FALL HOUSECLEANING—Nearly 200 University staff members have spent most of this month readying Bowling Green facilities for the opening of classes on Wednesday. In addition to cleaning all residence halls, where nearly half of the University’s 16,000 students will reside this year, the staff has tackled remodeling jobs, repaired damaged furniture and trimmed shrubs and trees.

Efforts pay off

Predicted enrollment ‘on target’ at 16,000

Projections indicate that more than 16,000 students—about the same number shown during the last classes at the University on Wednesday. That figure is right on target, according to Bowling Green officials. The University must keep its final full-time equivalent (FTE) enrollment at 15,000—the limit set by the state. Although the expected 16,000 headcount is higher, by the time evening division and continuing education students are subtracted, Bowling Green should be at the 16,000 FTE figure.

The student body will include 3,560 new freshmen, down slightly from last fall’s record freshman class of 3,695. John W. Martin, director of admissions, said the class is large enough, however. He cited limited campus living space as one of the primary reasons for keeping first-year enrollment at a stable level.

Bowling Green’s bright enrollment picture is the result of a great deal of hard work by the admissions staff and other members of the University community. Martin said predictions several years ago that the number of Ohio high school graduates would diminish have proven accurate. “The highest number of graduates was in 1974; since then we’ve seen a steady drop, except for a brief recovery in 1978,” he said.

“Last year there was a 3.8 percent drop in the number of high school graduates from the year before and this year there will be another 3.8 percent decline,” Martin said. Next June

United Way drive to begin Oct. 1

The campus campaign for the United Way will officially begin Oct. 1 and will continue for two weeks, according to Stuart Givens, history, University campaign director for the drive this year. Dr. Givens said about 80 to 90 solicitors will be involved in the campus-wide campaign. This year’s target for pledge totals is $47,000, the same as last year. Funds collected help support 100 different agencies in northwest Ohio.

Lighting renovations to net $27,000 annual savings

Renovations in exterior lighting fixtures which will result in an estimated $27,000 annual savings have been completed at the University, according to Roland Y. Engler, director of technical support services. Those renovations, finished in July, involved rebuilding and replacing circuitry in all 4000 watt cone-shaped mercury vapor parking lights on the campus. The mercury vapor lights have been replaced with new 800-watt high pressure sodium lights which will save the University more than 14,000 kilowatt hours of electricity per year.

Engler said the total cost for implementing the change was approximately $12,000, and a six-month payback period is expected to be realized.

In addition to effecting an energy savings, the installation of the new lighting fixtures has changed the appearance of the campus at night. The former white illumination now has a more modern yellow tone. Engler noted, however, the newer, lower wattage lamps provide illumination equal to the former fixtures and will retain their intensity longer.

Maintenance of the new fixtures will be considerably simpler, he said. Continued energy conservation efforts are underway throughout the network of exterior lighting systems on campus in order to improve lighting efficiency, reduce costs and maintain security during night and evening hours.

Faculty Senate schedules meetings

The first meeting of the Faculty Senate was scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 7, in the McFall Center Assembly Room.

Subsequent meetings, all to begin at 2:30 p.m., in the McFall Center, are scheduled on Tuesdays, Nov. 4, Dec. 2, Jan. 6, Feb. 3, March 2, April 7, May 5 and June 2.

On-call meeting dates are Tuesdays, April 21 and May 19.

On June 12, Gov. James Rhodes ordered a three percent across-the-board cutback in state spending for the 1980-81 fiscal year. The reduction in state expenditures, which included a cut in subsidies to state institutions, was not unexpected.

Bowling Green’s 1980-81 educational budget, adopted by the Board of Trustees at its April 24 meeting, included an anticipated four percent cut in instructional subsidies in 1981-82.

