Bowling Green State University
HOME COMING DAY

Extensive Preparations Under Way.

One of the biggest events in the history of Bowling Green College will be the Home-Coming Day, November 10. Prof. O. P. Clutts and Donald V. Smith, the men in charge of general affairs, are leaving no stone unturned in their efforts to make the day a phenomenal success. A program of activities for this day is now almost complete. It is of such a character as to make the day one long to be remembered by all who are privileged to witness it.

The program contains as some of the major attractions the following:

Friday, November 9—8:00 P. M.

The drama class, under the direction of Miss McCain, will produce Booth Tarkington’s “Seventeen.” This group is one of the first amateur groups to produce this work. Miss McCain has charge of the seat sale and all persons on side the school wishing reservations may make them by writing to Miss McCain.

Saturday, November 10—9:00 A. M.

“Get-Together” Rally in auditorium. At this meeting the registration of visitors will take place and an outline of the day’s events given. Prof. Tunnicliffe, chairman of the program committee, is planning a real, live program, one you cannot afford to miss.

12:00 Noon.

A parade will start from the Administration Building and go down town. Prof. C. J. Biery, chairman of the parade committee, reports that plans are well under way for an elaborate parade. The parade will be composed of floats from various organizations in college and of decorated autos of the local townpeople, many of whom are already planning a decoration for their cars.

1:30 P. M.

Following the parade there will be held the dedication of the new athletic field. The dedication address will be delivered by some important personage and will set apart a plot of ground which will be known as The College Field for all time to come.

2:30 P. M.

At this hour the event of the day will take place when the Orange and Brown clash with Ashland. Coach McCandless makes no rash promises as to the outcome of this battle but he promises that if fight and spirit can win, old Bee Gee is sure of a big victory.

4:00 P. M.

Immediately following the game will be a snake dance led by the cheer-leaders. The dance will go on until time

HOME-COMING PLAY

The Drama class, under the direction of Miss McCain, will produce, for the Home-Coming play, Booth Tarkington’s “Seventeen.”

Miss McCain wishes also to announce that, since this play is primarily for the entertainment of former students and alumni who will be in Bowling Green for Home-Coming Day, the seat sale for students will not begin until the people outside of school are cared for. Anyone desiring reservations may make them by writing or speaking to Miss McCain on or before November 7th. Anyone in college, having friends outside, would do them a service if they would inform them of these facts.

down East Wooster to the college.

After returning to the college from the snake dance a huge Bon-Fire and Sing will be held in the rear of the Science Building. At this time Coach McCandless will say a few words to the former students.

8:15 P. M.

A party of students, alumni and former students will be held. The party is being planned by the social committee and will be by far the best of the year. All alumni, former students and friends will get admittance cards for the party at the Get-Together Meeting in the auditorium or later from the social committee.

This is a general outline of a few of the plans be made to the person suggesting the name which may be chosen.

7. In case more than one person should suggest the name finally chosen, the gift will be divided.

BUILDING ON THE CAMPUS

Work on the new dormitory at the corner of the campus, on Thurston and Court, has progressed nicely during the summer. Work on the interior has commenced and a few weeks will find it entirely enclosed.

The new building is perhaps the most impressive on the campus and is considerably larger than Williams Hall.

It is hoped that the building will be ready for occupancy by the second semester.

Tunnels to hold the heating pipes for the new Library and Recreation building are now being constructed from the Training school across the college drive. This building is to be commenced in the near future.

A B. C.

A mass meeting of all the women students in Bee Gee was called for September 24th. At this meeting Miss Esther Russell outlined the policies and activities of the club.

Following Miss Russell’s talk was one given by Donal Smith, president of the Win One Club. He outlined the program for Home-Coming Day and solicited the support of the club.

A. B. C officers elected for the ensuing year were: Miriam Long, president; Jean Shearer, vice president; Thelma Heald, secretary-treasurer; Esther Russell and Francis Kurz, cheer leaders.
ATHLETICS

R. B. McCANDLESS

The beginning of the academic year 1923 witnessed the reorganization of the physical education department at the State College.

Coach McCandless comes very highly recommended by some of the leading athletic directors in the west. He was a star in every branch of athletics at his alma mater, Nebraska Wesleyan University, was graduated in 1914 and afterwards coached several high school teams, all of which were excellent teams.

Mr. McCandless has a very honorable and enviable overseas record. During this time he served as an athletic officer of the 111th Machine Gun Battalion. Coach McCandless has already won the respect and co-operation of his squad.

Bee Gee Loses Initial Contest

The heavy, experienced crew of Ohio Northern University invaded Bowling Green Saturday, September 29 and pried the lid off the local football schedule. Northern emerged from the fracas on the long end of a 46 to 0 score.

Ohio Northern proved superior to the Orange and Brown in every stage of the game but one, that one being fight. Never before has the institution been represented by a team with as much fight as this one.

