TO: Administrative Staff Council

FROM: ASC Professional Development Committee

The Professional Development Committee requests that the criteria for Professional Development Grants be reviewed. Specifically, we recommend the following:

That the time of service restrictions be amended from seven years to a lower number of years;

That service elsewhere (another institution, other employment) be considered as part of the length of service;

That the council continues to give preference to length of service, but not require seven years; and

That the council continues to consider the merit of the application as it relates to the applicant's current job, career path, and potential for advancement within the institution.

Further, we request that the review process begin immediately so that Administrative Staff can benefit from any revisions.

Thank you.

MEMORANDUM

November 28, 1990

TO: ASC Professional Development Committee

FROM: Tom Gorman

RE: Professional Development Grants

Attached are materials regarding our efforts so far with changing the criteria for grant funding. We have run our recommendations by the Executive Committee, which suggested three years as a criterion consistent with other University policies (such as education reimbursement for families of employees).

We now must develop a proposal to be brought before the council in December and voted on in January. Please review our memo of October 4 and give some thought on how best to word our proposal.

I will be contacting you early next week for your feedback—or feel free to call me with brilliant flashes of inspirational insight (2-2356). Also, let's plan to meet at 1:00 pm on the date (and at the location) of the next ASC meeting to clarify and finalize the proposal.

Thank you.
The list of programs was generated using the results of a survey conducted by the previous (1989-1990) committee.

Several options for lunch were investigated. By changing the venue, different possibilities were tested. Using the Alumni Center allowed participants to choose between purchasing a food operations lunch or bringing their own lunch. The location did not seem to cut down on attendance. The Amani Room provided easy on-site catering, but without the "BYO" option. For programs in the Union, the simplest course was to allow participants to purchase whatever they wanted (on-site), and bring it to the presentation.

One very valuable addition was the willingness of food operations to direct-bill from the registration forms, as this eliminated several administrative hassles, such as collecting checks, doing budget transfers, trying to get money from no-shows, etc.

Publicity, room arrangements, and lunch arrangements for each program were handled by the committee member coordinator.

In addition to the professional development series, this year's committee drafted a proposal to change the time required to be eligible for the Professional Development Grant from seven years to three years. The proposal was accepted.

Committee members each made unique contributions to the work accomplished. It was a pleasure working with such an effective group. Members were: Jan Ruma, Chris Dunn, Jane Wood, Dave Stanford, and Cindy Colvin. The committee received valuable assistance from Marcia Buckenmeyer of Personnel Services, who coordinated mailings.

Thank you for the opportunity to serve ASC in this way. It was an enjoyable experience. If you would like additional information or have questions, please feel free to contact me at 372-2356.

BOWLING GREEN STATE UNIVERSITY

MANAGEMENT DEVELOPMENT

SUCCESSION PLANNING PROGRAM

January 1991
BOWLING GREEN STATE UNIVERSITY

PROGRESSION AND SUCCESSION REVIEW PROCESS

The objective for the Bowling Green State University Management Progression and Succession review process is to insure an adequate supply of qualified candidates for selection to EGSU's Key Management Positions.

MANAGEMENT INVENTORY: SUCCESSION PLANNING

The following sub-objectives are important to the accomplishments of this effort:

- To maintain an inventory of current management and successors.
- To analyze present staffing strengths and weaknesses; determine action plans to assure available replacements for future staffing needs.
- To identify a pool of candidates with extensive growth potential and capability to take on any of several assignments.
- To promote career moves for high potential contributors by recommending specific plans and goals in developmental programs and jobs.
- To realistically identify marginal performers and provide performance feedback via training, coaching and/or replacement.
- To identify shortages or surpluses in business units/functions and recommend appropriate action (i.e., recruitment, on-the-job training, promotion, special assignment to meet gaps, termination).
- To develop and carry out a staffing strategy in clear recognition of the strategic and operational requirements of the business.
- Keep the process simple.
- This process will be done once a year with the first year the most consuming.

Let's work our way through the procedure step-by-step.

1. In each of the packets, there will be a list of positions within your area of responsibility that should be included in this process. Some of you have only a sample packet.
2. The first step is to prepare a Personal Development History form on each incumbent for the positions listed. There are partially completed forms for each individual on the participant list from your area. We have utilized our personnel files to complete as much information as we currently have available. You should inform each individual of the purpose of the Management Progression and Succession process and ask them to correct any inaccuracies, complete the remainder of the form, sign and return it to your attention.

3. The next step is to complete the Management Inventory.

MANAGEMENT INVENTORY

You should complete the Management Inventory after the Personal Development History has been returned to your attention.

