INSPIRATION

“And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and he became a living soul.”—Genesis 2:7.

In this mechanical age when each of us seems only a cog in a machine, where we are all working at high tension, and, in our bewilderingly complex life, wondering what it is all about, there ought to be something simple and elemental that we can tie to. Such we conceive to be the purpose of inspiration, which, in the last analysis is a fresh conception of some great truth. As Saint John said: “And ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.”

The inspirational writers and speakers who flourished a few decades ago are not now popular. Many of the truths they uttered have since become commonplace. They served a very real purpose in that they tried to show truth in all its beauty and thus belittled artificialities. One of our present-day needs is for inspirational speakers and writers, who, while modern in every way, are capable of casting aside shams and affectations and let the light of truth come shining thru in an attractive way.

Where can we go for inspiration when we need it? The sources are so numerous that it is useless to try to name them all. As suggested, many depend upon lectures, others on inspirational meetings. Many go to nature, many more go to the Bible, still others seek Confucius, Plato, Jonson and a host of others. Some find it in Art, Literature or Music; some come upon it thru sorrow, suffering and privation; many others (and they are to be envied) find it in their work. All of us find it in the example of a good man. But regardless of its source, inspiration, thru its transfiguring force, makes one a “living soul.”

This issue of the Bee Gee News has taken for its ambitious title, “Inspirational Number.” Its means of inspiration are limited to the printed page; therefore, if it succeeds in strengthen-
Faith

"Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen."

A little blind girl with her arms tightly clasped about her father, was carried by him into a strange room. One who was in the room stepped up quietly, unclasped the arms and without word or sign took the child. "You do not seem frightened," said the father, "do you know who has you?" "No," she said, "but I am not afraid, for I know you know who has me."

Dwight Moody said that if a man should come into the country who could photograph people's hearts, he would die for want of trade.

The Arabs say, "When you cross the desert, plant trees by the way. You may return when old and weary to sit in their shade and eat of their fruit."

Love of One's Work

Many years ago at an organ recital, the organ blower became suddenly ill. A celebrated composer immediately stepped up and took his place. Later someone remonstrated with him for doing menial labor. "Menial labor!" cried he, "I love music so much that nothing I do for it seems menial!"

Objective

Columbus in a journal kept upon his memorable voyage, day after day wrote these simple but sublime words: "This day we sailed westward which was our course." Hope might rise and fall, terror might seize the crew, but Columbus, understanding, pushed on due west.

Perseverance

The architect of the Episcopal Cathedral in Cleveland, made 60 plans before he succeeded in getting one accepted. Luther Burbank worked nineteen years to perfect a giant amaryllis. Lillian Nordira practiced nearly twenty years before she achieved success. Goodyear perfected one of his inventions while in prison for debt. Eads began life as a peddler of apples. He studied at night without school or instructor. One of the richest fruit merchants of Guatemala City of 25 years ago began life as a slave in Alabama.

Character

"A cultivated will is only another name for a strong character."

"Weak characters go around difficulties, strong ones thru them."

"You cannot dream yourself into a character, you must hammer and forge one for yourself."

"If I take care of my character my reputation will take care of itself."

"The world is full of examples of men and women, pock-marked, hare-lipped, cross-eyed, scarred, dwarfed, deformed, ungainly, ugly, who are so lovely in soul and so fascinating in mind and heart that they are a constant inspiration for better character."—Keeler.

"There is something better than making a living. It is making a life."

"Character is a poor man's capital."

"Fame is a vapor; popularity an accident: riches take wings; those who cheer today will curse tomorrow; only one thing endures—character"—Greeley.

"The problem of character is ultimately the problem of self-control."

Use of Time

I have only just a minute, only sixty seconds in it, forced upon me; can't refuse it; didn't seek it; didn't choose it, but it's up to me to use it; I must suffer if I lose it; give account if I abuse it. Just a tiny little minute—but eternity is in it.

"My son follow not in the footsteps of the loafer, and make no example of him that is born tired, for verily I say unto you, his business is overstocked, the seats on the corner are all taken. It is better to saw wood at two bits a cord than to whittle at a whittling match and abuse the government. My son, while thou hast in thy skull the sense of a jaybird, break away from the cigarette habit, for, lo, thy breath stinketh like a glue factory, and thy mind is less intelligent than a store dummy! Yea, thou art like a cipher with the rim knocked off."—Robert Burdette.

"Time abused is bad luck."

