Monitor Newsletter October 12, 1981

Bowling Green State University

Follow this and additional works at: http://scholarworks.bgsu.edu/monitor

Recommended Citation
http://scholarworks.bgsu.edu/monitor/77

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the University Publications at ScholarWorks@BGSU. It has been accepted for inclusion in Monitor by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks@BGSU.
Pretty as a picture
Grounds tending is ‘budding’ business

Even before Jack Frost had laced the windowpanes, the University’s grounds crew was hard at work painting an autumn picture on campus.

...are growing pains

Staff members of WBGU-TV and the Northwest Ohio Educational Television Foundation moved into new offices the last week of September, while maintaining, for the most part, “business as usual.” The new facility is a 6,000-square-foot addition to the present television Foundation, especially the tape center with all its facilities reverting to the University Northwest Ohio Educational Television Foundation. Jean Peterson, assistant to the director of learning services of WBGU-TV, is preparing for television programming to elementary and secondary schools in Northwest Ohio.

...new facility is a

The land for the addition has been leased to NWOETV by the University for 25 years at $1 a year, with the facilities reverting to the University when the lease expires.

...new building

The new office building consolidates all the operations of the Foundation, including administrative offices, a tape duplicating center which serves elementary and secondary schools, and a film center, which previously had been located in an off-campus building.

...include a workroom

A 3,500-square-foot area is occupied by the Foundation and includes a workroom, conference/previewing room, film cleaning area, office area for eight staff members, shipping and receiving area, and an open space in the middle of the addition with racks for storing 2,577 films in the film center and 2,000 cassette tapes in the tape duplicating center.

...are districts with 160,000 students

In the southern portion of the addition are offices for 11 WBGU-TV staff, including the learning services director, public information director, development staff, general manager, producer/directors and public affairs staff. A large conference room and three editing stations also are included in the new space.

...total cost of the construction was

Total cost of the construction was $300,000, paid for by the Foundation and a leasing agreement by WBGU-TV with the Foundation for $150,000 funded through the station’s Community Service Grant from the Corporation for Public Broadcasting.

...of color will burst

The grounds crew also tend the flower beds which are used by the Northwest Ohio Educational Television Foundation, explaining that the bare lawns, landscaping around the carillon tower, residence halls and Eppler complex, pulling weeds, stripping parking lots and crosswalks, and doing all those other little tasks that make the campus the en g of many other universities throughout the state.

...the envy of many other universities

...saving cuttings from the best mums for next fall’s planting.

...are districts with

Grounds keepers also are responsible for irrigating the lawns, and they saved about $110,000 at the Student Recreation Center by installing an irrigation system which operates with water from the Rec Center pond.

...who keep the snow cleared from sidewalks and parking lots.

...cutting is ‘budding’ business

As budgets have been cut, some things have not been done as frequently or as well, he noted, adding that the number of flower beds has been reduced, the grass is not fertilized as frequently, the weeds aren’t pulled as often and the plants in the greenhouse don’t receive the care they once did.

...who have just been planted

The grounds crew also are doing all those other little tasks that make the campus the envy of many other universities throughout the state.
Faculty Senate

University administrators are financially more optimistic now than they have been at any time in the last 12 months. The increase in the university's financial welfare is far from over, according to Interim Provost Dr. Ferrari. Dr. Ferrari told Faculty Senate at its first meeting since Summer Tuesday (Oct. 6) that the budget legislation approved by the Ohio House earlier this summer will now be before the Senate is encouraging for Bowling Green because it would provide some relief to the University's financial woes, he said, "It is still premature to say what will happen to that bill." Dr. Ferrari said the academic senate in June the state legislature in June Senate members the conversion issue to a back burner semester calendar. He said the Board subsequent recommendations summer of 1980 after the trustees move in private and with former had periodically discussed such a received the report of the ad hoc committees for several Bowling Green projects, is improvements, which Anderson Arena. obtained from Jong contract, he noted that savings this fiscal year from the hiring freeze have totaled $125,000 to-date. A state bill for capital improvements, which includes money for several Bowling Green projects, is expected to be approved at about the same time as a budget bill, Dr. Ferrari said. The interim budget adopted by the University's veterans will expire the end of this month.

Dr. Ferrari also detailed for the Senate meeting the resolution which preceded the Board of Trustees decision to convert to an early semester calendar. He said the Board had periodically discussed such a move in private and with former President Moore beginning in the spring of 1969. The trustees received the report of the ad hoc committee on calendar change and subsequent recommendations from the Faculty Senate and Academic Council.

