BEE GEE NEWS
The "Key"

We are rapidly drawing near to the year 1926, with the coming of the new year, the 1926 "Key" will be well under-way towards completion. But to make this volume a success, there must be cooperation all along the way. At this time stop and consider, what have you done and what are you doing to make this book a success?

A year Book is not the book of one class or group of individuals, but it is the book of the whole school. The publishing of a year book is the biggest thing the student-body does, and it is done by the work of the students. What are you doing to help the task along?

If you have any snap shots, funny stories, or some idea, give them to the staff, besides everyone can save his pennies and pay his installments on time.

The "Key" staff is striving to make the annual for 1926 a real Key. Will you help us do it?

Snap Shots For The Key

We all know that we are happiest when we are doing something. Every red-blooded individual is interested in activity. When two or more people meet to talk, the main topic is some past or present activity or some activity which they are planning on carrying out.

While we are in college there are many activities we enter into. When we are out of college and happen to meet an old college friend, talk will naturally turn to the activities which we were in back at old Bee Gee. Perhaps we will wonder how we looked at that time, perhaps we will say, "Gee! I wish I had a picture of Captain Crawford of the 1925 football team." "Remember the old pep and fight he had all through the game." Yes! and do you remember Posty and how the opposing players could not get through the line when "Posty was there." "Wish I had a picture of the gang when they were in action." The girls will have thoughts of those fine days and nights they spent at college. Perhaps while bending over the washtub they will stop and think how easy a life they lived back in Bowling Green while going to college. No washing to do, just shove the dirty clothes into the laundry bag and hand it to the postman and in a few days he would hand it back to you washed and ironed. Perhaps they will say "I wonder how I looked back in college before I took this husband of mine. Why when we were in college he took me to all the games and shows and I always had swell clothes, but look at me now, I never get to go to a show and look the clothes I have to wear." "Gee! I wonder how we looked back in those good old days." "Wish I had a picture to show him how we looked back in 1925."

Now the "Key" of 1925-26 has reserved a space for all these memories to be catalogued. Snapshots of your friends, and the activities you are in will afford a means to hold these memories as they really were. Any snapshot of your college friends and your activities will be put in the 1925-26 "Key" if you care to have it put in. These snapshots will be more interesting in the future years when they become fond memories.

Let's have a snapshot of you and your friend for this year's "Key". If you have any snapshots you would like to have put in the year book kindly give them to Rob Roe. If you do not know him, ask some one who does.

Famous Sentences

"I haven't the heart to take it," said the bridge friend as he discarded a club.

"Many a true word is spoken through false teeth.

"I'm all set" said the sun, as he disappeared over the horizon.

"It's been a trying day," said the judge, as he locked up the court-room for the night.

Some people are so dumb they think Babe Ruth wrote "The Bat."

No, No, Nora, you can't make a slow horse fast by not feeding him.

I knew some one who thought South Bend was the cramp.
Christmas

Everyone knows the story of Christmas. It is a story that never grows old. In a few days hence we will lay aside our cares of shopping and with one accord attend Christmas entertainments where again we will hear the story of old. There is a fascination about it that grips the average individual.

A few centuries since a choir such as none of us have ever heard broke forth in joyous praise over the advent of a new spirit into the world. "Peace on earth toward men of good will" was not the outburst of Beings merely filled with enthusiasm. It was the dawn of a new dispensation.

Few people, in the humdrum of everyday life, realize that the happiness, and advance that we have in the world today, are the results of the philosophy of that young man whose life had such a miserable close. Yet as we look about us we realize that those people who, today, lead the world are those who have endeavored in some way to follow His philosophy.

To be great one must be a servant. All of us are young people who see the great need for service and sacrifice in this world in which we live. We expect to go into the world and to give to the world all that we have. Do we expect to give it to the world for the good that may come to future generations? If we do we have some of the spirit of the first Christmas in our lives.

We need not wait until we leave school days behind. Everywhere, lurrings in hovels, in the hearts of orphans, in the struggles of widows, upon beds of affliction, there is unhappiness. It is within the power of each student, in the power of each believer in the "spirit of the first Christmas," to bring into the life of some one "good will" and "peace"—Christmas cheer. A good way in which to celebrate this Christmas would be to prove that "it is more blessed to give than to receive."

