THE FLICKER’S NEST

The Serpent Mound

To many people the Great Serpent Mound means a place to go. To others it means something to see, to examine closely and to consider. A world traveler has reminded us that there is but one Grand Canyon, and but one Great Serpent Mound. Since the second of these world famous attractions is in our own state, it would seem that informed teachers ought to know something about it. This famous mound, about which we can learn so little, is to be seen in Adams county, about six miles north of Peebles and five miles south of Sinking Springs in Highland county, overlooking Brush Creek.

Public attention was not generally attracted to a study of this structure until 1867 when Professor F. W. Putnam, of the Peabody museum of Cambridge, Mass., secured a sum of about $6,000 for its purchase and protection, since curio hunters were rapidly destroying it. This purchase included about seventy acres of land with the Mound, and a large number of lesser mounds now known as the "Serpent Mound Park". Let us look to Professor Putnam for details:

"The head of the serpent rests on a rocky platform which presents a precipitous face to the west, towards the creek, of about 100 feet in height. The jaws of the serpent’s mouth are widely extended in the act of trying to swallow an egg, represented by an oval enclosure about 12’ feet long and sixty feet wide. This enclosure consists of a ridge of earth about five feet high, and from eighteen to twenty feet broad. The body of the serpent winds gracefully back toward higher ground making four large folds before reaching the tail. The tail tapers gracefully and is twisted up in three complete and close coils. The height of the body of the serpent is four to five feet, and its greatest width is thirty feet across the neck. The whole length of the mound from the end of the egg on the precipice to the last coil of the tail is upwards of 1,300 feet."

Mr. Henry Howe the historian speaks of the location as follows:

"The Serpent Mound is not in a conspicuous place, but in a situation which seems rather to have been chosen for the privileges of sacred rites. The rising land towards the tail and back for a hundred rods afforded ample space for large gatherings. The view across the creek from the precipice near the head, and indeed from the whole area, is beautiful and impressive, but not very extensive."

YOUNG FALCONS WIN OPENER AGAINST T. U.

Coach Stellar’s baseball team composed of nearly all youngster were basking in the glories of a five to four victory over the Toledo Rockets last Friday afternoon.

Thurl Shupe the Canton boy who has starred in football and basketball for Bee Gee was the hero of the day, for his slugging accounted for four runs.

Radenaught and Yoder are the only former lettermen around which Coach Stellar has built what looks like a winning baseball team.

Ossie Pencheff southpawed for the first four innings in faultless style, but he tired in the fifth and the Rockets scored three times.

Thompson relieved him in the next frame and pitched shut out ball until the ninth when he began to weaken and Doyle Filiere downed what looked like T. U.’s winning rally.

The Falcons first spree came in the sixth. Filiere singled. All were safe on Perry’s perfect sacrifice bunt. Yoder sent a scorching grounder thru shortstop to score “Frenchie” and then Shupe came through with the long circuit clout, the ball landing near the goal posts at the opposite end of the field.

The game was won in the eighth. D. Filiere singled. All were safe on Perry’s sacrifice bunt when “Frenchie” beat the play at second. Filiere and Perry scoring on singles by Yoder and Shupe.

Ducket did a nice job of port siding for Toledo but permitted the Falcons to bunch five of their hits at opportune times to get enough runs to win.

The Falcons show much natural ability but need experience.

Here it is time for the dance again—Saturday evening is the date. A lot of the alumnae are coming, Richard’s Ramblers are to play, and on the whole we’ll have a grand time.

Last week the first degree was given to the following pledges: Nedra Reed, Helen Mae Park, Yvonne Michels, and Evelyn Shade.

Plans for next year have been discussed. We’re going to move farther south. Here’s hoping there is less rain there.
WHY?

Graduation is only a little more than six week away. We who are being graduated as well as the faculty will soon be asked to rent gowns appropriate for the occasion. In so doing a great deal of money will necessarily be spent. There are about 200 being graduated, along with perhaps 30 professors who will be present. Each person will have to expend perhaps $2.50 for a cap and gown. The cost will be nearly $600.