"The University's financial crisis and Dr. Moore's health forced the conversion issue to a back burner during winter and spring quarters (last year)," Dr. Ferrari said, adding that it resurfaced at the June meeting of the Board of Trustees. The Senate appeared and in the form of a resolution at the July Board meeting.

Both Dr. Ferrari and Acting Provost Erikson told the Senate that work toward the conversion is progressing well.

Dr. Erikson also gave a preliminary enrollment report and said that headcounts this fall are down about 320 from a year ago. That puts the University on target for conforming to its mandated enrollment ceiling. The projected enrollment at the beginning of the fall semester is 17,690, Dr. Erikson said.

Members of the Senate approved three resolutions during the meeting, one of which will enable the Senate's Academic Policies Committee to make editorial changes in the Academic Charter and the second conversion in the Undergraduate Catalog without full Senate approval. The Senate also passed without dissent a resolution calling for the President to establish an Academic Committee to disseminate "information which would not encourage the continued candidacy of qualified applicants," citing in particular admission procedures and selection criteria.

That resolution was prompted by an announcement from the committee in September that all processes will remain confidential and no announcements of any kind will be made by the committee until a president is named. The Faculty Senate, Dr. Frazier Reams Jr., president of the Board of Trustees, is chairing the search committee.

Senate also approved a resolution concerning student representation on University governance bodies and committees. The resolution was in response to a statement of student rights in the proposed student body constitution which details the rights to be members with full voting power and able to make decisions on policy-making bodies in academic units, colleges and University committees which directly affect the welfare of the undergraduate student body.

The resolution states, "Faculty Senate notes that a categorical assertion of student rights to representation on all policy-making committees and groups is an important conflict with existing provisions of the Academic Charter, . . . with principles of due process in matters relating to tenure and faculty welfare. Therefore, Faculty Senate recommends against including automatic rights to membership on any campus committee in any list of student rights at Bowling Green State University."

Deimir Hilyard, a professor of speech communication, will chair a select committee of faculty which has been appointed by Interim President Ferrari to study staff and operating budget allocations throughout the academic area of the University.

The Select Faculty Committee on Academic Staffing and Budget Planning is to act in an advisory capacity, reviewing detailed enrollment, staffing and budgetary information and recommending criteria to ensure interdepartmental equity within the context of teaching and scholarly productivity; the support the discipline renders other disciplines in the institution; the projected student demand for the disciplines; and institutional standards within the appropriate Ohio Board of Regents' funding models.

Dr. Ferrari said the members of the committee will be asked to recommend long-range procedures for reallocation of staff and budgeting allocations, those recommendations should ensure selective support for program priorities, with a plan for: consideration of educational goals; research, which may be concluded.

Dr. Ferrari told the Senate that the committee's first meeting was held last week.

"I think the meeting went well. - ·

° ° ° ° ° ° ° ° ° ° ° ° ° ° ° ° ° °

Friends and former colleagues of Gertrude Esper (seated), emeritus professor of biology, physical education and recreation, were among those who attended the dedication of the Esper Physical Education Building on Friday, Oct. 2. About 200 people were present for the dedication and reception which followed.

Eppler dedication was "greatest day in her life"

Preview, Parents days Oct. 31:
Morning displays; evening fun

Prospective students will have the opportunity to sample all phases of University life at the annual Admissions Parents Day program, which will feature internationally acclaimed pianist and comedian Victor Borge. The Alumni Association will perform a program of songs and instrumental selections.

Tickets for the program will be distributed at the Admissions Office on the evening of Friday, Oct. 1. Tickets will be available on a first-come, first-served basis. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 2.

The event has been planned to coincide with the Alumni Association's Parents Day program, which will feature internationally acclaimed pianist and comedian Victor Borge. The Alumni Association is co-sponsor of the program.

The annual Admissions Parents Day program will be held Friday, Oct. 2, in the new all-purpose area of the building, constructed at the site of the former Natatorium. Eppler, who retired from the University in 1969 after chairing the women's division of the health and physical education department for 26 years, was on hand for the dedication.

"This is the greatest moment of my life," she said. "I have watched this place grow from a small facility, and I want to thank all the people who worked with me, particularly the faculty and staff, for their dedication, which is not only the largest in the state but also, I think, in the country."