Within College Circles

Just among ourselves now, don't forget. Of course you won't tell any one outside our own circle, will you? Any way who would want to know some of the things which happen and can happen only in college circles?

Now let's admire ourselves a little. Aren't we a fine group of students? The best that the high schools of our territory can send—or does it seem sometimes that some of the poorest come from the high schools? Well you ask those students who have been making A's in their local high schools if it is easy to make A's in college. Most of them will tell you that the competition is pretty strong and that is pretty good evidence that the A students from the other high schools are here too.

Do we all intend to teach? Well take another look and see if all of us ought to teach. No it is evident that some of us can't teach so some of us are here for a little while intending to go into medicine or engineering a little later.

Then some of us have little money so we find B. G. a convenient economical... place to be. And have you ever noticed that some of the highest grades in college are made by those who are working their way through school? The three Englishmen who were here awhile ago could not understand how that could be. To them the class distinctions which prevail there in England are the distinctions which should prevail in college circles as well. But they do not understand America with her democracy everywhere, college included. But B. G. understands and is happy to extend recognition where it is due, never thinking to ask any other questions. That is the beginning of good citizenship. Let's keep it up.

Some of us are shy and some of us were. How much better we feel, and look, now that we have overcome our timidity. We do better in class recitations, make our neighbor in the next chair feel better, tax the patience of our instructors less because now we answer their questions—or roll call—in the voice of a wise hoot owl instead of a canary squeak. Yes it's better now.

But did some of us go too far when we lost our timidity, or shyness, or reserve, or whatever you may call it? Did we? Did we assume a bit of bluster—or bluff—when once we resolved to become a little more aggressive? Did some of us come to B. G. thinking too that since all college students do use bluster we might as well begin? Or did we soon discover that at least at B. G. all college students do not assume that attitude? Well it appears that some reflection over this matter is healthy for us, and especially if we have discovered it in time. It certainly would be very unfortunate if it should be discovered by others before we discover ourselves that refinement and culture are very great assets in a student body.

Have you noticed how the students soon come to place different values than when first they stepped on the campus? Soon there is a recognition of the real worth of their associates and the fine and sturdy characters of the men and women whom they meet from day to day. That understanding is refreshing and wholesome and inspiring. That makes for tolerance. We shall have a better relationship among people when we come to find out for sure that there are people as good as we are and really quite a few who are better.

Another thing that we see going on here daily helps us too. The gradual and unconscious development of humor, quite marked in many students. That's good for us and for the world. Now don't mistake cheap wit for good humor. Cheap wit isn't a wholesome development; it is an agressive assumption. How fortunate the boys and girls will be who may have for their teacher the individual who has the gentle humor that just makes people glad to be with him. There are a number here who will make the heart of the child glad. Haven't you noticed it?

They tell us that people respond to their environment; well it doesn't take any extra proof here for us to believe that. Early in the fall there is evidence of that response. It is usually best seen when there is a pair together. Now you know those fine October days—not the kind we had last October—fine days when a man with even a rubber heart would respond to the wonderful attraction of a long stroll, the hazy sky (above but not immediately surrounding him), the lazy hum of bees, mellowness everywhere. Is that the reason why conversations and actions sometimes grow 'soft' in October? There is response alright. But you just wait until those days in June arrive. Wonderful! But they'll probably get over it; some of them do.

And what do college students talk about? Sometime you listen when a group of them think no one is listening. Chit, chit, chatter, chatter; hear them go! "He said—," "She wore—," "You know her grades—," "My mother's letter—," "But ten cents won't last—," "That check, why didn't dad—," "Well you know the Junior-Senior—," "I'll bet when I get home I'll sleep until—," "What will Prexy say—," "I'll rush my mother's pantry—,” “And I had two flat tires—;” chit, chit, chat—why do such inflated people ever have deflated tires? But it's fun and all so wholesome.

It would sound strange in ten years when we are told that Jones or Smith is elected to the U.S. Congress, but it will be true for sometimes college men do go to Congress. Sometimes college men do become heads of big business establishments, or literary lights, or authors of scientific works, or reformers who make the world better. And to think we are mingling with such possibilities! B. G. is a good place to be, that's why we are here.

