TODAY’S COVER

Two of the 17 seniors on this year’s squad are featured. Pat Jackson (left hand photo) has been an integral member of the team since his freshman season and is one of only five three-year letter-winners on the team. Jackson has a 3.96 GPA in business and has earned Academic All-America honors the last two seasons. Steve Ross has been an important member of the Falcon defensive unit that has played so well this season. (Photos by Brad Phalin)

Brad Browning, Marketing and Promotions Director, BGSU, Bowling Green, OH 43403. (419) 372-2401.
Today: The Bowling Green State University football team will try and make it two in a row this afternoon as they battle in-state rival Miami. The teams are meeting for the 48th time. Miami is coming off two impressive MAC wins over Ball State and Ohio University.

BG Coach Moe Ankney: Moe Ankney (BGSU '64), the 13th head coach at Bowling Green, is in his fifth season heading the Falcon football program having compiled a record of 19-30-2 (.392). His teams have a 17-18-2 record in Mid-American Conference games, including three seasons of 5-3 marks. Under Ankney, the Falcons have tied for second in the MAC twice (1986 and 1987) while last season BG finished fifth. Ankney, in his first head coaching position, is in his 19th season of collegiate coaching having made stops at Arizona (1980-85), Tulane (1976-79) and Ball State (1971-75) as an assistant coach.

MU Coach Randy Walker: A former Miami running back, head coach Randy Walker is in his first season with the Redskins. Walker, who helped Miami compile a 32-1-1 record while collecting three MAC titles and three Tangerine Bowl victories during his playing days, was an assistant at North Carolina for 10 years before spending two seasons at Northwestern prior to returning to his alma mater.

The Series: The only MAC school that holds an edge in the series with the Falcons, Miami’s advantage stands at 31-12-4 entering this weekend. BG will be looking for its first victory over the Redskins since a 1985 win at home by a count of 28-24. Over the last four years, the best the Falcons could do was a tie in 1988 with Miami winning the other three contests. In games at Bowling Green, BG is 5-14-3 while the record stands at 4-5-2 in games played at Perry Field. In a series that started in 1941, Miami has 11- and eight-game winning streaks in building its large advantage. There have been six shutouts, the last one in 1969, in the series with two of those (1969 and 1941) belonging to the Falcons. The two teams have split the eight series games that have been decided by three points or less while Miami holds a 12-5 edge in games decided by a touchdown or less.

Johnson to the Rescue, Again: BG freshman tailback George Johnson has been at his best this season when pressed into duty. In the opening game of the season against Cincinnati, Johnson came into the game in the third period after starter Leroy Smith and back-up Zeb Jackson both got hurt. Playing his first collegiate game, all Johnson did was rush for 107 yards in 14 carries including a 30-yard scamper for the go-ahead touchdown in the fourth quarter. Saturday, the situation was not as desperate, but Johnson once again performed his magic. With Smith dressed for the game but still feeling the effects of an illness that kept him out (Continued on page 19)

Moe Ankney

Howard M. (Moe) Ankney, the fifth-year head football coach at Bowling Green State University, doesn’t have to remind his players of what’s important when they put on a Falcon uniform.

His players are reminded every day by a list of five objectives that hangs on the wall of Ankney’s office at Doyt L. Perry Field. Meet these goals, and you succeed as a football player at BGSU. Meet these goals and Bowling Green maintains its reputation as one of the finest football programs in the Mid-American Conference.

The five goals for a BGSU football player:
1. Each player earn a college degree
2. Continue the winning tradition
3. Beat Toledo
4. Win the California Bowl
5. Each player become the best that he can be as a student, as an athlete and as a person.

With these goals in mind, Ankney will lead his Falcon football team into the new decade and the 72nd season of intercollegiate football at BGSU.

Appointed as the University’s 13th head football coach on December 30, 1985, Ankney has coached the Falcons to second-place finishes in the MAC twice. BG finished second in 1986 and second in 1987. After an uncharacteristic eighth-place finish in 1988, BG bounced back in 1989 with a 5-3 league record, good for fifth place in the final standings. In the last four years, Ankney’s teams have compiled a winning record (16-15-1) in the MAC.

At the same time, Ankney’s Falcons have faced a demanding non-conference schedule. BG lined up against a defending national champion one year and a team that played for the national title the next.

