FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Falcon Football Fans:

We've been building toward the 1973 football season ever since I've been at Bowling Green. This year's seniors were freshmen along with me in the fall of 1970, and it was pretty clear then that many highly talented players had been attracted to Bowling Green during the summer and spring of 1970.

This, then, should be the pay-off year. I hope the Falcons’ performance each Saturday will be attractive to fans of this sport which is so much a part of the American scene each autumn.

I am grateful for the attraction of football which brings a great many guests to our campus. It is our hope that while here you will take the opportunity to find out more about this University and will gain a sense of our goals and mission as a first-rate University. Our library, exhibits and galleries are always attractive to visitors, and we always hope we will have a chance to share them with new friends of the University during this 1973 football season.

I personally recommend to any visitor on our campus to stop and talk to our students. Ask them about the University. You will know our University best as you get some feel for the contributions the University is making in the realization of personal ambitions. More than any planned tour for visitors, this practice can reveal the style and spirit of Bowling Green.

We welcome everyone who has come to our campus for this game and hope each will return for future athletic contests, theatrical productions, musical events and special lectures. We are a state university and are particularly pleased when we can share our most attractive events with our preferred stockholders — the citizens of the state of Ohio.

Sincerely,

Hollis A. Moore
President

Football is just not a game of numbers. It's a game of human emotions where games are won or lost by desire. A football player is not a machine. He is a human being with a heart. This makes it possible to dissect a football player and to perhaps find out what makes that heart tick.

This then is the telltale heart of the 1973 Falcon football team:

Center DAVE McMICHIEL combines brains with brawn. As a marketing research major with his lifetime goal as wanting to be successful, Dave starred in the classroom by making the all-MAC academic team last year. When he wasn't in the classroom, he was in the weight room taking on all comers with his hobby of weightlifting. Dave likes to throw his weight around even on the basketball floor where he once fouled out of a game in two minutes.

Guard BOB MARTIN faces a battle with life this fall as he comes back from a bout with mononucleosis. Although excused from spring practice, he didn't let up as he scored a straight A average in the classroom. Hopefully his illness wasn't the result of his cooking since Bob enjoys preparing gourmet foods as a hobby.

DAVE KULIK was one of those babes born with a football in his crib. Dave is one of five Falcon players who cut his teeth on a football in Massillon where custom dictates a football be given to all baby boys in the hospital. TIM QUINN, who may start at the other guard position, completes the brain trust in the center of the offensive line. He showed his academic strength in the spring by making the Dean's List.

Tackles have a habit of being a bit weird but wonderful. JOHN JACQUOT enjoys art and wants to be a commercial artist. He has been known to spy on Toledo football practice. John also experienced a lineman's dream in intercepting a screen pass and running 45 yards for a touchdown in high school. His size has been put to good use as a part-time nightclub bouncer.

NICK OBROVAC, a 6-3, 226-pound junior, has a little brother coming to campus this fall who tips the scales at 6-4, 240. Wonder which one mom likes best? Nick also is an artist who is looking for a career in advertising.

Pass receivers always seem to be very versatile athletes who should be doing something else. ROGER WALLACE did everything in high school except sell popcorn as he won 10 athletic letters. He also threw passes instead of catching them from his quarterback position. RICK NEWMAN picked up eight letters in high school and was recruited in both basketball and football. He faces a challenge at wingback after starting as a split end and defensive halfback for the last two years.

Co-captain GREG MECZKA's loss may be Bowling Green's gain. The senior tight end lost about 15 pounds this spring while gaining back some speed and quickness. He may be sacrificing a professional career while carrying around 219 pounds instead of 235, but he's going to be a better college football player.

For quarterbacks, Bowling Green sees double. Sharing the job will be seniors REID LAMPORT and JOE BABICS. The two leaders also share a special interest in working with handicapped children. Both are majoring in special education and have been active in working with mentally retarded children throughout their three years in school.

PAUL MILES likes to break records on the football field and make records off the field. As an accomplished singer and guitar player, Paul is looking forward to a future recording date after developing his own coffee house routine as a folk-rock stylist. He sings many of his own "thought songs of today" and has already put 12 of them on tape.

Fullback PHIL POLAK never had a sibling rivalry with his older brother, Dave, who was an all-league linbacker for Bowling Green in 1969. He credits Dave with being a great influence in making him a better football player. Phil has a hobby of reconditioning things such as chairs, sofas, jeeps, and other items.

With five brothers and three sisters in his family, TOM FISHER had to be quick to get his share of the food at the table. His boardinghouse reach from a defensive end position has caused opponents to fumble 14 times in two seasons. Tom also believes the woman - behind - every - man theory and credits his wife, Cindy, with influencing his football achievements because she made being something worth while.

KEVIN TAYLOR enjoys the call of the wild. He gets away from life's hectic pace by hunting, fishing and trapping. He also trapped runners 21 times for losses last season.

Versatility helps MIKE HARRAMAN and DAVE TURNER at defensive end. Mike won 10 letters in football, basketball, track and baseball in high school. Dave won more honors in prep basketball than he did in football at Canton McKinley. As a BG freshman he played both sports.

Faith can help build mountains and also defensive tackles. TOM HALL moves men in many ways. Possessed with deep Christian beliefs, Tom is active in several campus religious groups. He also spent some time last summer at a marine training camp.

GARY McBRIDE has been deaf since birth. But his football ability and desire to achieve have broken down many communication barriers during his four years at Bowling Green. Gary is one of the team's most inspirational leaders. His sense of humor and tremendous enthusiasm for life makes him a locker room cheerleader. His favorite pastime is coming into a noisy locker room after a victory, getting up on a bench and signaling that the place is too noisy by covering his ears and making wild gestures for quiet.

Losing is not a part of middle guard BILL CENTA's life style. For five-and-a-half years, Bill did not lose a football game at Cleveland St. Joseph's High School or as a BG freshman and sophomore. His streak was stopped by a Toledo team featuring Chuck Ealey who also had the habit of winning every game in which he started for seven years.

Co-captain JOHN VILLAPIANO can't keep away from being compared to his older brother, Phil, who will be a starting linebacker for the Oakland Raiders for the third straight year this fall. Both wear No. 41 on their uniforms and cause mayhem on the gridiron. The only difference is that John does his thing at 5-11 and 185 pounds while Phil steps in at 6-2 and 235 pounds. Phil also played for Bowling Green and was a co-captain and the league's outstanding defensive player as a senior. As BG's leading tackler for the last two seasons, John should also be in for his share of honors this year.

Linebacker JOE RUSSELL doesn’t have any of Villapiano's problems. He has three sisters in his family and stands like a rock at 6-1 and 227 pounds. Joe is an excellent student with a 3.38 accumulative academic average and designs on becoming a doctor.