My New Year's Creed

By Herman N. Bundasan, M.D.

I desire to be well and I will strive to fulfill this desire.

I am convinced that there is no greater blessing than good health; to maintain health I will use intelligent thinking and make whatever material sacrifice may be necessary to have and to hold this valuable state of being.

I know that in order to keep well, I must regulate my life in accordance with the rule of right living.

I will study and adopt those measures that will keep me in a condition of mental uplift and physical well-being.

I will try to be temperate in all things, to keep my thoughts clean, my blood red, my muscles hard, my sleep sound, my digestion good, my body erect and my nerves steady.

I, therefore, make this sincere resolve that, during the coming year, I will as far as possible, live a good and pure life, so that I may be able to give the necessary service I owe to my God, my country, my family, my neighbor and myself.

Women’s League

On Wednesday afternoon, November 18th at the invitation of the Women's League of the college, Miss Laura Heston, head of the Home Economics Department, gave a splendid talk on table etiquette before the student-body. Miss Heston illustrated her talk with a complete table service. Miss Shelley took the part of a "Goof". Miss Arntz was the correct model.

A large crowd of men and women enjoyed the talk.

Book and Motor

The Book and Motor meeting of December 7th, 1925, elected to its membership the following students: Irene Tule, Olive Bowersox, Margaret Bulger, Helen Frisbie, Agnes Pilliod, Bernice Williams, Wayne Cornell, and Ivan Beard.

We are pleased to make this announcement, and the student-body joins with us in offering our congratulations to these who have merited, through scholarship and social activity, their election into this society.

Five Sisters

The regular meeting of Five Sisters was held at Shatzel Hall December 1st. The evening was devoted to giving the pledges their first degree of initiation. Several business matters were discussed and plans were completed for the annual Christmas party.

Watch us go in the future. We are planning big things and you will know we are here stronger than ever, alive, full of pep and vim.
Home Economics Club

A very interesting program was presented at the meeting of the Home Economics Club on Wednesday evening, November 18th. A brief review of the life of Mrs. Ellen Richards was given, describing her childhood, college days, and later years as instructor of chemistry in the Massachusetts School of Technology. Mrs. Richards is the founder of the Home Economics movement and has contributed a great deal to the women all over the country in this work. Although it is not very commonly known that Mrs. Richards is also the founder of the American Association of University Women. This program was presented by the Misses Kohler, Bartlett, Neeper, Albaugh, Hutson, Gigax, and Clements.

After the program, refreshments were served. Miss Mary Freeman acting as hostess. She was assisted by Miss Jeswald, Miss Williams, and Mrs. Schuck.

Y. M. C. A.

The regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held on Thursday November 19. Prof. Hissong gave a most interesting talk on “The Basic Principles Underlying the Teachings of Jesus.”

The programs of the “Y” have been exceptionally interesting. The “Y” invites all men of the college to attend these meetings.

Regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held Thursday December 3rd. The meeting consisted of short devotional exercises, a talk by Alfred Place on “Jesus in Conflict with the old Order.” Mr. Place was well fitted to speak on this subject as he has traveled extensively in Palestine and added interest to his talk by giving graphic descriptions of the Jews, their customs and habits. This talk was followed by a short business meeting.

Instructor: “What prize can we all attain?”

Bright Johnnie: “The booby prize.”

Emerson Literary Society

November 18th was “Eddie Guest night.” Ellura Cook was discussion leader. She heard Guest speak in Toledo and gave a very interesting talk on “Seeing and Hearing Edgar Guest.” Oscar Hunter spoke on “How Edgar Guest Came to Write,” and Mary Lawrence gave a talk on “Guest’s Philosophy.” Mae Leontine Morrison read several of Guest’s poems. The program as a whole was very worthwhile and each one there left with a warm spot in his heart for Guest.

The meeting for December 2nd was opened by a business session followed by a drill in parliamentary law by Prof. Schwarz. This was Emily Post Night. Helen Thompson, the leader, gave a very enlightening speech as to the sources and practices of etiquette. Ray Troutner gave a talk on “Campus Etiquette” and Marion Koleman on “Conversation.” These were very interesting and were illustrated by a number of Emersonians under the direction of Eleanor Stutz. Those taking part were: Jonathan Ladd, Theodore Fowler, Margaret Bulger, and Eleanor Stutz. Those present learned many valuable lessons.