Why is it necessary that there be so much expended merely to give the people who come a show? Surely intelligence does not demand it. A person can know just as much and give his degree to him in just as genuine a manner if there be less of the folderol that goes with commencement. As far as the matter of buying new clothes is concerned, an argument which many will propose, those who are able will buy new gowns and suits anyhow, and those who aren't will not. There are none of the B. Green students who are so poverty stricken as to have improper clothing which the gowns must cover up for decency's sake. That leaves no reason other than the show part, which could be easily dispensed with.

The money saved would mean something to graduates who cannot find jobs. And in the aggregate it amounts to a great deal of money.

Why not dispense with them while times are so hard? Graduates, let's not lose any time in seeing to it that this needless ritual is for the time being done away.

Women's League Tea

Miss Vivian White, former president of Women's League, installed the following new officers, last Wednesday at four o'clock in Shatcel Annex: Monica Fay, president; Dorothy Carmichael, first vice president; Mildred Lantz, second vice president; Jane Ladd, secretary, and Linda Dill, treasurer.

Following the installation, a tea dance was sponsored by the Women's League. The college orchestra furnished the music. Despite the inclemency, many attired in their Easter frills were present. Tea and waferes were served from the flower-decorated table.

To the south, however, peaks may be seen ten or fifteen miles away which overlook the Ohio river and Kentucky hills, while at a slightly less distance to the north, in Pike and Highland counties are visible several of the highest points in the State."

It is very evident that the mound builders never expected curious people to come up into Serpent Mound Park by automobile. Even with improved roads it is a fairly difficult climb. It would seem to the writer that this park should never be visited hurriedly; but one should have time enough to think of this race of bygone years, and wonder at the stage of civilization to which they had advanced. Certainly we are more comfortable, but are we any happier than they? What will we leave for posterity by which our attainments may be judged? Will our works compare favorably with Great Serpent Mound?

TWO MUSIC PROGRAMS

Those making up the orchestra of the evening were: Don Armstrong, Sid Baron, Irene Urschel, Joe Miller, Merrill McEwen, Glen Craw, Virginia Bigelow, Seth Phillips, Charlie Church, Gordon Mummm, and Gene Witters.

Foreign Language Club

Members of the Foreign Language club were entertained Thursday afternoon by a program arranged by the German department. Edna Miller acted as chairman.

The group listened to two lovely folk songs, the Lorelli and the Erlikon. Then Edna Miller introduced the audience to some of the charming old castles which are situated along the fabled Rhine. All of these ruins have many delightful and romantic legends connected with them. Mary Silva told the story of the fabulous play, Wilhelm Tell. The introduction made up of three lyrics was heard. Following this the scene in which Tell shot the apple from his son's head was dramatized. Franklin Gottfried took the part of Gessler, Darvan Moosman that of Wilhelm Tell, David Cal- lin the role of the son, and Mary Silva, as Tell's wife, Bertha.

The next meeting will be of much interest to all departments. Slides will be shown and talks will accompany them. Also at this meeting election of officers will take place.

A Friend

A friend is one who can say much or little, as the time demands, Who knows by heart (and not by touch) And knowing, feels and understands.

A friend is one who makes appeals By action (not by awkward speech) Who helps to build and hold ideals Still striving higher goals to reach.

A friend is one who doesn't doubt. He loves sincerely—with a trust Which shuts all low emotions out With honor first—as true friends must.

Through Doubt

Through doubt I almost lost my dearest friend. Impetuous folly gave deep hurt to him Without whom all my love was at an end. All other trifling joys seemed blurred and dim

My eyes saw naught but that one black mistake.

My ears heard strident discord, clashing loud
And cutting sharply 'cross the heavy ache That dulled my lonely heart, my spirit bowed

And, breaking, fled in desperate sobbing grief.

But soon was thankful for that friend's belief.

Rose Solomon read a collection of spring poems, including some poems written by Shirley Kellogg, Dale Kellogg, Evelyn Emerine, and Kenneth Skinner. A humorous paper, "Child’s Essay on Spring" was read by Mae Knauss.

Martha Williams presided over parliamentary practice. The group discussed the question of petitioning the president for permission to have another day each week for a holiday.
