Intercollegiate Athletics Observes NCAA’S
50th Anniversary

INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS, during the current college year, 1955-56, commemorates the golden jubilee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. The universities and colleges of the nation take pleasure in observing their national organization’s 50th anniversary because the development and progress of the NCAA is the story of intercollegiate athletics’ own expansion and improvement.

Fifty years is a long time. In 1905, the key offense in college football was the flying wedge . . . organized track and field competition was just getting under way . . . the original peach basket goal was about to be replaced by the open metal hoop in basketball but the sport still was new and strange to most sections of the nation . . .

The NCAA evolved from a meeting of 13 colleges and universities called in 1905 to reorganize the game of intercollegiate football. (The rugged nature of the game was causing too many injuries and deaths.) A permanent organization was established, March 31, 1906.

Today, the NCAA is composed of more than 465 colleges and universities, athletic conferences and associations, devoted to the sound administration of intercollegiate athletics. Also today, the member institutions of the NCAA provide intercollegiate athletic competition for more than 130,000 students annually in more than 26 different sports. The men responsible for the coaching and administration of intercollegiate sports firmly believe that these competitive athletic programs are a vital part of the educational system which prepares our youth for future productive careers in society.

The universities and colleges of the nation have joined together in one Association—the NCAA—for purposes of athletic discussion, legislation and administration at the national level. The NCAA is solely and completely responsive to the will of its members as expressed by their governing boards and chief executive officers. The NCAA concerns itself with any phase of college athletics which spreads across regional lines and becomes national in character, and a majority of the member institutions concur that national action is needed.

These member institutions carry on many diversified activities through the NCAA. For example, they:

- establish and maintain athletic standards.
- formulate and publish the official playing rules for college sports.
- conduct National Collegiate Championship events in 13 sports.
- maintain the official national statistics and records of college sports.
- provide financial and other assistance to groups interested in the promotion and encouragement of intercollegiate and intramural athletics.
- conduct studies as a means of developing solutions to athletic problems; i.e., the recent surveys on television, post-season events, length and time of playing and practice seasons, admission taxes, college baseball, etc.
- participate in the U. S. Olympic and Pan American movements in matters of fund-raising, sports organization and the selection of coaches and athletes for United States teams.
- administer a group insurance program providing catastrophe medical coverage.
- maintain a large film library covering play in National Collegiate Championship events.

The development and expanded activities of the NCAA reflect the progress of intercollegiate athletics over the past half century. The NCAA and its member institutions, in the years ahead, will continue to make every effort to provide maximum opportunities for our youth to enjoy the experience of competitive athletics as an integrated part of their over-all college education.

For the first time in its 37-year football history, the Bowling Green State University football squad will be under the reigns of one of its own graduates.

Doyt L. Perry, a standout athlete in the 1929-32 era, took over the Falcon football fortunes last March after Robert H. (Bob) Whittaker had relinquished the job following 14 years as head coach.

As Bowling Green's ninth football mentor, Perry brings a wealth of football and teaching experience to his first head coaching job in the collegiate ranks.

After an outstanding 16-year scholastic coaching career at Lorain Clearview and Upper Arlington, the former Falcon quarterback was asked to join Woody Hayes' staff at Ohio State in 1951 when the Buck coach moved from Miami University to the Columbus job.

For four years Perry served as the Buckeyes' backfield coach. He helped in the development of such Big Ten standouts as Fred Bruney, Johnny Burton, Dave Leggett, Bobby Watkins and Howard "Hop-along" Cassady.

In basketball and track at Clearview, his record was even better. The court teams won 161 games while losing only 35. His track teams won seven county championships and three league titles.

In 1943 the diminutive Falcon star took over at Upper Arlington as head football and basketball coach. He also was coordinator of the health and physical education and recreation activities. His first football team at the Columbus suburb won seven of nine and the basketball team was undefeated until the semi-finals of the district tournament.

After a 3-year hitch in the U. S. Navy, Perry returned to the Columbus school in 1946 but limited his coaching duties to football. His first post-war team was undefeated in nine games. In six seasons the Arlington eleven won or shared the Central Buck-eye League title four times. His 1950 offensive-minded machine also was undefeated and scored more points than any other Ohio high school.