Eppler, who now resides in Sun City, Ariz., took the opportunity while in Bowling Green to reminisce about her years on campus.

"I was here for the dedication," she said. "I also had the synchronized swim shows she had directed in the old Natatorium."

Eppler joined the Bowling Green faculty in 1941 when the student population was about one-tenth its present size. Frank J. Proud was the University president who hired her. The two of them were later named chair of the women's division of the HPE department, and she started doing some hiring of her own. Under her direction, the original staff of three faculty grew to more than 20.

Many of those faculty are still teaching at the University or enjoying their retirement in the Bowling Green area. They are a closely-knit group, and their loyalty to Eppler has never wavered. The idea for naming the complex in her honor originated with those who were looking at individual.

She also recalled the early campus. "When I first came here, the Women's Building was the northeast corner of the campus."

"I had everything," she continued, adding that she personally introduced courses in fencing and ball casting. The ball casting class was taught in Urschel Pond from a platform she built to the back of a group of people while the faculty of the course was the family of one of the students.

"I loved my job. I liked everything I taught, and I often came back to campus at night to teach," she said. "I didn't even think about my"
Faculty & Staff

Grants

Robert Anderhalld, geology, $10,000 from the Ohio State University Foundation to study the reef-like fossil shell made of lime body and to evaluate its potential reserves and use for the glass industry.

Grace H. Chickasaw, nursing, $8,626 from the Ohio State University Faculty Senate, a grant based on enrollment to strengthen, improve, and undertake innovative programs of nursing instruction.

Charles C. Finnegan, chemistry, $12,000 from the American Chemical Society Petroleum Research Fund to study the structure and reactivity of the 2-norbomyl cation.

Carmen F. Placenti, biological science, $3,000 from the Ohio State University Research Career Development Grant, which may be used as an additional three years. His candid is conducting research on the metabolism of helminthic parasites.

Donald Kaoch, psychology, $12,800 from the Ohio Dept. of Mental Health to fund a one-year fellowship from the National Institute of Mental Health for a post-doctoral fellow in structural design and programmed instruction.

Anne-Marie Lancaster and Gerald A. Jordon, education, $800 from Owens-Corning Fiberglass, Inc. for instrumentation in research and services, spoke on better future by giving hearing and deaf people a voice in structured design and structured programming.

Gerald L. Saddleridge, college staff personnel, $12,500 from Urbana College. Dr. Saddleridge has been appointed to assist Urbana College with its development of student support services.

Wildfred O. Stone, graduate college, $11,000 from the National Science Foundation to implement objectives designed to enhance the understanding of the under-represented areas of biological sciences, computer science, education administration, psychology and mathematics.

Duane Tucker, WBUIV TV, $203,852.26 from the Northwest Ohio Educational Television Network for in-service television broadcasts in 1981-82.

Presentations

William B. Jackson, environmental research and services, spoke on "Veneerless Beasts" at the National Integrated Pest Management Short Course July 19-21 at the University of Illinois.

Sally Klimper, home economics, presented a paper, "Stimulating Social, Cognitive and Language Development of Infants and Toddlers," at the annual meeting of the Midwest Association for the Education of Young Children in Rochester, Minnesota.

She also toured a research roundtable at the annual meeting of the Ohio Association of Children's Services and spoke to the Wood County Children's Services Association during summer, 1981.

Seaver Mabry, economics, and Mary C. Mabry, art, were among 120 representatives who attended a conference on the economic impact of the arts sponsored by the Belt System and Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y.

Dr. Mabry contributed to a workshop, "The Future of Corporate Innovation," and Ms. Mabry contributed to a workshop, "The Arts and Business of the '80s.

The Mabrys were among 120 representatives from state and national art councils, museum administrators, art foundations, government officials and corporate executives to attend.

Facility & Staff
News in Review

Guest artists to lecture, perform
Andrew White, one of the most versatile artists on the jazz scene today, and Rufus Reid, who has established himself as one of the finest bassists in the jazz world, will be featured artists at Jazz Symposium '81, to be sponsored by the College of Liberal Arts Minority Faculty Program and held on campus Oct. 27-28.

The jazz symposium, designed to give music students an opportunity to hear and speak with leading jazz musicians, will include lectures, master classes and small group sessions and concerts. It will complement the College of Liberal Arts' new jazz minor, approved by Academic Council last year.

