Currently we are represented on this committee by Susan Caldwell. I believe that she was elected to this position. It is my opinion that it would be in the best interest of the administrative staff to reconsider this selection.

RE: University Committees

The attached sheets represent write-ups on University Committees.

Per many discussions on this topic, I again urge you to have someone (i.e., Chair Elect) review these along with other committee appointments to be sure the ASC is involved where it should be to make request for changes if used or establish a reporting system to ASC on a regular basis.

These were obtained from Jo Mahoney in the Faculty Senate Office located in McFall Center.

If I can assist, please let me know.

RE: Representation on University Committee
DATE: September 24, 1985

As an administrative staff representative on the University Computing Council, your input into and feedback from your committee meetings may be beneficial as well as informative for other administrative staff members. In order to communicate the progress of your committee as expeditiously as possible, I would like to arrange for brief committee reports to be presented during ASC meetings throughout the year.

Please send me a copy of your committee's meeting schedule for the 1985-86 year so that I can determine if and when it would be appropriate for you to provide ASC with a brief update. In addition, if you could provide a listing of your committee's major goals for the year it would be appreciated.

If we can make this work through the established communication network, I hope that the following can be accomplished:

- creation of an increased knowledge/awareness of the committee substructure of the University and how it operates;
- increased participation in committees by administrative staff; and
- improved communication among administrative staff members as well as the rest of the University community.

Please contact me if you have any questions about this request. I look forward to hearing from you by October 3, 1985.

The goal for this year is the implementation of the consultant's review of our benefit package. This is not setting that the committee agreed with everything, but a review of the changes. Later, several recommendations will be obtained.

MEMORANDUM

TO: University Computing Council
FROM: Richard L. Conrad
University Computer Services

SUBJECT: University Computer Services' 1986-87 Personnel Budget Request

At our last meeting you approved the following 1986-87 Personnel Budget Request for University Computer Services.

1. Typist/Clerk - Office Support Area
2. Systems Programmer - Technical Support Area
3. Information Writer - Documentation Area
5. Programmer/Analyst - Systems and Programming Area
6. Programmer/Analyst - Information Center Area
7. Systems Programmer - Technical Support Area
8. Programmer/Analyst - Systems and Programming Area
9. Data Administrator Manager - Information Center Area
10. Programmer/Analyst - Systems and Programming Area
11. Programmer/Analyst - Information Center Area

The Computer Task Force, at their October 23 meeting, felt that moving the Programmer/Analyst (position 5) to position 3 (after the Systems Programmer), better reflected the priority in the original Task Force Report (May 1984). The University Computer Services' 1986-87 request sent to the Budget Committee now reflects this change.

If you have any questions or desire additional information, please feel free to contact me.

Thank you.

"An Environment for Excellence"
November, 1985

To: The Faculty

From: Genevieve Stang
Secretary, Faculty Senate

Attached are the rosters of the Faculty Senate, Senate standing committees, and University standing committees.

The function and composition of Faculty Senate standing committees (blue sheets) are specified in the Academic Charter. The faculty members of these committees are elected by faculty members of the Senate from a slate prepared by the Committee on Committees. Any member of the University faculty is eligible to serve on most of these committees if membership stipulations of the committee are met.

The University standing committees (green sheets) are all-University committees of varying functions and compositions. The committee charges are a responsibility of the Committee on Committees (Com/Com), a Faculty Senate standing committee. These can be modified by appropriate action of Com/Com and the Senate Executive Committee (SEC). The Vice-Chair of Faculty Senate is the SEC liaison to Com/Com and regularly reviews the minutes of University standing committees and any ad hoc committees established by SEC in order to bring to the attention of SEC any pertinent actions, highlighting the ongoing work of the committees and designating committees which are to report at SEC and Faculty Senate meetings.

The faculty members of University standing committees are elected by the University faculty from a ballot prepared by the Committee on Committees who gets these faculty names from "Interest Sheets" mailed to all faculty in January of each academic year; a copy of the functions and composition of each committee is attached to the interest sheets. Faculty who are interested in serving on any Senate or University standing committee should return their "Interest Sheets" to the Faculty Senate Office by the date specified so their names can be included on the ballot.

MEMORANDUM

TO: University Task Force on Computing

FROM: Richard R. Eakin, Chair
DEC 2060 Replacement Committee

SUBJ: Committee Report

Enclosed is the final report of the DEC 2060 Replacement Committee. This report is presented as a guide to the University Task Force on Computing, the University Computing Council, and Computer Services in the development of computing plans for 1986-87. Recommendations are based upon extensive committee deliberations, product presentations by vendors, a survey of faculty needs, and a visit to the University of Waterloo, Canada.

