Monitor Newsletter April 22, 1991

Bowling Green State University

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarworks.bgsu.edu/monitor

Recommended Citation
https://scholarworks.bgsu.edu/monitor/178

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the University Publications at ScholarWorks@BGSU. It has been accepted for inclusion in Monitor by an authorized administrator of ScholarWorks@BGSU.
assentee ballots now are available on the campus or may be picked up at the Office of Student Activities, 372-5700.

Friday, April 19

National Library Week, "The Role of the Academic Library in Campus Reform and International Understanding," will be celebrated on April 19. The event will feature a keynote address by Roberta Cordis, director of the AASLH, at 10 a.m. in the Library Center. All are welcome to attend.

SERS meetings set

University employees who are members of the Public Employees Retirement System (PERS) who wish to learn more about retirement plans or to update personal information are invited to attend the SERS meetings set for April 21. The meetings will be held in the University Center, Room 103, from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

MBF programs addressed at lecture

Dr. John W. Robinson, dean of the College of Business Administration, will address the MBF programs addressed at lecture. He will discuss the MBF programs and MBF opportunities available at the University.

Monday, April 22

The MBF programs addressed at lecture will be held in the University Center, Room 103, from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Obluity

Rachel D. Tyson

Rachel D. Tyson, 51st Secretary, University of Pittsburgh, died March 4 at 10:30 a.m. in her home in Pittsburgh. She was a founding member of the University's African American Women's Center. She is survived by her husband, William Tyson, and a son, John Tyson.

Students to speak on topic of ethnicity

Faculty and staff are invited to hear about the "University of Pittsburgh's Commitment to Diversity," which will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the University Center, Room 103. The program will feature a keynote address by Roberta Cordis, director of the AASLH, and a panel discussion on diversity in higher education.

Turn in your waivers

Faculty and staff are reminded to complete and submit their employee health insurance contracts for the upcoming fiscal year.

Absentee ballots now are available on the campus or may be picked up at the Office of Student Activities, 372-5700.
Ralph Wolfe receives college's 1991 Alumni of the Year award

Dr. Ralph Wolfe, English, has been named the 1991 Alumni of the Year by the University. The award is given annually to an employee of the university for outstanding service. Wolfe has served as the director of English at the University since 1986.

In addition to his teaching duties, Wolfe has served as chair of the Department of English. He is also a past president of the Alumni Association. Wolfe has also served as president of the North Carolina Public Library Board of Directors and was last year president of the Association of English Departments.

Student rights to be Paulsen Lecture topic

Dr. Ralph Wolfe, English, has been named the 1991 Alumni of the Year by the University. The award is given annually to an employee of the university for outstanding service. Wolfe has served as the director of English at the University since 1986.

In addition to his teaching duties, Wolfe has served as chair of the Department of English. He is also a past president of the Alumni Association. Wolfe has also served as president of the North Carolina Public Library Board of Directors and was last year president of the Association of English Departments.

Student rights to be Paulsen Lecture topic

Dr. Ralph Wolfe, English, has been named the 1991 Alumni of the Year by the University. The award is given annually to an employee of the university for outstanding service. Wolfe has served as the director of English at the University since 1986.

In addition to his teaching duties, Wolfe has served as chair of the Department of English. He is also a past president of the Alumni Association. Wolfe has also served as president of the North Carolina Public Library Board of Directors and was last year president of the Association of English Departments.

Student rights to be Paulsen Lecture topic

Dr. Ralph Wolfe, English, has been named the 1991 Alumni of the Year by the University. The award is given annually to an employee of the university for outstanding service. Wolfe has served as the director of English at the University since 1986.

In addition to his teaching duties, Wolfe has served as chair of the Department of English. He is also a past president of the Alumni Association. Wolfe has also served as president of the North Carolina Public Library Board of Directors and was last year president of the Association of English Departments.

Student rights to be Paulsen Lecture topic

Dr. Ralph Wolfe, English, has been named the 1991 Alumni of the Year by the University. The award is given annually to an employee of the university for outstanding service. Wolfe has served as the director of English at the University since 1986.

In addition to his teaching duties, Wolfe has served as chair of the Department of English. He is also a past president of the Alumni Association. Wolfe has also served as president of the North Carolina Public Library Board of Directors and was last year president of the Association of English Departments.

Student rights to be Paulsen Lecture topic

Dr. Ralph Wolfe, English, has been named the 1991 Alumni of the Year by the University. The award is given annually to an employee of the university for outstanding service. Wolfe has served as the director of English at the University since 1986.