The Northern line was practically impregnable and the interference that the Northern backs formed was wonderful and pretty to watch.

Considering the fact that the McCandless crew had only two weeks of practice before the lid-opener their performance was very creditable.

For Northern Kerchner and Haley were the outstanding stars while it would be hard to pick a single man on the local squad. They played together as a team and not for individual honors. Summary of the game:

LETTERS FROM A PAULDING COUNTY FARMER TO HIS SON

Paulding, Ohio, Oct. 25, 1923.

Dear Willie: Your ma got back this A. M. and she wants me to be sure and tell you not to overstudy and I want to tell you not to undertudy. What your ma and me are sending you to Bowling Green is to get some of the education that is so plentiful there. When it's passed around you don't want to be bashful, but reach right in and take a big handful every time because I want you to get your share. You'll soon discover that education is about the only thing laying around loose in the world, and it is about the only thing a fellow can have as much of as he is willing to haul away. Everything else is locked up tight and the key lost.

I didn't have your advantages when I was a boy and I don't intend that you shall have mine. Some men learn the value of money by not having any and starting out to pry loose a few hundred from the odd millions laying around loose in the world; others learn the value of money by having $50,000,000 left them by starting out to spend it like it was $200,000,000 a year. Some men learn the value of truth by doing business with liars and some learn it in Sunday School. Some men learn the cassiness of "White Mule" by having a drunken father; some learn it by having a good mother. Some get an education from newspapers and business and life; some get it in colleges. The point is it doesn't make so much special difference how you get a bit of the right thing, just so long as you get it and freeze onto it. The package don't count so much as the quality of goods inside.

The first thing an education ought to give a man is character and the second thing is education. This is where I'm a little kittenish about this college business. I'm not starting in to preach to you because I know a young fellow with the right sort of stuff in him preaches harder than anyone else can, and I know that he is mighty often switched off on the wrong track by having the right one pointed out to him in the wrong way.

When a boy has got a good mother he has got a good conscience, and when he has got a good conscience he don't need to have the right and wrong of a thing pointed out to him. I'm anxious that you should be a good scholar, but I'm anxious that you should be a good man and if you graduate with a sound conscience I won't care if there is a few holes in your Latin. There are two parts to a college education, the part you get in the recitation room from your professors and the part you get from the boy you. The first part can only make you a scholar and it takes that plus the second part to make you a man.

It is not the first half, but the second half which farmers mean when they ask if a college education pays. It's the "Percy and Ferdie" boys, the "Chocolate Sundae and Tutti Frutti" boys, the "Rah, Rah, Boom and the bas! baa! Billy-goat" boys, the "out-all-night,all-in-all-day" boy that makes us doubt the cash value per acre of the college output. The foolish boys in college force us to overlook the real, for sure, red-blooded boys in college who take their education and make some man's business hum. But for me—I say a college education pays. Anything that trains a boy to think quick pays; anything that leads a fellow to do anything quicker pays because if a man can write a better poem, build a better house or even make a better mouse trap than his neighbor, even though he has his home in the woods, all the world will make a better path to his door.

College don't make fools, it only develops them—neither does it make great men, it helps them to develop themselves. A fool will turn out a fool whether he goes to college or not, and a good, strong boy will grow up to be a good strong man when he gets his education, whether he gets it in college or in the tough old school of experience.

Lack of education keeps No. 2 down and boosts No. 1 up. Now about mailing you the check you asked your ma to send—the thrashing will be done tomorrow and if it turns out good I may send you some money. Yours affectionately,

DAD.

CHAPEL SERVICE

September 18.

The text for the scripture service on this Tuesday morning was taken from St. Matt., 6:21, 22. "For where your treasure is, there your heart is also." The light of the body is the eye; if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light.

At this meeting it was urged that whatever we as a student body should undertake we should do wholeheartedly. If individuals our work should be attacked energetically and without fear. A test of civilization is our attitude toward fear. We must make up our minds to face life's problems squarely. We are here for a purpose, not by chance but to fill some higher plan of creation. We should strive to fulfill our mission by doing. Worry is a hindrance to action. It is a form of fear.

September 25.

Rev. Rush A. Powell spoke to the student body of the college on this date, delivering a very inspiring lecture. He emphasized the need for every individual to have a vision in life and then to spend a lifetime of effort in the attainment of that vision. In order that the vision may be of the proper sort we have our schools, colleges, and churches. He urged every student in college to get into the activity of the place and put all of life into the life at hand because it is by doing that we grow—the more we put into life, the more we take from it.

October 2.

At the chapel exercises for October 2nd, the orchestra made its first appearance of the year and greatly added to the enjoyment of the program. At this time Miss Pryzluska, a health specialist of Ohio State University, spoke for a few minutes on the organization of health clubs in the rural communities of the state.