The Committee was especially diligent in its efforts to ascertain and address the full range of faculty instructional and research interests related to replacement of the DEC 2060. The report presents a plan which the committee believes will address the major existing instructional needs of the university.

DEC 2060 Replacement Committee
Final Report

The University plans to replace its DEC 2060 computer during 1986. The DEC 2060 originally was acquired in 1978 to serve the university's interactive computing needs. Since then, a number of additional applications have emerged. For example, many faculty use this system to access the IBM 4331. Faculty use the DEC 2060 to prepare and update IBM jobs and to preview output. There are also research applications for this system.

Other committees have been formed to consider computing issues in a general sense. This committee was formed specifically to examine the current role of the DEC 2060 as an instructional system, to consider possible additional instructional computing applications, and to recommend a set of priorities for the replacement system(s). As part of our study, a questionnaire was sent to university employees with faculty rank. The survey sought information about current and potential instructional applications. The results of the survey are appended to this report.

The following sections of the report present instructional computing priorities — issues to be considered in selecting the replacement of the DEC 2060. While the priorities are written as though the DEC 2060 is being replaced by one or two additional mainframe computers, it is not our intention to eliminate the possibility of workstations or other alternatives.

The committee recommends the following priorities for a replacement system(s) for the DEC 2060:
1. Interactive Statistics and the Maintenance of Current Capabilities
2. Networks
3. Additional Microcomputers
4. Other Packages
5. Demonstration Laboratory for Computing

1. Interactive Statistics and the Maintenance of Current Capabilities

There are many satisfied users of the DEC 2060 at Bowling Green. A primary goal is to ensure that as many of these users as possible are able to continue their current level of computing without undue disruption. In addition, according to respondents to the committee survey, statistical use is the most important present use for mainframe instructional computing equipment. In considering the replacement and enhancement of current instructional capabilities, the committee concludes that there are two pressing needs which must share the top priority for hardware and software acquisition in replacement of the DEC 2060 system. They are:

- Maintenance of current capabilities
- Interactive statistics

Maintenance of Current Capabilities

The TOPS-20 operating system on the DEC 2060 is possibly the premier example of a user-friendly operating system for time-sharing, with many user aids built into the system and its associated software. It is unlikely that any replacement system will reach the standard of user friendliness set by TOPS-20, but user friendliness should be a primary selection criterion for the new system. This would probably eliminate most UNIX-based systems from consideration. Those desiring UNIX, however, already have both instructional and research systems available.

Additionally, as many as possible of the capabilities and systems now on the DEC 2060 should be included on a replacement. In particular, the following types of systems should be considered high priorities:

- APL
- BASIC
- COBOL
- CODASYL - based Database Management System
- FORTRAN
- LISP
- MAIL system
- PASCAL with source-level debugger
- PHOTO
- SIMULA
- SNOBOL
- Submission capabilities to the IBM mainframe
- Text editors superior to EDIT and TV.

The Task Force report of two years ago recommended that most word processing take place on microcomputers, and we support that recommendation. Word processing capabilities presently exist on the UNIX systems for more elaborate needs in this area (e.g., representation of mathematical formulae using TROFF). For that reason, a replacement for DSR is not included as a priority in the above list. Other DEC 2060 software has been omitted from the above list if, to our knowledge, no current use is being made of the software (e.g., CPL, IFPS, MINITAB, RPG).

At the present time, the DEC 2060 drives the CALCOMP plotter, even though other systems often produce the data which are plotted. Another system must be chosen to handle CALCOMP output. This might be the new system(s), but it need not be.

A convenient capability must be provided to enable current non-class users of the DEC 2060 to move their work to the new system. Ideally, this capability would include convenient file transfer from the DEC 2060 to the new system(s), plus a period of several months wherein both present and new systems would be available.

Interactive Statistics

In addition to the above, interactive statistics should be a top priority for new mainframe instructional computing equipment. The attached survey shows that word-processing ranked as the highest use with statistics second. As mentioned above, word-processing needs will be met primarily with microcomputers, leaving interactive statistics as the greatest unmet computing need on campus. Interactive SAS is judged to be the most useful statistical package for University instruction and research.
There are many users of statistical packages on this campus, especially the SAS system. At the present time, most of these packages are on the IBM mainframe and are accessible in batch mode only. (The exception is the "S" package available for interactive use on the VAX systems.) An interactive version of SAS is essential for effective instructional use. The interactive package would allow classroom demonstrations with overhead projection systems, a capability not available with the current batch environment. The interactive package also would facilitate classroom materials preparation with SAS/GRAPH.