"The day is immeasurably long to him who knows not how to value and use it."—Goethe.

"Show me a man who has benefited the world by his wisdom, his patriotism, or his philanthropy, and you show me a man who has made the best of every minute."

"Empty hours, empty hands, empty companions, empty words, and empty hearts draw evil spirits as a vacuum cleaner draws in dirt. To be occupied with good is the best defense against the inroads of evil."

Contentment

"Keep your heart free from hate, your mind from worry. Live simply; expect little; give much; pray always. Fill your life with love. Scatter sunshine. Forget self and think of others. Do as you would be done by—these are the tried links in contentment's golden chain."—McLeod.

Enthusiasm

It was enthusiasm that enabled Cyrus Field after many years of defeat to lay the Atlantic cable. It was enthusiasm that sped Stephenson's locomotive in spite of bitter criticism. It was enthusiasm that drove Patrick Henry to utter those words so dear to the orator's heart.

"Enthusiasm is the steam of the human engine—It is the key to perpetual youth, the builder of the tissues, the creator of health, the spark that ignites the magazines of inspiration in the human soul."

"Every production of genius must be the result of enthusiasm."

Habits

"Have your habits fighting for you, not against you."

"The chains of habit are too weak to be felt, till they are too strong to be broken."

Character is mostly habit become fixed.

"Here are some things which should be crystallized into habit; careful thinking; assimilating the knowledge that comes from observation and reading; correctness in conversation and manners; physical exercise and regular hours; prayer; the old-fashioned virtues such as industry and economy, method and thoroness in work of every kind."—Archer Brown.

Ideals

"An ideal is a fixed purpose by which from time to time you can steer your life."

"No man lives until he would gladly die for something greater than life."

"Evil came on earth when the first man said, "That is not the best I can do, but it will answer."

"Sad will be the day for any man when he becomes absolutely contented with the life he is living, with the thoughts he is thinking, and the deeds he is doing; when there is not forever beating at the door of his soul some great desire to do something larger which he knows he was meant and made to do."

Self-control

A cobbler at Leyden who used to attend public disputations held in the academy was once asked if he understood Latin. "No," replied he, "but I know who is wrong in the argument.

"How?" replied his friend. "Why, by seeing who is angry first."

"Govern your passions or they will govern you."

"Whatever is begun in anger is ended in shame."

"Self-conquest is the greatest of all victories."

"Self-control is the root virtue of all virtues. It is at the very center of character."

"Remember that when you are in the right you can afford to keep your temper, and when you are in the wrong you can't afford to lose it."
“A man without self-control is like a barrel without hoops and soon falls to pieces.”

“Make it a point to do something every day that you do not want to do.”

ALUMNI NEWS

During the last few years the Alumni association has been moving onward toward an effective organization.

The association has been working on a directory of the degree graduates, which is now completed and hope to complete a directory of the Diploma Graduates in the near future.

All graduates are eligible for membership and the dues are the small sum of one dollar a year.

The association has many aims toward which it is now working. We hope first of all to have a large and active membership to publish an Alumni Bulletin, and to advertise Bowling Green State College.

At present our first two aims have not been realized but we hope to very soon. But we do feel that the Alumni have done their share in interesting prospective students and have also shown by precept the quality of work done at Bowling Green.

The Alumni Society is planning an Alumni Day, Thursday, June 16th. The Alumni dinner will be held at 5:30 p.m., in Shatzel Hall. A splendid program has been arranged.

The classes of 1917 and 1922 are celebrating their tenth and fifth anniversaries and several other classes are planning reunions.

The dinner will be followed by a campus program given by the Gold Mask Society.

The officers for 1926-27 are Mr. Ralph Schaller '22, president; Miss Wilhelmena Gherke '22, vice president and Jonathan Ladd '26, secretary-treasurer. The executive committee consists of Mr. George Wilson '26, Miss Evelyn Scherff '24 and Mr. Dallas Lawrence '26.

At the last meeting of the association it was voted to have a class council and the following classes have selected these representatives: 1918, Miss Elsie Meyer; 1919, Mrs. F. G. Beyerman; 1920, Mrs. Ruth Doane Case; 1921, Mr. Charles Clucas; 1922, E. E. Leidy; 1923, P. B. Huffman; 1924, C. D. Fox; 1925, Miss Esther Brown and 1926, Miss Jean Sherer.