Unlike some other state universities, Bowling Green will therefore not be faced with modifying its 1980-81 budget as classes get underway. However, President Ferraro has cautioned that the three percent cut may not be the end of the state’s efforts to curtail spending in the next fiscal year. Overall state tax revenues continue to fall behind budget projections.
Research fellowships awarded to three University historians

Three faculty named department chairs

In the College of Musical Arts, Ja'Fran Jones chairs the composition and history department; P. Thomas Talbott chairs the music theory department; and Rex Elkum, performance studies.

In the College of Arts and Sciences, three chairs have been named. Ted Swenson is chair of the American Indian studies program; Paul M. Spielvogel is chair of the College of Arts and Sciences; and Stephen Beach is chair of the College of Social Sciences.

In the College of Health and Community Services, two chairs have been named. Catherine Bright is chair of the College of Health and Community Services, and J. William Harper is chair of the College of Health and Community Services.

Three departments in the College of Arts and Sciences will have new chairs as the 1980-81 academic year begins:

- Regional Nobel has been appointed chair of the department of biological sciences.
- Robert Broughton, who joined the faculty from the University of Texas at Austin, will be the new chair of the department of music.
- David Pauley has been appointed assistant dean at the Firelands College.

Academic overview

Three faculty named department chairs

In the College of Arts and Sciences, three chairs have been named:

- A. Eugene Kell, adviser, College of Arts and Sciences.
- Donald Emerick, concert office director, College of Musical Arts.
- Michael Border, technical director, College of Musical Arts.
- Barbara Kallman, counseling psychologist, Counseling and Career Development Center.
- Sally Hatfield, career specialist, Counseling and Career Development Center.
- Gregory Jordan, associate director, Student Recreation Center.
- Karen Fleischer, associate director, Student Recreation Center.
- Anne Peterson, assistant to the director of learning services, WBGU-TV.
- Donahue Dolan, assistant to the director of admissions, Firelands, and Anne Flores, assistant dean, College of Health and Community Services.

Research fellowships awarded to three University historians

Research will take three history department faculty to three different continents during the 1980-81 academic year:

- Edmund J. Danzer and Don K. Rowley have received National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowships and will work in the United States, France, and Belgium, respectively.
- Fujii Kawa hashima has received a Fulbright Research Lecture Fellowship to Yonsei and Koryo universities in South Korea.

Professor Danzler and Rowley are the third and fourth history faculty to receive NEH fellowships in the past three years.

Roland Engler, director, technical support services, and University archivist; Terry W. Parsons, acting director, student affairs; and Michael Moore, liaison officer for legislative affairs and the arts; received promotions or assignments:

- Quenker, director, Firelands Development Center.
- Barbara Kallman, counseling psychologist, Counseling and Career Development Center.
- Sally Hatfield, career specialist, Counseling and Career Development Center.
- Gregory Jordan, associate director, Student Recreation Center.
- Karen Fleischer, associate director, Student Recreation Center.
- Anne Peterson, assistant to the director of learning services, WBGU-TV.
- Donahue Dolan, assistant to the director of admissions, Firelands, and Anne Flores, assistant dean, College of Health and Community Services.

Fifty faculty earn promotions

Fifty faculty have received promotions for the 1980-81 academic year.