The next meeting will be Negro Night. This meeting is opened to the public. A very interesting program has been planned.

Country Life Club

The Country Life Club held its meeting November 11th, 1925. After the usual call to order by the president, Robert Younkin, the club joined in singing several numbers. The meeting was then turned over to Mr. Daniels and Mr. Roth, who had charge of the program. An unusual entertainment consisting of colored slides followed. They brought out the history of improvements and methods of agriculture. After the completion of this appropriate topic, all gathered in the gym to take part in the usual entertainment consisting of games and dancing.
The meeting of the Y. W. C. A. of November 18th was an exceptionally important and interesting one. Following the opening song the devotionalists were led by Mary Lawrence. During the business session the nominating committee gave their report. It was voted upon by ballot by the entire group with the following results:

- Pres. — Mary Lawrence
- V. Pres. — Lilian Benson
- Sec'y — Mary Freeman
- Treas. — Marian Koleman
- Freshman Representative — Dorothy Weisbrod

The discussion topic for the evening, "The Charm School," was led by Rozella Leosch. Interesting talks were given by members. A talk on "Etiquette" was given by Angelina Huffman. "The Charm of Personal Possessions" by Bernice Williams; "Charm in Speech," Olive Bowersox; "Charm in Manners," Katharine Gunn.

At a cabinet meeting chairmen of committees were chosen as follows:
- Chairman of Program Committee — Bernice Williams
- Chairman of World Fellowship Committee — Estrella Daniels
- Chairman of Social Service Committee — Virginia Wayman
- Chairmans of Social Committee — Pearle and Merle Gray
- Chairman of Publicity Committee — Mary Freeman

The Y. W. C. A. met Thursday evening, December 3 and enjoyed a very interesting meeting. After the opening song Verna Buell pleased everyone with two beautiful selections on the piano.

The devotionalists were led by Bernice Williams. Short talks were given by the members chosen for the advisory board. They expressed their interest in the work and the help they desired to give to the society. Those whom the organization are fortunate enough to have on this board are:

- Miss Shaw, Miss Heston, Miss Burtner, Mrs. Kohl, and Miss Fitzgerald.
Quill Type

The regular meeting of the Quill Type was held in Room 300 Science Building, Wednesday evening, December 2. The program opened with Current Events by Dorothy Beckman. Then Mary Kerst read the Thanksgiving Proclamation.

Pearl Gray gave an interesting discussion on the subject of "Vocations That May Be Followed in Commercial Work." Following this was a review of the book, "So Big," by John Palmer.

At the conclusion of the program, Iris Hiers was presented with a Remington Certificate of Award for Speed and Accuracy in Typewriting.

All Ye Who Are Interested!

What is the greatest riddle?

Life, because we all have to give it up.

The Secret of Success

“What is the secret of success?” asked the Sphinx.

“Push,” said the button.

“Never be lead,” said the pencil.

“Take pain,” said the window.

“Always keep cool,” said the ice.

“Be up to date,” said the calendar.

“Never lose your head,” said the barrel.

“Do a driving business,” said the hammer.

“Aspire to greater things,” said the nutmeg.

“Be sharp in all dealings,” said the knife.

“Find a good thing and stick to it,” said the glue.

“Do the work you are suited for,” said the chimney.

Bee Gee 26 vs. Ashland 14

By winning its last game against Ashland the Orange team closed a hectic but successful season. For the first time the team played on a dry field and were able to demonstrate their real scoring ability. The graduating seniors were made happy by singing their "Swan Song" without faltering a note.

Bowling Green broke all their previous records of the year in this last and long to be remembered game. Dry field, instead of mud and rain, they scored by rush attack, (Gill) by aerial, (Fries) by fumbles, (Knecht, Evans). Their goal was crossed thru the line for the first time of the season. Ashland has been beaten for the last three years by B. G. and in the last two games fumbles have played a very important part.