The Alumni officers and council extend a hearty invitation for all the 1927 graduates to join their Alumni association and work with them towards a bigger, better and successful society of alumni.

Everything is being done to have an invitation to the Alumni banquet on June 16, reach every alumnus, if any have been missed they are cordially invited to be present, and can make reservations at $1.25 per plate by writing to Jonathan B. Ladd, Bowling Green, Ohio.

DRAMA

A one-act play, “The Dark Lady of the Sonnets” by George B. Shaw, was acted Thursday evening, May 12, in the college auditorium, by members of the Gold Masque Club. The participants were Misses Arlene Stannard and Marjorie Chapman with Messrs. Edwards, Crawford and Knecht. The play was well received. It is the same as was performed by these people in Chicago a few weeks ago.

Prior to the presentation of the play, a number of fine musical selections were played by capable musicians from our student body.

In the near future the drama class will present two children's plays—“The Dame School Holiday” and “The Forest Ring.”

Some people when they dress in the morning forget to put on their smile.

If you have any sour grapes in your system it will pay you to make them into preserves.

“He that can have patience can have what he wills.—Franklin.”
OHIO STATE CONTEST
Shorthand and Typewriting
Bowling Green, Ohio
May 7, 1927

The Fourth Annual Contest in Shorthand and Typewriting was one of the most successful and interesting ones that the State of Ohio has ever had. Thirty-seven schools sent representatives, winners in the District Contests, to Bowling Green for the finals:

North High, Akron; South High, Akron; West High, Akron; Archbold High; Bowling Green High; Bridgeport High; Bryan High; Calvert High; Tiffin; Central Catholic, Toledo; Central High, Xenia; Cleveland Heights, Cleveland; Cygnet High; Fremont High; Findlay High; Fostoria High; Glenville High, Cleveland; Granville High; Greenville High; Hicksville High; John Adams High, Cleveland; Lebanon High; Libbey High, Toledo; Liberty Center High; Lima High; Marion High; Miamisburg High; Notre Dame, Toledo; Ottawa High; Portsmouth High; Roosevelt High, Dayton; St. Clairsville High; St. John’s School, Defiance; Stivers High, Dayton; Van Wert High; Wapakoneta High; West Commerce High, Cleveland.

Delegates from the various schools began arriving Friday evening, May 6th, and were immediately assigned rooms in the dormitories or homes of the city that had been secured through the help of the Woman’s Club of Bowling Green under the direction of Miss Nielsen. The comfort of our guests while here was due largely to her untiring efforts, and the cooperation of the women who entertained them.

Mr. W. W. Lewis, Assistant Principal of the Gregg School of Chicago acted as manager for the contest and proved an exceedingly efficient person for that role. Papers for the contests were graded by students in the commercial department of the college, and members of Quill-Type. The commercial club, were hosts to the visiting contestants at a party given Saturday evening.

The contests were held in the new gymnasium, a very satisfactory place indeed. In the three divisions of the typing contest held at 10:30 a.m., the winners were as follows:

Novice Class
First Place—
Dina Diamond, Cleveland Heights, 64.94 words per minute.
Second Place—
Viola Rupp, Archbold, 61.22.
Third Place—
Lucile Keller, Archbold, 59.02.

Amateur Class
First Place—
Lucille Koepke, West Commerce, 76.42
Second Place—
Florence Robejsek, John Adams, 74.05
Third Place—
Robert Wills, Lebanon, 72.90

Champion Class
First Place—
Elza Cook, Portsmouth, 76.74
Second Place—
Florence Robejsek, John Adams, 74.05
Third Place—
Nettie Frys, John Adams, 65.68.

As usual the tests were for fifteen minutes and international rules were used in grading the papers. The results in each class were far above the results for the three years previous which would indicate that state contests are certainly worthwhile.

In the Shorthand section, the results were as follows:

Novice Class
First Place—
Hilda A. Markworth, West Commerce, 99.85 per cent.
Second Place—
Judith Freeman, Stivers, Dayton, 98.9 per cent.
Third Place—
Virginia Dunham, Roosevelt, Dayton, 98.3 per cent.

Amateur Class
First Place—
Mary Fairchild, Stivers, Dayton, 99.47 per cent.
Second Place—
Helen Brabeneec, West Commerce, 99.37 per cent.
Third Place—

INSPIRATION RECEIVED FROM BOOKS

A liberal education does not consist in knowing the contents of a large number of books but consists in knowing those books which corroborate and clarify one's own life experience. The Pilgrim Fathers and the founders of our great nation knew but a very few books, The Holy Bible and Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress were in many cases the only books in the libraries of the colonizers. These books did not remain on the shelf to become dusty and yellow with age but were thumb-worn and stained from constant use and carrying about. The everyday hardships of the settler were spoken of and enacted in these two books which also intimated the rewards of such a life.