- Promoted to associate professor or higher were: Thomas Knox, history; John Scott, health services, recreation center, international student programs; and Ronald Woodruff, art.
- Promoted to professor were: David Roll, history; Brownell Satmakian, English; John Lawrence, music; Mildred Lithner, speech communication; Donald McQuarrie, sociology; Marilyn Madden, romance languages; and Ronald Woodruff, music performance.
- Promoted to assistant professor were: Carole Bradford, English; Gregory Campbell, management; Steven Cernovich, sociology; Leigh Chiarelloti, educational media; Emily Dansler, mathematics and statistics; Reginald Noble, business; and William Walker, English.
- Promoted to professor were: David Roll, history; Brownell Satmakian, English; John Lawrence, music; Mildred Lithner, speech communication; Donald McQuarrie, sociology; Marilyn Madden, romance languages; and Ronald Woodruff, music performance.
- Promoted to associate professor or higher were: Thomas Knox, history; John Scott, health services, recreation center, international student programs; and Ronald Woodruff, art.
- Promoted to professor were: David Roll, history; Brownell Satmakian, English; John Lawrence, music; Mildred Lithner, speech communication; Donald McQuarrie, sociology; Marilyn Madden, romance languages; and Ronald Woodruff, music performance.
- Promoted to assistant professor were: Carole Bradford, English; Gregory Campbell, management; Steven Cernovich, sociology; Leigh Chiarelloti, educational media; Emily Dansler, mathematics and statistics; Reginald Noble, business; and William Walker, English.
- Promoted to professor were: David Roll, history; Brownell Satmakian, English; John Lawrence, music; Mildred Lithner, speech communication; Donald McQuarrie, sociology; Marilyn Madden, romance languages; and Ronald Woodruff, music performance.
- Promoted to assistant professor were: Carole Bradford, English; Gregory Campbell, management; Steven Cernovich, sociology; Leigh Chiarelloti, educational media; Emily Dansler, mathematics and statistics; Reginald Noble, business; and William Walker, English.
- Promoted to professor were: David Roll, history; Brownell Satmakian, English; John Lawrence, music; Mildred Lithner, speech communication; Donald McQuarrie, sociology; Marilyn Madden, romance languages; and Ronald Woodruff, music performance.
- Promoted to assistant professor were: Carole Bradford, English; Gregory Campbell, management; Steven Cernovich, sociology; Leigh Chiarelloti, educational media; Emily Dansler, mathematics and statistics; Reginald Noble, business; and William Walker, English.
- Promoted to professor were: David Roll, history; Brownell Satmakian, English; John Lawrence, music; Mildred Lithner, speech communication; Donald McQuarrie, sociology; Marilyn Madden, romance languages; and Ronald Woodruff, music performance.
- Promoted to assistant professor were: Carole Bradford, English; Gregory Campbell, management; Steven Cernovich, sociology; Leigh Chiarelloti, educational media; Emily Dansler, mathematics and statistics; Reginald Noble, business; and William Walker, English.
- Promoted to professor were: David Roll, history; Brownell Satmakian, English; John Lawrence, music; Mildred Lithner, speech communication; Donald McQuarrie, sociology; Marilyn Madden, romance languages; and Ronald Woodruff, music performance.
- Promoted to assistant professor were: Carole Bradford, English; Gregory Campbell, management; Steven Cernovich, sociology; Leigh Chiarelloti, educational media; Emily Dansler, mathematics and statistics; Reginald Noble, business; and William Walker, English.
- Promoted to professor were: David Roll, history; Brownell Satmakian, English; John Lawrence, music; Mildred Lithner, speech communication; Donald McQuarrie, sociology; Marilyn Madden, romance languages; and Ronald Woodruff, music performance.
- Promoted to assistant professor were: Carole Bradford, English; Gregory Campbell, management; Steven Cernovich, sociology; Leigh Chiarelloti, educational media; Emily Dansler, mathematics and statistics; Reginald Noble, business; and William Walker, English.
- Promoted to professor were: David Roll, history; Brownell Satmakian, English; John Lawrence, music; Mildred Lithner, speech communication; Donald McQuarrie, sociology; Marilyn Madden, romance languages; and Ronald Woodruff, music performance.
- Promoted to assistant professor were: Carole Bradford, English; Gregory Campbell, management; Steven Cernovich, sociology; Leigh Chiarelloti, educational media; Emily Dansler, mathematics and statistics; Reginald Noble, business; and William Walker, English.
- Promoted to professor were: David Roll, history; Brownell Satmakian, English; John Lawrence, music; Mildred Lithner, speech communication; Donald McQuarrie, sociology; Marilyn Madden, romance languages; and Ronald Woodruff, music performance.
- Promoted to assistant professor were: Carole Bradford, English; Gregory Campbell, management; Steven Cernovich, sociology; Leigh Chiarelloti, educational media; Emily Dansler, mathematics and statistics; Reginald Noble, business; and William Walker, English.
- Promoted to professor were: David Roll, history; Brownell Satmakian, English; John Lawrence, music; Mildred Lithner, speech communication; Donald McQuarrie, sociology; Marilyn Madden, romance languages; and Ronald Woodruff, music performance.
- Promoted to assistant professor were: Carole Bradford, English; Gregory Campbell, management; Steven Cernovich, sociology; Leigh Chiarelloti, educational media; Emily Dansler, mathematics and statistics; Reginald Noble, business; and William Walker, English.
- Promoted to professor were: David Roll, history; Brownell Satmakian, English; John Lawrence, music; Mildred Lithner, speech communication; Donald McQuarrie, sociology; Marilyn Madden, romance languages; and Ronald Woodruff, music performance.
- Promoted to assistant professor were: Carole Bradford, English; Gregory Campbell, management; Steven Cernovich, sociology; Leigh Chiarelloti, educational media; Emily Dansler, mathematics and statistics; Reginald Noble, business; and William Walker, English.
- Promoted to professor were: David Roll, history; Brownell Satmakian, English; John Lawrence, music; Mildred Lithner, speech communication; Donald McQuarrie, sociology; Marilyn Madden, romance languages; and Ronald Woodruff, music performance.
- Promoted to assistant professor were: Carole Bradford, English; Gregory Campbell, management; Steven Cernovich, sociology; Leigh Chiarelloti, educational media; Emily Dansler, mathematics and statistics; Reginald Noble, business; and William Walker, English.
- Promoted to professor were: David Roll, history; Brownell Satmakian, English; John Lawrence, music; Mildred Lithner, speech communication; Donald McQuarrie, sociology; Marilyn Madden, romance languages; and Ronald Woodruff, music performance.
- Promoted to assistant professor were: Carole Bradford, English; Gregory Campbell, management; Steven Cernovich, sociology; Leigh Chiarelloti, educational media; Emily Dansler, mathematics and statistics; Reginald Noble, business; and William Walker, English.
Not all faculty activities submitted during the summer for publication in Monitor could be included in this issue. Remaining items will be published in future issues if space allows.