In 1986, the Falcons visited Minnesota of the Big 10 and Washington of the Pac 10. In 1987, opponents included defending national champion Penn State and the Pac 10’s Arizona. In 1988, national runner-up West Virginia and Texas Christian of the Southwest Conference were scheduled. Last year, eastern independent East Carolina and Independence Bowl-bound Tulsa were confronted.

The Falcons will be challenged again outside of the MAC in ’90. BG opens at Cincinnati in Riverfront Stadium. A week later, BG visits independent powerhouse Virginia Tech.

Ankney, a 1964 BGSU graduate, returned to his alma mater after serving six seasons as the assistant head coach, defensive coordinator and secondary coach at the University of Arizona of the Pacifc-10 Conference. He left a long-time coaching associate and friend, Arizona Head Coach Larry Smith. Like Ankney, Smith is a Bowling Green graduate, and the two coached together for 10 seasons.

Prior to joining the Arizona staff in 1980, Ankney was Smith’s defensive coordinator and secondary coach at Tulane for four seasons between 1976-79. Before that, he was the secondary coach at Ball State from 1971-75 under the late Dave McClain. In all, he has spent 18 seasons coaching football at the collegiate level.

At each stop, Ankney was instrumental in helping to rebuild struggling programs. While at Ball State, the Cardinals improved their record from 4-5-1 in 1971 to 9-2 in 1975. At Tulane, Ankney helped the Green Wave from a 2-9 record in 1976 to a 9-2 mark and a berth in the Liberty Bowl in 1979. The Arizona Wildcats were 5-6 in 1980 and improved their record to 8-3-1 in 1985, including a 13-13 tie with Georgia in the Sun Bowl. His Arizona defensive units finished among the nation’s statistical leaders from 1982-85.

More than 20 of his former players have gone on to careers in professional football. While at Arizona, Ankney coached Denver Broncos’ linebacker Ricky Hunley. At BGSU, Ankney has coached Cleveland Browns’ safety Kyle Kramer. Three Falcons were drafted by NFL teams earlier this year: Reggie Thornton (Minnesota), Ron Heard (Pittsburgh) and Derrick Carr (New Orleans).

Ankney entered the coaching profession at the high school level. He was an assistant football and wrestling coach at Eaton High School for the 1964-65 seasons and then became head coach at Dayton Norwood in 1966. From 1967 to 1971, he was head football and tennis coach at Dayton Wayne High School. His five-year head coaching record in the high school ranks stands at 24-21-5. While coaching in the Dayton area, Ankney earned his master’s degree from Miami University in 1969.

Ankney, 48, a native Ohioan, grew up in Xenia before moving to Kettering as a high school senior. A 1960 Fairmont High School graduate, he was an all-state quarterback and a participant in the Ohio All-Star game. While a student at BGSU, Ankney played on two MAC Championship teams as a reserve quarterback and lettered twice under legendary Coach Doyt Perry.

While an undergraduate, Ankney earned election to Omicron Delta Kappa, a leadership honorary, Phi Alpha Theta, a history honorary, and Kappa Delta Pi, an education honorary.

Ankney was reared in a football family. His uncle Pete was his head coach at Fairmont High School. Pete Ankney also was a head coach at Canton McKinley High School and at the University of Dayton. Moe’s father, Ben, coached at Miami University and at Xenia High School.

Moe and his wife, Carlalee, are the parents of two daughters (Angela and Molly), a son (Andy), and have two grandchildren (Ashley and Bryce).

Howard Milton Ankney was born June 23, 1942.
TODD FITCH
Todd Fitch, 26, joined Coach Moe Ankeny's staff in August, 1989. He coaches the wide receivers and recruits Akron and Canton. A graduate assistant coach at Bowling Green for one year, he was a volunteer assistant coach under former BG player and coach Don Nehlen at West Virginia University in 1988. His coaching experience also includes two years when he was an assistant at Ohio Wesleyan, his alma mater. Fitch holds a bachelor's degree from OWU (1986) and a master's degree from Ohio State (1987). Todd and his wife, Katherine, reside in Bowling Green.

KURT HUMES
Kurt Humes (defensive coordinator and inside linebackers) and Mike Mangili (defensive backs). Standing: Bob Reublin (assistant head coach and defensive line), Terry Malone (offensive tackles and tight ends), Andy Garver (outside linebackers and special teams), Max Lowe (offensive guards and centers) and Joey Batson (strength and conditioning).

