Chapel Notes

January 19
The children of the training school were our guests at this assembly. Rev. Voorhis of the M. E. church led the devotions. The speaker of the morning was Prince Immanuel of Babylon. He gave his address in his native costume. He left his hearers much interesting information of his own country and also some very worth while while observations he had made during his travels in America. His sense of humor kept the audience in fits of laughter. He closed his talk by singing a beautiful little song in his native language.

January 26
There was no chapel this Tuesday, instead the student body assembled Thursday of the same week for informal commencement exercises.

February 2
Estelle Mohr, a student of last year who is now attending Columbia University, was present. He sang a group of solos. All former students were glad to hear "Dinty's" voice again.

Supt. Bryant of the Bowling Green schools gave the address of the morning. He spoke of the problems confronting the school teacher in meeting the various situation which arise. His advice will prove a benefit to those planning to teach in the future.

February 9
It being the week of Lincoln's birthday appropriate tribute was paid to his memory. After the opening exercises President Williams read Lincoln's letter to the Widow Dixon and also his Gettysburg address. Prof. Kimmel read a paper which he had written about Lincoln. In this he brought out many interesting and worth while facts in the life of the Great Emancipator and also of his character and the factors which contributed to his greatness.

Informal Commencement

Exercises for January graduates Thursday morning, January 28, the student-body and faculty met to pay honor to those graduating from the institution at the end of the first semester.

After the opening song the invocation was pronounced by Rev. Wilson. Miss Ruby Frick, one of the graduates, sang a beautiful solo.

Mr. W. B. Bliss, assistant to Director of Education Riegel, gave the address of the morning. He reviewed the situations in the teaching profession and stressed the requirements needed by teachers in their work in order to meet the situations as they should be met.

At the close of the exercises, President Williams presented diplomas to twenty-one Elementary students. Those being thus honored were: Barbara Bolton, Nevada Boyer, Thelma Clevenger, Opal Crates, Yolan Cverna, Ruby Frick, George Grauer, Lawrence Grauer, Bertha Hall, Minnie Hart, Hazel Hathaway, Hazel Heston, Thelma Jump, Freda Kaeding, Casper King, Helen McCormick, Hazel Baker Myer, Alma Peters, Velma Shoemaker, Murriel Stubbins and Martha Wiseley.

B. S. degree was conferred upon Miss Chloe Thomas.

Many of the graduates are entering immediately into the teaching profession.

The Bee Gee News extends to all the graduates best wishes for success in whatever field of work they may enter.

Faculty Notes

It was a distinct shock to the faculty located in the Science Building to learn the first morning of the new semester that Mr. Tours was no longer one of us. During his time among us he won our highest esteem. At all times he was friendly with all who came in touch with him. He not only did thoroughly the work that was assigned to him but was ever ready and willing to do the little extras that had not been counted on.

Not only are the faculty members sorry to lose one so faithful, but the students have expressed their regret. However, the best wishes of all go with him in his new work.

Letters from Prof. E. L. Mosley

[Received too late for publication in last issue.]

Before Prof. Mosley left for Florida, Otto Roth and J. O. Hagedorn asked him to investigate teaching conditions there.
Recently they received letters from the Prof. stating that many teachers' applications are rejected, but he does not say if they are from the North or not.
He thinks that persons with either a diploma or degree from B. G. N. C. could secure positions there without an examination.
In a talk with the supervisor of the Miami schools, the Prof. states that he said they would need more teachers before the end of the term.
Prof. Mosley does not say anything about the cost of living or teacher's salaries there.
He mentions that L. B. Sommers who attended B. G. last summer is teaching there.
Of himself the Prof. says, "I am living in a cabin by the sea and having a real vacation. Have had only one warm meal in a week, but the air is warm and we need no fire for any purpose."

Christmas Party

One of the most impressive entertainments of the school year was the Christmas party which was given in the auditorium the evening of December 17. Miss Neilsen had charge of the entertainment. The first part consisted of a group of beautiful tableaux, readings, songs and exercises all expressing the Christmas spirit. Then the performers, headed by the music students dressed in white and carrying candles, and followed by the audience formed a procession and to the impressive tones of "Adestes Fideles" marched to the beautifully decorated gym where they sang Christmas Carols around the Christmas tree, until Santa arrived with presents for the faculty children. After all the kiddies had been treated, Santa and the crowd left, all declaring that the evening had been a wonderful treat.

John Rudolph: "I'd like to do something big and clean before I die."
Wayne Cornell: "Wash an elephant."
The new semester has started. There is nothing startling in this statement, but there are many things that may be observed and that may prove to be guides for our work this semester.

