Bowling Green College Has One of Largest Bird Collections in the State

By E. L. MOSELEY

People in the vicinity of Sandusky have good reason to be interested in living birds and also in collections of mounted birds. No where else in Ohio can be seen such a variety of water fowl and shore birds, or so many of the warblers and other songsters when they are on their way to their nesting paces in Michigan or Canada.

Until the present year Erie-county had three notable collections of stuffed birds. One was the collection of the late Fred Frey, who for many years before he went into the undertaking business, had a barber shop on Decatur street, where he found time to preserve hundreds of birds that were brought to him by his many friends. This large collection of birds and other natural history specimens was purchased this year for the college at Bowling Green which has recently acquired also the splendid bird collection of Dr. Carl Tuttle, of Berlin Heights, probably the best mounted collection in Ohio. It comprises 511 specimens of which more than 400 are mounted. Most of them were collected by Dr. Tuttle and his wife in Erie county, Ohio or in Florida or Michigan. There are other specimens from Texas, California, Alaska and Canada. Among them are several birds that are now rare or on the verge of extinction, such as the great white whooping crane, the ivory biled woodpecker and the Carolina parquet.

The addition of these collections to the large number of bird specimens previously assembled at Bowling Green gives this young college one of the largest and best collections of mounted birds and bird skins in the state.

Sandusky still has the large collection of birds which has been seen by thousands of visitors to the High School museum. Cleveland has recently acquired a large collection of foreign bird skins, chiefly from South America and the islands in the South Atlantic. These are in the office building of the Museum of Natural History, which is not open to visitors. There are now more species in this collection than in Sandusky, but they are not mounted and not accessible to the public. The writer believes that the Sandusky museum still affords the visitor an opportunity to see the largest collection of mounted foreign birds in Ohio.

Junior-Senior Party Was Pretty Social Affair

The annual Junior-Senior formal party held in the Woman’s gymnasium at the college, Friday evening, Jan. 20, was the most distinctive social affair on the January college calendar and was an event that is always anticipated with much pleasure and preparation.

The class colors, blue and gold for the Juniors, and rose and gold for the Seniors, were used in lovely decorative effects, a canopy of blue and gold overhead with a center square of rose, and rose wound posts.

In the receiving line were Pres. and Mrs. Williams, Prof. and Mrs. Zaugg, Dr. and Mrs. Martin, Miss Fromme, Dr. Florence Williamson, Prof. Steller, Mr. Tobias Edwards, president of the Seniors class, and Mr. Waldo Schmunk, president of the Junior class.

Harold Farling’s orchestra, Toledo, played for the program of eight dances and four extras. Dance programs were blue with gold pencils.

Punch, wafers, and ice cream in rose molds marked with a white J or S were served to approximately 40 couples.

The Junior and Senior classes entertained jointly for this party which is formal and is one of the nicest of the many college dancing parties and entertainments.

Prof. Anna Woodward A. M., of Chicago University, instructor of History recently became a member of our faculty.”
Take Lecture Tour

The Chautauqua Study clubs which have been reading “Stories in Stone,” by Willis T. Lee, spent a delightful evening with Prof. W. P. Holt, at the college Friday evening, Feb. 10, when through his courtesy they were taken on a picture-lecture trip through the Western National Parks.

Prof. Holt, who has been through the parks a number of times, showed stereoptican slides of Yellowstone Park in Montana, Bryce Canyon, and Zion National Park in Utah, Raibah Forest in Arizona, and other places of interest to a most appreciative audience.

County Clubs

Henry County Club

The members of the Henry County Club enjoyed a Valentine party in the Ladies Gym at the college Tuesday evening.

The program for the evening consisted of games and contests directed by Miss Carmen Rettig and dancing. A cornet solo was rendered by Miss May. Refreshments were also served. Who drank the most punch?

Besides the large number of regular members, there were many special guests present. We were glad to have with us two former members, Mr. Wheeler of Napoleon and Mr. Schroeder of Ridgeville Corners (Ohio).

Erie County Club

The Erie County Club of B. G. N. C. gave a Valentine Party for its members and guests, Tuesday, Feb. 14. Games and dancing were enjoyed by all. A short program made up of a piano solo by Miss Ruth Milkey and a vocal solo by Miss Olive Lutz were given. Three new members were initiated at this party, creating additional diversion for all.