ANDY GARVER
Andy Garver is in his fifth year at Bowling Green, spending the first three as defensive line coach. He now coaches the outside linebackers and special teams and is the Falcons' recruiting coordinator. Garver, 32, recruits Northwest Ohio, Florida and the Chicago area junior colleges. A 1980 graduate of Tulane University, he formerly coached at Jesuit High School in New Orleans, Louisiana, at Tulane University, at the University of Arizona and at the University of Notre Dame. Andy and his wife, Terri, are the parents of Allison, 5, and Kevin, 3.

MAX LOWE
The newest member of Moe Ankeny's staff, Max Lowe, 29, coaches the offensive guards and centers while also overseeing the team's "Incentive, Motivation and Pride" program. Additionally, he is responsible for recruiting in north central Ohio. Lowe, a three-year letterwinner at offensive tackle and 1976 graduate of Bridgewater College in Virginia, spent the last five years as an assistant coach under former head coach Cleve Bryant at Ohio U. While there, he directed the defensive line for two years and then moved over the offensive line for the last three. Max and his wife Barbara, are the parents of Zachary, 5.

MIKE MANGILI
Mike Mangili, 36, is in charge of the Falcon's defensive backs. He spent his first year here coaching BG's outside linebackers in 1986. Mangili is in charge of player relations and film exchange with Falcon opponents. He recruits central Ohio, including Columbus. A 1978 graduate of California State-Sacramento, he formerly coached at Amos Alonzo Stagg High School in Stockton, California, and at the University of Arizona. Mike and his wife, Lauren, are the parents of Nicholas, who turns two in November. Lauren is employed at the BGSU Student Recreation Center.

REGGIE OLIVER
Reggie Oliver is in his seventh season as an assistant coach at Bowling Green. He is the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach, after previously coaching BG's running backs. Supervisor of BG's relations with professional scouts, Oliver, 38, also recruits in the Michigan cities of Detroit and Flint. A 1975 graduate of Marshall University, he formerly coached at Huntington High School in West Virginia and at Marshall University. He played professional football with the Jacksonville Sharks of the World Football League in 1974, before earning a tryout with the Dallas Cowboys.

BOB REUBLIN
Bob Reublin is in his fifth season as Bowling Green's assistant head coach. He is in charge of the defensive line, the tackles, guards and nose guards. He previously coached BG's offensive line. As assistant head coach, he handles numerous administrative duties, while recruiting north east Ohio, including Cleveland and Youngstown. A 1961 graduate of BGSU, he served as a graduate assistant at the University for one year, before moving to coaching positions at Sandusky High School, Miami University and the University of Colorado. Bob and his wife, Mary Lou, are the parents of four daughters, Susie, twins Nancy and Patsy and Cathy.

BRUCE CUNNINGHAM

Bruce Cunningham will serve as a graduate assistant coach for the 1990 season at Bowling Green State University.

Cunningham has coached on the high school level since 1985. For the last three years, he was the assistant varsity football coach at Wilton High School in Wilton, CT. Previously, he coached two seasons as an assistant at Greenwich High School in Greenwich, CT.

Cunningham has also coached wrestling and baseball on the high school and junior high levels.

He is a 1988 graduate of Eastern Connecticut State University.

JACK GAYLORD

Jack Gaylord is in his first year as a graduate assistant football coach at Bowling Green State University.

Gaylord was the head varsity football coach at Avon Central High School in Avon, NY, last year. He also served as the track and field head coach and as the strength and conditioning coach for all athletic teams at Avon Central.

His coaching experience also includes a stint as head varsity football coach at Little Valley High School in New York, as well as coaching positions in football, basketball, track and lacrosse at Gowanda Central High School in New York.

Gaylord, a former U.S. National Bobsled Team member, is a 1982 graduate of Heidelberg College in Tiffin, OH.

ALAN HARRAH

Alan Harrah joins the Falcon football staff as a graduate assistant coach for the 1990 season. Harrah is a former volunteer assistant football coach at Christiansburg High School in Virginia. He holds a bachelor's degree from Concord College in Athens, WV, and a master's degree from Virginia Tech in Blacksburg, VA.

While at Concord College, Harrah played on the tennis team for three years.

