ASSEMBLY PROGRAMS

Chapel seats have been selling at a premium during the past few weeks. Not only the student body, but many townspeople have come out to enjoy the fine programs, and late-coming students find the auditorium filled promptly at ten o'clock.

Tuesday morning, April 15, Madame Corrine Rider-Reed from a Toledo conservatory of music presented a program of high class music. By special arrangement Madame Reed was obtained for our chapel service, her field of music is largely that of concert work.

Tuesday morning, April 22, the Choral Literature Class rendered a short program including some vocal numbers by Miss Helen Rosendaull, and a piano solo by Miss Isabel Gunn. Miss Hall, an instructor in the music department, conducted the group singing which had no accompaniment. The student body appreciates the fine work and the splendid progress of the music department; expressions of this feeling were made at the close of chapel service.

DRAMA CLASS PRESENTS "MILLIONAIRE"

"The Millionaire", a modern play will be presented Thursday night, May 1, under the direction of Ellena Percy. It is a story of a man who was forced to leave his home and seek his fortune abroad. He lost all relations with his home people until he discovered the "Glory Mine". He is welcomed home with open arms. Everyone is very anxious to do everything possible to make Gideon comfortable,—especially Blanche who was once loved by the returned "Millionaire". Many complications arise when it is discovered by Fred that the "millionaire" is not a millionaire after all. All the family are much upset and insist upon Gideon leaving again—when Dorca a little orphan stand nobly by him—and well, we will let you see the "millionaire" and find the outcome.

Dean Burget makes a handsome millionaire and Genevieve Storey a sweet little orphan Blanche, the girl who changed her mind about "Giddy" when he became rich, is played by Kathryn House. Others are Ellen Stover, who is the crabby old aunt, Vera Switzer, "light headed Lottie", Lucile Liedy, "mammas little girl", J. Clyde Brown, Johnny the artist, Don Shafer, the College President, and Wilson Egbert, the outcast.

"The Old Wives Tale" will be given in the near future followed by "Lady Windermere's Fan" and possibly one other to close a fine year's work. Miss McCain is proud of her class this year and the work done which has been exceptional.

ORATORICAL CONTEST

The State Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest for colleges in this district of northwestern Ohio was held at Bowling Green, Friday, April 25. Entrants from Heidelberg college, Findlay college, Bluffton college, St. Johns University, Toledo University, Ohio Northern and Bowling Green State College. First honors was carried away by the Bluffton College entrant in a very able and capable manner. Leonard Linsenmayer represented Bowling Green and was awarded third place. Second and fourth places were awarded to Toledo U and St. John's, Toledo, respectively.

PHILOSOPHY CLUB

With the energetic assistance and supervision of Doctor Gleason a philosophy club has been formed: it meets weekly. Membership is by invitation but anyone sincerely interested in the discussion and activities of the club will be welcomed at the meetings.

Discussion has centered, thus far, around: “free will” and “determination”; “teleology”; the nature and pragmatic value of the God concept; and from now until the end of the year an intensive study will be made in the field of ethics.

Talk is plenteous and lively. But Dr. Gleason, by probing questions and an occasional informative dissertation, keeps us following an outline of constructive thought.

Some have labelled the club radical and even atheistic,—we would assure you that the Conservative—Fundamentalist bloc is quite as vigorous as the Skeptic-Neologistic!

A motto, not too flattering but honest, for the club might be: Scire et edere.

“MATEO FALCONE”

The setting of “Mateo Falcone” is on the island of Corsica. The characters include a father, Mateo; mother, Guiseppe; son, Fortunato; the traitor, Gianetto; and an officer, Adjutant Gamba. The story is about a father making swift retribution, by killing, for the wrong done by his son.

My first reaction to this story was that it was very strange that a father could be brutal enough to kill his own son. Then as I thought about it I reached another conclusion. The father believed it to be wrong to turn traitor. His son had been a traitor in not living up to his first promise to Gianetto. The father’s belief in his own standards was so strong and steadfast that he did not hesitate to do justice. He was as faithful to his idea of right as the Old Testament character who was willing to offer his son as sacrifice. Is it not a common saying that people today are not faithful enough to the things they believe? Do not our great religious leaders point to India and its great leader Gandi and say that when they do accept Christianity they will be real Christians? The reason for this is that they are faithful to what they believe. Let us come back to our own social life. Do we like and admire the person who says he believes a certain thing and when the real test comes does not live up to it? No, we do not, I do not condemn the father for this quality.

