Press Release

Dr. Michael R. Ferrari to speak at 2005 BGSU Administrative Staff Fall Reception.

The BGSU Administrative Staff Council is proud and humbled to welcome back to BG, distinguished professor, successful business person and former Department Chair, Provost, Executive Vice-President and Interim-President of BGSU, Dr. Michael R. Ferrari, to speak at their annual Fall Reception on Tuesday, September 27 at 2:00 PM in the Bowen Thompson Student Union Grand Ballroom.

Dr. Ferrari, “Mick”, will be the keynote speaker at the annual reception where student scholarship recipients will be honored and the winner of the 2005 prestigious Ferrari Award, bestowed annually to an active member of the BGSU administrative staff in recognition of service above and beyond the call of duty to the University during the past academic year, will be announced.

During his tenure at Bowling Green State University, Dr. Ferrari faced adversities and challenges similar to those riddling the state of Ohio today, and his words, drawn from a lifetime of experiences in higher education, are guaranteed to inspire. Even in his early days in academia, Ferrari was ever cognizant of the “substantial reservoir of institutional pride that exists among faculty and staff” (at BGSU). He consistently discovered innovative and creative means through which to lead the institution in the midst of adversity. Dr. Ferrari’s legacy of executive leadership and continuity of character will be celebrated by countless colleagues and friends who eagerly anticipate his long awaited return to BGSU.

Ad Hoc Committees

ASC ad hoc committees are created by the Executive Committee, which appoints members. These members need not be ASC representatives. After two years, an ASC ad hoc committee either ceases to function or becomes a standing committee, through action of the Amendments Committee. For more detailed information about committees, refer to the Bylaws, Appendix A of the Administrative Staff Handbook.
Philosophy on handbooks
A. Written with specificity like a contract; or loosely written
B. Opportunity for employer to lay down the law vs. employee to use as a shield – both extremes are wrong
C. He believes our philosophy should be to fully participate in the University mission, to use the richness of our human talents to further that mission, and to aim for fundamental fairness
D. In rewriting our handbook we should eliminate repetition, state simply, provide explanation of our focus – if anyone in the administration wants above all to preserve the status quo, nod politely and keep going because this is important

Section I.
- Purpose – what is it we want to achieve
- Procedure for amendment – there isn’t one now
- Who is covered by this handbook
- Responsibilities of Admin Staff: shall, shall, shall – reads like the bible – example: shall maintain physical and mental well being through a healthy lifestyle – the Code of Ethics covers all this and there could be a phrase stating we will abide by all rulings by the Board of Trustees

Section II.
This is a recitation of procedures that go out of date. The Ohio Ethics Law is problematic and changes – remove it. Take employees to where the red flags are. ASC has the opportunity to discuss policy changes here rather than to recite policies.

The issues of diversity, sexual harassment, equity, human dignity, etc. need to be woven into every thing we do. To breathe life into these policies there should be a system for dispute resolution (effective unlike the current set up), discussion groups, sensitivity training, support groups.

Section III.
Conciliation Non-Compensation – Joe explained the word ‘grievance’ was not allowed to be used. The policy has been in place for about five years and based upon the three times it has been used, it doesn’t work. The steps are not clear, there is no timeliness.

Trimboli said it is all procedure with no substance. He said you need to 1) state the facts; 2) how do the facts violate policy; 3) what harm has been caused; and 4) find a remedy.

Political Activity
We have a first amendment right to express our opinion. The bottom line is does the political activity impact your work. Religious activity is not addressed and is a similar issue. Court rulings to date have states is it okay to display signs, or religious articles at your own work station; that there can be no impression given that the institution supports the individual's view; and it can not impede work.

Section IV.

No mention of ARP which will now be offered to classified staff with fewer than 5 years of service.
No mention of Health care benefits, one of the biggest benefits we have. It is just a referral to established policies.

Jury Duty should be call something broader because a person can be subpoenaed by agencies outside a court of law, such as the FBI.
It should be stated that there will be no reprisals for compulsory duty.
He will check on the payment for jury duty, believing that most courts have gone to lunch money and transportation reimbursement as opposed to per diem and that the employee should be able to take the payment.
Military Service -- He believes we should add a section on National Service, for activity like aiding hurricane victims. The University could set a number of days per year the employee could use for this.