Then, a delicious luncheon was served and everyone got a valentine. With the coming of the hour of ten, the party broke up after a good time was had by all.

Toledo Club

At a recent meeting of the Toledo Club the following committees for the new semester were appointed by the President Dorothy Robinette.

The “Ben Hur” party given by the club Feb. 21 was well attended by the members. A playlet “The Private Life of Ben Hur or Why the Horse Sneezed” was delightfully given. Loretta Onnenga made a dashing Ben Hur. The wiles of the vampire Agnes McKinnon were not lost on the hero nor the villain, Helen Reid. Virginia Bierly as the maid helped plan the downfall of Mr. Hur and he was only saved in the great chariot race that followed by the sneezing of his horse.

Velma Creps and Harriett Bush entertained the crowd with a “Strong Man Act.”

The musical number of the program was well given by the talended Ruth Milkey.

Games, dancing and a spread completed a perfect evening.

Four new members received into the Lorain Club of Bowling Green College Tuesday, January 31, at a merry gathering at the home of Aline Ruhle, 442 E. Court Street.

Bunco was the main diversion, Beatrice Beck and Helen Brady winning honors. Music and dancing were also enjoyed.

The new members, Eileen Perrin, Helen Brucker, Helen Brady and Rosella Cornelius have just recently completed their High School courses, and are entering college for the first time. They were members of the class of 28A.

February 7—We all enjoyed the numbers given by the First Year Music students very much this morning.

February 14—The French and Spanish Departments of the College united this morning in giving us one of the most enjoyable chape programs of the year. The exercises took the form of a play which was very well rendered and very, very much enjoyed.

Fraternities

Ye Old Five Brothers Frat

Ye Olde Five Brothers Fraternity had one gay affair on Tuesday evening, Feb. 14. Sure everyone was there, and what a time they had, only they can explain it. Entertainment and plenty of it, seemed to be the main issue. Cards, singing, smoking and music. Yes music, the finest to be had of course. Professor Ora Knecht (?) was the musician of note and ability to be obtained for the evening. He favored us at various times with the best chords to be heard in this day. What a treat it was to hear this master play. Then too the cards sharks were in evidence. Mr. oh I must not mention their names for fear of publicity, and I am sure that members of the Delhi's and Commoners can vouch for their ability. What time was it when they went home. Well it was past the seasonable hour of shall I say ten? Yes, and a little ways past that too. The eats, yes of course we had them. Not so many that puts on weight, but then just enough to be sociable, you know. Coffee did I say? Seems as if some of he boys would not be able to sleep after the amount they were able to gargle. Everyone enjoyed themselves, and we were very glad of it. The Delhi Fraternity was represented by Arthur Kuder and Harold Treece, while Ira Smith and Hayes Garster represented the Commoners. The guests of the evening outside of any of the Fraternities included:

Brother Volney Markle has been forced to withdraw from school for the present on account of sinus trouble. We hope that he will be back with us within a few weeks.
Delhi Fraternity

The Delhi Fraternity held their regular meeting Tuesday evening, Feb. 8. After the customary business was disposed of a date was set for the annual Delhi Dinner Dance. It is to be held on April 20th.

A discussion was also held in reference to our annual spring picnic as to date and plans.

Some orders were given to the pledges before the motion was given for adjournment.

Five Sisters Sorority

The Five Sister pledges were hostess of a delightful party given in honor of the active members and alumna. The affair in form of a Valentine Party was given in the club rooms of Shatzel Hall, Feb. 6. The rooms were decorated with red and white bows, hearts and lamps. Eight tables of bridge were in play during the evening after which dancing was enjoyed. The pledges served dainty refreshments in keeping with the good Saint’s birthday. All proclaimed the party a success and then departed for their respective homes.

On Feb. 7, Shatzel Hall was the scene of an impressive formal initiation at which the following pledges were made members of the Five Sisters Sorority: Florence Baker, Toledo; Katherine Bowersox, Oak Harbor; Alice Brown, Montpelier; Olive Bush, Kenton; Agnes McKinnon, Toledo; Mary McKnight, Bowling Green; Marian Ramstock, Toledo; Esther Ross, West Unity; Virginia Russell, Toledo; Kathryn Sams, Kenton; Elda Tabbert, Graytown.