However, I do not excuse him for the fact that he did not deal justice where justice was due. In the first place, Gianetto told the boy that he would not be true, to his father if he did not protect a man in need of help. A boy of ten years is not old enough to understand and think through a problem like this one. So he did the natural thing and offered protection.

Adjutant Gamba appeals to the boy's desire for a prize. While the boy was looking at the watch all thoughts of possible results fled. He did not realize that he had wronged anyone until he faced his father. The two men, Gamba and Gianetto, realized their own danger if they disclosed the fact that they had bribed the boy. They go on their way. The son remains and bears the burden of justice for them.

The father loved his son. His last actions reveal this. He commands the boy to say his prayers. Then he provides for what he calls a Christian burial. I believe it is a fine thing for a person to be so loyal and faithful to his convictions. Do you not believe that the world would be a better place to live in if everyone was perfectly loyal to his convictions?

Down in Arkansas a man was tried for assault and battery with intent to kill. The state produced the evidence by getting weapons used—a rail, a gun, saw, and rifle. The defendant's council exhibited as the other man's weapons, a scythe blade, pitchfork, pistol, dog, razor and hoe. After being out several hours the jury gave the verdict: "We, the jury would have given a dollar to see the fight."
THREE KAY NEWS

On April 15 the Three Kays administered the pledge service to sixteen girls in the upper room of their castle, and presented to them pledge pins which are white gold K's. After the ceremonies refreshments were served to those present. Tuesday evening, April 29th, the pledges will receive the first degree.

The Women's gym was completely transformed to "Under the Sea" for the occasion of the Three Kay formal on April 12. Transparent sea green sides and canopy gave a shadowy, translucent effect and the cool feeling of water and waves, through which colorful fishes swam and a profusion of seaweed floated in long strands. A huge octopus and sea dragons clung to the curtain at the west end of the room. At one side a sea cavern furnished seats for the faculty guests and from another opposite punch was served. The hull of a wrecked ship was seen through the watery transluence at the east end, and within the ship Eddie Schultz' orchestra of Toledo, was seated. With the movement of the dancers the seaweed gently swayed as though moved by the waves. The marine life swimming around and the colorful evening dresses of the girls added realism and beauty.

During the evening toe dancing and acrobatics were performed by Geraldine and Genevieve Saddoris, twins, sisters of a 3K, from Fostoria. They wore green and white satin costumes for the toe dancing and green bathing suits for the acrobatics. At the close of the grand march favors of handtooled key containers, embossed with "3 K" in gold, were presented to the gentleman guests from a large sea shell held by the Saddoris twins.

The faculty guests were the two sorority sponsors, Miss Florence Baird and Miss Margaret Yocum, and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jordan. Guests from campus sororities were: Five Sisters, Kathryn Sams; Las Amigas, Thelma Watkins; Skol, Ellena Percy; Seven Sisters, Kathryn House.

COMMONERS NEWS

On April 15, the Commoner's Fraternity held a banquet at the house in honor of the plebes who were to receive their last degree, following the banquet. The banquet was managed in such a pleasing manner, through the efforts of Ellsworth Capen and Mrs. Smith, that the brothers feared the degree might offer an anti-climax but we later found that the heat of the degree made all other activities assume their proper relationships as "forerunners."

The new brothers are: Bill Sloat, Fred Muller, Walter Burnett, Ed. Bowman, Rusty Cox, Earl Campbell and Roy Keeler.

All brothers find themselves very occupied and preoccupied as the last preparations for the Annual Formal dance are being made.

FIVE SISTER NEWS

Five Sisters are busily planning the Annual Mixer for all fraternities and sororities which will be held Friday evening, May 2.