JESSE GREATHOUSE, ART THOMPSON and MYRON WILSON have a variety of reasons for playing football and attending college. Jesse thrives on being the toughest player at his monsterback position and enjoys the roughness of the sport. He is also gaining the grass-root knowledge of the game to apply for his future career of being a sports announcer. Art enjoys the hitting aspect of football and has professional aspirations. He's attending school to become a draftsman so that one day he can build his own home. Myron plays football because a high school coach once told him he wasn’t good enough to play the game in college.

Only a gifted natural athlete could consider becoming a starting defensive safety after two years as an offensive back. That's the challenge for TONY BELL this season. Tony could make it happen since he is the first athlete at Bowling Green to letter in both football and basketball since Jack Hecker turned the trick in 1954. There's also some fighting blood in Tony's background. His uncle, Shelton Bell, was a national AAU light heavyweight champion in 1941. His father, Isaac, also dabbled with the gloves and uncle Tommy fought Sugar Ray Robinson for the title in 1946.

The Falcons also have some specialties. Punter ED MCCOY possesses a knack of running back his own punts. He did it last year when he caught his own partially-blocked punt against Purdue and ran with it for 21 yards and a first down. Ed is also a back-up safety, back-up quarterback and a returning letterman as a BG baseball pitcher. Sophomore placekicker DON TAYLOR was a national college hero with his game-winning field goal against Purdue even before he attended his first class. Don's front yard at home contains a set of regulation goal posts. In his senior year in high school, the place-kicking specialist missed on all five of his field goal attempts.

Contrary to popular belief, Bowling Green assistant football coaches do not sit in a dark room for 10 hours each day watching movies. Would you believe five hours?

In fact the Falcon coaching staff is charged with a variety of duties that the ordinary football fan might not even think about when glancing at the coaching profession.

"Organized, hard-working and dedicated," are the three key words that Don Nehlen uses to describe his current staff which he rates as high as any he has had at Bowling Green.

However, assistant coaches and offensive linemen are really the unsung men of college football. Perhaps a brief look at these men and their responsibilities may help to set the record straight.

RON CHISMAR (Kent State, '61), fourth year, coaches the offensive backs and coordinates the offensive attack. He also accumulates offensive statistics, arranges for pre-season housing and feeding, works as liaison with training room, runs the agility part of the winter conditioning program, and distributes tickets for athletic contests.

CARLOS JACKSON (Bowling Green, '58), sixth year, coaches the receivers and coordinates the pass offense. He also assists professional scouts, works as liaison with admissions office and athletic public relations, and coordinates the on-campus visits of recruits. An extra is finding a bus driver for home games.

CARL BATTERSHELL (Bowling Green, '70), first year, coaches the offensive line. He also coordinates the academic and tutoring program, serves as liaison with athletic fields and facilities personnel, runs the study table for freshmen and compiles the academic honor roll. An extra is acquiring all academic and counselor forms for the football office.

MARIO RUSSO (Akron '57), second year, coaches the defensive ends and tackles and coordinates the defense. He also serves as secretary at all coaching meetings, supervises all office supplies, works as liaison with placement office and athletic business manager and prepares the football notebook. His extra is acquiring NFL highlight films for pre-season practice.

DALE STRAHM (Ohio Northern '65), third year, coaches the linebackers and middle guards. He also plans the Friday night team parties, designs locker room signs, charts and photos, supervises weight program during winter conditioning, coordinates scouting of opponents and handles special downtown promotions. His extra is arranging for coeds to assist in recruiting.

LARRY COYER (Marshall '65), first year, coaches the defensive secondary. He supervises projectors and publications, handles film exchanges with opponents, works as liaison with audio-visual personnel, supervises film room and assists in the winter weight program.

DAN GLEASON (Wyoming '71), graduate student, will coach the junior varsity team this fall. He will handle many of the above duties for the varsity football team and assist the varsity with grading of game films.

His reasons are simple enough — economy, performance and "more room than you think". Tony needs size in his steaks, clothes and lots of things — but not a big dent in his wallet. PRINTING...

the inseparable companion of achievement

It has been our pleasure to produce the Falcon Football programs for the past three years. In each of the first two years the program was judged among the best in the nation in its circulation class.

It's unwise to pay too much . . . but it is worse to pay too little. That is our way of establishing the value of good printing quality. If you deal with the lowest bidder, it is well to add something for the risk you run. And if you do that, you will have enough to pay for something better.

That's why we suggest you contact us for your printing needs.

There ought to be a law prohibiting running backs from carrying the football more than 20 times a game.

I strongly suspect that Paul Miles and Bob Hitchens, who rank as the two finest running backs in the history of the Mid-American Conference by virtue of their career achievements, would be in strong support of this measure.

In 25 college games, Miles has averaged 26 carries a game while gaining an MAC record 2,809 yards. He has carried more than 32 times in six games. Hitchens is even more of a workhorse with an average of 28 rushes a game while gaining 2,762 yards.

The human body can withstand only so much punishment.

A case in point is Hitchens, who is playing his senior year on pure guts and desire. Last year he carried the ball 32 times a game. The pounding took its toll and a knee operation was a post-season reward. The brilliant 205-pound tailback still has that troublesome knee this year as evidenced by his 235 yards rushing in five games. Pain is his constant companion.

Miles has been luckier and has avoided a serious injury. But his body has often been one king-sized ache and pain after a game. But his job is to gain yards at the rate of 100 or more a game and so he keeps coming back for more punishment.

"If Paul Miles could be in top health for every game, there's no running back in the conference who could compare with him," says Falcon coach Don Nehlen, who has watched the 190-pound senior gain 180 or more yards five times in his career.

What if the NCAA rules committee put a 20-carry limit on every running back? Look what it could do for the game of football.

First, the average super-star would be in much better physical condition to turn out more exciting football plays. The chance for serious injury would be decreased.

Secondly, the game of football would become more of a chess match as the best runners on the team got closer to the 20-carry limit. Second-guessers would have a field day. Fan interest could reach a new high. More players would get to play since stars would have to be held out for key situations.

Space does not permit some other interesting possibilities. But watch these two outstanding All-America runners today and consider the possibilities. After all, look what the five-fouls-and-out rule has done for basketball.

They shoot horses, don't they?

