table meeting.

The Friday afternoon session was opened by County Superintendent C. J. Kelsh of Ottawa, on the subject, “The Preparation of Teachers for the One Room Rural School.”

“The Effective Supervision for the County District” was discussed in two sections. The “Zone Plan” was taken up by Supt. Argabright of Lima, while County Superintendent H. E. Hall discussed the “Departmenmental Plan.”

The work of County Health Commissioners was told by Dr. W. S. Yeager of Leipsic, Ohio.

The work of the County Club Leader was explained by H. R. Wauch of Bucyrus.

Miss Mabel Carney of Teachers’ College, Columbia University, gave a lecture and led the discussion on “Rural Education.” Her first startling statement was this, “We have not yet prepared teachers rightly for work in rural schools. Only 51 schools out of 132 in the county have rural school problems. The Bowling Green normal college is one of them and I congratulate you on that.”

This completed the Friday afternoon program, and the Schoolmasters Luncheon was held immediately after this.

There were one hundred and eleven schoolmasters and Miss Carney at their annual banquet. After a splendid lunch, Prof. C. J. Biery, acting as chairman, introduced Dr. Buckingham, director of the Bureau of Educational Research of Ohio State University. This year’s meeting was considered to be one of the most successful in the history of the organization.

TEXT BY LEON L. WINSLOW

This is a teacher’s and a parent’s book containing specific instructional material which makes possible the practical carrying out of the project method of instruction and the creation by students of useful and beautiful products. Teachers of elementary school subjects who are looking for informational material for use in silent reading and as a basis for oral and written composition will especially appreciate the worth of this book.

Such fields of work as the making of books, paper,aternion, and concrete, glass, porcelain, soap, and hundreds of similar materials are discussed in a comprehensive and interesting way. There is detailed discussion of painting, metal working, woodworking, lumbering, cement and concrete, baskett and making and bead work. The beauty and dignity, the art, the significance and the worth of each worker’s contribution is well presented and is supplemented and reinforced by wisely chosen selections in verse as well as by reproductions of famous paintings.

The book in addition to many other diagrams and practical illustrations. The author is the specialist in drawing and industrial training for the New York State Department of Education.

SCOTT HIGH ORCHESTRA

The fine thirty-seven piece orchestra of Scott High school, Toledo, was brought to this city on April 10, under the auspices of the local high school athletic association. The orchestra gave a concert in the Normal college auditorium. Due to the bad weather only a small crowd was present to hear the fine program. The orchestra was directed by Bessie Wurum.

IMPROVEMENTS

Many improvements have been made that will be a valuable asset to the college and athletics. In the baseball field the most improvement will be found for the park was scraped, graded and rolled and the 2th base is a much better playing surface than ever before.

A new backstop has been added, bleachers seating 200 people will soon be here and a dozen new bats have added materially to the equipment. The team is outfitted much better this year than ever before.

The teams courts have been graded and rolled and as soon as the weather permits will be a drawing card for the students. The improvements were needed badly and are another step in making athletics better in B. G. N. C.

Bowling Green—22
Findlay—0

About 300 baseball bugs turned out to the opening game of the college nine on Thursday and through two hours and fifteen minutes of shivering agony they saw the locals lace the Findlay team 22 to 0. McMann pitched well ball, allowing only three hits and the last one, a scratch, was responsible for the defeat of Findlay.

He had wonderful support, the team back of him playing errorless ball. Coach Kreigcr’s team was in much better condition than the visitors and had little trouble in hitting the ball.

The closing address was given by Dr. B. R. Buckingham, director of the Bureau of Educational Research of Ohio State University.

The closing address was given by Dr. B. R. Buckingham, the keynote of the meeting and the main talk was on the subject. "The Preparations of Teachers for the One Room Rural School."

If the prodigious amount of the so-called "hot air" that is produced daily could be conserved and expanded in doing useful work, it would make little difference to the public whether the Miners Strike ever was settled or not.

When? May 8. Where? Bowling Green State Normal College. Who? The students coming in for the first spring term. Most of them will not be well acquainted with the environment at the college. Every present student should help to welcome the new students, and should be willing to aid in making them feel at home.

A little effort on the part of the students now enrolled will help the newcomers to find and enjoy the courses and opportunities which the college provides for its students.

Easter, anniversary of the Resurrection—of spring—the awakening of life and hope after the long slumber of life during the winter. The Lily and the Easter egg are symbolic of the bursts of life which spring brings with it.

The cream of a baseball nine is found in the pitcher. With Captain Earl Wittmer in the box, supported by a team composed of men who have distinguished reputations as baseball men, Bowling Green Normal should have a successful season in 1922.