In addition to his teaching duties, Wolfe has served as chair of the Department of English. He is also a past president of the Alumni Association. Wolfe has also served as president of the North Carolina Public Library Board of Directors and was last year president of the Association of English Departments.

Student rights to be Paulsen Lecture topic

Dr. Ralph Wolfe, English, has been named the 1991 Alumni of the Year by the University. The award is given annually to an employee of the university for outstanding service. Wolfe has served as the director of English at the University since 1986.

In addition to his teaching duties, Wolfe has served as chair of the Department of English. He is also a past president of the Alumni Association. Wolfe has also served as president of the North Carolina Public Library Board of Directors and was last year president of the Association of English Departments.

Student rights to be Paulsen Lecture topic

Dr. Ralph Wolfe, English, has been named the 1991 Alumni of the Year by the University. The award is given annually to an employee of the university for outstanding service. Wolfe has served as the director of English at the University since 1986.

In addition to his teaching duties, Wolfe has served as chair of the Department of English. He is also a past president of the Alumni Association. Wolfe has also served as president of the North Carolina Public Library Board of Directors and was last year president of the Association of English Departments.

Student rights to be Paulsen Lecture topic

Dr. Ralph Wolfe, English, has been named the 1991 Alumni of the Year by the University. The award is given annually to an employee of the university for outstanding service. Wolfe has served as the director of English at the University since 1986.

In addition to his teaching duties, Wolfe has served as chair of the Department of English. He is also a past president of the Alumni Association. Wolfe has also served as president of the North Carolina Public Library Board of Directors and was last year president of the Association of English Departments.

Student rights to be Paulsen Lecture topic

Dr. Ralph Wolfe, English, has been named the 1991 Alumni of the Year by the University. The award is given annually to an employee of the university for outstanding service. Wolfe has served as the director of English at the University since 1986.

In addition to his teaching duties, Wolfe has served as chair of the Department of English. He is also a past president of the Alumni Association. Wolfe has also served as president of the North Carolina Public Library Board of Directors and was last year president of the Association of English Departments.

Student rights to be Paulsen Lecture topic

Dr. Ralph Wolfe, English, has been named the 1991 Alumni of the Year by the University. The award is given annually to an employee of the university for outstanding service. Wolfe has served as the director of English at the University since 1986.

In addition to his teaching duties, Wolfe has served as chair of the Department of English. He is also a past president of the Alumni Association. Wolfe has also served as president of the North Carolina Public Library Board of Directors and was last year president of the Association of English Departments.
Ralph Wolfe receives college’s 1991 Alumni of the Year award

Dr. Ralph Wolfe, English, has been named the College of Education and Allied Professions’ 1991 Alumni of the Year. Wolfe, current chair of the Department of English, was also a past chair of the College of Education and Allied Professions and served as a faculty member for nearly 30 years.

The Alumni Association of The University of Akron selected Wolfe to receive this year’s Alumni of the Year award for his outstanding contributions to the office of the University and the profession.

“Dr. Wolfe is a dedicated teacher, scholar, researcher, and community leader whose contributions to the College of Education and Allied Professions have been significant,” said Jon D. Anderson, president of The University of Akron. “He has served as a member of the faculty since 1964 and, during his tenure, has been an active participant in every area of the College’s mission and success.”

Wolfe is currently the chair of the Department of English and has served in various capacities within the College of Education and Allied Professions, including as a member of the Board of Visitors. He has also served as a visiting professor at other institutions, including Marshall University and West Virginia University.

As a scholar and researcher, Wolfe has published extensively in the areas of education and literacy, with a particular focus on the development of reading skills in children. His work has been recognized with numerous awards and honors, including the Distinguished Scholarly Achievement Award from the College of Education and Allied Professions and the Distinguished Faculty Service Award from the College of Education and Allied Professions.

In addition to his teaching duties, Wolfe has also served as a member of the Board of Education and as a member of the Board of Visitors. He has been involved in various community service projects, including as a member of the Board of Directors for the Akron Education Foundation and as a member of the Board of Directors for the Akron Children’s Hospital Foundation.

Dr. Wolfe is a member of the American Educational Research Association, the National Council of Teachers of English, and the American Association of University Professors. He is also a member of the Ohio Academy of Science and the Ohio State University Alumni Association.

Student rights are to be Pascal Lecture topic

A student rights hearing panel was held on April 14, 1991, to consider a complaint filed by a student against a professor in the College of Education and Allied Professions.