Abraham Lincoln as a boy received his inspiration from these two books plus one other, The Life of Washington, which he literally knew by heart. And thus it is that the inspiration of the young folks who are to become the men and women of tomorrow is often received from books which they read, or the type of literature which is read to them.

One excellent illustration of this force is told by S. Baring-Gould of Pambo, a famous old ascetic who lived toward the end of the 4th Century: "Not being learned in letters, Pambo sought a man who could read, to teach him the Psalter. His friend began with the first verse of the 39th Psalm: 'I said, I will take heed to my ways that I offend not my tongue.' 'That will do for today,' said Pambo, and went his way. He did not return for six months, and was chidden. 'It is hard to learn that one verse,' answered Pambo; 'I have not mastered it yet.' Many years after some one asked about that verse. 'It has taken me 19 years to learn it, and I am not perfect in it yet,' he replied."

A BOOK CREED

I am the recorder of the ages.
I speak every language under the sun and enter every corner of the earth.
I bring information, inspiration and recreation to all mankind.
I am the enemy of ignorance and slavery, the ally of enlightenment and liberty.
I am always ready to commune with man, to quicken his being, to spur him on, to show him the way.
I treat all persons alike, regardless of race, color, creed, or condition.
I have power to stretch man's vision, to deepen his feeling, to better his business, and to enrich his life.
I am a true friend, a wise counsellor, and a faithful guide.
I am as silent as gravitation, pliant and powerful as the electric current, and enduring as the everlasting hills.
I am the BOOK.

FACULTY MAXIMS

In order to further carry out the idea of inspiration taken as a motif for this issue of the paper, certain faculty members were asked to contribute a maxim which they think worthy of consideration. Owing to circumstances which the editor is still unable to explain, not all of the faculty asked to contribute were interviewed, or else, some of those interviewed failed to respond. These circumstances do not detract from the value of the contributions received, however.

Dr. Kohl: "There is no royal road to learning."

Mr. Carmichael: "No man is useless while he has a friend."—Shakespeare.

Dr. Williamson: "It is not your position but your disposition that makes you happy or unhappy."

Mr. Overman: "If a man’s wit be wondering, let him study mathematics; for in demonstrations, if his wit be called away, ever so little, he must begin again."—Lord Bacon.

Mr. Moseley: "What if another sit beneath the shade of the broad elm I planted by the way—what if another heed the beacon light I set upon the rock that wrecked my bark—Have I not done my task and served by kind?"—O. W. Holmes.

Mr. Knepper: "There is no excellence without great labor."

Dr. Barringer: "Teaching—the worst paid but the most richly rewarded of all professions."—Van Dyke.

Mr. Schwarz: "A nation without a national government is an awful spectacle."—Alexander Hamilton.

Miss Everett: "We lose illusions one by one. And see, beneath the surface glitter; But, tho’ tis sometimes quite a shock, The truth should never make us bitter."

Mr. Zaugg: "Faith and Success: No one can succeed who does not believe that this is the greatest day since creation’s dawn and who does not see better things for tomorrow."

Mr. Crowley: "One picture is worth a thousand words."

To the strongest hand and the strongest head fall, and always will fall, the heavy burdens; and where heavy burdens fall, the prizes fall too.

As has been the custom in previous years, a trophy was awarded this year to the school winning the greater number of points in the contest, three points being awarded to a school winning first place, two to a school winning second place, and one for third place. West Commerce, with two firsts, two seconds, and one third won first place as a school. Since they had won the two years previous, this year's success gained for them permanent possession of the Quill-Type Trophy. Another similar trophy, however, will be on hands next year for the successful school. John Adams and Stivers tied for second place, John Adams having one first place and two third places, and Stivers claiming one first and one second.

In addition to the Quill-Type Trophy, similar awards were given to the schools taking first place in the Mass Typing Contest which was held a few weeks before the State contest. In these contests, the awards for first place in the Novice and first place in the Amateur were given to Archbold and Cleveland Heights respectively. Cleveland Heights received honorable mention for second place in the Novice Class, and Our Lady of Good Counsel won second place in the Amateur Class. Every contestant who won first, second, or third place in any division was awarded a certificate indicating his skill and efficiency.