TODAY'S GAME NOTES: Today is BG's 52nd Homecoming ... Falcons own a 31-11-9 record and Don Nehlen has a perfect 5-0 record before the alumni ... Miami leads in the series 19-9-2 ... Nehlen owns a 3-2 log vs. Miami and stands 3-1 vs. Redskin coach Bill Mallory ... Paul Miles has overtaken Miami's Bob Hitchens in their battle for the all-time MAC career rushing record ... Miles enters today's game with 2,809 yards in 652 carries and 20 touchdowns ... Hitchens has 2,762 yards in 671 attempts and 32 TDs ... Against Miami, Miles picked up 102 yards as a sophomore and 55 last year ... Hitchens netted 62 as a sophomore and 84 a year ago ... The leading rusher in last year's 17-7 BG victory was Phil Polak with 88 yards ... The Falcons could become the first BG team to defeat Miami three straight years.
GRIDBITS

By Kenny White

Last week's Super Saturday clash between the Falcons and the Flashes provided the Kent officials with a chance to promote the game in a big-time manner.

There were fireworks shot off before the game and both bands provided excellent entertainment along with a mascot riding around Dix Stadium on a horse cheering on the Flashes similar to the mascot of the Kansas City Chiefs.

The crowd of 25,137 was the largest to hit the turnstiles since the construction of Dix Stadium. The game also attracted over 15 professional scouts anxiously surveying potential talent for January's professional football draft.

The Falcons ran into transportation problems enroute to Kent Friday afternoon. Their university bus broke down two times before a mechanic was summoned to answer the S.O.S.

Transportation to the game Saturday for the Falcon gridders was provided by a Kent State University bus. It was truly a fitting sight for all of the campus hecklers.

Coach Ron Chismar had his problems over the weekend when he came down with the flu. After a night of rest, Chismar was stationed up in his familiar spot in the pressbox calling plays with towels around his head trying to protect him against the elements.

Birthday wishes are in order for quick guard Dave Kulik who celebrated number 21 last Wednesday.

Quarterback Reid Lamport will enjoy 22 candles on his cake on Monday.

Bowling Green's senior players (class of 70) have not lost to the Miami Redskins in three years of competition. One of their most memorable victories came back in 1971 when they handed Miami a 33-7 setback in a tough Homecoming contest at Perry Stadium.

Kent State coach Don James after his team's win in the rain said, "I'm the most fortunate coach in America to get a win in this weather. I'm just glad we don't have to play them (BG) again."

RAPPING WITH FALCONS

HERE'S THE QUESTION . . .

What qualities turn a good football player into a great one?

AND HERE ARE SOME ANSWERS . . .

Mike Watson — Never saying you can't do it.
Doug Becherucci — Desire, determination, and dedication.
Tony Bell — One thing — attitude.
Brett Molk — Belief in what he's doing.
Dave Florea — Desire and above all, courage.
Art Thompson — Respect for his coach, a certain meanness, and the will to be the best.
Sherrill Jackson — A player who can listen as well as play.
Greg Harmon — Total dedication of mind and body to the sport at all times.
Don Saleet — Speed.
Bob Martin — Too many to mention.
Chuck Lindsay — Desire and the will to pay the price.
Bill Centa — Guts.
Steve Kuehl — Desire, pride, and patience.
Tom Spann — One must be hungrier to win than his opponent.
Corey Cunningham — Aggressiveness and a killer instinct.
Reid Lamport — Luck, the breaks, and size.
Dave Brown — Having a good attitude for the team.
Jamie Henneberry — Dedication, ability, and knowing what to do with his ability.
Roger Wallace — His ability to stay free from injury.
Ed Kelley — Working on the basic things to become a better player.
Greg Meczka — Desire to be the best, self-confidence, and courage.
Bob Banjac — Hard work and a sense of unity.
Rob Stephan — Total commitment to a goal with less personal satisfaction.

Rick Hans — His willingness to improve at every practice.
On the next page, you will see the up-to-date "official" statistics of Bowling Green and today's opponent. What these runners, passers and receivers have done in the past should serve as a yardstick of what they do in Doyt L. Perry Field today. What they do can also become a part of your "official" record of today's game.

As a service to fans who like to look at figures, this do-it-yourself statistics form can help you determine if the players are measuring up to their advance statistics besides letting you win some post-game debates on who had the most yardage. You also can second-guess the experts when reading the statistics in the newspapers following the game. Here are some guidelines to follow when keeping statistics:

1. Don't expect to be "right on" with the official statistics. There may be between 10 or 15 yards difference due to individual judgments made concerning where the ball is spotted. The rule is that the ball does not reach the yard line until it touches the yard line. Thus a runner may travel four and 35/36 yards and receive credit only for four yards in the statistics.

2. A first down is credited on all touchdown plays within a series of downs that started beyond the 10-yard line.

3. Keep accumulative totals for each rusher, passer and receiver. Thus if Polak runs for 2, 3, and 5 yards you would record 2, 5, and 10 in the first three columns opposite his name. For passers, place an "X" for an incomplete pass and circle the "X" if the pass is intercepted. Otherwise, just keep accumulative yardage.

4. On penalty plays, a runner can receive credit for yardage only to the point of the infraction.

5. Two-point conversion plays do not count as yardage gained or lost.

YOU'RE IN GOOD HANDS WITH WILSON

Need an insurance policy?

Then Myron Wilson, Bowling Green's exciting senior defensive back, is your man to call on in an emergency.

In fact, Wilson himself offers complete coverage because he covers everything and everybody.

To get to the heart of the matter, Wilson has given Bowling Green so much insurance against the bomb and other natural disasters during the last three years as a starting cornerback that the Cleveland comet has often been taken for granted by the news media.

Although his excellent performances are often taken for granted each week, Wilson could take his lack of notoriety as a back-handed compliment for his consistent play.

Consistency is the name of Wilson's insurance policy. Efficiency is another of his trademarks. Combine the two and one knows why he was BG's most efficient defensive back last season and a second-team selection on the Mid-American Conference football team as a junior.

In two seasons after becoming a starter his sophomore year, Wilson has allowed only three passes to be caught on him for TD's. He also went about the business of getting meaner and registered 60 stops last year with nine of them going for losses.

But even without the ink or headlines, the personable 6-1, 195-pound senior from Cleveland Glenville High School goes about his job with one goal in mind—to be the best.

"I'm just trying to be myself out there," Wilson said pointing to the field where he does much of his operating. "Playing the corner to me is an art because you are more different than any other player on the field.

"You can term it one of the more finesse positions on the field. I myself employ style in my type of play by being quick, cool, agile and smooth," Wilson said while trying to shade himself from the sun's rays.

The corner spot demands a lot from a player and an athlete must possess extreme confidence with a touch of cockiness because that's the type of position it is.

In many plays where the corner back is involved, he usually is the sole defender responsible for stopping the progress of a player with no immediate help. This is why he must think fast and react quick.