WILLIAM MILLER

William Miller joined the Bowling Green State University football staff as a graduate assistant this past summer.

Miller, a 1990 graduate of Albion College in Albion, MI, played football for three years at Albion, before becoming a student-assistant coach under Head Coach Pete Schmidt for the 1989 season.

His coaching responsibilities included running the scout team defense during practices, coaching defense during freshman games, and filming games. He also assisted in recruiting, while volunteering his time as a weight-lifting and conditioning coach for an area high school.

TOM PASSINAULT

Tom Passinault is in his first year as a graduate assistant football coach at Bowling Green State University. He will also serve as an instructor in the school of health, physical education and recreation.

Passinault comes to BGSU from Catholic Central High School in Grand Rapids, MI, where he was head baseball coach and an assistant football coach. He coached the freshmen for two years and spent one year as a junior varsity assistant. He was also part of Catholic Central's Michigan Class B State Championship varsity football season in 1987.

Passinault is a 1986 graduate of the University of Notre Dame.

Founded in 1946, the Mid-American Conference is one of the nine Division I-A conferences in the country along with the ACC, Big 10, Big Eight, Big West, PAC-10, SEC, SWC, and WAC.

The MAC consists of nine state-supported institutions in the midwestern states of Ohio, Michigan and Indiana. The nine current members—Ball State University, Bowling Green State University, Central Michigan University, Eastern Michigan University, Kent State University, Miami University, Ohio University, the University of Toledo and Western Michigan University—have all been members of the conference for 16 or more years.

Throughout its existence, the MAC has been in the forefront of national legislation that has enhanced the academic integrity of intercollegiate athletics. The MAC has had an academic progress rule, strengthened admittance standards and qualitative grade point average requirements for its student-athletes long before the NCAA adopted or discussed implementing such academic standards.

The MAC currently sponsors 18 championships. In men’s sports, the MAC has sponsored championships in football, baseball, cross country, golf, tennis, and track and field since its founding, and added swimming and wrestling championships five years later.

In 1980, the MAC Council of Presidents voted to bring women’s athletics into the conference structure. The MAC currently sponsors women’s championships in basketball, cross country, field hockey, gymnastics, softball, swimming, tennis, track and field, and volleyball.

In the 44-year history of the conference, numerous MAC football teams and players have received national recognition. Bowling Green was recognized as the national college division champion in 1959, and Ohio won similar honors in 1960. After MAC teams achieved major college status, Toledo compiled a 35-game winning streak from 1969-71, the second longest such streak in modern major college football history. Miami beat Florida, Georgia and South Carolina in the 1973, 1974 and 1975 Tangerine Bowls. In the last few years, among the non-conference victims of MAC teams are opponents from the Big 10, Big Eight, SEC and WAC.

The 1990 MAC Champion will represent the conference against the champion of the Big West Conference in the California Raisin Bowl on December 9 in Fresno, CA.

MAC schools have a reputation for developing outstanding coaches. In the 1989 Fiesta Bowl, which pitted Notre Dame against West Virginia for the national championship, it was Kent graduate Lou Holtz against Bowling Green graduate Don Nehlen. On the same day in the Rose Bowl, Miami graduate Bo Schembechler directed his Michigan team to victory over Southern Cal coached by Bowling Green graduate Larry Smith. Among other current or former head coaches who played at and/or coached at MAC schools are Woody Hayes, Ara Parseghian, Don James, Paul Brown, Bill Mallory, Dave McClain, Don McCafferty, Webb Ewbank, Frank Lauterbur, John Pont and two of the three 1988 inductees into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame: Doyt Perry and Jack Mollenkopf.

Among current NFL players from MAC schools, Dolphins’ linebacker John Offerdahl (Western Michigan) was the 1986 Rookie of the Year, Rams’ center Doug Smith (Bowling Green) is a Pro Bowler and 13-year veteran; Bengals’ defensive back Robert Jackson (Central Michigan) is the senior member of the five former Chipewas in the NFL; and defensive lineman Brent Williams (Toledo) is a rising star with the Patriots.

After concluding successful NFL careers, Bernie Casey (Bowling Green) and Tim Brown (Ball State), two former standouts at current MAC schools, went to Hollywood and have made numerous television and movie appearances.