The Management Inventory is the cornerstone of the Management Progression and Succession Process. This form should be completed in its entirety. Succession planning relies on accurate, valid assessments of performance and potential. The Management Inventory form is labeled "confidential" to assure its limited circulation. As a planning tool, the information may be held in confidence by yourself, members of the management committee, of the Executive Director of Personnel Services. The information should not be forwarded to others as a reference on the individual or retained as part of their personnel file. Legally, it may also be held in confidence from the individual since it is for planning purposes separate from the performance appraisal process.

However, you should be encouraged to: 1. strive for consistency between the performance appraisal and the management inventory ratings; 2. share information with the individual in their performance appraisal discussion that accurately reflects the management inventory. Ideally, an individual should be able to expect an honest evaluation of performance and opportunities for advancement and/or movement, and a discussion about future plans for professional development.

Overall Promotability: It is also important to be realistic about potential. For example: high potential people should have the capabilities to move at least two steps in the organizational structure. If two positions cannot be clearly identified, the person probably should be classified as promotable as opposed to high potential. Well placed people should have only a few positions to which they might advance. They may have, however, opportunities to move laterally within the organization. Their jobs should still be included since one of the purposes of succession planning is to analyze movement situations where jobs may be blocked by persons rated "well placed" or with "limited growth potential."
Executives should be considered for movement to one of the following positions:

This section identifies specific positions that the employee could be promoted into and specifies their "readiness." As indicated earlier, accurate, value and honest assessments are critical to the process. If an individual is performing satisfactorily but has been rated not advanceable, you may want to identify any lateral positions you believe the individual could perform successfully. Please note the readiness codes listed at the bottom of the form.

1 = Ready now    2 = Ready 1-3 years    3 = Ready 5 years

The following individuals (name and position) should be considered for movement to this executive position: The same process should be followed in this section by identifying employees who now are qualified or you believe will be qualified in the future to replace the incumbent. You are encouraged to think broadly in this area and not limit yourself to subordinates within the same organizational unit or department. On the other hand, realism is key. If there is no one in the university now nor is there anyone with the potential to fill this position in the next five years, that fact should be identified.

Developmental Recommendations: It is important to complete this section as well as the others. If you have identified other positions this person can move into in the future, it is important to identify what experience and/or training is necessary under the "for future career growth" section. Use additional paper is required.

ORGANIZATIONAL PLANNING CHART

Information from the Personal Development History and Management Inventory are incorporated into the Organizational Planning Chart. This document then allows the organization to access organizational strengths and weaknesses. Where there are lack of successors it identifies this fact and allows division or departments the opportunity to take corrective action. We have completed a sample planning chart for the position of Senior Investment Office, as an example of how this form should be completed.

Please have all your information completed and returned to John C. Moore by _____________. Again, if there are additional questions or clarifications needed, please do not hesitate to give me a call.

INTERPRETATION

The following theoretical distribution will help to assess organizational readiness:

12-20 points:  HIGH DEGREE OF READINESS - what are you waiting for? Start next week!

15-17 points:  MODERATE DEGREE OF READINESS - check some of your "No" or "Uncertain" answers.

Below 15:  LOW DEGREE OF READINESS - you need more commitment.

The following steps need to be in place to ensure effective succession planning:

* Management ownership
* Linkage with the strategic plan
* Total performance picture of the organization
* Critical positions identified
* Training needs clarified
* Development strategies formulated

What follows is one model of a succession planning system.
PHASE I

Management Review Board (Executive Decision Makers)
- Define their role
- Involve them
- Get them to "own" the system

Organization Plan (3-5 years)
- Strategic Planning Linkage

Know/Identify the vacancies
- Retirement
- Attrition
- Contingency
- Current openings

PHASE II

Identify Target Group (INDIVIDUAL ASSESSMENT)

Gather Performance Data
- Present performance
- Advancement potential (when)
- Possible promotion path
- Strengths & weaknesses
- Employee’s needs
- Work experience
- Management potential data

Data Display Board (organizational chart)

Management Review Meeting (Board reviews data on)
- Total Department Profile (managers & staff)
  strengths & weaknesses
- Performance rating (group consensus)
- Advancement Potential Identified
PHASE III

CAREER TRAINING PATHS

Build for each department
- Logical flow
- Learning/6 month potential
- Learning progression

Build for total organization
- "Trainee" approach (jr. & mid. mgmt.)
- "Model" executive Approach (Sr. Mt.)—Identify critical areas.
- Cross fertilization (Lateral ok)
- Emphasize depth first; then growth
- Ensure consistency with strategic plan

SUCCESSION CHARTING (Done by Management)

Identify criteria for TARGET position
Identify 3 possible successors — consistent with performance and advancement information
Identify supporting criteria for each successor
Identify most likely successor
Translate into future picture of the organization
Review/discuss/reassess with management

DEVELOPMENT STRATEGIES FOR KEY PERFORMERS

Career Discussion
- Employee's perceptions
- Employees career goals
- How to achieve goals (T&D, ED, Exp.)