Altho Ashland made more yards and more first downs than Bee Gee they were well scattered while those of the teachers cage when needed and scores resulted. Each team earned two touchdowns but Ashland fumbled on two untimely occasions and enabled B. G. to score four touchdowns.

Altho no alibies are needed regarding the team's playing this year, more than one player remarked after the game, "I sure wish we had, had dry fields all season." We claim the championship of the "Little Ohio Conference" tied an Ohio Conference team, tied Capital and won from Ashland. All in all 3 clean cut wins, 3 well earned ties and one defeat, glory to Ypsi for accomplishing it.

Review Of Football Season

The final game with Ashland marked the close of the 1925 football season for Bowling Green College. It also marked the close of a year long to be remembered by those associated with the school, both from a bright and dark viewpoint. If one would set down the facts which made the season a success the following would be the result of his endeavors.

For the first time in the history of the school it had two coaches both drawing salaries for their services as such. In Skibbie and Younkin, two old B. G. players, Stellar and Landis had very capable students assistants. In Harry Crawford the team had a very capable captain, leading the team by his own example, willingly to help and give advice and just as willing to receive.

The spirit among members of the squad, was of the best from the beginning to the end of the season and relieved the coaches of a great many worries.

In our manager, Jay Bone, of Gary, the team had a man whose first desire was to help the fellows. A little water, or some tape, wrap this ankle, do this, do that. Yes Jay old Gungd Din had nothing on you.

For the team's record, it lost one game, tied three and won three. Good enough, the championship is ours again after an absence of several years.

Finally we are glad for the host of material found in the freshmen class and leave to them the job of filling the shoes of those who graduate. Great power to them.

For the regrets we can say we are truly sorry to lose Zibe, Germany Swartz, Berry, Gahn, Younkin, Skibbie, Frankfather, Bone, and others who leave because of graduation. May they be just as successful in what other line of work they undertake.

Frosh 6 vs. Soph 0

On the morning of Tuesday, November 23rd things didn't seem to look quite natural around the campus. A very noticeable lack of green was evident, and it wouldn't have taken a Sherlock Holmes to find out the "How" and "Why" of it.

Before the game started there was quite a bit of excitement in the freshman camp when one of their regulars was found to be missing. After talking it over it was found out that a good many freshmen players had been receiving telegrams, letters, and calls to incredible meetings, etc. Well the reason for all this soon became evident but all to no avail as the final score showed.

The first half ended 0-0. It was right at the close of this period that another up-heaval became evident when the lost was found. It seems that Bohyer, the freshman back who was to make all the touchdowns went for a hike before the game, forgetting all about it till after the battle had begun. He arrived as the whistle blew, closing the first period.

The freshmen scored in the last half when Filiere intercepted a pass and ran for the touchdown. It was during this stanza that the excitement along the side lines became so intense that the game had to be called off till the crowd was quieted. At that it was Landis who walked off with glory.

Well Freshies those lids aren't very warm are they?

Kick Off Party

Probably the most enjoyable party of the year for some of our boys was the Annual Kick-Off party which was given by the A. B. C. girls on November 20th, after the last game of the season. The first part of the party consisted of a big banquet at Shatzel Hall for the foot ball boys in which food abounded. After the toasts and the election of next year's captain the boys adjourned to the gym, which was attractively decorated in the college colors. After the grand march which was led by Captain Crawford and Miss Dorothy Hearn, the crowd waited until Captain Crawford had kicked off to Captain-elect Gill. Then the dancing began. Many novelty dances were in favor, among them was the "Forward Pass," "Signals" and "A Snake Dance."

The party was in charge of Esther March, president of the A. B. C. Girls and she had as her assistants, Thelma Ritchie, who took care of the decorations of Shatzel Hall; Eleanor Stutz, who had charge of the decorations in the gym, and Marion Coleman, head of the refreshment committee.

Basket Ball Prospects

Since 1925 football is now history, Bowling Green men have started looking for new fields to conquer. In this they won't be disappointed for basket ball seems destined to be King during the coming winter months.

The first call for candidates was posted on Monday following Thanksgiving recess. In response about 40 men donned the abbreviated suits and appeared in the gym at the time set. Big men, little men, fat men, skinny men, Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores, and even Freshman could be seen, and heard, the latter particularly true of the Freshman.