The committee is aware of possible system performance degradation associated with interactive statistical packages. However, present needs and projected benefits from interactive versions of statistical packages are sufficiently great to warrant their installation. Further investigation of system capabilities by Computer Services staff is recommended. The acquisition of two separate instructional systems may be warranted to permit the concurrent delivery of an enhanced version of current computing capabilities and the introduction of interactive statistical packages. If multiple instructional systems are installed, serious consideration should be given to the use of a common operating system.

Some current workstation alternatives are available to meet interactive statistical packages needs. These include the MICRO-VAX-II using VMS and microcomputers such as IBM-AT and the IBM-AT/370. These alternatives should be explored on an experimental basis, with performance levels subjected to approval by those who will use these systems instructionally. File transfer capabilities between these smaller systems and the larger systems is necessary.

2. Networks

Whatever system is chosen for the replacement of DEC 2060 capabilities, future networking needs must be anticipated. The issue of "networking" is difficult because the term means different things to different people. To some extent, the level of networking which is possible will be determined by technical advances expected over the next few months and years. Also, the role of the new telephone system in any campus computer network is unclear at this time.

The following is an attempt to indicate the types of networking desired and their relative priorities. Each item is followed by a priority number from 1 to 9, where 1 is the highest priority. (Where possible, items in each of the four categories are listed from the simplest to the most elaborate.)

Mainframe-to-Mainframe

1. Remote login (Priority 8)
2. File transfer (Priority 2)
3. Output resource sharing (Priority 5)
4. Mail (Priority 4)
5. Remote file system (Priority 5)
6. Task-to-task communication (Priority 9)
Mainframe-to-Microcomputer

1. Terminal emulation (Priority 1)
2. File transfer (Priority 2)
3. Output resource sharing (Priority 6)
4. Remote file system (Priority 5)
5. Task-to-task communication (Priority 9)

Microcomputer-to-Microcomputer

1. File transfer (Priority 3)
2. Student labs with local-area networks (Priority 3)
3. Output Resource Sharing (Priority 3)
4. Mail (Priority 7)
5. Remote file system (Priority 7)
6. Task-to-task communication (Priority 9)

Terminal-to-Mainframe

1. Ability to access any interactive mainframe (Priority 1)

Basic decisions regarding the networking options will need to be made fairly soon, because departments purchasing new computing equipment will want to know which types can be used in a future campus network.

3. Additional Microcomputers

Microcomputers are widely used at Bowling Green, and many additional instructional opportunities exist for the use of microcomputers. For instance, the English Department is currently using microcomputers for two sections of an introductory composition course, and would like to expand the use of such systems. Several other departments have an interest in having students use microcomputers, but are awaiting the acquisition of additional microcomputers.

In the committee's survey, 30% of the respondents (42 faculty) indicated that they have not previously used a computer for instruction. Nearly all of these (38 faculty) indicated that they would like to use microcomputers for instruction. By comparison, only 9 of the 42 indicated an interest in mainframes. Indeed, the written responses support the conclusion that the primary interest in additional computing power centers on the use of microcomputers.

The committee recommends the acquisition of at least 50 additional IBM PC's and 50 additional Macintoshes for central laboratories, plus corresponding increases in the dormitory labs. Appropriate software will also be needed for each system. Depending on the kind of applications used on the new systems, it is possible that systems with hard disks will be needed.

The Task Force previously recommended an acquisition of approximately 50 microcomputers each year. Since this did not happen in the most recent budget year, our proposal simply brings us in step with the earlier recommendation. This committee has concerned itself primarily with the DEC 2060 replacement capabilities; and, hence, we do not choose to specify in more detail the appropriate hardware and software configuration for these systems. That will presumably be handled by the Task Force.
4. Other Packages

Any new systems acquired will have software available which could give the university additional capabilities. A software fund should be established to enable the acquisition of software for the new systems which enhances instructional and/or research opportunities at BGSU. A mechanism should be implemented whereby departments can submit proposals for software acquisition. These proposals can be considered by some existing committee (e.g. Academic Users Committee), who would determine how the software funds are to be expended. The acquisition of the new system should be seen as an opportunity to provide new types of computing power to the university.

5. Demonstration Laboratory for Computing

Several respondents of our survey expressed a need for a place to which an entire class can be taken for demonstrations. Ideally, such a site would have a variety of microcomputers, as well as access to each of the university's mainframes. We recommend the establishment of such a facility. The expectation is that it would be used mostly for non-credit tutorials, demonstrations, and workshops. Credit classes would probably use the facility occasionally, but not more than one or two days per class per semester.