Prepare 2-Year Development Plan
- Objectives
- Expected Results
- Development areas
- Career Plans

Outline 1-Year Training Plan
- Specific activities to be performed
- Target dates
- High priority/pay off learning areas
- "RESULTS" of training objectives

Melissa Bandy
Director
Hospitality Management Program

Dear Melissa

The Professional Development Fund Committee of the Administrative Staff Council has met and has considered your application for funding. I am pleased to inform you that we have decided to provide $1,000.00 toward the total cost of your participation with the Delegation to the Council of Hotel, Restaurant, and Institutional Educators. It was not possible for us to provide your full request of $2500. To date approximately one half of a one time allocation of $5,000 for professional development has been used. Therefore, we must try to spread our remaining funds out to meet the needs of other staff.

We request that when you return from this exciting trip that you plan to attend a Council meeting and make a presentation to us regarding this experience. We will also request that Melissa Firestone, editor of MONITOR contact you to prepare a story for this publication. The committee feels strongly that you should receive "press" for participating in this program.

Congratulations from all of us on being chosen to participate in such an exciting program. I will begin to make the necessary arrangement for a transfer of funds. Can you provide me with a budget and cost number so that I can file the appropriate form. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely

Jill Carr

RE: ASC Professional Development Funding Request

March 3, 1992

I will again travel to Russia from March 19th through March 29th as a follow-up of last year's trip. This time, however, the delegation is sponsored by Bowling Green State University's Hospitality Management Program. Vitaly Porokhov, a Russian undergraduate Hospitality Management student, and I organized the Hospitality Management Delegation to Russia which will greatly enhance my professional international development integral to my career.

The hospitality industry is fast becoming globalized. Radisson was the first Western hotel to expand into Russia, while Sheraton, Stouffer and Marriott (three of our most successful campus recruiters) are currently either renovating or building in the republic. The Russian managers are facing extreme difficulties concerning motivation, turnover, theft and basic loss of control since the coup. Hopefully, this trip will help them learn some techniques to aid in these problems and to enable them to better focus on their immediate problems of shortages and economic and political turmoil.

As I mentioned, this trip will enable me to better integrate the necessity for international hospitality education, awareness and participation into my position. As an academic advisor, advisor to the Hospitality Management Society, instructor and liaison between the hospitality industry recruiters and our students, the experience gained will greatly improve my professional development. Furthermore, after this trip, I plan to conduct research based upon my observations while studying the Russian hospitality industry. (Although research is not a requirement for my position, I deem it quite important for professional and personal growth.)

Next year, I plan to organize and host a seminar, "International Hospitality: The Key to Future Success" on campus, publicizing it on a national basis utilizing much of my international understanding. The April, 1993 seminar will be open to students interested in hospitality-related careers and will afford BGSU's Hospitality Management Program international visibility and a proactive international position.
Attached as Appendix 1 is an itinerary for the trip with hospitality-related activities highlighted. Meeting with the successful hotel and restaurant firms as highlighted will greatly enhance my understanding of the Western efforts to expand into Russia. Many of the hospitality firms view Russia as a great opportunity for expansion, especially in light of the current economic and political changes in the former Soviet Union. It is imperative to my professional development to understand the firms' views and to convey them to my students.

As leader of the delegation, I will be responsible for all hospitality-related meetings and activities. The communication with Moscow has been ongoing since January and, I feel, the itinerary formulated into one of great professional and educational growth for the delegates.

Delegates include three undergraduate hospitality management students, three graduate students, and university professors in the College of Business Administration. This delegation is planned to be an annual event with increased participation for undergraduate hospitality students as the program matures.

Due to the lack of funds in the Hospitality Management Program, it will be necessary for me to obtain outside funding for the entire trip. Although no funds have yet been committed, I applied for a Speed Grant of $300 to defray 13% of the travel expenses as outlined in Appendix 2. I am requesting $1000 from ASC Professional Development Fund and will pay for the remaining $352 either personally or through an International Education grant at BGSU.