Commoners Fraternity

At their house on N. Summit St., the Commoners gathered for the first meeting of the new semester. At the business session, plans for the annual party were discussed and committees appointed to carry out the plans. At the end of the business hour the pebes received their weekly discipline according to the rites of the society. Brother Mong is acting as G. C. during the illness of Brother Dunipace.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to cards and study.

Fraternity Party Given By The Commoners At Their House

The Commoners fraternity were hosts Friday evening, Feb. 10, at the first of a series of delightful parties which will be given at their house, 226 N. Summit street, and succeeded the basketball game at the College, between Bowling Green and Defiance.

Prof. and Mrs. Zaugg chaperoned the college girls and fraternity brothers during the gaiety. The entertainment consisted of cards, seven tables being in play, radio and victrola music, and at the close of the evening ice cream and Valentine cakes were served. Favors were kewpies mounted on crimson hearts with “Commoners” written across them.

Five Sisters Pledges Entertained Members at Valentine Party

The pledges of the Five Sisters sorority of the College gave a very delightful party for the members, at Shatzel Hall Monday evening, Feb. 6. The approaching Valentine Day was suggested by red and colors, with symbols of the season. The evening was pleasurably spent with bridge and dancing. Heart shaped cakes, candies, and ice cream were served as an attractive concluding feature.

The monthly birthday party for those having birthdays in February will be given Feb. 16 in the Williams Hall dining room. A special birthday cake with candles will be lighted in honor of the guests.

He: “Why on earth do you got to such vile plays?”
She: “Oh, I just go to check up on the vileness of the rest of the audience.”
Educational Values

At the beginning of each semester we choose the courses which have the greatest educational value for us, or perhaps we chose those courses which give us the most credit for the smallest amount of work done.

This, however, is not the only choice of this nature which we must make; we must also decide how much of our time can be spent on outside activities. How much can we sacrifice from our studies before the loss there becomes greater than the educational value which we gain from our outside activities?

These activities are necessary and are a very important part of our education; but there is a danger that we will consider them of paramount importance, in other words we allow the tail to wag the dog. In a school where many of us take part in a great number of activities, we must face the problem of dividing our time wisely.

It is said that George Washington never told a lie. Well, there was less occasion for lying in those days. Golf had not been imported from Scotland, radio had not been invented, all alcoholic stimulants were pre-war stuff, and the number of miles secured from a gallon of gas was not a subject for popular discussion.

A Smart Pretty Girl

It happened on an east bound train in Indiana on the day after New Year's. On the observation car was gathered a group of college boys and girls returning to an eastern university.

About half of these young people, including the girls, were smoking. Most of them were expensively dressed. The best dressed and prettiest girl in the party had refused to smoke and was being joshed for being a prude.

Of course, I just had to listen in.

"What's the big idea, Sally?" asked a husky, a young shiek from Omaha.

"Afraid you'll spoil that rose-pink complexion?"

"My, that isn't it!" said a snappy-eyed little brunette, wearing the same sorority pin as Sally. "It's just that Sally has more sense than most of us. Sally isn't a prude and she does just about as she pleases."

"I'll bet it's because Bill doesn't approve," said another one of the young men. "You know Bill is captain of the football team for next year and he doesn't believe that girls should smoke."

"Defend yourself, Sally," said another of the girls. "Tell these duds why you don't smoke."

"I think it is simply stupid to do things that don't give you any special pleasure and that spoil you for enjoying something better.

"It seems to me that there are just two ways to live if one thinks at all and has any individuality."

"You can live as clean and fine as you know how and fit yourself to do real things like Lindbergh is doing. Or you can follow along with the kind of folks that are trying to get a kick out of doing something just a little wicked."

"Then you kid yourself into thinking you are in the swim and are a good sport and all that. And I notice a lot of good sports can't stand the pressure and go rotten, as Hickman did. As a matter of fact it takes a real nerve to be decent these days, and I always did hate a weak sister."

"It's just a case of deciding what kind of a person you want to be. I'm no reformer, I hate reformers. But while I have no objection to your doing just as you please, I can't see any sense in throwing away my chance to get a real kick out of the big things of life just to have a few, foolish little vices."

"That's all there is to it. Now smoke yourselves to death if you want to."

"Ouch!" said the young shiek from Omah. "So that's all is it, Sally? I am glad there isn't anymore. I'll be hanged if I don't believe you're right. I wish there were more girls like you."