With results each year showing a steady and rapid increase, we prophesy the greatest contest of all in 1928!

MOTHER'S INSPIRATION

In this busy work-a-day world, few of us have the time or inclination to pause in our money-making and pleasure-seeking, and think of the quiet gray-haired mother who sits at home—the very essence of patient, loving devotion.

How many long hours, full of anguish for her have been dragged by, each moment of them filled with pain and silent suffering. How her eyes light up, upon the slightest act of thoughtfulness performed by her children, her own hours of sacrifice forgotten. And how little she demands in return for her never-failing love and sacrifice.

I have known many men to say that their mothers' admiration and love was adequate reward for deeds by which they won honor and distinction among their fellowmen. Other men have told us with perfect honesty that they never would have been able to complete certain performances without the inspiration provided by their mothers.

Who was it who spurred us on and turned each childish defeat into some sort of victory? And was it not she who provided the inspiration, the word that was needed; the sympathy that we sought, that helped us to do and dare?

How appropriate are the words of a recent poet,—“All that I am or hope to be I owe to my mother.”

A CLEAR CONSCIENCE

A very peculiar incident was witnessed just the other day. Two little girls were walking down North Main Street, and were just passing the First M. E. Church. Noticing the bushes of “bridal wreath” all in bloom, growing around the church, both girls remarked upon their beauty, one deciding that she would pick a branch for herself. The other, horrified, exclaimed, “Oh, you wouldn't steal from the church.” “I'll fix that up,” answered the first girl and walked solemnly up to a bush of bridal wreath, plucked a cluster and said turning toward the church, “God, don't mind this, because I want a flower badly.”—Indeed, she had “fixed it up.”
Sports

Athletics, too, have their inspirational side. Physical contest with another individual or group inspires a respect for the other fellow which few other activities can. It is well to know, sometimes, that another person, or group, has had no better training privileges than we have, but is just a little better than we. It is invigorating like a cold shower.

Again athletics inspires good sportsmanship and team work, furnishes an incentive for keeping the bodily machine in good trim, engenders school spirit, inspires love of the game, puts a premium on quick thinking, and finally brings forth a vigor, both mental and physical without which one is sadly handicapped. We repeat, athletics have a decidedly inspirational value.

Bluffton Game

This game was rather interesting to watch at times, but there were also some very bad plays which proved costly to the orange and brown boys. Although Bohyer had a sore arm, he did very well on the mound. Howe pitched good ball for Bluffton, fanning fifteen men.

In the 8th inning the bases were full with two men out and the score 3 to 7 in favor of Bluffton, when the mighty Rudolph came to the plate. “Strike one,” bawled the umpire. It looked bad. The next one was caught on the nose by Rudolph’s bat, and he galloped around the diamond for a home run, scoring three men ahead of him. Score: Bowling Green, 8; Bluffton scored 3 runs to win 8 to 10.

Score by innings:

Bluffton 000 031 021—6
Bowling Green 020 010 050—8

WELCOME, SUMMER STUDENTS

One hundred eighty-two new and former students enrolled on Monday, May 9, for the first summer term. Many of these people have been teaching during the past school year. They come to the past term, as you have in the past, always ready to cooperate with you to your advantage. The college welcomed to you in the future as you have in the past. May you find in the College the future of companionship and students of the college take this opportunity to extend all the summer students our heartiest welcome. May you do your best both for yourself and for the College. The faculty and students of the college take this opportunity to extend all the summer students our heartiest welcome. May you do your best both for yourself and for the College.

Perhaps many of the greatest gifts to the world and the fruits of solitude are found across the threshold of a dormitory. Nothing will take the place of a half-penned purpose. Education will not, neither will genius, talent, industry, nor power. The purposeless life must ever be a failure.
College Days that are nearly over. We wish to offer our appreciation to the students of Bowling Green College for their patronage this past year and to assure those to follow that we always stand ready to support them in every way in the future. Handling only first quality merchandise purchased through our great buying power and sold at the lowest possible margin of profit.