"A corner back is a team within a team. When you knock down a pass you have stymied the opposition's offense. The same goes for making a receiver catch a quick cold (coughing up a pass) on a sure reception or stringing out a sweep," Wilson asserted.

This is why Wilson really doesn't mind being shunned by the pad and pencil wags. Fans don't expect him to be superman every game.

"Those headlines don't make you a better athlete, it's how well you perform for 10 weeks on the field. That does the talking," he pointed out.

It's like the adage that many football mentors tell their troops. The players and hitters don't go unnoticed.

Goals are the stepping blocks Wilson is following as he prepares himself for his last go round. Personal improvement, a team championship, and a shot at professional football fill the priority list.

To some it may be like panning for gold but to Wilson the nuggets are in sight and can very well be accomplished by what he labels hard work.

Especially in his case. Because no matter how tough the situation is, like a good neighbor, Myron Wilson will be there.
It's the real thing. Coke.

After three hours in hard wooden seats, spilled mustard and a roaring crowd, recuperate in Monte Carlo.

A football stadium is a great place to spend a Saturday afternoon in autumn. But, after the game, you’re ready for some peace and quiet, some comfort and some elegance.

That’s why the Monte Carlo is a great place to spend a Saturday evening in autumn. Monte Carlo’s radial-tuned suspension is designed to let you enjoy the advantages of its steel-belted radial ply tires.

The result is the kind of confident handling and comfortable ride you might expect from a fine personal luxury car.

Power disc/drum brakes and variable-ratio power steering are standard, of course. Because it just wouldn’t be a Monte Carlo without them.

When you’re ready to leave the roaring crowd behind, get behind the wheel of a 1974 Monte Carlo by Chevrolet.

HITCHENS' BEAT GOES ON

by DAVE YOUNG
Miami Sports Information Director

Bob Hitchens and John Pont have two things in common. Both have left their names in Miami's football record book and have done so in dramatic fashion.

Now head football coach at Northwestern, Pont began his collegiate career at Miami by returning the opening kickoff 96 yards for a touchdown to signal the start of a legendary career. From 1949-51, Pont established many records, but the two biggest were 27 touchdowns and 2,390 rushing yards. His number 42 is the only football jersey to be retired at Miami.

But records are made to be broken and in the final game of his junior season against Cincinnati, Hitchens surpassed both of Pont's records. In two years Hitchens has gained 2,527 yards and scored 28 touchdowns. Hitchens' record-breaking touchdown came on a 71-yard scamper against the Bearcats.

"Quite naturally an athlete is aware of where he stands in the record book in regard to other names, and even more so after his playing days are over," remarked Pont. "Of greater importance, however, is the fact that the yardage Bob has gained has contributed greatly to Miami's continued success. This to me is of prime importance. Bob's accomplishment speaks well for him and the fact that he wishes to represent Miami and does so with dedication and intense effort."

"I feel honored to have broken the records of such a great man as Coach Pont," a jubilant, yet humble Hitchens remarked. "However, the credit goes to my teammates. They are the ones that have made it all possible."

Three years ago Hitchens, who hails from Urbancrest (a suburb of Columbus, O.), decided on Miami out of 80 offers from other schools. "I had narrowed it down to Miami, Ohio State and Michigan," stated Hitchens. "But I finally selected Miami because I thought I would have a better chance of playing. Also, I would like to play professional football and then coach following graduation, and Miami has a national reputation for coaches."

A 5-10, 205-pound tailback, Hitchens set single-season records for Miami two years ago with 1,157 yards in 271 carries. He also scored 13 touchdowns, just one short of the season record.

Last season Hitchens again established new season marks by carrying the ball 326 times for 1,370 yards and 15 touchdowns.

Against South Carolina last season Hitchens established a Miami record with 45 carries for 218 yards. Following the game, Paul Dietzel, a graduate of Miami's "Cradle of Coaches" and now head football coach at South Carolina, remarked: "Hitchens is a fine football player. We won't see many, if any, better than him. Time after time we hit him at the line of scrimmage only to have him spin off and gain five yards."

For his performance in helping lead Miami to a 21-8 win over South Carolina, Hitchens was selected to the UPI "Backfield of the Week" and was honored for the fourth time in the Mid-American Conference as the "Offensive Player of the Week." Hitchens has been selected first team all-MAC the last two years and was voted the MAC "Offensive Player of the Year" last season.

Is there a doctor in the band?
This year there is, but he will not be of much help to the bandsmen with sore muscles and tired feet. His tools are not the stethoscope or thermometer and his prescriptions cannot be filled by a pharmacist.

His name is Dr. Jon R. Piersol and he is assistant director of the Falcon Marching Band. Dr. Piersol mixes 170 bandsmen, a 100-yard gridiron, a kaleidoscopic mind, and a Saturday afternoon into the finest halftime drills in the MAC. Dr. Piersol creates the drills performed by the Falcon Band.

Observing the precision drills leaves little doubt about the marching band knowledge possessed by this man. When one understands the planning and execution of the same, he can only have the deepest respect for Dr. Piersol and his work.

Band Notes

By Rick Brechmacher

Work on a drill begins by selecting the music which the band will perform. Dr. Piersol then considers which kind of drill would work the best with the music. The possibilities are many, but consist mainly of circles, blocks, patterns, or dance steps.

After the music and basic drill idea have been decided on, he begins to put it down on “the charts.” The charts are diagrams of a football grid on which a dot is placed for each bandsman on the field. He must locate each bandsman, in each position of the drill, and then figure out how each person will get from one spot to the next. As any bandsman will tell you, this is no easy task.

Dr. Piersol meets with the student squad leaders each week to explain the drill to them, and they, in turn, explain it to each person on the field. The time has come to take the idea off the paper and put it into action on the field. He rehearses the band as it slowly, but surely, moves through the routine. When the band performs the drill on Saturday afternoon, it is a tribute to the master-minded brilliance of Dr. Piersol.

Dr. Piersol received his B.A. and Ph.D. in Music from the University of Iowa. He taught music in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Morrison, Illinois, before coming to Bowling Green in 1969. At the B.G. School of Music, he conducts the Concert Bands, teaches clarinet, graduate classes and is a student teaching supervisor.

Getting into his work is important to Dr. Piersol, as he can usually be found hard at work, discussing halftime drills, listening to rehearsal tapes, or discussing schedules with students.

In his leisure time, Dr. Piersol is a staunch supporter of the Toledo Mud Hens and the Detroit Tigers. When football season arrives, he turns his attention to the BG Falcons, Iowa Hawkeyes and the Chicago Bears.