And there are; a million of them.

Country Life Club

The Country Life Club held a meeting at the College Wednesday evening, Feb 8. A large number of students came to hear the interesting program that had been prepared. The first number was a reading by Miss Carmen Rettig. The second number was a violin solo played by Miss Pearl Urschalitz. Then, another reading, "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" was given by John Carrington. The last thing on the program was "The Topics of the Day" by Ruth Milkey. After the close of this program the club was reorganized for the new semester.

The new officers who were elected are president, Mr. Dale Daniels; vice president, Ernest Leathers; secretary-treasurer, Miss Virginia Arduser; chairman of program committee, Wilber Miller; chairman of gym program, John Carrington. After the close of the meeting we went to the gym, where all enjoyed the hour of games and dancing.

Lorain Club

Marie Pastor proved herself a charming hostess when she entertained members and friends of the Lorain Club, on Tuesday evening, Jan. 17, at the home of Mrs. Van Wagner, Clough street.

Music and bunco were the main diversions of the evening, honors falling to Misses Ruth Edwards and Josephine Gadomski.

A dainty luncheon was served at small tables to the following guests: Corrine Bevan, Josephine Routson, Bertha Peckare, Mildred Bachelor, Grace Hirt, Lorraine Mooney, Josephine Gadomski Dorothy Cox, Aline Ruhle, Ruth Edwards, Norma Romisher, Marie Pastor, Twila Busha and Beatrice Beck.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks.

Girls Prom Took Form Of Costume Party

The annual Girls Prom, sponsored by the Woman's League of the College, was an amusing event of Saturday evening, Feb. 11, in the Woman's gym. The affair was informal and strictly feminine and as this is a costume party the girls (and the faculty girls too!) gleefully "dressed up." Two hundred types of masqueraders, funny, pretty and gay spent a frolicsome evening in dancing and with games. Prizes were awarded for the cleverest costume, which was that of a black and white leatherette clad pirate; to the best dressed couple, a Spanish gentleman and lady, and for the most ridiculous, which was made of a crazy quilt.

Valentine appointments were attractively evident in the refreshments which were later served.
Other Colleges

University of Cincinnati—Over 800 members of the faculty and student body of the University of Cincinnati attended the farewell dinner given for Fred C. Hicks, retiring president of the University.

Hicks, who was largely responsible for the recent bond issue of over a million dollars which passed the people for the University, will leave shortly for a trip around the world.

St. Xavier—Plans for a contest for a new college song are being formulated by the Sophomore class of St. Xavier college. The prize will be made up by donations for all campus organizations.

Wooster College—Plans are being completed for the Ohio Oratorical Association contest to be held at Wooster College February 10.

Muskingum College—Muskingum college has purchased a complete X-ray machine for use of the medical department and physics department. All cost of X-ray pictures of broken bones of athletes will be done away with.

Ohio Northern University—Dick Long star center with the Ohio Northern Polar Bears, has the unique distinction of being captain of the basket ball team in the first intercollegiate game in which he ever played.

Ohio University—A men’s musical comedy organization has been formed by students of Ohio University. The organization is composed of the Men’s Glee Club and the male members of the dramatic club.

The first production, which will be given early in March, is to be “Hello Happiness,” a musical comedy written by students. The book is by Harold Evans and Vincent Jukes, and the music is by Bob Gardner, Dave Todd and Chas. Gessele. Men will take all female parts, including both leads and choruses.

Oberlin College—Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, pastor, author and lecturer, will deliver the commencement address at Oberlin College this spring.

Dr. Fosdick, is a recognized liberal, being one of the first to break away from the orthodox beliefs, and he has undergone severe criticism for it.

Miami University—Dr. Alfred H. Upham, new president of Miami University took over the government of that institution on February 2. Dr. Upham is a graduate of Miami in the class of 1897. He taught there for 12 years. The last seven he has served as president of the University of Idaho.

Wittenberg College—With an appropriate ceremony, the Dorm league, one of the oldest secret organization on the campus of Wittenberg college came to an end by the action of the group itself.

The Dorm League, which was composed of students residing in Myers Hall, the only men’s dorm on the campus, was organized as a fraternal society in 1906. Since that time it has always ranked high on the campus.

The only explanation for the action was that conditions that exist would permit no other action than that which has been taken.