Perfectionist Perry can look proudly at an overall football record of 73 victories, 20 losses and six ties for a fine .767 average.

While an undergraduate at Bowling Green, Perry gained wide recognition for his 3-sport ability. He was quarterback on 1929-30-31 teams that went 18 games without a defeat. In fact the new BG coach only played in three losing games during his college career. He was noted for his fine running and passing. He won all-Northwestern Ohio Conference league honors as a junior and senior, and also received all-Ohio mention in his final year. He was a regular forward for three seasons in basketball, and completed his 9-letter career with three baseball awards as shortstop for Coach Warren E. Steller.
Alpha Tau Omega Sponsors Annual Dad's Night...

As has been the custom since 1942, the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity has cooperated with the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics in sponsoring the annual Dad's Day football game. Earlier today the fathers of all the members of the football team had the annual pre-game dinner with their sons, followed by a short informal program.

At halftime the fraternity will present a trophy to the Dad of the Year. This honor will be bestowed upon a father of one of the varsity squad members, which the squad names in a secret vote. Last year Mr. Anton Keipp, father of end Martin Keipp, was voted this honor.

Along with the football dads there are hundreds of other dads that are visiting their sons and daughters on the campus. We are glad to have you with us DAD and do come often.

Blue Streaks Open First Season In Presidents' League...

Tonight Bowling Green is happy to entertain for the second time on this gridiron the football team of John Carroll University of Cleveland. This is the fourth meeting between the two schools in football. The last time the two teams met here in 1948 the game was called the mythical championship of Ohio.

The contest was a rugged, hard fought contest that ended in a 13-13 deadlock. Such Bowling Green names as all-Ohio Bob Schnelker, now of the New York Giants; another all-Ohio end Vernon Dunham, jarrin' Jack Woodland and quarterback Max Minnich were standouts for the Falcons. The Blue Streaks of Coach Herb Eisele were paced by fullback Carl Taseff and halfback Don Shula, now members of Baltimore Colts and passing master Bob Kilfoyle.

Tonight, however, John Carroll is starting another era in its athletic program by opening its first season as a member of the new Presidents' Conference. The league, composed of Wayne University of Detroit, Case Tech and former Mid-American Conference member, Western Reserve and John Carroll, is a new venture for these independent metropolitan-located institutions. The teams play limited schedules, meeting each other on a round-robin basis in all sports. Other limitations have been placed on all aspects of intercollegiate participation.

To Coaches Herb Eisele, Bill Belanich and Sil Cornachione and all our friends at John Carroll, we wish you the best luck in the Presidents' Athletic Conference and may success reign over the league for a long time.

MID-AMERICAN CONFERENCE GAINING STRENGTH...

The Mid-American Conference of which Western Michigan and Bowling Green are members, is an infant in swaddling clothes as conferences go, but while less than 10 years old; it is rapidly acquiring stature and prestige as a top flight league in which the competition is rugged in all nine sports.

Like all young conferences it has been undergoing changes in membership since the start. It was organized during the 1946-47 collegiate year with Butler, Cincinnati, Ohio University, Wayne and Western Reserve as members. Before the 1947 football season arrived, Wayne withdrew and Miami and Western Michigan joined the organization. Feeling the competition was too tough Butler withdrew in 1950, and Toledo was then made a member. Bowling Green State University and Kent State were added as members in 1951 and Marshall of West Virginia became a member in 1952, sending the membership to nine institutions.

The Mid-American dropped back to eight members in 1953 as Cincinnati withdrew to seek larger and greener pastures, and in 1955 Western Reserve withdrew to enter the newly formed Presidents' Conference, leaving the membership at seven: Bowling Green, Kent State, Marshall, Miami, Ohio University, Toledo and Western Michigan College.

The conference will probably move slowly in accepting a new member to again make the Mid-American an eight college loop. It hopes for an institution with fine academic standards and a good, solid, but sane athletic policy.

Dr. David E. Reese, an all-around athlete at Denison University, and later a professional football and basketball player of note and for many years a highly regarded official, has been the conference commissioner since its inception. He has done much to keep the conference in the front rank and his guiding hand has been helping to the conference.

The eighth annual Mid-American Conference spring meeting, with golf, tennis and track competition, will be held at Bowling Green next May 24-25-26.