On Tuesday evening, April 8, the Five Sisters entertained with a lovely Easter party which culminated in a kitchen shower honoring Mrs. Kenneth Byers. The gifts were cleverly placed in a huge Easter Egg, which was brought in as a surprise after the Easter Egg Hunt. The party, which was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Scott on N. Grove street, was arranged by Ellen Stover and Kathryn Taber. The new pledges, Ruby Nell Stover, Doris Herr and Katherine Myers made themselves very useful and seem to have grasped the fundamentals of pledgship.

Girls attending the party were: Mrs. Kenneth Byers, Misses Marion Hall, Marna Hough, Genevieve Keil, Isabell Gunn, Kathryn Sams, Eleanor Davis, Kathryn Taber, Dorothy Serrick, Ellen Stover, Marie Menz, Marion McMahon, Louis McMahon, Charlotte Wolcott, Olive Mae Pelton, Dorothy Schmedlin, Edith Pope, Beulah Steen, Irene Urschel Mary Elizabeth Walker, Margaret Moorhead, Ruby Nell Stover and Doris Herr.

Mrs. Byers was Miss Geraldine Scott before her marriage.

Five Sisters will be happy to have with them, Virginia Russell of Boston, Mass., an alumni member, who is coming west for a visit this spring.

SKOL NEWS

The Skols have been busy making plans for the annual Spring Sport dance, which will be an event of May 9. Dorothy Derby is in charge of the arrangements. She is being assisted by Norma Mills, Corinne Burkett, Mary Powers and Grace Lathrop. Bids will be on sale for all students and the members are hoping to have as large a gathering as has been present in former years.

Maxine Ogle is in charge of the arrangements which are being made for the first degree. The seven pledges are waiting anxiously for April 28 which will be the date of their first initiation.

THE LAS AMIGAS SORORITY

Have you seen the white sweaters with green and coral insignia that the Las Amigas Sorority girls have been proudly wearing the past week? They feel that they have begun their work well and will continue doing so.

Arrangements were made at the last meeting for the girls to publish an "Annual" for the use of their own members. The publication will serve as a lasting memory for the girls. It is hoped that this will be an annual publication. Mary Margaret Fay was elected Editor; Margaret Burkland, manager; and Gail Wallace, Leona Sailor, Ruth Graham and Audrey Coulon the four associate editors.

The following girls have been pledged to Las Amigas: Ruth Graham, Alverna Hart, Harriet Hansen, Irene Hitchcock, Grace Fisher, Rose Ellen Johnson, Esther Lonsway, Katherine Manns, Margaret Parks, Mary Elizabeth Phillips Marjorie Pfaff, Ruth Reynolds, Leona Sailor, Helen Strong, Gail Wallace and Thelma Watkins.

SEVEN SISTER NEWS

The Seven Sisters Sorority has pledged the following girls as their spring pledges: Virginia Bigelow, Alice Smith, Lucille Ziviley. On April 8 the simple but impressive pledge service was given to them by the president.

The members of the sorority are busy planning a program of spring activities which will be of great interest.

Lois Kemis has been elected historian for the coming year.

YE OLDE FIVE BROTHERS

Final arrangements have been made for the Annual Spring Picnic Dance to be held at Volmer's Park, May 29. We are expecting as usual, a large group of Alumni Brothers back to enjoy the affair.

Entertainment in the afternoon will consist of games contests and the usual game of indoor ball between the alumni and active brothers. With the election of officers for the year 1930-31 and the Picnic, the yearly program will be drawn to a close.

BASEBALL

Bowling Green College lost the first baseball game of the season to the strong Ohio Northern team by a score of 3 to 1. Jake Spengler was on the mound for the Falcons and pitched a fine game, allowing but four hits, striking out eight men and issued three free tickets to first. Milkerson pitched for the Northern team and the Falcon's found it difficult to hit safely when the team collected but four hits during the battle.

The game was played in very cold weather which was better suited for football than baseball. The severe cold no doubt had something to do with the five errors chalked against the Bee Gee boys. The misplays were all results of bad throws after the ball had been fielded in fine shape.

Northern scored in the first inning when two errors and a double accounted for one run. The second counter came in the second inning when two hits, a walk, and a stolen base produced a run. The Northern team had a three run lead at the end of the sixth by scoring another run in that frame.