THE NEW KEY STAFF

Following a custom set by former classes, the Juniors met Thursday evening, May 12, and elected members to the Key staff for the year 1927-28. The election determined that the following people will be responsible for the 1928 issue: editor-in-chief, T. F. Edwards; business manager, Forrest Warner; advertising manager, Olive Bowersox; circulation manager, C. D. McDaniel; sports editor, "Cody" Markle.
ORGANIZATIONS

SEVEN SISTERS

After the usual "Rush" week several spirited meetings were held by the Seven Sisters, who take pleasure in announcing their pledges: Helen Brown, Montpelier, Ohio; Mildred Moseberger, Fremont, Ohio; Betty Taylor, East Liberty, Ohio; and Helen Roe, Fremont, Ohio.

A regular meeting of Seven Sisters and pledges was held May 10 in the annex of Shatzel Hall. Here the first degree was administered to the pledges, who can well be complimented for their "all-around Bee Gee" spirit. Officers for the coming year are as follows: President, Frances Fiegel; vice-president, Margaret Bemis; secretary, Lillian Kennedy; treasurer, Bernice Immel; reporter, Kathryn House; sergeant-at-arms, Lucille McClelland; and chaplain, Marcella Noonan.

Speaking of inspirations it is evident that the Seven Sisters caught the spirit which was expressed in their Salamagundi Rush Party, April 5, in Shatzel Hall. One would have scarcely recognized the room as the annex because of the way it was disguised by decorations. Tables were arranged in the form of a "seven." At these tables were played various types of games, the object being to bewilder the players as they changed at the ringing of the bell. It was no doubt an unusually fine way to acquaint everyone and make use of those characteristics which are so often hidden in every day routine. After the awarding of the prize to the winner dainty refreshments were served in accordance with the Salamagundi spirit.

DELHI NEWS

Spring Pledges

The Delhi announces the pledging of Ford Bedford, Arthur Blackburn, Bruce Burkey, Edwin Burkhart, Otis Dermer, Cleo Digby, Charley Holstein, Floyd Junkins, Frank Purdy and Paul Reed.

The following men have deceived the third degree and are now full-fledged members: Karl Wheland, Howard Russell, Roland Dehne, Loren Bibler, Harold Treece, Arthur Kuder, Edwin Digby, George Wolf and Forrest Helvoight.

Mr. Hagedorn will receive the third degree at an early date.

Ancient History

The Delhi held their annual Easter dance at the Woman's Building, April 16. About twenty-five couples were present and everyone had a most enjoyable time. Faculty members present were Mr. Carmichael, faculty advisor, and Mr. Perry. Dr. Williams was unable to attend.

Love is the ability to see the beautiful which others miss, and miss the evil which others witness.

"The man who isn't straight puts a terrible handicap upon himself. He must play tug-of-war nearly single handed against all society."
SKOL SORORITY

Skol Kid Party

The Skol pledges entertained the active members at a kid party May 10th at the home of May Catherine Stevenson. Early in the evening the kids went wild over animal crackers. Glad Denny and Marge Chapman captured the greatest number and the tie was settled in a Kiddie Kar race with Denny in the lead at the end of the heat.

The next feature was a bean carrying race, and here Alice Smith proved the most skillful and was rewarded with adequate equipment for spending an enjoyable summer at the seashore.

Gum was next distributed in generous quantities which the girls proceeded to mold into queer creatures which they "called" animals. Dottie Bachman succeeded in making a sure nuff real animal and received first prize.

The girls next proceeded to tell Peter Rabbit stories. Poor Peter was murdered, brought back to life, killed again, and, all in all, he must have suffered greatly. Merle Gray excelled in expounding on Peter. She was presented with a real Peter Rabbit.

After enjoying some dancing, the youngsters eagerly partook of stick candy, pop corn balls, ice cream cones, and pop. On leaving, each child was presented with a big balloon.

First Degree Given

The regular Skol meeting was held May 3rd at Shatzel. After a short business session the first degree of initiation was rendered to the following girls: Mary Catherine Stevenson, Jane Jamison, Gene Lutz, Mildred Goughler, Alice Richards, Anna Hayne, Bessie Crosh, Ellena Percy, Gavan Swartzcoff, Lois Decker, Edna Carr, and Helen Starkweather.

Jonathan Edwards wrote in his journal when he was a boy. "Resolved to live with all my might while I do live."

"A profound conviction raises a man above the feeling of ridicule."
QUILL TYPE

On Wednesday evening, May 11, Quill Type held its regular meeting. The president called the meeting to order and roll call was taken by the secretary. Just fourteen members were present. We had four visitors with us.