Some new students have come to us. This is their first time away from home when they feel that the home ties have almost been severed. Upon the first day while registration was taking place many features of this separation may have been observed. There were the father, mother, and daughter who had come to B. G. as a family unit. Later a father could have been observed leaving the Administration building. There was a strange look of pain in his eyes. His lips were drawn. His chin held with a forced firmness. His steps were quickened as he descended the stairs and parted for the first time with his daughter. The mother followed closely. Trembling lips, quivering chin, a dab at eyes with a handkerchief told too well the story of a mother's love and concern as she blindly followed her husband from the building. This might be called the story of the breaking of the home ties.

That evening, after the excitement of registration was over, there was a lone some heart in a room somewhere in Bowling Green. Someone's daughter had partaken of the evening meal alone, for the first time. Someone's thoughts strayed to the old home. A sob, a tossing through the long night, and so the first day away from home was ended.

We, who have made Bowling Green our home for a few years, may not have seemed sympathetic. We, too, witnessed partings like that, and if we have not seemed to respond in the way you expected will you not give us an opportunity to become acquainted with you? We want to help to make your stay in Bowling Green as pleasant as possible. We are the same kind of girls and boys that you have known at home. We would reassure your parents that we have your interests at heart and have the same high ideals as the folks at home possess.

You have come to us for a purpose. That purpose is to fit yourself for life's battle. Many are the opportunities that you will find here. You may be fitted for a profession. You may be fitted for a good balanced social life. You have the making of your future in your own hands. Luck may be a "jack 'o lantern." Hard work is a tool. Let us remember that "nothing can be substituted for hard work." Therefore we welcome you to B. G. N. C. We are proud of her and those who have gone from her halls. May we have the same reasons to be proud of you?

Articles appearing in the editorial column of the January issue of the News caused quite a stir and a number of replies were received by the editor which presented the other sides of these questions.

We wish to state that it was not the intention of the writers of these articles to criticize any particular person or particular group of persons. We admit there are two sides to most questions.
and, in fairness to those whose opinions may differ from ours, we shall publish these articles exactly as they were presented to us. We are thankful for these contributions and will publish them if they are impersonal and are accompanied by the author's signature. (We will not publish author's name unless so desired.)

If we through this column can cause the student-body to do some intelligent thinking on these problems, thus helping in their proper solution, we shall feel well paid for our efforts.

—The Editor

To Be Or Not To Be

In the January Bee Gee News appeared an article, headed as this is, which was written by one who had been misinformed about the subject of wearing dress suits to College functions.

From eighteen to twenty parties will be held held in the gymnasium during the school year 1925-1926. Of these, four will be classified as "formal"—the Junior-Senior formal, the Sophomore prom, the Men's Hop, and the Glee Club party. These are "formal" because it has been customary to have them so or because the group responsible for the party has asked that it be considered so.

As one means of distinguishing a "formal" from an "informal" party, a committee within the Social Committee has worked out the following as suggested dress:

Women—dresses distinctively party (not sports clothes)

Men—dark suits, black footwear, white shirts, and black ties.

It can easily be seen that no student need wear a dress suit in order to carry out the suggestions made above. The fact that their rental is an item of expense that is not easily borne by some, has been taken into consideration. However, for those who wish to appear so clad the opportunity should be given. One of the local merchants has made a very reasonable offer to college men.

While it is generally recognized that the main business of a college is the imparting of book knowledge, yet there are many other things learned there that prove very valuable later in life. That of being able to be at ease in whatever situation may arise, is one of them.

Some of our students may not before have had the opportunity of attending parties that have been formal in character, yet that is no proof that they never will. Many will go to Five Points to teach school, but many will stay there only a short time. Some will arise to the positions of superintendents in large systems, leaders in Y. M. C. A. work and in the business world, lecturers, musicians, singers, etc. In such work it may be necessary for them to appear in formal dress. Surely they will be less embarrassed if they have had previous experience, and how much more fun it will be to get it early in life when one is with his college chums.

In this article men have been mentioned in particular, because they are less accustomed to "party" clothes than women are. Now let us get the facts straight. The above suggestion applies to only one-fifth of the parties, and to the groups desiring a formal. It is not likely that one person will be present at all four. No man need wear evening clothes in order to comply with the suggestion for correct attire.