Publications

Fred Ecken, professor emeritus of English, "The Continental Connection: Selected Writings, 1947-1980." Books dedicated to two graduate students: Gerald Burnstien and Bill Angst, is published by the Ohio Association for Continuing Education.

Coles are available at the Creative Writing Program office, 104 Hanna Hall.

Benjamin N. Muse, political science, "On the Americanization of the Philippine Parties," in "Political Parties of Asia and the Pacific," edited by Henshiri Fukui and slated for release late this year.

John G. Naehbar and Michael T. Marsden, popular culture, "Images of Native Americans in Popular Film," a two-course film published in a special monograph series by the Ohio Film Institute entitled "The Native American Image on Film: A Programmer's Guide for Organizational Development." The same article is included in the current issue of the AAH Education newsletter.

Don Rowley, history, "Russian Officialdom: A Bibliography for University of Russian History from the Twentieth to the Twenty-First Century," a book edited with Walter McKenzie Pinter, Cornell University.

The text includes chapters by 11 scholars. Chapter 11, on "Organizational Change and Social Adaptation: The Professionalization of Labor and Internal Affairs," was written by Dr. Rowley.

Presentations

Judy Allen and John Allen, special education, and Doree Krugger, School of Arts and Sciences, a workshop on "Writing "Images BD" at the University of Regina, Saskatchewan, June 13-14. Their paper, "Programs for Mutily Handicapped," "Working with the Emotionally Handicapped," articles on "Art Experiences for Exceptional People." by Robert K. Clark, speech communication, spoke on "New Directions in Broadcast Research: A Report on a Small Market Radio Station." at the annual convention of the Ohio Association of Broadcasters at King's Island.