Charter is more important than by laws and should be “A”.

Sexual Harassment
Procedures need to be revised:
1) inform the accused
2) tell complainant her/his rights
3) communicate decisions to all parties
4) instruct managers how to take facts and how to apply them
5) clarify the relationship between OED procedures and decisions and those of the manager – who has final say

Bottom Line for Handbook
ASC have a discussion about fundamentals – what do we want to accomplish. Once we have a philosophical statement we agree on and a direction we can appoint 4 or 5 small committees (one for each section) and come up with bullet points problems and solutions. Come to agreement and draft it. It is better to do this than to take a pencil and attempt to edit the document already in place. Whole sections need to be removed.

All employees have a minimum 12-month review process for the overall performance. The review should consider the following aspects:

- Performance against the expected job responsibilities.
- Development of new skills and knowledge.
- Leadership qualities.
- Contribution to the team and the organization.

The review should be conducted by the immediate supervisor and the employee. The supervisor should provide a detailed assessment of the employee's performance, strengths, and areas for improvement. The employee should have an opportunity to discuss their performance and provide feedback.

At the end of the review, the supervisor should provide a written summary of the review, including the employee's performance rating and any recommended actions. The employee should sign the summary as a confirmation of the discussion.

The review process should be conducted on a regular basis, at least annually. The supervisor should be available to discuss any concerns or issues with the employee throughout the year.

The review should be conducted in a professional and confidential manner, and the employee should be given an opportunity to provide input and express any concerns.

The review process should be documented and kept on record for future reference. Any action plans or development plans should be communicated to the employee and the supervisor.

Any necessary corrective actions should be planned and implemented. The supervisor should monitor the progress of any development plans and provide support and guidance to the employee as needed.

Re: Suggestions for contracts; to remedy previous objections

1. Although I am uncomfortable with the lack of an actual contract to sign in acceptance, I think a reasonable compromise would be to at least have an affirmative response be required for the contract to be considered accepted; the current lack of response or objections as acceptance is simply not prudent (e.g., people could be on vacation, or the mail could be delayed, etc.)

2. The new paragraph indicating that the "timeliness of payments made to you...could be affected by the frequency and amount of funds received from those funding sources..." is a departure from the wording in previous contracts, and is particularly objectionable when taken at face value. After consulting with Gail McRoberts who spoke about this same paragraph with others for clarification, I do not agree that the paragraph is actually explaining what has previously been included within the language of our contracts. No matter what the "intention" of the wording is, it reads that my salary could be delayed or discontinued at any time during the fiscal year if the university doesn't receive the funds that pay my salary on time. This could result from a paperwork error or omission that may be of my control. The previous agreements used the words "availability of funds." The Administrative Staff Handbook says, "In particular, continuation of employment is not guaranteed beyond the termination of grant or external funds." The new paragraph in the letter, to me says something very different from the wording in the handbook and is unnecessary, in my opinion.

3. In addition, the phrase about "the quality and quantity of work actually provided during the relevant pay period," reads to me that during any given month, someone (and it's not clear how this is determined) could decide that I didn't perform a sufficient amount or quality of work to be paid that month (note the wording "pay period" not "employment period"). Again, what the paragraph is intended to mean and what it actually says are two different things here. I suggest that this language simply be removed.

4. The previous contracts (the actual signed documents) indicated that there is a 12 month period of employment. I agree to work for 12 months, the university agrees to pay me for 12 months (but not guaranteed beyond termination of grant or external funds, for grant-funded positions). The letter states that the previous "agreement" has been modified by the terms of this letter and thus an actual period of employment is unreliable given the new paragraph discussed in #2 & #3 above.

5. The last paragraph is also problematic; it says that "this letter contains all of the terms and conditions that are attended to your reappointment," and further that "you have not relied upon any other written or verbal promise or understanding..." I believe this paragraph should make clear that the latest "Agreement" document (specified by date) AND this letter contains all of the terms and conditions that are attended to reappointment. The "Agreement" has been modified by the letter, and the letter does not contain all of the information in the "Agreement," thus they should both be referenced here, in my opinion. The most recent version of the "Agreement" should be specified by date or some other identifiable reference, because if we are not to have an actual new signed agreement each year, over time, it could become difficult to verify the most recent version of the signed agreement is in force.