Two Sides To Every Question

In the last B. G. News, the editors have criticised somewhat adversely the attitude of spectators at our Basket Ball Games. Is organized cheering the only outward sign of real appreciation of a team and its good work? Intelligent appreciation of good playing is shown by that spontaneous unorganized cheer that always arises after a pretty piece of pass work resulting in a goal—indeed after every basket made at our games there has never failed to arise spontaneous cheering or applause. Does not this spontaneous cheering show a greater appreciation of the fine work of our team than does a mechanical repetition of semi-meaningless sounds shouted in unison at a time when we have no inner urge to cheer and in fact are somewhat bored at being made to stand up and shout when there is nothing to shout about.

We have had no nicer bit of college spirit shown than at an early game when some spectator started the alma mater song and in an instant everyone was on his feet singing heartily, undirected by any cheer leader.

Another Side. Everyone who has played in matchgames knows that the player is oblivious of the cheers of the audience. Yet, playing in a hub hub is an unconscious nervous strain and thus too much cheering may be undesirable.

At a basket ball game such “organized” advice as “Fight, Fight, Fight” if followed by the players would work disaster. As soon as a basket ball team begins “fighting” instead of “playing” the game is as good as lost. Leave the fighting cheers to Football. If we must have organized cheering, lets make it as intelligent as possible.

Emerson Literary

The Emerson Literary Society met Wednesday evening, January 20. Prof. Schwarz had charge of a lively parliamentary drill.

Mr. Lindsey Pugh was discussion leader. The topic was: “The Significance of Myths and Legends.” The leader gave a very interesting talk on the myths of Greece and Rome. Miss Katharine Gunn then entertained us with classical myths; after which Miss Lucy Veler told us stories from Indian myths and legends.

All the programs of the society have been keeping up a high standard and a great interest has been manifested by the members.

Quill Type Society

The Quill Type, an organization within the Commercial Department of the college, held its regular meeting Wednesday, January 27. The whole society is divided into four groups called the T's, the Y's, the P's, and the E's. The program for the evening was put on by the P's.

Before the holiday vacation they posted their program which was in the form of a menu, every course consisting of peas served one way or another. Some of the selections were very clever.

Miss Iris Hiers told of her experience as a stenographer; Mr. Bricker gave some very worthwhile current events; and Miss Probel read three of Edgar Guest’s poems. Miss Shuder had for her subject “Peas in the Pod” and in an able manner she discussed the value of Persistence, Punctuality, and Patience. Miss Nancy Meyer’s dish, “Toasted Peas,” proved to be a paper in which the various members of the society were roasted instead of toasted. Miss Rabish gave an excellent book review of “Pride and Prejudice.” Mr. Knepper proved conclusively that we cannot get along very well without the P’s as “There would be no Commercial Department; nor could we take Penmanship, Stenography, Book-keeping, or Geography. We could neither telephone nor telegraph. . . “Miss Pearl Gray had woven the names of all the members into a poem, the reading of which greatly pleased the audience. The concluding number was “Jokes” by Miss Seifert whose reading was such that no one could miss the point.

Before the meeting adjourned officers for the next semester were elected. They are Wilber Rider, president; Iris Hiers, vice-president, Margaret Jessen, secretary; and Alice Hiers, chairman of the program committee.

Johnny Ladd: “What was that noise?”

Rev. Wilson: “Jimmy Myers just broke a five dollar bill to pay for his Key.”

Posty: “Have you heard about the new missionary movement?”

Max P.: “No, is it anything like the Charleston?”
Bee Gee 38--Bluffton 18

For the second time in the last two years Bowling Green has beaten Bluffton on their own floor. Not only was the Mennonite team beaten, they were completely swamped by the shower of baskets made by Orange clad men.

Realizing what a loss meant there was at no time during the game, a let up by either team but, as the final score shows Bee Gee was able to retain their hold among the leaders of the conference.

Altho the special car project did not succeed, a good sized crowd was present to help the fellows win through their spirited cheering.

The team as a whole worked well, the guards accounting for Bluffton’s few points while the forwards carried it down the floor and through the basket.

This win makes 4 straight wins in as many starts and leaves the teachers in a tie with Defiance for first place in the conference.

Bee Gee 25--Defiance 24

In a game which will be long-lived in the memories of all who saw it the locals just nosed out the visitors in the last half-minutes of play, scoring a win, and now sit supreme, undefeated, as leaders on the top rung of the conference ladder.

All through the game it was a see saw affair with the Orange in the lead most of the time, till in the last minutes of play Defiance took a one point lead when a stall on the local’s part was broken up and a basket made. It was only in the last 30 seconds of play that Captain Brand did that thing, for which every local fan was praying, seemingly without hope. No sooner was this simple little act accomplished and the gun shot, than all the pent up emotions of that crowded gymnasium were loosed. Nerves suffered and so did dignity but who cared at that moment. Bee Gee had won.

