Substance abuse education focus of grant

A federal grant of $250,827 for underwriting drug education training for middle school teachers in 12 northeast Ohio school districts has been awarded to the Laflin Education Program. "Laflin, health education. The program, designed for "Healthy Choices for Every Youth," will train teachers to work with children of alcoholics. "It is estimated that 10 percent of the adult population of the United States is alcoholic and that each case of alcoholism will result in at least 10 school dropouts," said Laflin. "Children of alcoholics," she added, "are two-and-a-half times more likely to develop into alcoholics themselves. Laflin maintains that with appropriate intervention children of alcoholics can be helped to cope with their problems.

The grant will allow Laflin to plan an eleven-day training program in 1992. The program, which will be held at the University of Pennsylvania, will be taught by nationally known experts on alcoholism.

"Educators first need to be able to communicate to their children that what is happening in their families is not their fault, and that they need to get on with their own lives," Laflin said.

"This program is scheduled to investigate the problem, and when to seek professional help."

Laflin said the goal is to reach as many five to eight-year-olds throughout the geographical area as possible. "This program will be a training seminar for professionals in the field, Ackerman said.

"The University's planning began with realizing its role and mission statement, a document that outlines what the University is, what it wants to be and how it can meet those goals. With those planning documents in hand, the University has received approximately 100 proposals and departments within the University has begun and open bidding will be placed. Two graduate programs, student learning environment and internships (which include library and computing resources) in the following areas:

"We picked these three because we believe they are areas where the University has made a lot of progress during the last 10 years," said Trump. She added that Friedan College will be responding to this request with a comprehensive self-study. Trump said the 100 smaller reports from areas and departments will eventually be part of a report on the entire University. The reports will be evaluated against the shared goals and interests of various units. Trump said NCA will have access to all reports. The deadline for these reports is January 15, 1993.

"We're trusting that these reports will make it easier for persons in the United States to find assistance at a reduced per-sonal rate."

"The math is calculated by adding 83 percent per year to the existing surface rate. The rate allows packages to be sent quickly, yet at about half of one-third the cost of the actual annual personal rate. Parcels mailed at the new rate will not exceed 22 pounds and must be addressed to specific individuals or families. This package must be labeled with the rate in which it is being sent and the words "HIGHLY PERSONALIZED"

"The project is being funded by telephone, with an online tool that can be accessed by any party in the field, Ackerman said. "Each of the participants in the upcoming programs will be asked to share their training with five other teachers as a "mentor program for homosexual help.""

ANC seeks funds for bowel ward

The Administration Committee at last week’s meeting contributed to a total of $400 for the Bowel Ward. Although the funds were collected last year, further contributions to the expansion of the bowel ward were requested. A new employee was hired to aid in the cleaning of the ward.

The award recipients are still unidentified, but $200 are expected. The award is to be presented at a later date. The award was requested after the ward was first established.

The award will be given to the employee who has worked the most to improve the ward. The award is to be given to a male or female employee.

Continuing education invites sleuths to investigate local ‘murder’

Although murder is hazardous to your health, it is the key to a mystery weekend on Feb. 8-10 at the Black Swamp Inn. Those attending the weekend, entitled “Murder-Fest for Murder,” can actively participate in a staged crime as both a witness and a suspect. The object of the game is to exercise powers of deduction to devise the most complete and logical solution.

The weekend is being sponsored by the Office of Continuing Education. The setting is a house where a local family has recently been murdered.

Participants will gather clues as they maneuver their masses in various activities, both in and out of the mystery room. The weekend is open to anyone of legal age.

Participants are encouraged to dress in attire of the past and to bring their own murder mystery. Character cards will be provided in the directory of the participants by the Black Swamp Inn.

At closing on Sunday, awards will be given to whoever solves the case. The winner of the weekend will be chosen by a number of factors, including the size of the group and the method used, as well as how much effort in the case was invested.

The registration fee includes accommodation, a weekend pass, a costume and a tote bag.

Ensembles to perform at state conference

The College of Education will host a conference on March 12 and 13. The conference is sponsored by the National Association of Schools of Music. The conference will bring together students from across the country. The theme of the conference will be "Choral Music in the 21st Century." The conference will feature workshops, seminars, and a concert of new choral music.

The conference will also include a reception and a dinner for participants. The registration fee is $100 for members of the National Association of Schools of Music and $150 for non-members.

Updated facts make university vital statistics available at a glance

Well here we go. We really should have the compact. As University administrators are frequently asked about our programs and facilities, we are happy to provide some newly updated facts and information about the University.

The BS of the weather

In the event of severe weather conditions, the University will launch the “Ensemble A.R. System” to provide an emergency warning to students.

The University’s offices of public information, the Office of the President, and the Office of Public Information will notify the campus of the emergency via public address systems, campus televisions, and university websites.

In the event of a severe weather emergency, the University will also notify students via email and text messages. The University will also use social media to alert the campus.

The award honors Ferrari, a notable figure in the University community. The award is to be presented at a later date. The award is to be given to a male or female employee.

The annual Graduate Student Art Exhibition, the work of the 1992-93 Graduate Art Student. The exhibit will be on display from Feb. 16 to March 16 in the Atrium Gallery of the Student Union. The exhibit will feature works by graduate students in a variety of disciplines.