Wooster College—Wooster Voice, student newspaper of Wooster college have offered a series of prizes in a contest for the best paper written on the presidential possibilities for the 1928 election. The first prize is Ten dollars.

Dartmouth College—The Lacrosse team of Dartmouth has been admitted into the Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association, according to an announcement of the Athletic Council of Dartmouth.

It is related that an elderly professor of English in an eastern seat of learning, having been dismissed from the college for some reason or other, found it difficult to make a living. Reduced to sore straits, he accepted the menial job of waiter in a shabby restaurant.

"Look here," stormed one of his first customers, pointing to the turien, "what is the meaning of that dead fly in the soup?"

"I regret, sir," said the pedagogic waiter, "that I cannot supply you with the desired information. I am supposed to serve the soup, not to explain its ingredients."

"But a dead fly, man!" persisted the customer, "a dead fly!" How did it happen?"

I am sorry to say, sir, I have no idea how the poor insect met its fate. Possibly it had not taken food for a long time, and, fluttering near the soup, found the aroma particularly appetizing, and, eating too heartily, contracted appendicitis, or gastritis, or some similar digestive malady, which, in the absence of an opportunity for the application of X-rays and appropriate medical and surgical treatment, caused its untimely demise."

Presbyterian Church College Class Held Banquet

The College class of the Presbyterian Sunday School of which Dr. C. C. Kohl is teacher, and Prof. E. E. Powell assistant teacher, were entertained at a banquet in the church dining room Thursday night, Feb. 2. Seventy-five were present to gather about the flower decorated tables at 6:30 to enjoy a savory menu and genial good fellowship. Members of Rev. Gilbert's Bible class proved themselves culinary experts in preparing and serving a fine dinner.

Prof. Powell was an able toastmaster and called upon Rev. Gilbert, Dr. Kohl, and others for short speeches preceding the talk of the evening, which was splendidly given by the Rev. Paul G. Macy, of the Washington street Congregational church of Toledo.

The College class was founded several years ago by Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Harrington, who were present, and who also responded with brief comments. Great interest and enthusiasm were manifested which made an entirely successful affair. The class has grown greatly and is a very live organization.

Emerson Literary Society

The Emersonians held their regular meeting, Wednesday, Feb. 15th at 7:00 o'clock. At this meeting new officers for this semester were elected. Anna Hayne will be president, Shirley Overmeyer, vice president, Helen Lawrence, secretary and Helen Brown, treasurer. A new member, Elizabeth Brown, was voted into the organization.

At this time, it was decided to have an open meeting in two weeks, and in four weeks it was decided to let men only give a regular "he man" program.

The program for the night was based upon the subject, "February's Famous Sons." The first number was "St. Valentine's Place" presented by Miss Griffith. Then, Elizabeth Brown entertained the society with two of Lowell's poems. The third number was "Lincoln's Boyhood" by Miss Kessler. Last but not least came "Washington" by Miss Martha Burwell. After this very interesting program, the meeting was adjourned.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. failed to hold a meeting during January because of too many conflicts with other organizations.

The next meeting will be on March 8. A special speaker has been secured for that evening. Ray Avery, a present Bowling Green attorney, and a former captain in the army, will speak on "National Defense."

This topic is of current value to our country. Every young man in College should take advantage of this opportunity to secure the information of a problem, the laxity of which undoubtedly some day may cause the downfall of our nation.
Dinners Honor Birthday

In compliment to the birthday of Prof. W. A. Zaugg, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Case, entertained with a dinner of Valentine appointments at the Woman's Building, Feb. 14.

A crimson cyclamen holding a red heart on which was mounted a small cupid beautifully centered the table. Red heart shaped nut boxes marked covers for Prof. and Mrs. Zaugg, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Campbell, Miss Lena Mills, Miss Essa Williamson and Mr. and Mrs. Case.

Following the dinner courses the guests went to the Case home on South Church street for an informal evening of Victrola music, a heart contest, and chat.

College Debators Copped Victory

Bowling Green college clearly out-debated the visiting Waynesburg college team, from Pennsylvania Thursday evening, Feb. 9, on the local platform on the question: "Resolved: That Democracy is a Failure." The final decision was up to the audience, which voted 99 to 16 for the Bowling Green team.

In assuming the affirmative side of the debate, Bowling Green coerced the visitors to admit practically all of the arguments they presented. The visitors were shown to have missed the issue by the clever Bowling Green team, which proved that they did not have to show a better plan of government but merely had to prove that Democracy was a failure.