October 9.

The devotional exercise of the regular chapel service was led by Rev. Dean of the Presbyterian church of Pemberville, Rev. Gilbert, of the local Presbyterian church, introduced Dr. Riddell, of Chicago, Ill., who gave the address of the morning.

The main theme of the morning address was dependability. The talk was very interesting and the value of dependability was made evident thru the many examples given where the individual had ability but failed because he could not be depended upon.

Love is Blind.

Mr. F.: "Really, I can't see a thing in kissing."
Miss M.: "I close my eyes, too."
AMONG THE BOOKS

A learned man once said, "Tell me the kind of books he reads and I'll tell you the kind of man he is."

Bowling Green College is indeed very fortunate in having a carefully selected library for the convenience and accommodation of her students. Besides housing our books, the library furnishes a delightful, quiet place for study. When a big assignment is to be prepared in a short time, the place to go is to the library, for here distractions are reduced to a minimum. There is no whispering, no banging of doors; very little noise of any kind, because the people who go the library there for the purpose of study and those who go to the library and do not study should remember that they are robbing someone else of a place to study.

It may be that if any individual creates too much disturbance he will be denied the privilege of using the library, not because the management cares in particular, but because of a desire to furnish a place of quiet for those who do want to study. So, please remember that if, during some of your visits to the library you happen to see someone whispering or otherwise creating a disturbance, it is your duty as a loyal student to Bee Gee to tell that person to go somewhere else to whisper for our library is a place to study and there are always plenty of people who intend to do so.

The student body at Bee Gee has grown so rapidly that there is in a few instances a number of calls for one book. In order that these books may serve the largest possible number of people they are put on reserve. What is that, they are marked by a red tag and are not to be taken from the library until after a certain hour during the day. At first thought this rule may seem a trifle inconvenient; however, you will see that when, perhaps an entire class wants the same volume, this is the only way the situation can be satisfactorily handled. By placing the book on reserve it is accessible to a great number of people in the library for study and after the specified time may be taken from the library.

Another important point in regard to the use of the library is the prompt return of books loaned. Promptness is a good habit, besides someone else may desire the very book you have held out longer than is your right. How would you feel if a book which you wanted very badly would not be returned until it was several hours overdue? That's the way I feel too, but of course we dare not break a person's neck simply because "it" is careless or negligent.

Our library is well equipped for recreational reading, having at your disposal an array of well chosen volumes of fiction, a list of good magazines, besides books on science and other subjects which happen to be of particular interest at that time. These books are called "Gold Star Books" and are in a separate case near the checking desk. Look these books over and if you find one you would like to take home for further study, call at the desk and make arrangements to do so.

Faculty members quite frequently use the library for study and research. They go there for work also, and perhaps they do not wish to be interrupted in what ever they are doing. If you wish to confer with a member of the faculty the proper thing to do is to call at his office; there you are sure of a welcome.

Get into the habit of using the library. If you cannot, after a thorough search of your own, find any material on your subject, ask the librarian or one of the assistants to help you. If, at times the rules seem a trifle irksome, try to remember that the library is for the convenience of everyone and that rule, which today seems a trifle irksome, may tomorrow prove a favor.

If everyone gets the spirit of co-operation, no one will suffer and everyone will profit thereby, and we'll all live happily ever after—maybe. So that's that and the Bee Gee surely hopes everyone gets what everyone wants so long as it doesn't inconvenience everyone else.

ORGANIZATIONS

Country Life.

The Country Life Club met and organized, September 25, electing the following officers: President—M. G. Hoskinson. Vice President—Robt. Orwig. Secretary—Ernest Etoll. Treasurer—Morris Bistline. Faculty Advisor—Prof. G. W. Beattle. Chairman of Social Com.—Mildred Whisler. Chairman of Program Com.—Francis Meagley. The Country Life Club is an organization to which every student is eligible for membership. All students who can possibly do so should avail themselves of this splendid opportunity to get into this live, active organization.

Watch the bulletin board for an announcement of the next meeting.

Freshman Class.

The first meeting of the Freshman class was called October 11 in the auditorium for the purpose of electing officers to serve for the coming year. C. Miller, of Grand Rapids, was elected president; C. Holloway, of Metamora, vice president; Alice Crawford, Woodsfleld, secretary, and Miss Huldah Finch, of Bowling Green, treasurer.

The Sophomore class at a meeting held October 16th, elected the following officers to serve for the coming year: President, Hayden Olds; vice president, Evelyn Scherff; secretary, E. Hoffman; treasurer, E. Benson.

GLEE CLUB

The girls' Glee Club is now being organized under the careful guidance of Prof. Tunnicliffe. The music department, reorganized and enlarged, promises great things in the music line this year. The ladies' Glee Club at its last meeting elected the following officers: President, Frances Buerstrom; vice president, Eleanor Shatzel; secretary-treasurer, Vivian Murdock. Miss Helen Hobart was chosen chairman of the social committee.