Dr. Piersol is a Phi Beta Kappa and a member of Omicron Delta Kappa. He is advisor for BGSU’s Chapter of Kappa Kappa Psi, National Band Fraternity. He and his wife, Melissa, are proud of their 2½ year-old daughter, Kara.

By listening to Jon Piersol, explaining his work, or just talking with him in an informal situation, one can only be impressed with the sincerity he has for everyone he meets and the dedication he has for his work. Dr. Jon Piersol’s operation is indeed a success.
EVERYONE WINS AT SHRINE BOWL

When the cheering at an athletic contest has faded away and the participants have left the field, often spectators leave with a feeling of disappointment.

It won’t be that way, however, when 56 Ohio college All-Stars take the field on December 1, at the Ohio State University Stadium for the Second Annual All Ohio Shrine Bowl.

PLAYER SUPPORT
One of the stars in last year’s All Ohio Shrine Bowl, who was selected in the 1973 National Football League player draft, issued a statement last week urging support of this year’s game.

Ron Jaworski, the Youngstown State quarterback who led the East squad to a 20-7 victory feels he owes something to the Shrine Bowl.

"The game did wonders for my confidence," said Jaworski, a second round draft choice of the Los Angeles Rams, "and I believe it helped me to be a more relaxed and confident player in the Senior Bowl a month later.

"My lifetime goal has always been to be a professional athlete and the Shrine Bowl was a major step in helping me achieve my goal. One of the biggest reasons was the number of pro scouts at the game. I am deeply indebted to the Ohio Shrine Association and will always be grateful for the opportunity to play in such a gratifying affair. My thanks."

$80,000 GOAL
Officials of the Second Annual All Ohio Shrine Bowl have set a goal of $80,000 to be raised by the game which benefits the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children, the Cincinnati Burns Institute.

Last year the contest netted $40,000, and Shriners have charged themselves with the responsibility of doubling that amount this year.

Katheryn Berry, administrator of the Cincinnati Burns Institute, has issued a statement pointing out the importance of the Bowl as a fund raising effort.

"An intensive care hospital such as the Cincinnati Burns Institute cannot operate without adequate nursing and support personnel," Berry said.

"There are nearly 200 employees on the staff of the Cincinnati unit and payroll costs alone are a large portion of the budget.

"Certainly the All Ohio Shrine Bowl has played a major role in providing this much needed money."

Last year, the game raised $40,000 for the Cincinnati Burns Institute and, for this reason, there are no losers.

Some of the “winners”, however, are already known. Although NCAA rules forbid naming All-Stars until after the last game of the season, coaches for the East-West teams have been named.

Byron "By" Morgan, head coach at Findlay College, will coach the East squad, while Fred Martinelli, head coach of Ashland College, will be top mentor for the West. Assisting Morgan will be Don James of Kent State, Al Christopher of Muskingum and Phil Morse, Kenyon. Martinelli’s staff includes Pete Riesen of Heidelberg, Don Nehlen, Bowling Green, and George Hill of Ohio State.

The 17 colleges represented by players on the East team are: Kent, Ohio University, Oberlin, Otterbein, Marietta, Hiram, Cincinnati, Youngstown, Findlay, Case Western Reserve, John Carroll, Baldwin-Wallace, Muskingum, Mt. Union, Wooster, Kenyon and Akron.

The West squad, representing 16 colleges, includes players from Bowling Green, Miami, Toledo, Defiance, Bluffton, Wilmington, Ashland, Dayton, Xaxier, Ohio Northern, Central State, Wittenberg, Heidelberg, Wesleyan, Capital and Denison.

Ohio State will be represented on each squad by no more than three players.

So, on December 1, come or send your best wishes to the game in Columbus where everyone leaves a winner.

TV NETWORK
Nine major television stations, with coverage areas reaching the entire state of Ohio and into neighboring states, will air the live color telecast of Shrine Bowl.

Television coverage will begin that Saturday at 12:30 p.m., with a parade, Shrine pageantry, a coaches corner and player introductions.

The television stations carrying the game are: WCPO, Cincinnati; WHIO, Dayton; WBNS, Columbus; WSPD, Toledo; WHIZ, Zanesville; WJW, Cleveland; WFMJ, Youngstown; WTV, Steubenville; and WTAP, Marietta-Parkersburg.
Bowling Green State University’s fraternity and sorority houses have bright new faces this fall — and new insides, too.

As part of a $1.95 million renovation project the small-group living units (which includes the University’s French House) were totally renovated and redecorated this summer, to make them more liveable and enjoyable for residents.

Gone are the poor lighting, drafts and “not enough water,” as the units were totally re-wired and given new heating and plumbing systems. Some houses even got new roofs.

The renovated and redecorated houses are only part of “the good life” of the Greek system at Bowling Green.

Bowling Green’s Greek system didn’t experience the sharp drop in membership that hit other large campuses during the late 1960s and into 1970, although there was a decrease during 1969-70 in the number of men and women being pledged.

Since then, the number of men being pledged has increased, according to Tim Smith, assistant dean for fraternity affairs. In 1973, 200 more men were pledged than in 1972, and 350 more than in 1971.

And while the numbers of women going through rush has dropped off since the mid-60s, the percentage of women who pledge after going through rush has increased. In last spring’s rush, according to Linda Ogden, assistant dean for sorority affairs, 50 per cent of the women going through elected to pledge.

Today the 12 sororities and 21 fraternities have some 2,000 members. There is a fraternity colony on campus, and two sororities are expected to colonize this year. Other national organizations have approached the University about starting colonies.

The system has undergone some changes over its 31-year history. Hazing and grueling pledgeships are a thing of the past, as fraternities concentrate on scholarship and service projects, and on making the pledge part of the house.

Sororities are emphasizing the serious side of pledgeship, with fewer senseless requirements.

Rush has also changed. Fraternity rush has become more relaxed, with more emphasis on giving the rusher the straight story. Additionally, fraternities maintain an open rush system, whereby a man may pledge at any time during the year.

Sorority rush has lost the formal, superficial atmosphere, in favor of spending more time getting to know each other. Expensive favors, fancy decorations and lavish entertaining are gone, and the rush period has been lengthened to provide for deepening relationships.

Today's Greeks are also strongly involved in community and campus service projects, as well as holding Student Body Organization offices, working on Homecoming and Mardi Gras, and participating in clubs, honoraries, sports and cheerleading.

The list of service projects that Greeks have undertaken during the past year is lengthy and includes sponsoring food drives for the needy, collecting for CROP and other charities, donating funds to Wood Lane School, sponsoring a marathon to raise money for the medical ship HOPE, working on voter registration drives, stuffing envelopes for the Easter Seal Campaign, sponsoring Easter egg hunts and parties for orphans, giving campus tours, serving as crossing guards at Halloween, and on, and on.