The season is just starting and every student still has the particular privilege—that of getting out and rooting for a team that is striving for the 1922 championship title. To support the team is a privilege and a duty of the student body. The team will do its share if the students and faculty members are out on the field to do their bit.

Make it a point to see the men in action on the baseball diamond.

CHAPEL EXERCISES
March 28

Announcements were made by Dr. H. B. Williams in regard to absences from classes and the program of the Superintendents and Principals Round Table meeting on April 7 and 8 was read. The fact that the chapel programs are to be shortened a few minutes was also mentioned. The program was a musical one. Prof. E. W. McEwen, accompanied by Prof. R. N. Tunnicliffe, played two violin solos.

Clement Premo sang a solo, and the accompanying band was played by Prof. R. N. Tunnicliffe. Miss Kathryn Past, with Mrs. Robert J. Overman at the piano, rendered two vocal solos. All of these numbers were very much enjoyed.

DRAMA CLASS PLAYS ARE SUCCESSFUL

The Drama class, under the direction of Miss Rea McChin, presented two plays on April 4, 1922, to a crowded auditorium. The first play was "Suppressed Desires," a two scene play by Lusan Glaspell. The second was "The Times," a four act play by Arthur W. Pinero. Both of these plays were in fine shape and were full of fun, humor, and laughs. The cast for "Suppressed Desires" is as follows:

Henrietta Brewster—Helen Urschel
Stephen Brewster—Ralph A. Schaller
Mabel, Henrietta's Sister—Doris Dewese

The cast for "The Times" is as follows:

Dorothy, Journal Column, Ball—Ralph A. Schaller

Tory—Doolin Bain
Lady Rynold—Miss Helen Hobert
Seryl Egerston—Glulis Hostetter
Percy Egerston—Clara Delano Fox

Miss Cazabel—Ishac Belle Hall,
Lucy Tuck—Elena Delano
Howard Egerston, both of whom were Skilful in giving the dancers renewed energy. Surely no one could have thought that it wasn't an Emerson party. The hurdy-gurdy twist and the wiggle wog of boys and girls clubs, gave a very interesting report.

ALUMNI AND FORMER STUDENTS

Miss Muriel Blue is teaching the third grade at a Fremont school.

The cast for "Suppressed Desires" included:

Miss Helen Barton, a very skillful actress, who played the role of the young girl and the attempts that follow to apply the facts of "life" learned in these plays. One will have to see the play to know all the intricate plots of the story. The play was a success, but what about the "life" learned by the young girl?

"ALICE SIT BY THE FIRE"

The Drama class is present Barrie's famous comedy, "Alice Sit by the Fire", about the first of June. This is an extremely humorous play throughout. The humor, too, is of a more delicate and subtle nature. Its humorous play throughout. The humor, too, is of a more delicate and subtle nature. Its

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

The play, "Capital Punishment", is in sympathy with the movement to abolish capital punishment but would make the following exceptions:

1. In the case of those who read the titles of their friends in a motion picture show.
2. In the case of those who get better grades than more capable students by monotonous tomes, at the paper of a neighbor during test.
3. Those who are shocked when a person makes an innocent break but in other times, at the paper of a neighbor during test.
4. The professional heart-breaker who is just dying for one brush with his many dates with others.
America's Greatest Tenor. The date is May 23. He is considered by some as a famous tenor and Victor Red Seal Artist. Left on bases—Bowling Green 11, Findlay 4. Of Schreiber, 5 in 2 innings and three batters in third, off Stratton 14 in 3 innings, of Hyde, none in 1 inning. Time—2 hours, 15 minutes. Umpire—Heredia. Side Lights. The cold wind caused much discomfort to both players and fans. 'Tis a long seven innings that takes two hours and fifteen minutes.

Olnhausen's steal of third in the second was as pretty as has ever been seen in Bowling Green and can make almost perfect a home run down in perfect order. In the fourth, after the bases had been bunted full, McMann doubled to left and sacrificed the lead.

The window at Lincoln & Dirlam's drapery store has been decorated by the college, showing last year's championship team, the cup and several trophies.

CARL AKELEY ON AFRICA

Carl Akeley, a noted scientist and explorer, delivered a competent lecture in the college auditorium on April 19 on his experiences and observations in Africa. He gave a few details about the natives and their manners, about elephants and rhinoceros, the habits and about the gorillas and their natural history. The lecture was plentifully seasoned with humor and the appreciation of the audience was shown when the unanimously voted to hear story of being crushed by an elephant. Both lantern slides and motion pictures were used to illustrate the lecture. Mr. Akeley was acquainted with the late Col. Roosevelt and spoke of meeting him on his trips through Africa.