Bowling Green's lone tallie came in the seventh when Sheffer slammed out a two base hit and came home on Perry's double to right center.

Bowling Green has a well balanced team and with a little baseball weather, Coach Steller will have a strong team in the field when the conference schedule opens. Spengler will be able to take care of the biggest share of the pitching. "Jake" has played plenty of baseball and is a steady player. Mainz is the only left hander on the pitching staff and will probably see plenty of action this season. Tompson and Johnson are also working out and may see some mound duty. Martin, who covered short last year is an all-round man. Coach Steller has used him at short, second and in the outfield. He has a strong arm and throws a fast ball with good control and if it becomes necessary the coach may use him as a pitcher. Johnny Jump covers the initial sack this spring better than any time before, picking up the ball out of the dirt and reaching high over his head for wild throws. With Perry at short, Yawberg at third, Sheffer, Hough and Ferrell in the outfield, the team has a bunch of good ball players. Tennent, a newcomer and Thorout a veteran are two capable catchers. Other players who have showed enough stuff to interest Coach Steller are Stacy, Ferrell, Detter, Golding, Cox, Kunkle, Moss, Galanka, Stevenson, Lugar and Wingard. Several of these lads will be given a chance in the next few games.

Two Base Hits: Sheffer, Perry, Warren.

Sacrifice Hits: Spengler.

Double Play: Milkerson to Graves to Stein.

Base on balls: Spengler 3, Milkerson 2.

Struck Out: By Spengler 8, Milkerson 7.

NOTES OF THE FIRST GAME

The umpire handled the game without hearing a protest from either team.

Pitcher Spengler did not leave Ada until "Red" Stevenson drove to Bowling Green and then back to Ada with the keys to "Jake's" car.

A good crowd of shivering fans watched the game and very few left the park until the final man was out.

It was Dad's Day for Perry and Sheffer. The boys father's went to Ada for the game and both travel about the same distance in opposite directions.

Martens was robbed of what appeared to be a safe hit in the second when Smith made a shoe string catch on the play.

When Coach Steller sent in C. Farrel for H. Farrel the umpire looked the second time and then decided he didn't know them apart.

GOLF

A new sport has been inaugurated on the roll at Bowling Green State college. The college team composed of Reiser, Loomis, Young and Lowell played their first match, Monday, April 21, with St. Johns College, Toledo. Though the team was defeated they made a creditable showing especially the score of Reiser of Napoleon, which was an 82, winning his match with the recent Toledo Junior Champion.

This new sport should prove a success as it is being taken up seriously by a group of Freshmen, and by the time they have passed on golf should be firmly established. The course at the old Fair Grounds is being used and maybe in the future Riverby course, which is only a short drive, may be used for some matches.

Arrangements are being made for several matches this spring with colleges in this vicinity.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

DEPARTMENT NEWS

Fifteen delegates were sent from our W. A. A. to the National Athletic Conference in Ann Arbor, April 23-26. The delegates were: Marjorie McElhaney, Pearl Urschalitz, Margaret Powell, Bernadine Beins, Marjorie Conrod, Dot Decker, Helen Kessmar, Mary Miller, Isabel Wagner, Thelma Dillinger, Alice Dresser, Louise McMahon, Helen Strong, Mary Elizabeth Walker and Beulah Steen.

Miss Shaw, who is chairman of a national committee on Athletic games for girls, recently attended a meeting of the committee in Milwaukee.

Sixty girls are out for Track and Field sports and are diligently practicing three times a week. The first trial for W. A. A. points take place May 1st and second trials May 15th. The five events are 50 yard dash, 65 yard dash, low hurdles, running high jump, javelin and discus throw.

FRESHMAN MUSIC RECITAL

Wednesday evening, April 23, the Freshmen students of the Music department were presented to the upper classmen in a formal recital in the studio. Not all of the Freshmen appeared on the program, but the group which performed was representative of the talent of the class.

The following program was given:

Piano solo, Ruby Nell Stover, “In Autumn”, by Mac Dowell.