VARSITY "N"

The initial meeting of the Varsity "N" was held September 23rd. The meeting was devoted entirely to business.

The following officers were elected for '23-'24: President, Earl Letter; vice president, Morris Bistline; secretary-treasurer, Dewey Fuller.

The following committee heads were also appointed: C. D. Fox, Freshman Initiation committee; Dewey Fuller, Home-Coming committee.

SUMMER SCHOOL STUDENTS NOTICE

The student who left cape at Butler's drug store August 30 may have same by writing to E. M. Butler and claiming the cape.
SOCIAL NOTES

Reception.

The annual faculty and students' reception was held in the college gymnasium, September 20th. The "little sister" idea proved very successful and this made getting acquainted much easier. After meeting the faculty and renewing acquaintance with our old friends, the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. Music was furnished by Mr. Lake's orchestra. Ice cream and wafers were served for refreshments.

"Get Wise" Party.

On Wednesday afternoon, October 3rd, the women of the college attended the annual "Get Wise" party which was held in the auditorium. A playlet entitled "Perfect Behavior" was greatly enjoyed by everyone. After the program, refreshments were served in the Home Economics rooms.

Of interest to both faculty and students is the marriage of Mr. Solon Hearick, one of B. G.'s all-around athletes, to Miss Unice Schartz of Bryan, Ohio. The wedding took place on Saturday, September 1, 1923, at Bryan. Mr. Hearick's bride will join him later in the year.

ALUMNI NOTICE

The Bowling Green college Home-Coming day is an event which every alumni or former student should take some active part. The Alumni association is now becoming a big power and is rapidly growing in the work of the college. The day was established for those who are away and who want to come back to meet former friends and acquaintances. The business men intend to open the town wide open for them.

The officers of the association heartily endorse the day and will have plans ready soon for a big meeting of the association on that day. It is possible a noon luncheon may be arranged. Come back to B. G. We'll be there to meet you.

LILLIAN TREASSEL, '20, President.
IVAN E. LAKE, '23, Vice President.
JESSIE MERCER-HOWE, Secretary.

DEDICATION OF NEW ATHLETIC FIELD

Perhaps the most impressive ceremony of the Home-Coming will be the dedication of the new athletic field at the college.

Hon. Robert C Dunn has been procured to deliver the address. This single fact in itself promises a real worth.

This is the first year that football has been played at the college field. Who knows but the humble start made this year may soon lead to a stadium? Such things have come to pass and loyal supporters of the Orange and Brown predict one at Bee Gee in the near future.

Married August 22, 1923
at Wapakoneta, Ohio,
Miss Lois Ruth Means to Mr. Lester Stough
At home, Hoytville, Ohio.

PEP MEETING

On Thursday evening, September 27th, a mass meeting was held in the college auditorium. The attendance was fairly large and a great deal of enthusiasm was shown. The purpose of the meeting was to teach the college songs and yells to the new students. A great deal of pep was displayed by the cheer leaders, Frances Kurz, Esther Russel and Leo Lake. Short talks were given by President Williams, Coach McCandless, Bob Youngin and Don Smith.

PSALM OF A FOOTBALL PLAYER'S LIFE

Tell us not in mournful numbers,
Football is a piker's game,
For our hero often slumbers
With a dozen on his frame.

Lives of halfbacks oft slumber,
How to leave some bloke a wreck
And departing, leave behind us,
Footprints on our rival's neck.

PSALM OF A FOOTBALL PLAYER'S LIFE

GLOOM BUSTERS COLUMN

Freshie: "Why do they always cheer when a fellow gets hurt?"

Second Freshie: "I guess it is so the ladies won't hear what he says."

Miss Hall (Pointing to a sheet of music): "And now, Zona, what is this note?"

Zona (Under her breath): "Gee!"

Miss Hall: "G, that is correct."

Lake, the barber: "Shall I go over it again?"

Victim: "No, I heard it all the first time."

Clem: "Don, I had an awful dream last night."

Don: "What about?"

Clem: "I dreamed I was eating Shredded Wheat Biscuits and when I awoke, I found half the mattress gone."

"It must be out of order", said the absent-minded Prof. as he tried to fill his Eversharp pencil in the library ink well.

Helen: "You poor fellow, how did you get in your present condition?"

Ramon: "Got wrecked on the high seas."

Helen: "Oh, you're a sailor?"

Ramon: "No, first tenor on the Bee Gee Quartette."

Hotch: "I sleep with my dog every night."

Dinty: "That is very unhealthy."

Hotch: "I known, but the dog is used to it now."

Lady Senior: "Your should change your style of dancing a little."

Freshie: "In what way?"

Lady Senior: "You might occasionally step on my left foot."