Both guest artists will perform with the University's Jazz Lab Band at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 3. White and Reid also will perform in concert with Fred Hamilton, composition and history, and Randall Moore, lead alto sax, beginning at 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 5, at Kocabra Hall.

White, a tenor and alto saxophonist, electric bassist, author and composer, will be on campus throughout the weekend symposium. Reid, the author of two basic methods textbooks used in teaching jazz programs at colleges, will conduct an all-campus jazz program at William Patterson College in New Jersey, will be on campus Nov. 2-6.

Hartung directs Firelands office
The admissions, financial aid and registration functions at Firelands College will be merged and are now under the direction of John P. Hartung, former director of regulatory affairs at Cleveland State University.

Hartung, director of admissions and registrar, was assisted in the admissions area by Linda Faber Smith.

Campus talk focus of luncheon series

A three-day "lunch 'n learn" seminar on communicating on campus is scheduled for Oct. 13 and 20.

Raymond Tucker, speech communication, will lead the series, to be held from 12:05-12:35 p.m. in the Continuation Education Room of Moxley Hall.

Sponsored by the Office of Continuation Education, Regional and Summer Programs, the three programs have been entitled "Understanding Undercommunications - Communicating on Campus" and have been designed to help university personnel, especially secretaries, understand how people communicate.

The discussion on Oct. 13, "The Humor Mill Keeps Grinding," is designed to show employees how to keep humor in their own jobs.

The discussion on Oct. 15, "What Are They Really Saying," will address people in positions to help teams better understand what people are saying.

The discussion on Oct. 20, "Negotiation," is designed to help staff resolve disputes on the job. The fee for University employees, including home faculty and staff and permanent part-time staff, is $18 for the series.

Further information is available from the Office of Continuation Education, Regional and Summer Programs, 300 McFall Center (2011).

Employment Opportunities

CLASSEd EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

NEW VACANCIES

Posting Expiration Date: Monday, Oct. 19

10-19-1 Pay Range 2
University Overnights
Nine-month part-time

10-19-2 Police Officer 1
Pay Range 27
Campus Safety & Security

10-19-3 Police Officer 2
Pay Range 28
Office of Communications & Public Affairs

10-19-4 Typist 1
Pay Range 3
Home Economics
Nine-month part-time

10-19-5 Typist 2
Pay Range 3
Home Economics
Paid from external funds

CONTINUED VACANCIES

Posting Expiration Date: Monday, Oct. 12

10-12-1 Pay Range 2
Student Health Service
Nine-month part-time

10-12-2 Pay Range 25
Student Support Services (Auxiliary)

10-12-3 Security Officer 2
Pay Range 27
 Campus Safety & Security (Auxiliary)

10-12-4 Pay Range 3
Instructional Media Center
Paid from external funds

10-12-5 Typist 2
Pay Range 4
Instructional Media Center
Temporary part-time

10-12-6 Typist 2
Pay Range 4
Instructional Media Center
Paid from external funds

FACULTY VACANCIES

5-4A Director of EM Facility
Biological Sciences (2-2332)
Pay Range 12
Fees, 1982

10-12 President
Send vita to Frazier Rooms Jr., President of the Board of Trustees, Presidential Search and Selection Committee Box 688
Bowling Green, Ohio 43403

10-31 President
Send vita to Frazier Rooms Jr., President of the Board of Trustees, Presidential Search and Selection Committee Box 688
Bowling Green, Ohio 43403

In the Blue Cross-Blue Shield plan.

Run for fun-and money!

A "Falcon Fun Run" to benefit the athletic program at Bowling Green has been scheduled on Sunday, Oct. 25.

The "fun run" is a jock-athon designed to raise funds for the athletic department, but at the same time to give campus and community groups and organizations an opportunity to raise money for themselves.

Members of participating organizations will solicit sponsors to pledge money for the "jump" at the top of a quarter-mile Whittaker Track which they complete in an hour's time. Fifty percent of the money generated will be returned directly to participating groups. The remainder, 50 percent, will be credited to the athletic department.

Three one-hour runs are scheduled in the event, which will begin at 11:30 a.m. Interm President Ferrari, members of the University cabinet and members of the Board of Trustees are scheduled to run in one event.

Another event will feature the University's athletics faculty, teams, Greek organizations, residence halls, marching band and other athletic groups. The third hour will feature community organizations.

Further information about the event is available from Barb Brown, 372-2401.