This priority should not come into conflict with the higher priority of providing more microcomputers for general use. Any systems acquired for a demonstration lab should be in addition to those acquired for general use. At the present time, it is probably most reasonable to have a lab containing IBM PC's exclusively or, perhaps, a lab with half Macintoshes and half IBM PC's.

If the establishment of such a resource is to be deferred, a mechanism should be established which allows projection facilities in classrooms so that software can be used by the instructor during lectures. One possibility is portable projection facilities coordinated by Instructional Media, in much the same way that other projection equipment is now handled. If desired, in-class demonstrations could be supplemented by related out-of-class work by students. Most respondents to the survey were interested in out-of-class computer work by students, but we presume many would also like to use the computer to assist in-class instruction.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Deborah Heineman
    Chair, Administrative Staff Council

FROM: Paul E. Kostyu
    Editor, Monitor

RE: Monitor Editorial Advisory Board

Every year it is necessary for the Administrative Staff Council to appoint a member to the Monitor Editorial Advisory Board. The board serves strictly in an advisory role to the Monitor editor.

The person serves on the board with representatives of Faculty Senate, Classified Staff Council and the Office of Affirmative Action. For the past year, Jennifer Spielvogel of the College of Health and Human Services has served this position for ASC. Monitor policy requires that the appointee be a member of ASC.

Frankly, the board rarely meets, if at all. However, the board serves an important function by reviewing all "Letters To The Editor" received by the Monitor. The board determines if a letter meets the established guidelines (a copy of the policy is enclosed) and whether the letter should be published.

I would appreciate your bringing this matter before council at a meeting in the near future. Please notify me by letter of the selection so I can keep my files up-to-date.

Thank you for your assistance.
POLICY

Letters to the Editor (Commentaries)

Monitor accepts "opinions to the editor" for publication in a weekly "Commentary" section.

An editorial advisory board which includes representatives from the Faculty Senate, Administrative Staff Council, Classified Staff Council and the Affirmative Action Office reviews all letters submitted for publication. The representatives from ASC and CSC are elected; the Monitor editor must request each fall that a representative from Faculty Senate be appointed or reappointed. That request should be directed to the senate chair. The director of affirmative action represents that office.

Commentaries which introduce a new topic for campus dialogue must not exceed 600-800 words. Subsequent commentaries submitted in response to a topic previously introduced must not exceed 500 words. All letters which exceed the allowable length will be returned to the author to condense.

If a commentary is submitted for publication in Monitor, the author must affirm that it will not be published in any other campus publication until it has appeared in Monitor. Letters which are submitted simultaneously or have been previously published in the BG News will be refused because both publications reach the faculty/staff audience.

It is expected that no member of the University community will submit more than one commentary on any issue during a semester. At any time when two people have written on the same issue, and one author has previously published a letter in MONITOR, only the letter written by the previously unpublished author will be printed.

The deadline to submit letters is 5 p.m. Tuesday for publication in the following Monday's Monitor. All letters must be signed and typed.

The above stated policy should be published at least once per year in Monitor.

COMMENTS:
MEMORANDUM

TO: Dr. Paul J. Olscamp, President
Dr. Richard Hebein, Chair, Faculty Senate
Administrative Council
Council of Deans
University Parking Committee

FROM: Karl E. Vogt
Vice President for Operations

RE: Central Campus Parking (University Parking Committee Recommendations)

August 20, 1986

By way of this memorandum I want to update you on developments regarding implementation of strategies designed by Parking and Traffic and the University Parking Committee to alleviate congestion and increase available parking spaces in the central campus area.

Described below are action steps introduced this summer to free-up spaces for faculty and staff utilizing central campus parking lots. Implementation of these strategies is expected to free-up 45-50 spaces. Actions did not require funding.

1. Return of State vehicles to Plant Operations and Maintenance.

   Anyone assigned a State vehicle must return the vehicle to Plant Operations and Maintenance (Lot W) at the end of the day, picking up the State vehicle the next day and parking his/her own vehicle at P.O.M. The effect of this strategy is to preclude both personal and State vehicles being parked in the central campus area at the same time.

2. Restricted use of parking lots by teaching/research fellows.

   Heretofore, teaching/research fellows, in addition to commuter decals, received special permits to park in faculty/staff lots B, C, D, F, J, K, P and R. While continuing fellows will retain these privileges, special permits for fellows new to their positions will be limited to less utilized faculty/staff lots K and R. I hasten to note parenthetically, that all teaching/research fellows will continue to receive parking privileges in all faculty staff lots following 5 p.m.
3. Use of Ice Arena and other peripheral lots by conference sponsors.