MAC student-athletes are regularly selected to the GTE Academic All-America teams. In the last six years alone, MAC student-athletes have received Academic All-America honors 82 times. Since the Academic All-America program was established 21 years ago, MAC football players have earned that distinction 46 times. Three of the 48 Division I football players honored on the 1989 Academic All-America team were from MAC schools.

Investing in Toledo’s Future through Northwestern Ohio Construction Industry Foundation

Celebrating Over 30 Years in Toledo!
DOYT PERRY
1988 College Football Hall of Fame Inductee

The year 1988 will be fondly remembered by Doyt Perry, the former player, coach and administrator at Bowling Green State University.

In January of '88, he learned that he would be an inductee into the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame.

In October, when Bowling Green hosted Miami at Doyt L. Perry Field, the man in whose honor the stadium was named was there for a special on-campus presentation by the National Football Foundation.

In December, Perry was in New York for the Foundation's Hall of Fame Dinner. He was officially enshrined into the College Football Hall of Fame at Kings Island, OH, the following June.

Perry's association with BGSU dates back 60 years when, as a student he lettered nine times in three sports (football, basketball and baseball). The Croton, OH, native received his degree in 1932 and began coaching on the high school level before becoming an assistant football coach at Ohio State University in 1951.

Perry returned to his alma mater as head football coach in 1955. The next 10 years, he led the Falcons to a 77-11-5 record for a winning percentage of .855, topped only by Knute Rockne and Frank Leahy of Notre Dame. His teams won five MAC Championships and the national college division championship in 1959.

Perry, who retired from coaching in 1964 to become BGSU's athletic director for six years, developed such outstanding coaches as Jim Young of Army, Bill Mallory of Indiana, Don Nehlen of West Virginia, Larry Smith of Southern California, the late Dave McClain of Wisconsin and Bowling Green's own Moe Ankney.

Falcons’ Ross Makes Hard Work Pay Off

By Duane Schooley
Blade Sports Writer

If they are indeed the fruits of labor, any awards headed in Mark Ross’ direction are tardy.

He’s paid his dues.

Hours of pain.

_buckets of sweat.

And, even if those awards never come, the veteran nose guard on Bowling Green State University’s football team thinks it’s been time well spent.

A junior out of Kettering Alter High School, Ross has been the Falcon starter for two years. Until this season the position was his to lose.

Victory by default, if you will.

“The last couple of years we felt that nose guard was one of our weaknesses,” said Moe Ankney, the Falcons’ head coach. “We kept trying to get Mark beat out but we couldn’t find a guy better.”

Now ... as Dylan said “Times, they are a changin’... there’s a happy tune.

“Mark Ross has made himself into a good football player,” is Ankney’s compliment. “He’s not a natural. He’s done it with hard work.

“Mark has worked very hard in the weight room. And he’s not the only one. Maybe that’s one reason our defense is going to be a lot better.

“Mark had never been a very good tackler,” Ankney confessed. “He’s worked to correct those weaknesses.”

When the Falcon defense was met with a challenge in the opener against Cincinnati it was Ross who stepped to the fore by causing a fumble. He had two other hits behind the line of scrimmage as the Falcons limited the opposition to a single touchdown for the first time in 16 games.

Ross’ career stats show 48 solo tackles, 68 assists, and 4 tackles for loss. In the first two games this season he’s added 13 solos, 9 assists and 3 tackles for loss.

Ross is one of the leading tacklers on the team.

Over his first two seasons, Ross was asked to keep blockers from getting to the Falcon linebackers. This year, because of his improvement, there are additional duties.

His three tackles-for-losses are the result of being more aggressive.

“I really think it’s just a matter of experience,” Ross said, “But, yes, competition is something that can push a player.”

Ross was a three-year letterman at tackle for coach Ed Domitsz at Alter, helping the Knights win the 1984 regional championship when he was a sophomore. He was red-shirted his first year at Bowling Green and broke into the lineup with the 1988 Falcons.

An elbow injury kept him on the sidelines for three midseason games last year and he missed the finale with a sprained ankle. He ranked seventh on the team in tackles, averaging eight per game with a season high 15 — including a fumble recovery — against Central Michigan.

Despite the strong start and confidence-building memory of last year’s performance, Ross isn’t considering any changes in the way he approaches his duties.

“I’m not a rah-rah guy. Maybe I should be, but I’m not into that,” he said. “I’m usually quiet until game time.”