However we must alibi, tho we won, Bee Gee was decidedly off form, in team play and basket shooting. One will weaken team play but others may shoot baskets by their own ability. So it was that Skibbie bore the greatest burden, as it seemed that for him alone the ball behaved.

But this is history and we must still do bigger things namely remember we play Defiance at Defiance. We must win.

Intramural Basket Ball

Are Bowling Green College fellows basket ball players? This question was answered for the second time in the history of the school on Ground Hog day, when in response to Coach Landis' call all men not on varsity or freshman squads were invited to a mass meeting. The purpose of this meeting was to form teams for an intramural league. Last year the same plan created a lot of fun an interest about the school and so far this year all looks fine for another siege of intramural basket ball.

Certain men were chosen by the Coach to act as Captains. These Captains at the meeting chose seven other players besides himself, thus teams were formed. These groups then proceeded to label themselves by some supposedly appropriate basket ball vernacular. Whether the team will live up to these advertisements of their respective abilities remains to be seen.

Each team is to play each of the other teams twice and the ranking will be kept so in case of a tie for the championship a special struggle can be arranged for.

The following teams have been formed so far:

- Captain
  - Swartz—Hashslingers
  - Frankfather—Cubs
  - Beyerman—5 Basketeers
  - Odgen—Floorhorsemen
  - Bone—Bootleggers
  - Evans—Stellarites
  - Hawkins—Zippers
  - Byron Stearns—Galloping Gobs

The Country Life Club held its last meeting of the year 1925 on December 9. It opened by the usual form with Robert Younkin’s call to order. All joined in singing the Alma Mater after which the minutes were read by the secretary, and approved. The first number of the program was “The Progress of Agriculture” presented by Chester Cornell in a very interesting manner. Following this talk the group was entertained by a trio including the Misses Clagget, Brentlinger, and Huston. The next number was Current Events by Jay Bone. After the closing song all adjourned to the gymnasium for the usual social hour. It was understood that the Country Life Club would not meet again until the following year, 1926.

The Country Life Club held its meeting January 13. Room 315 was a scene of enthusiasm due to the unusually large crowd. The meeting was called to order by the vice-president, Marie Dock. A number of songs were sung by the group, followed by the Secretary's report. The business discussed related to the day of meeting as a mistake had been made.

The program then followed. A group of solos was rendered by Miss Urschel; readings by Miss Vance; solos by Miss Grace Dull, and current events by Mr. Wilford Gahn. Mr. Gahn also reminded the group of the lack of school spirit, and the part to be played by it in the coming Bluffton game. All right, folks, talk it up!

After the usual program hour the club adjourned to the gymnasium to take part in games and dancing. The Country Life Club ought to be able to do the square dance perfectly after a few more instructions.

Skol Doings

The members of the Skol were very delightfully entertained by their pledges at a progressive dinner party on Dec. 15. The "boys" (for it was a stag party also) proved to be good cooks and everyone enjoyed the delicious chop suey which was served at the home of Vivian Murdock. The other courses were finally located at the homes of Lois Gilbert and Marjorie Chapman. At the latter place, Santy as a reward for all good boys, presented appropriate gifts. After a brief but interesting "orchestra" practice the party ended in a slumberless party at the home of Grace Kille.

In order that no one may get the wrong impression regarding the unusual generosity and actions on the part of some of the pledges of the Skol, Jan. 11th we take this means of explaining that they are undergoing some public initiation.

The regular meeting of the Skol was held Jan. 12th at the home of Jean Sherer. After taking up important business matters the 2nd degree was conferred upon the pledges, and a brief social hour enjoyed.

Five Sister

Tuesday evening, February 9th, the Five Sisters held their regular meeting at Shatzel Hall. After a short business meeting the second degree of initiation was administered to the pledges. At the close of the meeting refreshments were enjoyed by all.

Y. W. C. A.

The topic of the Y. W. C. A. meeting of January 14th was: "The Understanding of the Beliefs of the Christian Church through the Bible." The leader was Miss Mary Freeman. The devotions were lead by Miss Virginia Wayman, after which she gave a splendid talk on "Habits of Prayer and their Effect on Personality." Miss Neva Knapp talked on "How Study the Bible."

Estriila Daniels on "How Work Out the Principles of the Bible." and Miss Sadie Clements on "How Live a Christian Life." All present seemed to be greatly interested in the topics and we were pleased to have so many enter into the discussion.