Parking for conferees attending University-sponsored programs/seminars is restricted to the Ice Arena and other peripheral lots. Conference sponsors will provide shuttle transportation to conference sites.

Beyond implementation of these recommendations, Parking and Traffic, working with an outside architectural firm, is planning the reconfiguration of lots A and G. Reconfiguration (and enlargement) of these lots is expected to create 110 additional parking spaces. Estimated costs of the lots A and G reconfiguration/expansion project are $400 thousand. Pending University Board of Trustee authorization and funding approval of appropriate planning and budget committees, project sponsorship will start the conclusion of the Spring semester with completion targeted for mid-August 1987.

For Fall 1987, then, given completion of the reconfiguration project and even fewer teaching/research fellows exploiting special permit privileges, Parking and Traffic and this Office project an addition of 200 spaces to the stock of central campus area parking facilities available to faculty and staff. This increase is expected to significantly address the dissatisfactions and inconveniences faculty/staff experience utilizing central campus parking lots.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Suzanne Crawford
Director, Training Program
Continuing Education

FROM: David Weinandy
Director of Orientation

DATE: May 23, 1988

SUBJECT: Administrative Staff Council

Due to the fact that it is the end of the year Suzanne, I thought it was probably time to send you a summary report on the Professional Development Committee. In short, I believe that this was a great year for this Administrative Staff Council committee! Although the number of actual programs was a bit less than the previous year, the emphasis this year was quality. I believe we achieved this goal. Often, we were able to present speakers who are well-known in their field and who normally cost a large fee per presentation. We were a bit tied up with the cancellation of two of our programs this year (one due to a strike, the other, illness). However, in both cases, our presenter was willing to reschedule with no problem.

My one recommendation for next year would be to allocate a portion of the ASC budget for this committee. It was somewhat difficult to plan events without knowing where "our next dime would come from". I often supplemented the program from my budget in order to provide such things as handouts, coffee, a proper set-up, etc. However, I felt that the money was well-spent when considering the overall quality and presentation of the sessions.

Our programs this year included:

1) Success with Stress
Presented by: National Narrowcast Tape/David Weinandy
Location: Alumni Room, University Union
Number in Attendance: 80
Comments: People liked the tape, positive feedback, breakfast workshop

2) Motivating the Motivators
Presented by: John Savage
Location: Alumni Room, University Union
Number in Attendance: 95
Comments: Excellent Remarks, very inspirational, luncheon program

3) Increasing Morale in the Work Environment
Presented by: Dr. Jim Wilcox, Associate Professor, IPCO
Location: Campus Room, University Union
Number in Attendance: Limited to 40
Comments: Excellent coverage in The Monitor
4) Intellectual Orgasm/Workshop Promoting Racial Awareness
   Presented by: Ted Paynther, Special Assistant to the Superintendent of the Cleveland Public Schools
   Location: Second Floor Lounge, Student Services
   Number in Attendance: 35
   Comments: Excellent comments and discussion, much support from the President for this workshop.

I would also like to make a special thanks to Ann Marie Heldt. She was most helpful as well as a great asset in the organization of each program. I really enjoyed working with her.

If you have any questions, please give me a call.

RE: Administrative Appointments to Committees

Several University standing committees require administrative appointees to complete their membership. I am listing the committees on the attached sheet with a notation of the appointee(s) from your area for last year (1937-38) for your convenience.

The Academic Charter (Article V, Sec.2) stipulates that appointed members shall serve one-year and are eligible for reappointment for up to two additional years. Therefore, individuals who have served as appointee since the 1985-86 academic year are not eligible for reappointment.

As these appointments are named, please inform the Faculty Senate Office (by memo) so our records may be kept current. We hope to distribute a list of committee memberships in September.

Thank you for your assistance.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Linda Canady
   Faculty Senate Office

FROM: Norma Stickle
       Secretary, Administrative Staff Council

Thank you for the opportunity to review the list of Administrative Staff appointments to University Standing Committees. I have noted on the attachment the changes that should be made. In summary, all Administrative Staff representatives are selected via election by the Administrative Staff. All appointments should be for three-year terms, consistent with the length of the terms for the faculty representatives. The three-year term is important in order to allow all representatives an equal opportunity to become familiar with the business of the committee and to avoid the excessive paper work involved in holding yearly elections.

In addition, the Administrative Staff Council requests a change in the manner in which the staff representatives to the Parking Committee are selected. Currently, the Vice President for Operations selects two staff members. If Mr. Martin has no objection, the ASC would like to change this to a process by which ASC elects an Administrative Staff member for a three-year term and the CSC elects a Classified Staff member for a three-year term.

Please call me at 2-2915 if you have questions.
