The screenshot shows the Beloit College website with a dark blue header. The word "Beloit" is prominently displayed in the center. Navigation links for "alumni", "contact", and "about" are on the right, along with a search bar and social media icons. Below the header, there are links for "ACADEMICS", "ADMISSIONS", "THE TERRARIUM", and "ATHLETICS". The main content area features an article titled "The Mindset List for the Class of 2017". The article text is on the left, and on the right, there are two promotional boxes: "The Guides" with a wooden wheel image and "Learn More" with a photo of a college building.

The Mindset List for the Class of 2017

For this generation of entering college students, born in 1995, Dean Martin, Mickey Mantle, and Jerry Garcia have always been dead.

1. Eminem and LL Cool J could show up at parents' weekend.
2. They are the sharing generation, having shown tendencies to share everything, including possessions, no matter how personal.
3. GM means food that is Genetically Modified.
4. As they started to crawl, so did the news across the bottom of the television screen.
5. "Dude" has never had a negative tone.
6. As their parents held them as infants, they may have wondered whether it was the baby or Windows 95 that had them more excited.
7. As kids they may well have seen Chicken Run but probably never got chicken pox.
8. Having a chat has seldom involved talking.
9. Gaga has never been baby talk.
10. They could always get rid of their outdated toys on eBay.
11. They have known only two presidents.
12. Their TV screens keep getting smaller as their parents' screens grow ever larger.
13. PayPal has replaced a pen pal as a best friend on line.
14. Rites of passage have more to do with having their own cell phone and Skype accounts than with getting a driver's license and car.
15. The U.S. has always been trying to figure out which side to back in Middle East conflicts.
16. A tablet is no longer something you take in the morning.
17. Threatening to shut down the government during Federal budget negotiations has always been an anticipated tactic.
18. Growing up with the family dog, one of them has worn an electronic collar, while the other has toted an electronic lifeline.
19. Plasma has never been just a bodily fluid.

First Year Student Profile

- * Traditional first year students (18-21)
- * Non-traditional (over 21)
- * First Generation
- * Distance Students
- * Military/veterans

Why does this topic matter?

- * The 4 R's:
 - * Resources invested
 - * Recruitment
 - * Retention
 - * Research in the area

Retention

- * Access [to higher education] has more than doubled from nearly 9 million students in 1980 to almost 20 million in 2011, overall college completion rates have increased only slightly, if at all (Tinto, 2012, p. 2)
- * For four-year colleges and universities, whether public or private, 38% of those who leave will do so in their first year, and 29% in their second year. (Tinto, 2012, p. 3)

Information Literacy Module

Topical Module: Experiences with Information Literacy

Developed in collaboration with college and university librarians, this module asks students about their use of information and how much their instructors emphasized the proper use of information sources. This module complements questions on the core survey about higher-order learning and how much writing students do.

1. During the current school year, about how often have you done the following?

	Very often	Often	Sometimes	Never
a. Completed an assignment that used an information source (book, article, Web site, etc.) other than required course readings	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
b. Worked on a paper or project that had multiple smaller assignments such as an outline, annotated bibliography, rough draft, etc.	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
c. Received feedback from an instructor that improved your use of information resources (source selection, proper citation, etc.)	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
d. Completed an assignment that used the library's electronic collection of articles, books, and journals (JSTOR, EBSCO, LexisNexis, ProQuest, etc.)	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
e. Decided not to use an information source in a course assignment due to its questionable quality	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
f. Changed the focus of a paper or project based on information you found while researching the topic	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
g. Looked for a reference that was cited in something you read	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>

The image shows a screenshot of the National Resource Center website. At the top, there is a dark red header with the University of South Carolina logo on the left and the National Resource Center logo on the right. Below the header is a navigation bar with four tabs: "ABOUT THE CENTER", "LISTSERVS", "VISITORS", and "UNIVERSITY 101". On the left side, there is a vertical menu with the following items: "HOME", "EVENTS", "PUBLICATIONS", "RESEARCH", "RESOURCES", "AWARDS AND RECOGNITION", and "CONTACT INFORMATION". The main content area features a large graphic with the text "Online Course" in a large, bold, blue font. To the right of this text is a stack of five books with various colored spines (yellow, orange, green, white, and red). Below the books is a computer mouse. The text "on The First-Year Experience* and Students in Transition" is written in a smaller, brown font to the right of the "Online Course" text. At the bottom of the graphic, the text "Convenient Professional Development!" is written in a bold, black font.

Research in Education

- * Andragogy-Adult Learning Theory by Malcolm Knowles
 - * Adults need to be involved in the planning and evaluation of their instruction.
 - * Experience (including mistakes) provides the basis for learning activities.
 - * Adults are most interested in learning subjects that have immediate relevance to their job or personal life.
 - * Adult learning is problem-centered rather than content-oriented.

Towards an Expanded Draft

April 22, 2014

We released the first part of the initial draft of the Framework for Information Literacy for Higher Education on February 20. It included:

- Introduction
- Three Threshold Concepts
- Glossary
- Bibliography

Towards an Expanded Draft

The initial draft Framework is out and the comment period has passed. Listen to a recorded online open forum and stay tuned in early June for a revised, expanded second draft.

Top 10 List of Action to Take

1. Read the Beloit list (ask someone to distribute it to your entire staff as a reminder)
2. Volunteer for at least one initiative related to first year students on your campus
3. Talk to a staff member who has a first year student and ask them if they have a first impression of the library
4. Talk to a first year student about their first impression of the library
5. What is the enrollment number for first year students for the year?

Top 10 List of Action to Take

6. What percentage of students were retained from first to second year on your campus?
7. Think of one idea that the library could pursue to help a first year student be successful. Tell someone!
8. What unique first year population do you have on campus?
9. Suggest that someone from the first year programs office talk to library staff about the first year student profile and what the library could do to help first year students.
10. Walk in the shoes of a first year student/first time user of your library.