Vocal solo, Christine Houeck, “Sweet of the Year”, by Turner-Salter

Viona solo, Mary Elizabeth Loomis, “A Scotch Poem”—Mac Dowell.

Vocal solo, Florence Overmeyer, “Sail on Sweet Dreams” — Anna Priscilla Rischer.

Piano solo, Grace Spring, “Told at Sunset”—Mac Dowell.

Vocal solo, Ruby Nell Stover, “There Are Fairies at the Bottom of Our Garden”—Liza Lehmann.

Vocal solo, Clyde Brown, “Vagabond Song”—Vanderlip.

Piano solo, Gordon Mumaw, “From an Indian Lodge”—Mac Dowell.

Vocal solo, Kathryn Myers, “At Twilight”—Rudolph Ganz.

Piano solo, Celestine Vorhees, “Funeral March”—Grieg.

Vocal solo, Grace Spring, “Pastoral” Carey and “Phyllis Has Such Charming Graces”—Purcell.

After the program the group was invited to the Home Economics dining room where tea and wafers were served. Miss Hall poured with Misses Maxine Powell and Kathryn Sams assisting.

Mac: I’ll give you a wallop, right in the mouth.

Dennis: Don’t bother, I wouldn’t know how to eat it anyway.

Lind: I call her my automobile girl.

Barnes: Why?

Lind: Because I’d like to choke her.
Heidelberg Conference

April 11, that very warm sunshiny day you may remember, five of us left Bee Gee to attend the Y. W. C. A. conference at Heidelberg college. The five included Althea Benner, Alice Budd, Margaret Laskey, Helen Brown and our new already beloved advisor Miss Alma Leedom. We were sure we excited the envy of all the rest of our sex for our driver was none other than “Red” Stevenson.

The conference opened with an interesting discussion by Miss Josephine Little, followed by an acquaintance party at the new dormitory. We returned to our assigned suite of rooms in Willard Hall, very tired but not too tired to attend the “feast” across the hall to which we were invited by four lovely girls. Surprise! We found another college where girls must abide by rules like ours.

Saturday was taken up with various discussions by inspiring speakers. Especially will we remember the talk about “Creature Living” by Rev. Obenhaus, a young man who knew all about our college problems and how to solve them.

Saturday’s climax was the Geneva banquet at the church. Fun, inspiration and true fellowship intermingled to give us an evening we will not soon forget.

After another short discussion group and a service at the church we all returned to our home colleges filled with hopes for a bigger and better Y. W. than ever before.

I would like especially to express my thanks to Heidelberg for the wonderful hospitality shown to us girls. Thanks to every Heidelberg student we had a lovely visit and we will never forget their spirit of good fellowship and cordiality.

MAN OVERBOARD

The music of the jazz band on the upper deck seemed to flow softly over the shining water. The moon was out in all her glory. It was a perfect night.

Here and there where the shadows seemed blackest, the red glow of a cigarette gleamed. Frequently a woman’s laughter tinkled upon the air.

It was the last night on board. Earlier in the evening there had been a formal dinner. What a sight! To my experienced eyes it had seemed a veritable fairyland. The women in low cut evening gowns and the men in evening attire had seemed to be personages from another, more glamorous, world.

I was thrilled to the utmost. How desperately I wished that I were old enough, and big enough, to enter into the fun!

There was a very cruel custom of putting children to bed at eight. I, being but ten, was subject to the rule. Nightly I had pleaded for just a few minutes' longer leave. Nightly I had plead in vain, but on this magic night my maternal ancestor relented, and there I sat, an appreciative audience.

There was one woman in a shimmering green dress that I watched closely. She had been the subject of most of the deck gossip. Many times I had overheard the hushed conversation of the matrons, and although I understood little of what I heard nevertheless perceived that she was to be regarded in a different light than the other young women on board.

The woman was undoubtedly attractive. She was taller than average and very unusual looking. Her hair was of a nondescript color, yet she wore it in a fashion that became her vastly, while it made her, also, very conspicuous. I noticed particularly her large, very red, mouth. Her attraction for men was evident.

On this night her popularity was to be envied. From my seat in the shadows I could easily follow her with my eyes all over the dance floor.