If partially funded, I look forward to supplying the ASC Professional Development Fund Committee with a report of the project outcome. I have already sent a press release of the trip to Public Relations and to the Council on Hotel, Restaurant and Institutional Education and will be interviewed upon return to compare the changes in the Russian hospitality industry since the fall coup.

I appreciate a review of this request and welcome any questions from the committee if further clarification is needed.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Gregg DeCrane, Chair, Administrative Staff Council
FROM: Jill Carr, Chair, ASC Professional Development Fund
RE: Year End Report

As you requested, please accept this as the 1990-91 report for the Professional Development Fund Committee.

Committee membership included: Keith Pogan, Pat Greene, Gail Swanka and myself. We began the year with a balance of $2,235.00 in the fund. To my knowledge no applications were submitted during the fall semester while I was on leave. During the spring semester we received four applications for funding. The first was from Melissa Bandy requesting assistance for her participation in the Hospitality Delegation to the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia. We allocated $1,000 to Melissa and also waived 4 months of the three years of employment requirement. At our next meeting three applications were considered. Two of the three received funding. Jane Schimpf's request for funding to the College Business Management Institute was denied due to the fact that she had received funding last year for the same institute and our funds were running low. Cindy Cozol has been awarded $305.00 to assist in meeting her expenses to attend the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator Training Program next fall in Cleveland. Our final award was given to Melissa Firestone. She has been given $350.00 to assist in the expenses she will incur when she participates in the Xi'an Exchange Program.

It must be noted that the fund now has a ZERO balance. It is our recommendation that the 1991-92 ASC Executive Committee begin the request process immediately for additional funds. We now have the documentation to show that Administrative Staff consistently desire to participate in professional development activities that increase their effectiveness as a "university employee". Since we have no paid leave or sabbatical program the replenishment of our professional development fund is essential. While it only addresses the "tip of the iceberg", it is a step in the right direction.

The committee also recommends that a new form be added to the guidelines. This will assist in receiving consistent information from each applicant. The new form will be presented to the Executive Committee on May 28.

In general, I believe we had a productive year. It seems that Administrative Staff now know that this fund exists. The committee should, most definitely be continued as long as there are funds to be allocated.

Thank you for the opportunity to work with this group. Please call if you have any questions.

Jane Schimpf
Director
Food Operations

Dear Jane:

The Professional Development Fund Committee of the Administrative Staff Council has met and discussed your application for funding the College Business Management Institute. At this time we are not able to offer any funding from the ASC Professional Development Fund. As you know that initial allocation that we were given has not been augmented in any fashion. In addition, we have had several requests from Administrative Staff members who are first time applicants. Therefore, the committee has decided to completely utilize our fund and spread out the remaining balance of the account to the first time applicants.

It is disappointing that sufficient funds are not available to fund all of our applicants, but we feel we must proceed in this direction in order to offer the greatest number of Administrative Staff members some funding.

If you have any questions regarding our process or decision, please do not hesitate to contact me. Also, if we may be of assistance to you seeking other funding sources, please let me know.

Sincerely,

Get Away From it All: One-day/Weekend Travel Ideas
Presenter: Terri Jones, First Class Travel Design
Location: Alumni Room
Attendance: 50
Luncheon Arrangements: "Bring your own" from Union restaurants
Coordinator: Cindy Colvin
The list of programs was generated using the results of a survey conducted by the previous (1989-1990) committee.

Several options for lunch were investigated. By changing the venue, different possibilities were tested. Using the Alumni Center allowed participants to choose between purchasing a food operations lunch or bringing their own lunch. The location did not seem to cut down on attendance. The Amani Room provided easy on-site catering, but without the "BYO" option. For programs in the Union, the simplest course was to allow participants to purchase whatever they wanted (on-site), and bring it to the presentation.

One very valuable addition was the willingness of food operations to direct-bill from the registration forms, as this eliminated several administrative hassles, such as collecting checks, doing budget transfers, trying to get money from no-shows, etc.

Publicity, room arrangements, and lunch arrangements for each program were handled by the committee member coordinator.

In addition to the professional development series, this year's committee drafted a proposal to change the time required to be eligible for the Professional Development Grant from seven years to three years. The proposal was accepted.

Committee members each made unique contributions to the work accomplished. It was a pleasure working with such an effective group. Members were: Jan Ruma, Chris Dunn, Jane Wood, Dave Stanford, and Cindy Colvin. The committee received valuable assistance from Marcia Buckenmeyer of Personnel Services, who coordinated mailings.

Thank you for the opportunity to serve ASC in this way. It was an enjoyable experience. If you would like additional information or have questions, please feel free to contact me at 372-2356.