The system is obviously strong, and active, and it benefits both the members and the University.

"Greeks are active and so are supportive alumni," said Mrs. Ogden, who added that small group living, including the voluntary commitment made by the Greeks, is a valuable alternative lifestyle for the University to be able to offer.

Mr. Smith agreed, noting that "there will always be a need for this type of organization. They say 'No man is an island' and they're right."

One Greek summed it all up, saying "Being a Greek means something different to each individual, but it does mean something to everyone. It makes Bowling Green not just a place where you go for four years to get a degree, but a home, a good experience, something you'll always remember."

WELCOME TO HOMECOMING

To all of Bowling Green's alumni who have returned to the campus for this special day, I would like to extend a very special welcome. Homecoming is still a very wonderful tradition. Each year thousands of graduates return to see old friends, stroll the campus, socialize and cheer the Falcons on to victory. Many alumni will be enjoying special reunion celebrations—this year the classes of 1923 (Golden Anniversary), 1933, 1943, 1948 (Silver Anniversary), 1953, and 1963 will be honored.

Homecoming officially began yesterday with our third annual 'Alumni-Faculty Day.' Over 35 alumni were here to teach classes and offer personal career guidance to our students. To these one-day 'faculty members,' our sincere thanks!!

Another special group at today's game is Bowling Green's former cheerleaders. They are holding their first reunion. I am sure our cheering section today will be even more lively due to their presence.

This evening, over 400 alumni and guests will gather at the Perrysburg Holiday Inn for the "Homecoming Candlelight Dinner." This is an event which we hope will become a highlight of Homecoming weekend. I hope to see you there.

Although Homecoming is the traditional time for alumni to return to their Alma Mater—we want you to know that you are welcome on campus at any time—come back often—and when you can't make it back, keep us posted on what you are doing and where you are. You are a member of a very select group—the Alumni of Bowling Green State University.

Alumni Service Award

At halftime today, the Bowling Green State University Alumni Association will be presenting its 10th Alumni Service Award. This award is made annually to an alumnus who has given freely of his or her time and talent in helping to build the Alumni Association.

Gordon "Skip" Ward since his graduation in 1948 has been active in almost every phase of the Alumni Association program. He served two terms on the Alumni Association Board of Trustees, 1957-1960 and 1962-1965. He was elected President of the Board in 1958-59. He was instrumental in writing the current Bylaws and Articles of Incorporation of the Association.

Skip has served on many Alumni Committees and has been a leader of the Alumni Club of Greater Toledo. He has been very active in community affairs in the Toledo area and is well known to people throughout Northwestern Ohio as a newsreader on WSPD-TV.

The Alumni Association is proud to honor a loyal alumnus—Gordon "Skip" Ward.

With the addition of four new teams to the Mid-American Conference over the past two years — Central Michigan University and Eastern Michigan University in July of 1971, and Northern Illinois University and Ball State University earlier this year — the first question that arises in many minds is: "When are the new teams eligible for Conference championship competition?"

Two basic criteria were used in arriving at those dates. First was the scheduling in the team sports of football, basketball, and baseball, and the second point was bringing the new schools’ scholarship programs into line (by either adding or deleting, whichever the individual case may require) with Conference minimums and maximums.

In football, both Central and Eastern Michigan will join the title chase in 1976. Currently every effort is being made to adjust the schedules of the MAC teams to permit both Ball State and Northern Illinois to compete for the gridiron crown the following year.

Fred Jacoby, MAC commissioner points out, "Most football schedules are made well in advance . . . some as many as 10-15 years ahead of time. When you start changing schedules, you set off a chain reaction of problems for many teams. For example, if you were to ask one of the institutions currently competing for the title to either drop or change dates with a non-conference opponent to accommodate the MAC team, then that non-conference team must in turn change dates with someone else or add another game and so on. The same might be true with the new MAC team trying to schedule one of the schools now competing for the championship.

"So it's a problem that is not easily nor quickly solved, but we are working on it." Commissioner Jacoby concludes.

Basketball fans will enjoy a seven-team Mid-American Conference race this winter as Central Michigan joins intra-state foe Western Michigan and the five Ohio schools — Toledo, Bowling Green, Kent State, Miami, and Ohio — in seeking the league crown and the right to move into NCAA tournament play.

Next year, 1974-75, Eastern Michigan will become eligible for the conference basketball championship, with Ball State and Northern Illinois making the cage race a ten-team affair the following year, 1975-76.

Baseball is joined by two other sports in that all ten teams will be seeking conference title honors this school year. The other two sports will be cross country this fall and track next spring.

Three of the new institutions — Central Michigan, Eastern Michigan, and Northern Illinois — will compete for conference swimming laurels this winter, with Ball State joining the conference meet next year. The same schedule holds true for golf and tennis.

There will be three of the four new institutions joining the "veteran six" in the wrestling championship meet this winter. Ball State, Central Michigan, and Eastern Michigan will all compete for wrestling honors this season, while Northern Illinois will join the grapplers next season.

In summary, the football race this fall will involve six teams (Bowling Green, Kent State, Miami, Ohio, Toledo, and Western Michigan) while Central Michigan will join those clubs to create a seven-team title chase in basketball this winter.

There will be nine teams vying for championships in swimming, golf, and tennis (with only Ball State missing) and in wrestling (with Northern Illinois waiting a year), while the cross country, baseball, and track championships this year will be ten-team affairs.

By schools, the effective school years of conference championship competition are:

BALL STATE — This school year in cross country, wrestling, baseball, and track; 1974-75 school year in swimming, golf, and tennis; 1975-76 school year in basketball; and hopefully 1977 in football.

CENTRAL MICHIGAN — This school year in cross country, basketball, swimming, wrestling, baseball, track, golf, and tennis; and 1976 in football.

EASTERN MICHIGAN — This school year in cross country, swimming, wrestling, baseball, track, golf, and tennis; 1974-75 school year in basketball; and 1976 in football.

NORTHERN ILLINOIS — This school year in cross country, swimming, baseball, golf, track, and tennis; 1974-75 school year in wrestling; 1975-76 school year in basketball and hopefully 1977 in football.

NATIONAL SPOTLIGHT SHINES BRIGHTLY ON FALCONS

Thanks to a golf cap and a front yard goal post, Bowling Green State University reached a new level of national athletic achievement in 1972-73 as millions of people suddenly realized that Bowling Green, Ohio, and Bowling Green, Kentucky are two different spots on the map.

Not since the days of being a college-division football power and the Harold Anderson era of basketball in the 1950's and 1960's has Bowling Green been in the national spotlight as much as the Falcons were during the 1972-73 athletic seasons.