Ed Eddings, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, directed a workshop July 6-11 on "Meeting the Challenges of the 80s: The Changing Standards of the 1980s" at Franklin and Marshall College.

The workshop, sponsored by the International Studies Association and Confer- ence for International Studies Education, was designed to train faculty in the use and development of innovative teaching materials and strategies.

Robert J. Corbit, political science, co-recipient of the American Political Science Association's "Distinguished Contributions to Public Policy" award for the 1979-80 academic year.

This award was co-recipient of the University and signed by President Moore, the dean and executive director of the Ohio Arts Council.

Mary Jane Hath, romance languages/FilipinSex, received a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities to attend a summer workshop at Ohio State University on classical studies at two-year colleges.

John Hayden, mathematics and statistics, has been named a visiting associate in mathematics at California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, for the 1980-81 academic year.

Gary R. Hess, history, has been ap- pointed to the United States Department of State's Aid Committee for Historical Documentation. The five-member committee advises the department's Bureau of Public Affairs on the publication, classification and decategorization of documents.

Charles Holland, mathematics and computer science, was primary organizer of a conference on "Basic Concepts of Model Theory with Applications to Finite and Local Rings" held April 23-24 at Bowling Green.

The conference, supported in part by Central States Universities, Inc., attracted 29 participants from the universities of the U.S. and Canada. Featured were six lectures by Angus Macintyre, molecular biology, Jan Ding, Yale University, Andrew Glass, mathematics and statistics, organized a companion seminar on model theory held at Bowling Green on April 26.

"Contemporary theory is a branch of mathematical logic important in the study of modern novel and post-realist novel." by David Hyslop, business education, has been elected president-elect of the North Central Business Education Association.

Dr. Hyslop's office will become president of the NCBEA at Ohio State University in 1981.

Richard Behm, director of personnel support services, participated in a panel discussion on applicant hiring at the Wood County Office of Education in July.

William L. Schurk, librarian, presented a paper on "Public Pop Culture and Libraries: A Practical Perspective" at a popular culture convention. young professionals who were the American Library Association June 30 in New York City.

John J. Marquardt, professor of criminal justice, spoke on crime and career.

Larry Weiss, alumni and development, spoke on "The Role of Students and the Potential of Student Involvement in Financial Responsibility" at the 1980 confer- ence of the National Association of Student Financial Aid Services.

Stealing Home," was chosen last year as an alternative selection by the Book-of-the-Month Club, earned national recognition and received lavish praise from such sources as the Washington Post, New York Times and Literary Digest.

O'Connor now is working on a se- cond novel, begun in the first novel, "Stealing Home," was finished, and for the next three years he hopes to produce at least one good book an- nually.

That goal has come within reach, he says, because he has been named a three-year appointment as writer-in-residence at the University.

He is the first faculty member ever to receive that appointment at Bowling Green. For more than 10 years, author Philip O'Connor, English, dovetailed his energy to writing short stories with his profession as professor of English. His first novel, "Stealing Home," was chosen last year as an alternative selection by the Book-of-the-Month Club, earned national recognition and received lavish praise from such sources as the Washington Post, New York Times and Literary Digest.

O'Connor now is working on a se- cond novel, begun in the first novel, "Stealing Home," was finished, and for the next three years he hopes to produce at least one good book an- nually.

That goal has come within reach, he says, because he has been named a three-year appointment as writer-in-residence at the University. He is the first faculty member ever to receive that appointment at Bowling Green.

For more than 10 years I concentrated mainly on short story writing because of my teaching responsibilities," the author said. "I had no time for a novel."

"Stealing Home," he added, was recognition that the world of fiction and teaching responsibilities.

"The five-member committee advises the department's Bureau of Public Affairs on the publication, classification and decategorization of documents.