The complaint alleged that the professor had violated the student’s rights by denying the student access to course materials and refusing to provide accommodations for the student’s disability.

According to the complaint, the student, who has a learning disability, requested accommodations, including the use of a computer, from the professor. However, the professor refused to provide the accommodations, citing concerns about disturbing other students in the class.

The hearing panel found that the professor had violated the student’s rights by denying access to course materials and refusing to provide accommodations for the student’s disability. The panel ordered the professor to provide the requested accommodations and to provide the student with a copy of the complaint.

Deadline for bowling tournament

The College of Education and Allied Professions is holding its annual bowling tournament on April 26. The tournament is open to all students, faculty, and staff of the College.

The tournament will be held at the University Lanes, located at 1101 East Market Street. The tournament will begin at 10 a.m. and end at 4 p.m.

Nominations are being held to honor a classified staff member for outstanding work

Nominations are being held to honor a classified staff member for outstanding work.

The nominee should be a member of the University community who has made a significant contribution to the University’s success.

The nominee should have been employed by the University for at least 10 years and should be a model of excellence in their field.

The nominee should have demonstrated leadership and initiative in their work.

The nominee should have shown a commitment to professional development.

The nominee should have made significant contributions to the University community.

Pr-UFSA Training: Session: Problems

Pr-UFSA Training: Session: Problems

Breakfast topic focuses on the Middle East

The Breakfast topic focuses on the Middle East.

The topic is being held on April 26, 7 a.m. in the Alumni Center. The topic is being held to encourage interaction between students and faculty and to provide a forum for discussion of current events.

The topic will focus on the recent events in the Middle East and the impact of these events on the region and the world.

The topic will be held in the Alumni Center at 7 a.m. in the Alumni Center. The topic is being held to encourage interaction between students and faculty and to provide a forum for discussion of current events.

The topic will focus on the recent events in the Middle East and the impact of these events on the region and the world.

The topic will be held in the Alumni Center at 7 a.m. in the Alumni Center. The topic is being held to encourage interaction between students and faculty and to provide a forum for discussion of current events.

The topic will focus on the recent events in the Middle East and the impact of these events on the region and the world.

Classified staff give their approval to the Option I payment proposal

Members of the classified staff gave their approval to a new pay policy option at a special session last week that saw 772 employees stating their preference. There are three possible options, all of which guarantee that classified employees will receive a pay raise. The staff was represented at the meeting by David C. Welch, president of the non-profit employees' union.

At the meeting, Welch told the staff that the university's financial situation is better than expected and that the institution is prepared to offer a pay raise. The Options available are: Option I, Option II, and Option III. Option I is the most favorable to the staff, as it offers a higher pay raise than the other two options. The staff voted in favor of Option I by a margin of 664 to 98. The vote was conducted by a secret ballot.

The staff members who voted in favor of Option I were pleased with the outcome, and expressed gratitude to the university for their financial support. The staff is now looking forward to the implementation of the new pay policy, and is eager to see the benefits that it will bring.

The next step in the process is to notify the board of trustees of the staff's approval of Option I, and to begin negotiations with the university administration.

---

Monitor

Vol. XIV No. 40

April 29, 1991

---

Classified Employment Opportunities

Eligible List

List expires December 4, 1991. Apply to: Career Services, Bowling Green State University, 1100 West Blvd., Bowling Green, OH 43403.

Easy ride

Cook 1

Salary Range: $9,600-$11,000

Position: Cook is responsible for the preparation of food in the residence hall dining room. Experience and ability to perform the duties listed below, as well as an understanding of the need to adhere to the university's policies and procedures, is required. Experience in a similar position is preferred.

Easy ride

Cook 2

Salary Range: $9,600-$11,000

Position: Cook is responsible for the preparation of food in the residence hall dining room. Experience and ability to perform the duties listed below, as well as an understanding of the need to adhere to the university's policies and procedures, is required. Experience in a similar position is preferred.

Easy ride

Cook 3

Salary Range: $9,600-$11,000

Position: Cook is responsible for the preparation of food in the residence hall dining room. Experience and ability to perform the duties listed below, as well as an understanding of the need to adhere to the university's policies and procedures, is required. Experience in a similar position is preferred.

---

Classified Staff Council meeting

The Classified Staff Council will be meeting on April 29, 2021, at 3 p.m. in the Classified Staff Council Room, 1100 West Blvd., Bowling Green, OH. The meeting will be open to the public. For more information, contact David C. Welch at 419-372-8453.