It started with a golf cap which went along for the ride when Dave Wottle shocked the track world by setting a world record at the Olympic Trials and then capturing the gold medal in the 800 meters at Munich.

The story continued two weeks later in September when freshman Don Taylor climaxed a superlative team effort in football by kicking a 27-yard field goal to upset Purdue, 17-14, for what stands as the greatest 27-yard field goal to upset Purdue, 17-14, for what stands as the greatest win in Bowling Green grid history. It was a regulation goal post in Taylor's front yard in North Canton that got Coach Don Nehlen interested even though Taylor had missed all five of his field goal attempts as a high school senior.

Purdue was not the only Big Ten team that fell before the Falcons as BG defeated nine Big Ten opponents in 12 contests during the year.

Of course there were other highlights.

Football saw a junior-dominated team finish second for the second straight year in the Mid-American Conference and post wins for the third time in the last four years over rivals Miami and Ohio University. Even more satisfying was the 19-7 win over arch-rival Toledo.

The soccer team enjoyed its best-ever season (7-2-3) as the booters turned into Scrooges by handing out a miserly five goals in their final eight games. Fullback Dave Dyminski became BG's first All-America in soccer and the Falcons were invited to their first national tournament where they lost a 2-0 decision to NCAA champion St. Louis.

Paced by All-America Craig McDonald's 12th place finish, the powerful cross country team placed among the top ten teams in the nation for the fourth straight year by finishing sixth. BG also won the Notre Dame Invitational for the third and the Central Collegiate Conference for the second year in a row.

Basketball showed signs of becoming a national power again as Coach Pat Haley took the Falcons to second place in the MAC with three sophomores in the starting lineup. One of them was 6-8 Cornelius Cash who rattled the boards for over 15 rebounds a game to rank as the leading forward rebounder in the nation.

The hockey team continued on its pattern of winning a championship every year as the icers captured the Central Collegiate Hockey Association post-season tournament. In an up-and-down year, the puckmen were up for wins over Notre Dame, New Hampshire, Providence and RPI.

Both the swimming and wrestling squad enjoyed winning campaigns with the grapplers gaining their 19th straight non-losing season under Coach Bruce Bellard and the tankers recorded their best season in five years as sprinter Joe Klebowski went undefeated and captured the MAC 50-yard freestyle.

Indoor track was Wottle country as he won the NCAA indoor mile championship to become a six-time All-America.

The spring season produced BC's only Mid-American Conference title of the year as the golf team annexed its second straight crown with two freshmen, two sophomores and a junior in the lineup. The same quintet then led BG to 23rd place in the NCAA Championships.

Senior Tom Lightvoet capped a sensational tennis career by winning the coveted first singles championship in the MAC and followed it up by scoring a first-round victory in the NCAA tournament. His effort marked only the second time in history that the Falcons had scored in national play.

For the second straight year, the powerful lacrosse team reached the quarterfinals of the USILA national tournament thanks to an upset win at Denison which broke a long home-field winning streak. Bob Decker and Mike Wilcox were Little All-America choices.

Baseball got caught in a Miami whirlwind which swept a three-game set and spun the Falcons into fourth place in the MAC after winning the title in 1972. All-league shortstop Gary Haas batted a rousing .397 in league play to highlight the 19-20-1 year.

In his final season, Wottle key-noted the outdoor track campaign as he won the 880 and mile run for the third time in the MAC and successfully defended his NCAA mile title. BG's Senior Athlete Of The Year also anchored the four-mile relay team which won titles and set records at the Kentucky, Kansas and Drake Relays in addition to setting an American record of 16:19.6 for the event.

Only a runner-up finish to Miami in the MAC all-sports race kept the year from being even more outstanding. Perhaps the 1973-74 campaign can correct that minor problem.

BASKETBALL

Things will really be looking up for Bowling Green's basketball team in 1973-74. The skyward look starts with a potential starting front line averaging 6-10 and ends with the analysis that Bowling Green will be a definite contender for the Mid-American Conference championship.

Coach Pat Haley's young Falcons, which tied Toledo for second place in the league behind Miami last season during a 13-13 campaign, will return four starters from that club headed by junior jumper Cornelius Cash. The 6-8 forward was all-league first team as a sophomore and an honorable mention All-America pick of Basketball Weekly while ranking eighth in the nation with a 15.2 rebounding average. "June" also led BG in scoring with an 18-point average.

The Falcons also return 6-6 Brian Scanlan, a second-team all-MAC pick at forward, 6-10 center Skip Howard and 6-0 floor general Jeff Montgomery. All four players averaged more than 12 points a game last season.

Haley's big front line next season centers around the arrival of 7-0 Mark Cartwright, who is regarded as an excellent scorer. Haley is also high on 6-3 guard Greg Wilson. Also expected to figure in the plans are guards Dick Selgo and Jack Wissman, a pair of deadly shooters who were part-time starters until shelved for the year with injuries.

HOCKEY

New coach Ron Mason, a veteran team and another demanding schedule are the ingredients which should make the 1973-74 hockey season the most exciting in Bowling Green's brief five-year experience as a varsity team.

Mason, who coached Lake Superior State to a sensational 128-47-8 record in seven seasons, will join 15 returning lettermen headed by senior captain Mike Bartley in a drive to keep BG's "championship" seasons alive as the Falcons try to improve on last year's 16-19 record against many of the top hockey powers in the nation.

In their first four years of varsity play, the Falcons brought home titles in the Midwest Collegiate Hockey Association in 1970 and 1971, the Cleveland Cup crown in 1972, and the Central Collegiate Hockey Association Tournament title in 1973.

Bartley enters his fourth season as BG's most prolific scorer in history. In three seasons, the 5-9, 175-pound speedster from Sarnia, Ont., has scored 93 goals in 99 games while adding 74 assists for 167 points.

Junior Bob Dobek also boasts firepower at center after notching a team-leading 63 points in his first year with BG. Sophomores John Stewart (20-31-51) and Rich Nagai (18-19-37), give the Falcons four of last year's leading six scorers.

Junior Roger Archer, who seems to spend half his games on his knees blocking shots, has made All-CCHA first teams for the last two years.

ALL-AMERICAS KEY FALL SQUADS

All-Americas Craig Macdonald and Dave Dyminski will be marked men this fall as Bowling Green's high-powered cross country and soccer teams try to improve on last year's spectacular success that included qualifying for NCAA championship events.

After following in the footsteps of Sid Sink and Dave Wottle for two years, Macdonald cast his 5-11, 135-pound frame out of their shadows last year to place 12th in the NCAA meet while winning the All-Ohio and Central Collegiate titles.