During the business meeting, a committee was appointed to notify all the members having three or more unexcused absences in succession, that they were in danger of being dropped from the club.

We were very grateful to have with us, and to entertain us the following young ladies:

Miss Merle Gray—Reading.
Miss Catherine House—Vocal Solo.
Miss Martha Haley—Vocal Solo.

This program certainly was enjoyed by all those present and the club extends its thanks to these young ladies.

There being no new members to be taken in, the meeting was adjourned.

CHAPEL NOTES

April 26.—A very interesting lecture on mushrooms, poisonous and otherwise, was given by Prof. Holt. A most interesting and enlightening set of slides illustrated the lecture very well.

May 3.—“Just Wonderful”!—“best chapel we ever had”! Those are just a few of the remarks which could be heard after our chapel period. And the cause of all these comments was a musical program put on by the students of Findlay High School, through the efforts of Prof. Tunnicliffe. Included in the programs were several solos, a trio, and a number of quartet selections. It is truly one of the best programs which has been offered to Bowling Green students this year.

May 10.—Through the efforts of the Toledo club, Rev. Mayley of Toledo, gave us a lecture on “Mother.” It was very interesting and it made everyone think more seriously of, and appreciate more than ever, his mother.
ESSAY CONTEST

The following letter was received by the editor with the request that it be published:
Editor B. G. News
Dear Sir:
We are offering a prize for the best essay by a college student on "SPRINGBOARD" by Robert Wolf.
The New York Times in reviewing this fine novel called it "the best college novel yet written by an American." The prize essay can be either an affirmation or a denial of this statement by the Times. It should be not longer than three thousand words and must be submitted to us, marked SPRINGBOARD PRIZE COMMITTEE, Albert and Charles Boni, Inc., 66 Fifth Avenue, New York City,—before July 1st, 1927.
Heywood Broun will act as judge and his decision will be final.
The prize winner will be announced September 15, 1927, and awarded the prize of $150.00. Contestants grant Albert and Charles Boni the right to use their essay for publicity and advertising. No essays will be returned.
Please announce this competition in your columns and post this letter on your bulletin board.
Yours faithfully,
ALBERT AND CHARLES BONI, Inc.

FIVE BROTHER FRATERNITY

At the regular meeting of the Five Brothers, held at the house on May 3, officers were elected for the following year. Those elected were: Old Skull, Francis Roach; Crossbones, Markle; G. A. P., Wheeler; Scribe, Kerr; Chaplain, F. Crawford; Loyal Brother, W. Miller; and Miser, Kreisher. These officers were to be installed on May 17. They will serve for the following year.

Macs L.—“I do hope you will pardon my dancing on your feet—I'm a little out of practice.”
Charlotte G.—“I don't mind your dancing on them. It's the continual jumping on and off that aggravates me.”

Rowe—“Will your people be surprised when you graduate?”
C. Cornell—“No. They've been expecting it for several years.”

Prof. Moseley—What’s the most common impediment in the speech of American people?”
Hubie Schwarz—“Chewing gum.”

Neighbor—“What's the new baby at your house, Jimmie, a boy or a girl?”
Jimmie (disgustedly)—“Aw, it’s a girl. I saw 'em putting powder on it.”

Balboa (arranging with the clergyman for his second marriage)—And I should like the ceremony in my yard this time, sir.”
Clergyman—“Good gracious, why?”
Mac—“Then the chickens can pick up the rice—we wasted a lot last time.”

Sambo—“Yes, an' effen brains wuz dynamite you wouldn't have enough to blow yo' measly nose.”

Mose—“Say, nigghah, did you all join one of them there frat clubs?”
Sam—“No, sah, black boy, I done got whiteballed.”

Mary Miller—“Jimmie and I are engaged to be married.”
Genevieve—“You don't mean it!”
Mary—“No, but he thinks I do.”

Mary Austin—“I have a cold or something in my head.”
Betty Harrison—“A cold, undoubtedly.”

“Sin has many tools but a lie is the handle that fits them all.”
It was a beautiful evening on the Potomac. At five bells the boats steamed for Sylvania carrying as cargo the College Band and a few friends and wives of some of its members. Dr. Williams acted as supervisor and main helmsman.

The following program was given in the Burnham High school auditorium on May 5.

People pay more attention to our example than they do to our advice.

To be in the pink of condition physically and mentally, and ready and willing to do anything that needs to be done is a great substitute for genius.

And yet the menace of the years
Finds and shall find me unafraid.