He’s also not changing his expectations.

“Sure, I’d love to be all-conference,” he said. “Every player in the MAC would.

“But that’s at the end of the year and it’s a long season. I can’t be looking ahead. I’m just going to keep working and try to get better every game.

“Besides, I’m more interested in the team winning than any individual things.”

of practice during the week, Johnson started and responded with his second 100-yard day gaining 108 yards on 21 carries. He collected 58 of his yards on a second quarter run that was BG’s first six-pointer of the game. Johnson is second to Smith with 268 yards this season, but leads the team with a 4.5-yard average per carry. His 58-yard run was the longest of the season by a BG player.

—BG—

SHALE NOW #2 IN THE COUNTRY: Senior punter CHRIS SHALE has fallen out of the national lead for the first time in a month. Shale, who averaged 39.8 yards on six punts against Eastern Michigan last week, is now second to Pittsburgh’s Brian Greenfield. Shale is averaging 47.66 yards while Greenfield has a 47.87 average. Brian Hanson from Washington State is third with a 46.92 average. The BGSU punt team remained third in the nation in net punting with a 40.6 average. Pittsburgh leads the country with a 43.2 mark.

—BG—

SMITH APPROACHING THE 1,000 CLUB: Sophomore tailback LEROY SMITH did not play much in the Eastern Michigan game because of an illness during the practice week and because he turned his ankle again once he did get in. Smith rushed once for four yards pushing his career total to 891 yards. Smith will be the 200th player at BG to reach the 1,000-yard plateau.

—BG—

SOME UNLIKELY CONTRIBUTORS: You couldn’t call George Johnson’s performance last week unexpected, but the Falcons did get contributions from several players who had played only minor roles previously this season. Senior ALLEN SMITH caught the lone touchdown pass of the game from ERIK WHITE giving the Falcons the lead for good early in the fourth quarter. The catch was Smith’s sixth of the season and 10th of his career. The touchdown was only the second of his career. Freshman MAURICE COLES was able to spell starting fullback JIM HOWELL getting four carries for eight yards while also catching one pass for 35 yards. Coles scored the insurance touchdown in the fourth period, his first career six-pointer. Senior RICK YOUNG filled in for starting guard STEVE BOSKO and played a role in Johnson enjoying some running room. It was just the second start of Young’s career. Junior BOBBY GREEN caught his first pass at BG, a key 29-yard reception on the go-ahead touchdown drive.

—BG—

CRENSHAW ENJOYS ANOTHER FINE GAME: Senior inside linebacker DUANE CRENSHAW has taken over as the leader of the Falcon defense in the absence of tri-captain Charles Dotson. Crenshaw may have turned in the best performance of his career in the Eastern Michigan game collecting 15 tackles, 14 of those solos. Crenshaw also had a tackle for a loss, broke up a pass and had a key interception that led to BG’s insurance touchdown while ending an EMU drive at midfield. Crenshaw is sixth on the team with 64 tackles, but he leads the team with 53 solo stops.

—BG—

POWELL HAS MADE THE MOST OF CHANCES: Junior place-kicker TODD POWELL has made the most of his chances this season. One of the areas of question going into the season, Powell has converted on four of his five field goal attempts, including all three over 40 yards in length. He has also made nine of his 10 extra-point tries. His 47-yard field goal at 5:03 of the third period last week was one of the key points in the game and was the first of 18 straight points scored by the Falcons in the come-from-behind victory. The field goal was the longest of Powell’s career, who had not kicked in a collegiate game before this season.

—BG—

JACKSON MAKING AN IMPACT ON THE OFFENSE: Having caught at least two passes in each of the last four games, senior tight end PAT JACKSON is starting to feel more comfortable after switching back over to the offense this season. The last two years Jackson spent on the defensive side of the ball as an outside linebacker after playing tight end as a freshman. Jackson caught a touchdown pass against Toledo and had his best day of the season with three catches against Eastern Michigan, including a 22-yarder to the BG four yard line on the go-ahead touchdown drive. Jackson is now third on the team with 12 catches. He is averaging 10.3 yards per catch. Jackson is a two-time CoSIDA Academic All-American and carries a 3.96 GPA in business.

Their names are familiar, because they have made an impact on football at all levels of the game — high school, college, and professional.