For two nights this group "showed their stuff" for the coaches' approval and then the squad was cut to about twenty men, the following still contesting for places on the team: Captain Bud Brand, Moscoe, Bachman, Skibbie, Fries, and Olds, all letter men of from one to three years varsity experience, Lester Bohyer, Convoy; Bus Berry, B. G.; Arthur Crafts, Weston; Howard Filiere, Milton Center; Harry Gwynn, Richwood; Harry Hawkins, Hoytville; Ned Hanna, B. G.; V. Markle, Bloomdale; Walter Ostrander, Bradner; Walter Stearns, Weston; Germany Swartz, Cygnet; Bob Shelton, Cadmus; Karl Whaland, Arcadia; and Junkins, of Weston.

Special attention was then given to this group and on Monday, December 7th another cut was made. This group will probably be the one upon which the school's hopes will be placed. They are: Brand, Bachman, Bohyer, Fries, Filiere, Hawkins, Hanna, Junkins, Markle, Olds, Ostrander, Stearns, Shelton, Skibbie, Whalen and Moscoe.

probably true that few changes will be made. There is always a chance for one of the second squad to be promoted. This fact is causing everyone to do his best, as with each promotion some one must be dropped to make room as the number of the first squad will not exceed 15 or 16 men. With more than this number it would be difficult for the coaches to give ample time to each.

With these preliminaries out of the way, the squad should begin to make real progress and as things now look, the school has no reason to doubt that the men who play this winter will hold their own with whatever opponents they may meet. We have the football championship of the "Little Ohio", so let's go after the Basketball banner, right from the start.

Smiling Bill Ogden will be seen in a new roll as manager of the team, so we will now all proceed to forget about the job, feeling assured that it will be well taken care of.

We have a cheerleader and a good one but he can't do all the yelling himself. Girls let's follow the game you know something about, and yell for the team. Alright Dennis let's go!

In Memory

Mrs. Helena Steller, mother of Coach W. E. Steller passed away on Tuesday morning November 24. Funeral services were held Friday November 27 at 2:30 p. m. in the Archwood Avenue Congregational Church, Cleveland, Ohio. Pastor Lawrie Judson Sharp conducted the services.

The most valuable friend on earth is a mother. It is she who cares for us in our infancy, guides our first steps and molds the plastic of our lives which later emerges as our ideals. Words cannot express the sincere sympathy which the faculty and student-body extend to Mr. Steller in his late bereavement.

Avoiding The Rush

An old lady, leaving church after a service which had been attended by a crowded congregation, was heard to say: "If everybody else would only do as I do, and stay quietly in their seats till everyone else has gone out, there would not be such a crush at the doors."

An Essay On Kissing

A kiss is a peculiar proposition, as it is of no use to one, yet of absolute bliss to two. The small boy gets it for nothing, the young man has to steal it, and the old man has to buy it. It is the baby's right, the lover's privilege, and the hypocrites mask. To a young girl it is faith; to a married woman it is hope, and to an old maid it is charity.

One day as Mr. Carmichael entered the Post Office he saw a man and woman fighting. When asked by a passerby why he didn't stop the fight. He answered. "At first I intended to, then I saw the sign "Letter" box and so decided I wouldn't interfere."

A fly and a flea in a flue were imprisoned; so what could they do?
"Let us flea!" said the fly.
"Let us fly!" said the flea.
So they flew through a flaw in the flue.

CHRISTMAS and NEW YEAR GREETINGS From Church Shoe Shop
Christmas

The Happiest time of all the year. Everybody ought to be in a joyful mood.

You can make others happy by buying a present for them at the Winchester Store.

A large selection of useful gifts.

The New Library

Without an elaborate ceremony and with very few witnesses the corner stone of the new library was laid Friday afternoon, December 4th, 1925.

Those present were: Dr. H. B. Williams, the State Superintendent, the Contractor, Engineer Ronk, and "Doc" Lake.