The five-member committee advises the department's Bureau of Public Affairs on the publication, classification and decategorization of documents.

That goal has come within reach, he says, because he has been named a three-year appointment as writer-in-residence at the University.

He is the first faculty member ever to receive that appointment at Bowling Green. For more than 10 years I concentrated mainly on short story writing because of my teaching responsibilities," the author said. "I had no time for a novel."

"Stealing Home," he added, was recognition that the world of fiction and teaching responsibilities.

"The five-member committee advises the department's Bureau of Public Affairs on the publication, classification and decategorization of documents.

The five-member committee advises the department's Bureau of Public Affairs on the publication, classification and decategorization of documents.
Campus Safety and Security's new division of parking and traffic has a new name and director, but its function remains basically the same as that of the former parking services office.

Jean Yarnell, appointed this summer as director of parking services and traffic, defined the division as a service area of the University.

Parking regulations, she said, have been established to provide safe and convenient parking for everyone utilizing University facilities, and it is the primary responsibility of the parking and traffic division to enforce those regulations.

"We try to serve the most people in the most convenient way," she said, adding that not everyone can be satisfied all the time. "The University has adequate parking facilities, but spaces are not always conveniently located for everyone." Parking lots for faculty, staff and students are clearly designated on a map distributed at registration details that vehicles must be parked at designated places.

\( \frac{1}{2} \) the registration fee. Replacement decals will be issued without charge when a vehicle is traded or the bumper replaced and the old decal is returned to the parking office.

Temporary registration also may be issued for a period of one to four weeks, and free parking permits may be obtained for an unregistered vehicle if a registered vehicle is temporarily disabled.

The parking and traffic division also will make a special effort this year to serve faculty, staff and students who participate in a carpool. Yarnell said.

Preliminary parking will be granted to those who carpool, providing at least three registered vehicles are involved in the pool. The preferential parking spaces will be assigned in an area of the parking lots reserved for carpoolers choice on a space-available basis to any faculty/staff or student lot.

Anyone interested in obtaining a carpool reserved space should contact the parking and traffic office.

Yarnell, who has been employed at the University seven years in the personnel and operational planning office, said a major goal in her new job will be improving relations between the parking and traffic office and both the campus and Bowling Green communities.

She stressed, however, that anyone using campus parking facilities is subject to all parking regulations and citations will be issued when rules are violated.

She noted that officers do not issue tickets without what they believe is a valid reason, but added that citations can be appealed through the appropriate appeal committee. Forms for the appeal can be completed at the parking and traffic office.

"If a door is not closed," Yarnell said, "but at the same time we must enforce regulations to ensure adequate parking for everyone." She added that fines, when imposed, are not only for parking violations, but when vehicles are parked in lots other than those at the main or north campus.

The parking and traffic office, 104 N. Commons, will be open 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday throughout fall quarter.

\[ \text{Cars on campus: Parking regulations benefit all} \]

---

Trustees

A name change for the department of physics was approved at the Aug. 7 meeting of the Board of Trustees held at the Firelands campus.

The department has been redesignated physics and astronomy to reflect its changing scope and a recent enrollment trend.

According to Ronald Stoner, former department head, the new name more accurately describes the activity of the department, where one-fourth of the student credit hours are generated by students enrolled in astronomy courses.

The change also will facilitate grant activity, Dr. Stoner said, noting that federal agencies are more likely to allocate funds for astronomy research to faculty affiliated with an astronomy department.

"Welcome Melvin L. Bowers as the newest member of the Board. Murray, who is president of the Seneca Broadcasting Corp., will serve through May, 1989. He succeeds Norman A. Rood, Cygnet, whose term expired.

The trustees also approved a proposal to lease a portion of University land adjacent to the WBOU-TV facilities to the North-West Ohio Educational Television Foundation. The Foundation will construct a building to house NWOTV personnel and equipment on the newly-acquired land.