The debate was very fine and the visiting team was strong. They met a better team in this city, that was all.

The crowd numbered just two hundred and eight. Prof. C. J. Biery acted as chairman.

Howard George and Lester Hanna, of Bowling Green, and Robert Tripp, of Hudson, Mich., were the victorious speakers. Kenneth Skellon, Robert Stein and Leslie Brock were the visiting debaters.

Home Economics Club Met

The Home Economics Club met in Room 217A, Wednesday evening, Feb. 8. After a short business session the following program was enjoyed on "Child Care," Miss Pauline Stannard gave "The Food of the Child." Miss Jeane Robinson "The Clothing of the Child", and Miss Ruth Kraft, "Discipline of the Child." The members later adjourned to the dining room where refreshments were served by the hostesses, Misses Norma Lee, Ruth Holloway and Lor- retta Blackburn.

Annual Snow Party By Glee Club

The Woman's gym at the college was transformed into a gay winter scene Saturday night, Feb. 4, when the Glee Club entertained with their annual formal Snow Party. Fluted strips of white crepe paper formed a canopy above the dancers, sloping toward the sides of the room. Snowy branches sprang from posts and crimson hearts against the walls dashed warm color on the wintry whiteness, adding a Valentine suggestion.

Fifty couples, the girls in prettily hued evening frocks, danced to the strains of Leo Lake's orchestra, who played a program of eight numbers and four extras.

Members of the music department were invited as chaperons and included Miss Matilda Morelock, Prof. and Mrs. Church, Prof. Tunnicliffe, Miss Dorothy Clement and Mrs. F. C. Mooers.

Red punch and wafers were served throughout the evening.

Faculty Student Relations

The matter of faculty-student relations in administration is a question for discussion in many colleges. The student council at the University of Wisconsin has abdicated and its charter has been annulled by the faculty. However, the Cornell Sun advocates student-faculty committees to consider faculty legislation concerning students; Wooster, earlier in the year, announced success with such a committee. The Harvard University committee of undergraduates are preparing a report to the faculty on curriculum, library lighting conditions, prompt dismissal of classes and similar matters.

Again, the president of one Ohio college has said that “students are too darn busy trying to run the school.” With varying degrees of emphasis one finds opinions questioning whether students are of enough maturity, whether they have sufficient background to be of much assistance to a college administration.

Differing valuations of several questions account in part for the fluctuating success of organized student faculty cooperation. Is its existence justified if it serves to spread a feeling of goodwill at critical moments? Is it of sufficient value either to students or administrations to warrant students spending hours in fruitless discussions?

A Substitute for Exams

Numerous changes have advanced the educational systems of the United States during the past decade. It is highly probable, in fact inevitable, that the next twenty years will note additional progress with the countless number of experiments being made by hundreds of institutions of higher learning.

The abolition of final examinations has been long agitated by students and liberal members of the faculty. Just as many believe that final exams are an integral part of college work, so are there large numbers who honestly believe in the doing away with such tests.

Out of fairness to those who favor the continuance of the present system, let us state that there is justification for it. The student is forced to review the work of the semester, thereby impressing it more firmly on his mind. By this review, a complete correlation of the semester's work is obtained; the course is set firmly in the mind as a complete correlation—it is not a series of fits and starts, the mere jumping from one assignment to another.

If we should substitute a term paper for the final examination each student would be forced to extend himself to his utmost in order to prepare an accurate resume of the semester's work. Different subjects might be assigned, or each member of the class might be required to write on the same subject. Such an assignment would of necessity have to be made with the idea of correlating this paper with the work of the semester.

In the opinion of the student regarding application of the course and the benefit derived could be expressed. A term paper of this nature would be of considerable value to the student. We would necessarily review the year's thereby setting the course firmly in his mind.

Emerson Literary Society

On Wednesday, Jan. 18, the regular meeting of the Emerson Literary society was held. At this meeting the following new members were voted into the organization: Gertrude Miller, Mary Cothrell, and John Carrington.

A committee to nominate officers for the next semester was appointed by Miss Anna Hayne, the president. Martha A. Brown, chairman, Marie Alurne, and Dale McDaniels are to make up this committee.