Rec Center plans own 'homecoming'

The Student Recreation Center will host a "Homecoming Weekend" of its own as the University celebrates with its alumni Oct. 23-25.

During those days, all alumni will be admitted to the center for $5 per person, regardless of age, each day, all day. Tours also will be given to anyone interested.

Faculty and staff who are alumni but not members of the center are encouraged to attend. The Rec Center also will be still enrolling participants in four upcoming clinics.

Sign-ups, on a space-available basis, can be made in the Rec Center office for a squash clinic, Oct. 13, 11:45 a.m. to 1:15 p.m.; men's weight training clinic, Oct. 13, 4-6 p.m.; racquetball clinic, Oct. 21, 6-8 p.m.; and handball clinic, Oct. 22, 4:30-6 p.m.

Graduate's research earns recognition

Anne Osborn, a graduate of the University's reading program, won third place in the 1981 National Reading Award thesis competition of the College Reading Association.

Osborn graduated in August, 1980, with a specialist in education degree.

Joseph S. Nemeth, educational curriculum and instruction, directed her specialist degree research, titled "Reading Methods and Materials for the Young Braille Student."

Thesis award winners have been invited to present their research at the CRA conference Oct. 29 in Louisville, Ky.

Datebook

Exhibits

Images of Age, a national exhibition of sculpture and paintings by artists over 60, will be shown in the College Art Gallery. Hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and 2 and 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Monday, Oct. 12

"Scott Hamilton: World Champion on Ice," a WBGU-TV production featuring a commentary and behind-the-scenes performances by the Bowling Green native from the ice show at the University of Arizona, 7:30 p.m., WBGU-TV, Channel 57. The show will be available at "Ribellos...Anthony Hopkins stars in the title role as "Othello" begins season four of The Shakespeare Plays. 8 p.m., WBGU-TV, Channel 57.

Tuesday, Oct. 13

Greg Baum Big Band, 7 p.m., north building theater, Firelands. Free. Presented by Student Recreation. WBGU-TV special (exhibition), 7:30 p.m., ice Arena, State Route 5, Fremont. Sponsored by Sigma Xi and the Student Activities Council.

William J. Flahman, a senior research fellow at Great Lakes Institute for Political Research at the University of London and a BBC-TV commentator will speak on "Surgical Applications of Laser Surgery," 7:30 p.m., 110 Business Administration Building.

Wednesday, Oct. 14

Dave Malee, flute, 8 p.m., Bryan Recital Hall, Music Major Recital. Free. Presented by Student Recreation. WBGU-TV special (exhibition), 7:30 p.m., ice Arena, State Route 5, Fremont. Sponsored by Sigma Xi and the Student Activities Council.

William J. Flahman, a senior research fellow at Great Lakes Institute for Political Research at the University of London and a BBC-TV commentator will speak on "1888: Aspects of British Foreign Policy," 7:30 p.m., 110 Business Administration Building.

Thursday, Oct. 15

UAO Movie, "White Heat," 8 p.m., Gish Film Theater, Hanna Hall. Admission $1 with University ID. Presented by the University Activities Office. WBGU-TV special (exhibition), 7:30 p.m., ice Arena, State Route 5, Fremont. Admission $1 with University ID.

Friday, Oct. 16

Hockey vs. North Dakota, 7:30 p.m, ice Arena, State Route 5, Fremont. Presented by Student Recreation. WBGU-TV special (exhibition), 7:30 p.m., ice Arena, State Route 5, Fremont. Admission $1 with University ID.

Saturday, Oct. 17

Soccer vs. Eastern Michigan, 2 p.m., Coleman Field. Presented by Student Recreation. WBGU-TV special (exhibition), 7:30 p.m., ice Arena, State Route 5, Fremont. Admission $1 with University ID.

Sunday, Oct. 18

Bowling Green Brass Quintet, 3 p.m., Kocabra Hall, Moore Music Arts Center. Free. Presented by Student Recreation. WBGU-TV special (exhibition), 7:30 p.m., ice Arena, State Route 5, Fremont. Admission $1 with University ID.

Monitor

Monitor is published every Monday by the Student Recreation Center, 1000 West Fifth St. Staff of Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio 43403. Material for the next issue, Oct. 19, is due Friday, Oct. 16, 5 p.m.

Editor: Linda Swagolad
Assistant Editors: Sarah Blsland, Karen Elder

For address and other notices should be sent to: 308 Administration Building, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio 43403.