As part of the project, NWOTV proposes to make available to the University approximately 2,100 net square feet which will ease space deficiencies at Channel 57.

Three amendments to the Academic Charter submitted to the trustees by the Faculty Senate were also approved. One amendment provides a procedure for making editorial changes in the charter without a Faculty Senate vote on every such change.

Another amendment increases to 18 the number of faculty on the prestigious, nine-member Faculty Personnel and Conciliation Committee.

The third amendment extends from one to two weeks the period of time allotted to the provost to study and respond to findings of hearing boards in grievance arbitration cases.

Emeritus faculty status was granted to Patricia Smith, psychology, who retired June 15.

Freshman ACT scores on the rise

The average ACT score of Bowling Green's freshman class appears to be on the rise.

In his report to the Board of Trustees at its Aug. 7 meeting, President Moore noted the most recent report on the freshmen (compiled July 9) indicates the mean ACT composite score to be approximately 20.6.

Michael Marsden, university coordinator of undergraduate recruiting, said that score reflects an approximate .3 gain over the mean score of the 1978-79 class which was 20.3.

Dr. Marsden cautioned, however, that the statistics are preliminary and reflect the scores of those freshmen admitted to Bowling Green rather than those who actually have enrolled.

In past years, reports have been kept only on freshmen who matriculated into the University.

Mr. Marsden also noted the average ACT score of incoming freshmen has increased steadily, although not significantly, since 1976 when scores hit a low of 20.1.

The trustees also heard a preliminary report from Provost Ferrari on the proposed early retirement program expected to take effect this spring by the Faculty Senate.

Dr. Ferrari called the plan "one of the most innovative and comprehensive in the country," explaining that it would provide for post-retirement employment on a part-time basis; counseling services for retirement and career change alternatives; fee waivers, for retirees and dependents; and payments for accrued vacation and sick leave, and a formula-based retirement account to be expended by the University on benefits selected by the retiree from a "cafeteria plan."

The plan was endorsed by the Board of Trustees at its Aug. 7 meeting, President Moore noted summer quarter enrollment was up 2.8 percent over the main campus, where 5,088 students were enrolled. Firelands enrollment, up 3.8 percent, was at 379 students.

When/Where

Board of Trustees

The Board of Trustees will meet at 10 a.m. on Oct. 2 in the McFaul Center Assembly Room.

Exhibits

"Images of Self: Introspectives of the Scholars and Artists of the School Art," 2-5 p.m., daily through Sept. 30, McFaul Center Gallery, Free.

"Directions in Fiber," 10-5, a national, invitational exhibition, Sept. 22 to Oct. 12, Fine Arts Gallery, School of Art.

The exhibit will include the work of 12 fiber artists from throughout the nation.

GALLERY HOURS are 9-5, 1-5 p.m. weekdays and 2-5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Monitor

Monitor is published every two weeks containing information of interest to faculty and staff of Bowling Green State University.

Deadline for the next issue, Oct. 6, is Wednesday, Sept. 30.

Editor: Linda Swailswood

Editorial Assistant: Kim Horyl

Change of address and other notices should be sent to: Monitor, c/o 804 Administration Building, Bowling Green University 43403.

---

Educator and author awarded honorary degrees

Kiyo Kitahara, a Japanese educator and researcher who has spent the past 10 years trying to unionize teachers in Japan, and James Baldwin, who has been called this country's greatest author, were awarded honorary degrees during summer commencement exercises Aug. 30.

President Moore presented the honorary degrees during the ceremonies on the lawn west of University Hall. More than 900 students, the largest summer graduation class in the history of the University, were awarded degrees.

Mr. Kitahara, director of the Musashino Higashi Gakuen School in Japan, was awarded an honorary Doctor of Pedagoggy degree.

Baldwin, who has served as a speaker, guest lecturer, writer-in-residence and distinguished visiting professor at Bowling Green, received an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters Degree.

---

CARS ON CAMPUS:

Parking regulations benefit all.