The meeting of January 21 was lead by Miss Eloise Leathers. The topic was: "How Make the Home Happy by Using the Principles of Christ." Everyone was asked to take part and the response was good. Miss Fitzgerald talked on "How Work Out The Principles of Christ Among Our Friends and in School." Many worth while thoughts were presented.

At the meeting of February 4 a committee was elected to nominate the new officers. Miss Gladys Kelly then took charge of the meeting. The main topic was: "Money and Your Fortune." Miss Helen Hayles talked on "Money as an Objective;" Miss Florence Gingrick on "Money and How It Determines Our Future;" and Miss Thelma Ritchey on "Money: A Help or a Hindrance."

All of the meetings have been on topics that every girl should be interested in. Girls, you are missing something if you do not attend! Come and help us out.

Home Economics Club

On Wednesday evening, February 11, a very interesting program was given at the regular meeting of the Home Economics Club.

The topic discussed at that time was "Pioneer Women." Miss Norma Lee talked on the life of Harriet Beecher Stowe. She told of her valuable contributions to humanity through her writings and how important home schools were towards furthering the education of women. Miss Mary Boyer gave some interesting sketches from the life of Frances Willard. She discussed her leadership in the prohibition movement and its effect on the home. The ideals of Frances Willard are an expression of the present ideals of Home Economics. Miss Heston told the story of the life of the first school teacher in Toledo, Mrs. Harriet Whitney Collins. The life of this teacher was very interesting as it showed how different her life was from that of the present teacher.

After the program refreshments were served. The committee in charge consisted of the Misses Etta Ward, and Orpha Knight.

Junior-Senior Formal

Frolicking under a veritable rainbow of colors, the Juniors and Seniors welcomed their friends to their annual Formal, the night of January 16, in the gym.

The gym however, was hardly recognized as such, for the ceiling was transformed into arches of rainbow hue. At one end of the gym was the rainbow itself with its mythical pot of gold.

The dancing started with the grand march which was led by the President of the Senior Class, Jonathan Ladd, and Eleanor Stutz. During the evening punch was served and dainty refreshments were also served at small decorated tables in the balcony.

Hadyn Olds was the chairman-at-large of this party, while Grace Kille had charge of the decorating and Mary Freeman had charge of the refreshments.

The patrons and patronesses of the evening included Dr. and Mrs. Williams, Dr. and Mrs. Kohl, Prof. and Mrs. Schwarz, Mrs. Sharp and Dr. Barringer.

Jokes
A very hopeful college student bent all his energies upon securing a gold medal award. After he had received the medal a chum asked what his father had given him for earning this medal.

"Have you seen those Ritzy Rolls-Royce sport cars running around here?"
With an awed expression the chum answered, "Yes."

"Well, he gave me five dollars."

Soph: "Well, I'll admit you know more than I do."
Fresh: "Really?"
Soph: "Yes, you know me and I know you."

Stanley P.: "I asked her if I might see her home."
Mary L.: "What did she say?"
Stanley P.: "She said that she would send me a picture of it."

Coach Wise called Toledo Athletic Supply Co., asking that they send him knee pads for six girls.

Three days later the knee pads arrived. Coach Wise unwrapped the box hurriedly and was amazed to see, "Twelve Knee Pads" printed on the box. He was puzzled and studied for a minute, then rushed to the phone.

"Hello, Hello, Toledo Athletic Supply? Well say there's been some horrid mistake here. I ordered knee pads for six girls and here you have sent me twelve."

"Well," said a calm voice, "don't each of your girls have two knees?"

During the recent prohibition plebiscite in Ontario, a prominent Ottawa man, an ardent prohibitionist, was surprised by a visit at his office from his small son.

"Hullo, young man," the father said; "What brought you down town?"

"I was in a parade," the little boy said proudly.

"What parade?" asked the father.

"I don't know," he answered; but I carried a big sign."

"What was on the sign?" asked the man curiously, and almost collapsed when his son replied: "My father is a drunkard! I've got no boots."

Hunter was heard dolefully singing, Dowa in the men's locker room, To the tune of "Wabash Blues"— "Oh!—those "Blue Book Blues" I got the Blue Book Blues They worry me when I snooze Make me shiver in my shoes Sure I got the Blue Book Blues."

Rhyming—not so good; sentiment—good.

The College Offers Three Types of Extension

1. Extension work for college credit is conducted by Prof. W. A. Zaugg, Director of Extension. Requests for such classes should be made to Prof. Zaugg or Pres. H. B. Williams.

2. Special methods and demonstrations may be arranged for the same as Extension classes.