The next number on the lecture course will be a concert by Ricardo Martin, a famous tenor and Victor Red Seal Artist. This number is to be one of the best in the course and well worth a long way to hear. He is considered by some as Africa's Greatest Tenor. The date is May 23.

AND SHE WAS — AND SO WAS HE

They strolled in the twilight together. The heavens were clouded with stars. She paused for a moment in silence. As he lowered for her the bars, she cast her soft eyes upon him, then looked again and answering, "For he was a country laddie."

And she was a Jersey cow.

Western Farmer.

THE YELLOWSTONE TRIP IS "GOING SOME"

The present outlook for the Yellowstone-Middle West trip is very "rosy", and is getting brighter every day. Not only is the number increasing daily of those who have decided to make the trip, but all the details for the trip itself are rapidly being perfected.

Some big additional features are likely to be added, which are sure to delight every one.

Another very welcome announcement (no doubt) is that, by working and thinking "over-time" about it, it has been possible not only to add certain desirable features but at the same time cut down the total expenses to a figure lower than has been thought possible, for travel in the Yellowstone.

The present itinerary, as planned, will cover over 4500 miles, and will be a wonderful travel offering for the money. Aside from the main features, of which a general announcement has been made, there are a large number of very attractive special features that are sure to be a surprise to the final details are fully announced.

In order to get the very best possible combination of scenic attractions, the trip, according to plans, will be made over six of the great railroad lines, thus furnishing the double advantage of the necessary railroad travel with the necessary western trip that is confined to one or two of the main lines.

Moreover, special representatives of all these leading railroads are cooperating greatly to include in this extraordinary trip facilities that will doubtless come as a surprise to all. By McMann 7, Schreiner 1, Olnhausen.

In all to add all this the entire trip will be made highly educational throughout, and in a way that no ordinary party trip offers.

In order to make satisfactory arrangements for all, it is very important to write in at once, as well as to arrange for progressive teachers the very lowest rates possible. Such an educational trip is to be an all inclusive trip that can be to all the details that were once, as well as to invite other earnest teachers who may be interested in high-class educational travel.

WOOD COUNTY TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

SWEET KISSES

Kisses, like grapes bananas and trouble, usually come in bunches. After the first one the picking comes quite easy. When Maud went to the "ladies'" room a good night to lovable Lucile they kiss and then linger longer for some more oscillation. Truly kisses come in clusters.

Mr. Akeley made this reply, "They were just "twin" in love, but now we have separated.

Aside from the large number who have already definitely announced their intentions of going, there are still a great many who are planning to go but have not yet written in at the proper time.

In order to make satisfactory arrangements for all, it is very important to write in at once, as well as to arrange for progressive teachers the very lowest rates possible. Such an educational trip is to be an all inclusive trip that can be arranged and all at the very lowest rates possible, you are urged. If interested in a trip of this kind, to co-operate by sending in your own application once, as well as to invite other earnest teachers who may be interested in high-class educational travel.

Soon this trip is in no way a money-making affair, but is undertaken merely to arrange for progressive teachers the very best possible trip for the money that can be arranged and all at the very lowest rates possible, you are urged. BOOK AND MOTOR BANQUET

The Book and Motor Society enjoyed their annual banquet Saturday evening, April 1st. The dinner, which was prepared by the girls of the Home Economics Dept., was the most delicious and hearty meal served in one of the rooms of the department, which had been made very attractive with its color scheme of yellow and green. The flowers, large pot-plant geraniums, the red and green geraniums purchased from the home economics department, which were used to decorate the dining room. The guests were seated on four tables and eaten the most beautiful with their green candles and with their center-pieces of baskets filled with yellow jonquils.

The elaborate four course dinner served by the Misses Clary, Scott and Williams, Dr. Williams acted as toastmaster, and a few sayings were given. Professor Overman welcomed the members into the society and Mr. Richard Langstaff responded to the hearty welcome. Thank you messages were read by the secretary from Professors Winslow and Hassett. Dr. Williams talked concerning new projects the society might foster.

The remainder of the evening's program took place in the gymnasium where dancing and games were enjoyed. Music was furnished by Miss Maud Schreiner. Punch was served during the whole evening.

The guests were: Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Williams, Prof. and Mrs. C. J. Blyer, Prof. and Mrs. J. R. Overman, Prof. and Mrs. Beatrice, Prof. Rea McCaIIn, Prof. Harriett S. Hayward, Miss Effie Alexander of Adrian, Michigan, Misses Marie Heid, Gladys McGavern and Gladys Siggins of Sandusky, O., Miss Gertrude Smith of Port Clinton, O., Miss Grace Sherbach of Sandusky, O., Miss Nadine Clevenger of Delta, O., and Charles O.