Sealed in the copper receptacle were papers and records of historical value. The history of the college is recorded by the two catalogues which were placed in the receptacle. We do not usually think of catalogues as histories, but there is quite a difference between the one of 1914-15 and the one of 1923-24. Ten years of growth can be seen by the comparison of the two. Among the contents placed in the corner stone were the following: the names of the members of the Board of Trustees 1925-26; Faculty 1925-26; Employees 1925-26; Dormitory Organization 1925-26; Students 1925-26; Photograph of Faculty and Students; Summer Session 1925; Football report season 1925; First Annual Catalogue 1914-15; Tenth Annual Catalogue 1925-26; "The Key" 1924-25; Bee Gee News, November 1925; Summer Session Bulletin 1925; Wood Co. Republican, December 3, 1925; Wood Co. Democrat, December 4, 1925; Sentinel-Tribune, December 4, 1925; and the names of the Architect and Contractors.

All of us are very much interested in the progress of the Library building. We are looking forward to the time when we will be able to work in more comfortable and spacious quarters. The students of B. G. N. C. are to be congratulated that the college is expanding to meet the increasing needs. The college as an institution is being equipped in such a way that any community would be proud to be the home of such an institution.

Miss Baird: "Translate the next sentence."
Olive B.: "Oh gee, gosh, darn!"
Miss Baird: "Exactly, right."

College Song

There has been some discussion by faculty, alumni, and students, for a new Alma Mater song. The present song has never been a true type of an Alma Mater song, it is too much of a one sport song, and only the chorus contains the spirit that should prevail throughout the song.

When members of B. G. C. meet, everyone dreads the time, when we must sing our college song, because one or two alone know it and they can't reach the high notes. The result is that they murder the song.

Today there is enough talent within the school and alumni to compose a new song, one with spirit and dignity, one that can be sung in the regular chapel sessions as well as on the gridiron, court, and in alumni meetings.

What do you think about it? Let's have some action and put this thing across, and have a song that we can sing.

According to Prof. Kimmel most of us have been brought up on axones.
I once knew a man being brought up on the Bible.

PHONE 28
Dear Aunt Kate:
  I weigh 235 pounds. What is the best way to reduce without letting any one know it? I am very bashful and do not like to be kidded about my weight.
  Is it proper to meet a young man on a street corner, if you live in the Dorm?
  Do you think I would be prettier if I dyed my hair red?
  Fat but hopeful,
  Sue

My Dear Little Sue:
  Forget to eat for a couple weeks, and pad yourself with cushions. No one will be the wiser.
  Isn't the street corner almost as bad as the Dorm? Why not try the library?
  Along this time of year we do find quite a lot of red and green.
  Write again,
  Aunt Kate

Dear Aunt Kate:
  Would the "Key" publish pictures taken back of the bulletin board?
  Bob Roe.

Dear Bob:
  As yet they have not elected a censor for the "Key" so you might send your picture in.
  Aunt Kate

Dear Aunt Kate:
  Why is Jonathan Ladd visiting all the butcher shops?
  Looking for Light
Looking for Light:
  We hear he's taking an extension course and is looking for brains, kidneys, hearts, and spare-ribs.
  Aunt Kate

Dear Aunt Kate:
  Please tell me where I can get an introduction to that big fat fellow what is around this school. I think his name is Professor Posty. Gee I think he's cute.
  Lonesome Betty

Dear Lonesome Betty:
  Better forget him Betty, but if you can't; send 25c and I will send you his autographed picture, life size. He is so bashful he won't even call on the girls in his class.
  Write again,
  Aunt Kate

Dearest Aunt Kate:
  Please help me. Is it possible to fall in love at first sight. I met a handsome young man last night and, I think I am in love with him. Should I say "yes" if he asks me to marry him? How can I get him to ask me if he doesn't of his own accord? What shall I get him for Christmas?
  Doubtful Annie

Dear Annie:
  Don't be silly dear, there's no such man around.
  "Yes" if?
  Ask some of the girls who have just become engaged.
  Emily Post's book on etiquette.
  Aunt Kate

Dear Aunt Kate:
  How do you describe a man?
  Helen

Dear Helen:
  Start with the feet and go up or begin with the pocket-book and go out.
  Aunt Kate

Dear Aunt Kate:
  I am an athletic young woman, fond of every form of exercise, especially flying. Please tell me how many halves in a hockey game?
  "Wren" Murdock

Miss Wren:
  That depends on the teacher.