The Graduate Student Art Exhibition is one of the largest and most prestigious exhibitions of graduate student art in the Midwest. The exhibition is sponsored by the Graduate Student Council and the Department of Art and Art History.

The Bowling Green administration is inviting an original piece of artwork for a permanent display at the Center for the Arts. The event, to be held Feb. 8-9 at the Morse Student Center, will include a reception and a choice of afternoon activities including a therapeutic fitness seminar, self-awareness session using the Myers-Briggs Inventory, stress reduction workout and low impact aerobics. Also included will be refreshments and guided tours of the Center for the Arts. The cost is $25 for single tickets or $40 for couples. For more information or to register, contact Audrey Breeden at 2-4215.

Ensembles to perform at state conference
The College of Music and Dance will be represented by the ensembles of the College of Music at the Ohio State University Student Music Conference Jan. 30-Feb. 1, in Columbus.

More than 70 bands, ensembles, choirs and orchestras from private, public and secondary schools as well as college campuses throughout Ohio have been invited to participate in the conference. The University has the largest group of music students and faculty of any Ohio college or university.

University ensembles scheduled to perform at the conference include the choir, directed by Mark S. Kelly; the Black Swing Sax Quartet, directed by Dr. John Glass; the Black Wind Quintet; the Clarinet Ensemble; the Concert Choir; the University Band and Dance Concert Bands, directed by Robert Myrick. The Black Swing Sax Quartet won the 1991 National Festival of College Wind Music Competition. Members include Bruce.com, Greg Mallison, John Herrmann, Mike Young and Steve Glass.

Another ensemble with invited status is the resident faculty ensemble in the College of Music. Its members include directors Dr. Paul Melonas and Dr. Ken Brown. Vocalists include Dr. Alan Smith and Kaye Kowald on vocals.

The Black Swing Sax Quartet is under the direction of Dr. Ken Brown. It is the only recognized sectional ensemble of its kind in the state of Ohio. Although the group has not been invited to participate in the conference this year, it is expected to be invited in the future. The group is composed of the four saxophonists that dominate the college and are in the resident faculty ensemble. The quartet is composed of Bobby Ford, Don Ball, Joel Spurr and Dr. Ken Brown.

The College of Music and Dance presents a series of faculty recitals including: Sunday, Feb. 4, 3 p.m. at the Cultural Arts Theater. Faculty recital sponsored by the University Union and the Student Senate. Dr. Charles C. Bland, director of the College of Music and Dance, will perform and discuss the major styles of music from the 17th century. For information call 229-4139.

Dr. Virginia L. Ross, professor of music, will present a faculty recital of contemporary and modern music. The recital will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 4, in the Cultural Arts Theater. Founded in 1974, the School of Music is the only music school in the state of Ohio. The school offers undergraduate and graduate degree programs in music and music performance. The school is located in the Music Building on the campus of Bowling Green State University.

The school offers a wide range of music education programs including music education, music therapy, music performance and music business. The school also offers a number of music clubs and organizations including the University Band, the University Choir and the University Dance Concert Bands.

The school has been awarded the President's Award for Excellence in Teaching and the Outstanding Faculty Award by the University Senate. In addition, the school has received the Johnstone Award for Excellence in Teaching from the University Senate and the Outstanding Faculty Award from the University Staff Senate.

2. Temporary employees are not eligible to use personal leave.

3. Eligibility to use personal leave will be calculated once annually with available computerized personnel data and determined on a prorated basis. For administrative and classified employees eligible personal leave conversion hours will be determined for each employee as of the end of the calendar year. For classified eligible staff eligible personal leave conversion hours will be determined on the hour basis in the calendar period.

4. Personal leave used by administrative and classified staff may be charged in increments of one hour or full hour during normal work hours. Staff may use personal leave for the days and hours for which they normally would be scheduled to work, but not to include scheduled overtime.

5. Personal leave may be used for the following reasons:

   a. Unusual personal or family obligations which could not normally be conducted by an employee during hours other than normal scheduled work hours.
   b. Mandatory court appearances before a court of law and in a matter in which the employee is an acknowledged victim or witness.
   c. Personal or family obligations which could not normally be conducted by an employee during hours other than normal scheduled work hours.
   d. Family emergencies of a nature that require an employee’s immediate attention.
   e. Examination such as medical, psychological, dental or optical examination of the employee or the employee’s immediate family.
   f. Weddings of members of the immediate family.
   g. Religious holidays which fall on a normally scheduled workday for an employee.
   h. Any other matter of a personal nature.
   i. Personal leave may be used in conjunction with vacations, for vacation purposes, to cover unexcused absences or to make up time.
   j. Requests for use of personal leave must be made in advance giving notice to the immediate supervisor. When the leave is used in accordance with the above, the employee will inform his or her immediate supervisor/departments head as appropriate. Personal leave will be charged in increments to the nearest half hour for classified staff and the leave request form for administrative staff.
   k. At the end of the calendar year unused personal leave will revert to an inactive status.
   l. The University payroll office will maintain records of absences, usage and balances.

6. Personal leave may not be used to extend an employee’s date of resignation or date of retirement.

Questions or problems of interpretation of the use of personal leave should be addressed to the personnel office.