The Setauket, N.Y., senior won't be the only standout for the Falcons who finished among the nation's top ten teams for the fourth straight year under Coach Mel Brodt. Being called upon to replace four-year veterans Steve Danforth and Tracy Elliott are senior Rick Schnittker, juniors Bruce Vermilyea and Tom Preston and freshmen Dan McFarland and Joe Meringolo. Depth will come from a 43-man roster attracted to campus by a 33-4 record and nine major team championships in the last four years.

Belonging in the same spotlight with cross country will be the veteran soccer team of Coach Mickey Cochran which returns 10 starters from its best team in history (7-2-3).

Dyminski, the tall man on the team at 6-3, became BG's first All-America selection in soccer as the competitive center fullback sparked a tenacious defense which gave up only five goals in the final eight games. Two of the tallies were posted by NCAA champ St. Louis in the first round of the playoffs.

Other standouts include career goal-scoring leader Warren Heede, quick-footed Rich Cotton, fullback Paul Wayne and goalie Gary Palmisano. But soccer is a team game and that's where the Falcons really stand out and get the job done.

WINTER ACTION HEAVY ON ALL FRONTS

Missing in action.

That's the tearful and sometimes justifiable lament of those Bowling Green athletes who grapple, stroke and run in circles each winter season in their own, quiet successful way.

But the real persons missing the action are those fans who don't find time to track down the exploits of the Falcon wrestling, swimming and indoor track teams at least once or twice from December through March.

Not that it isn't a challenge.

The wrestling team hides out in Anderson Arena and usually can be found only on Saturday afternoons doing their thing which has produced 19 consecutive non-losing seasons. But this winter is a bit different with the exciting Mid-American Conference wrestling championships scheduled for the arena on March 1-2. The Falcons also expect to be improved over last year's 7-4 record with a returning starter available at every position. Of interest is 190-pounder Dave Wolfe who needs only four wins to become BG's all-time winningest wrestler.

After being submerged for four years, the swimmers surfaced last season for a fine 7-5 log while finishing a two-year project of breaking every school record in the books. The BGSU natatorium waters should churn even faster this season with a veteran crew headed by MAC 50-yard freestyle king Joe Klebowski and distance ace Dave Ryland from Bowling Green.

People are still looking for BG's indoor track which has spawned a team that finished second and 15th in the national championships the last two years. They won't find one since the Falcons run their entire schedule away from home. The wondering nomads will appear at such exotic spots as Houston, Detroit, Kalamazoo and Cleveland this winter. Catch them if you can.

SPRING SPORTS FEATURE YOUTHFUL EXPERIENCE

With an apology to Florida, the fountain of youth will be bubbling over at Bowling Green this spring when the baseball, golf, lacrosse, tennis and track teams turn the University athletic fields into a five-ring circus.

Baseball leads off with a trio of sophomore pitchers who received their baptism as freshmen last season. The threesome of righthander Kip Young and lefthanders Mike Hale and Romie Schwieterman started 16 games and worked 90 innings. Young was the top winner on the staff with a 5-2 record.

Coach Don Purvis can also blend some age and experience into his starting rotation with big Dan Hebel throwing darts along with senior Mike Frilling who owns a 10-5 lifetime record. Ace reliever Ric Richmond also returns with a staff-leading 2.25 earned run average. The experience totals out to more than 250 innings worked last season.

With a veteran mound staff returning, Purvis is confident that the Falcons can be a contender for the conference title they won in 1972. If the bats start to boom again after a so-so year and a .265 team mark, the fountain of youth will be bubbling for the third straight year.

One big bat available belongs to Gary “Grandpa” Haas, the all-league shortstop who carries All-America credentials. The fountain of youth flowed over for the 26-year-old infielder last season when he paced the team with a solid .364 batting average from his lead-off spot. He was even more impressive in league games as he batted .397 to raise his lifetime conference average to .379.

Young blood in the Bowling Green lacrosse camp starts with crew-cut coach Mickey Cochrane and ends with 15 returning lettermen who will be either sophomores or juniors next spring. Word also has it that BG had an excellent recruiting year.

Junior Verne Zabek, a second-team All-Midwest selection, heads up the offensive show as one of the top assist artists in the nation. In two seasons, Zabek has tallied 75 assists in 26 games for a career record.

When it comes to defense, BG has one of the best in All-America Mike Wilcox, a hard-hitting junior who would rather knock down people instead of run over them. Wilcox also can score with a wicked underhand delivery that has netted 15 goals in two years.

With a 46-12 record over the last five years, the spring-football-with-sticks brigade will be out to gain a bid to the national USILA tournament for the third straight year.

Kids day will really be in vogue when the golfers and racketmen start swinging although the linksmen will be a very strong squad from an experience standpoint.

After winning its second straight Mid-American Conference championship and finishing 23rd among the nation’s best teams at the NCAA tournament with a junior, two sophomores and two freshmen in the lineup, BG’s veteran golf team could be even stronger in 1974.

Juniors Ken Walters, third in Ohio amateur this summer, and Mark McConnell, 62nd in the NCAA tournament, are the top shotmakers for coach John Piper’s swingers. Walters has finished third and second in the last two MAC tournaments and would like nothing better than to be first this spring.

Sophomores Steve Mossing and Ron Hartoin had great “rookie” years as the duo tied for fifth place at the MAC affair and averaged just over 77 shots a round. Senior Jim Smith, who puts left and plays right, will try to hold off a pair of excellent freshmen in Jim Decker, who won the Ohio Juniors championship this summer, and Bob Belmonte, who finished fourth in the Michigan district amateur.

Another “newcomer” to the BG golf scene will be the new nine-hole addition to the University golf course which may be the site of the first two rounds of the MAC tourney in May.

Tennis faces a rebuilding year with MAC champion Tom Lightvoet and two other seniors departing. However, Coach Bob Gill has landed some fine freshman talent headed by Richie Herbst, the 1973 Massachusetts high school champion. Sophomore Doug Dennis is the top returning netter after logging a 7-7 record at fourth singles during his first year.

Track will be Wotteless in 1974 but coach Mel Brodt will certainly not be talentless when the Falcons bid to regain the MAC title they lost to Kent State in 1973.

Seniors Craig Macdonald and Rick Schnittker will be among the best milers in the Midwest along with junior Bruce Vermilyea. All have run under 4:05 for the event. Senior Dave Pegley rates as the top returning hurdler in the MAC although an injury cost him a chance to successfully defend his MAC intermediate hurdles crown.

Sophomore Lewis Maci, the school record holder in the triple jump, heads up a veteran crew of field event performers. The spirit events loom as the team question mark.