On account of the basketball game, the time being short, Prof. Schwartz dispersed with parliametary drill.

The program for the night was devoted to the subject, “Around the World With Kipling.” The first number was Kipling’s „Travel,” given by Miss Lenore Otto, “Themes of Kipling,” presented by Miss Elizabeth Bexler made up the second number of the program. Finally, a review of the novel, “The Light That Failed,” given by Miss Helen Carr, finished up a successful evening.

The Emerson Literary Society of B. G. N. C. held its regular meeting Feb. 1. At this time it was decided to have in the near future a mock meeting of the legislative body of the U. S. and incidentally get a largem amount of parliamentary practice from such a meeting.

Then a very interesting parliament drill was given by Professor Swartz, the faculty advisor.

The evening’s program was devoted to contrasting and comparing the lives and works of Eugene Field and Robert Lewis Stevenson. “The Lives of Eugene Field and Robert Lewis Stevenson” was given by Miss Jane Snyder. “The Typical Poethy of Field” was given by Miss Bernice Sneider. The last number was “The Typical Poem of Stevenson” given by Miss Alspach.

Right now when the average winter costume could do with a little freshening up is the time to buy new spring accessories. There are still weeks ahead before you can wear spring clothes but there is no reason why you should not enjoy the heartening influence of a well-chosen new scarf, a sparkling crystal boutonniere or a pair of spick-and-span new gloves.

“Yes,” answered the prudent girl.

“That’s not an engagement. It’s an option.”

Bee Gee Downs Defiance

It was an easy victory for the Orange and Brown, when they played the Defiance boys at the Bowling Green gym. The Falcons easily retained their lofty position in the conference when they defeated Defiance, 43-28.

Landis started the old lineup with Miller and Steen at forwards, Fish at center and Yawberg and Filiere at guards.

It was an easy game of play they ran up a score of 16-2. Steen's passing was great and Miller played a fine game leading the scoring with 18 points. The boys all played a good game and were hoping that they do as well against Toledo.

Toledo Defeats Bowling Green

On Feb. 4, the Bowling Green boys journeyed to Toledo where they were defeated 29-38 by the fast T. U. basketball team.

A large crowd followed the local boys to the city where they gave their loyal support but all in vain.

The Toledo boys got away to a good start for after the first sixteen minutes of play the score stood 18-0 in favor of Toledo. Steen then started the scoring by making a foul after which the scoring came a little easier and the half ended 24-10.

The boys continued their comeback and after five minutes the score was 25-19 in favor of our opponents.

Steen played a good game at forward scoring the most points with Miller second.

From Marietta gain comes a tale of the basketball prowess of one. “Toots” Trott. Said worthy uncorked a dazzling one man offensive that even the capable Muskingum hoopsters could not check, garnering 25 out of his team’s 34 points Wow! Incidentally, the Muskies grabbed the verdict by a 47-34 margin.

If anyone should mention the name Flax to you, immediately connect it up with the accurately-shooting “spark outa’ Hell” who has been keeping Cincinnati’s Bearcats in the Buckeye Association and Ohio Conference races. Cincy’s the home of good basketball players among who mthis boy Ellis Flax eagleyed running guard, is not the last. When the going is extremery rock, said point-getter opens up an extra bit of vim from his inexhaustible supply and hauls Cincy’s chestnuts out of the fire. Page the opposition, please!

Bolton—sure enough!—the power behind the throne on Cincy’s aggregation is rolimg in for his quota of points in a no-ways backward manner. When they stop “the Red Ape” both on defense and offense, they come bigger and better. It all depends whom you are playing and just how much fight you have when Old Bugaboo Off-Night breezes around, Cincy. That’s the supreme and perhaps the fatal test.

Burkholder of Ohio U. and Taylor of Miami are stagging a close scrap for scoring honors in the Buckeye Association and I would suppose, in the Ohio Conference as well. Plenty of tilts before them to improve or—toboggan!

There was once a basketball squad on which there was no dissention whatsoever. Five men composed that squad. Keyser and Knoots, Wittenberg’s long range marksmen, are connecting for a good average again this campaign. Defense means little when the two blond forwards get their toes dug in at mid-floor. Little Joe will more than likely average his twelve markers per tilt again this season.

Bright: “Why doesn’t an undertaker believe in the survival of the fittest?”
Brighter: “Because he doesn’t believe in the survival of anybody.”