I hadn't selected my corner in the dark just to watch her. The merrymaking grew louder and lounder as the evening progressed.

Young as I was I knew that people frequented the smoker for two reasons: first, to play cards; and second, to partake of the liquid refreshments the bar so willingly sold. As she never stayed long enough to play any sort of cards, I drew my own conclusions.

The woman and her party became weary of dancing; so they came and stood at the railing not fifty yards away from me. They were very silly and seemed to delight in tormenting one of the young men abouts his merits as a swimmer. The young resented it and became very angry.

Before any one could anticipate his intention, he had clumsily clambered over the rail and jumped into the water.

Instantly pandemonium reigned. Excited cries of "man overboard", echoed along the decks. People rushed to the side. The music stopped. Everyone shouted and rushed about.

I was too frightened to move. I imagined the poor man being devoured by sharks, and rather than witness such a horror I kept my seat.

I was intensely relieved when, in the twinkling of an eye, a very wet, but sober, young man was hauled over the side.

The action of the ship had never even stopped. It seems that the man had had presence of mind enough to cling to a projection from a porthole almost on a level with the water. The water was calm, too; so it was a comparatively easy feat to throw him a life belt.

After the excitement abated I was hurried to bed. I don't believe I slept much that night—not after having witnessed a near tragedy!

Perry to his fiancee's kid brother: I'll give you a ring if you won't come into the parlor tonight."

Once upon a time there was a studious Senior who absent mindedely took notes on the commencement lecture.

April 9, the following officers were elected for the coming year:
Pres., Marjorie McElhaney.
Vicc-Pres., Pearl Urschalitz.
Secretary, Alice Dresser.
Treasurer, Helen Strong.

JOKES
Senior: Aw, I heard she's only a miner's daughter.
Frosh: Yes, I've heard the fellows speak of her natural resources.

Corrine: How did you break your ankle?
Max: I threw a cigarette in a manhole and stepped on it.

Felix: Did you take your girl home last night?
Cox: Naw, I left her at her house.

Love is like a poker game. It takes a pair to open, she gets a flush, he shows diamonds, and it ends with a full house.

Gleason: Name one great German philosopher.
Victim: Can't, sir.
Gleason: Fine.
Jake: So tomorrow's your wedding anniversary. What do you expect to get for your wife?
Johnson: I don't know. I haven't had any offers.

"My parents told me not to smoke—I don't.
Nor listen to a naughty joke—I don't.
They told me it was wrong to wink at handsome men or even think about intoxicating drink—I don't.
To dance to flirt was very wrong—I don't.
Wild girls chase men, wine and song—I don't.
I kiss no men—not even one.
Infact: I don't know how its done.
You wouldn't think I had much fun—I don't."
Mail Carrier: Is this mail for you, the name is obliterated.
Prof. Powell: Can't be, my name is Powell.

Alice: What do you think Lois? Mac stole a kiss last nite.
Lois: The awful thing. What did you do about it?
Alice: I made him give it back.

"There seems tew bee 4 styles of minds in our college: first, them who know it iz so! second, them who know it ain't so! third, them who split the difference and guess at it; fourth, them who don't care a darn which way it is.

Did you ever notice that the fellow who habitually goes around with his hands in his pockets, usually has the least in them?

The more than usual lack of intelligence among the students that morning had got under Beattie's skin.
"Class is dismissed," he announced exasperately.
"Please don't flap your ears as you pass out."

The fellow who talks loudest about "Personal Liberty" is usually trying to console himself for having to do something he knows he ought to do but doesn't want to.

The crowd will sympathize if you fall down occasionally, but it will walk all over you if you just lie there and grunt.

Teacher: Give the principal parts of the verb "swim."
Johnny: Swim, swam, swum.
Teacher: Good, now give the principle parts of the word "dim".
Johnny: Aw, quit your kiddin.

"When you answer me, speak—don't nod or shake your heads," said Prof. Beattie. "Did you think I could hear them rattle away up here?"

It has been discovered in an extensive research that a college diploma and one nickel will buy a cup of coffee anywhere in Bowling Green.