They belong to the Falcons' Nest of Coaches, an organization created in 1984 for the purpose of promoting the proud tradition of Bowling Green Falcon football. Through the development of student and graduate-assistant programs at Bowling Green, most of these coaches got their start at this Mid-American Conference institution. They've studied and matured under the coaching philosophies of Warren Steller, Robert Whittaker, Doyt Perry, Bob Gibson, Don Nehlen, Denny Stolz and Moe Ankney, to name a few. Today, they are making a name for themselves and for their respective football programs around the country. Though they may be miles apart, they share at least one thing in common. They are members of a fine football coaching fraternity at Bowling Green State University, the Falcons' Nest of Coaches.

A few of the members are listed below:
Fresno State's Bulldog Stadium is the site of the California Raisin Bowl.

For the last nine years, the Mid-American Conference has been sending its champion to the California Raisin Bowl in Fresno, California.

Hosted by Fresno State University in its 30,000-seat Bulldog Stadium, the Cal Bowl pits the MAC Champ against the Big West Conference Champion.

The 1990 Cal Raisin Bowl is scheduled for December 8.

Bowling Green is one of two MAC teams to have made the trip to Fresno twice, with Toledo being the other. The Falcons appeared in Cal Bowl II on December 19, 1982 and lost a 29-28 heartbreaker to Fresno State. BG blew a 21-0 third-quarter advantage in that game.

The Falcons met Fresno State again in Cal Bowl V, but this time the Bulldogs rolled to a 51-7 victory on December 14, 1985. BG also lost its head coach, Den- ny Stoltz, who announced earlier in the week he was leaving to coach at San Diego State.

More than just a bowl game, the California Raisin Bowl is a community happening for San Joaquin Valley citizens, whose support benefits the Valley Children's Hospital. The benevolence of the Greater San Joaquin Valley Sports Association is displayed as every aspect of the Cal Bowl revolves around the well-being of the young patients of the Valley Children's Hospital.

Fund-raising activities include a 10K run, bike rally, and a coronation ball, in addition to the bowl game. The Cal Bowl has generated more than $250,000 for hospital equipment and services.

The Economics of COLLEGE LOANS

Don't let money keep you from getting your degree. A college loan from State Home Savings Bank can help keep your mind off money and on academics!

We've been one of the top ten college loan lenders in Ohio since 1985.

ARE YOU FIT ENOUGH TO BE HIRED

Fitness Is An Important Aspect Of The Hiring Process

An estimated one million college students earned college degrees last year and began searching for work. But about 200 Bowling Green State University graduates had an advantage over all of them.

They could promise potential employers that they would work longer, more efficiently and would cost the company less money than any other potential hire. And they had a certificate to prove it.

The students were participants in Fit For Hire, a program offered jointly by the University’s Student Recreation Center, the Office of Placement Services and the Parents Club.

Operated by the Recreation Center, the program tests seniors in a variety of health categories. Those who meet minimum requirements receive a certificate which signifies that they are physically fit and leading a healthy lifestyle.

More and more employers are considering fitness when looking for employees—and for good reason. Countless studies have shown that fit employees cost less than unhealthy workers.

These studies show that fit employees will use between one and four fewer sick days a year. Also, fit employees who are hospitalized spend fewer days in the hospital and fewer days recovering.

Those employees are also more health conscious and therefore are less likely to smoke or abuse drugs or alcohol, and are more likely to use seat belts when driving—all of which reduces the chances of illness or injury.

When all of these factors are considered, a company employing physically fit employees can realize a cost savings of as much as $1,000 a year per employee.

The Bowling Green program, which is beginning its second year this fall, tests students in five main areas: cholesterol levels, blood pressure, body composition, aerobic fitness and lifestyle analysis.

And the testing is free to seniors.

Students first meet with Dr. Richard Bowers, the Center’s fitness director and a professor in the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation. Depending on a student’s needs, an individualized fitness program, which might include exercise, a diet or special counseling sessions to break a smoking habit, for example, is begun.

After completing the program, which can last four or more weeks, students are ready to take the battery of fitness tests. Those who successfully complete the tests—based on national health standards for college-age students—receive a gold certificate of accomplishment which they can present to employers.

Others receive a silver certificate indicating that while they may not have met all the standards, they understand the significance of fitness in the workplace. Those who do not pass have the option of continuing with their fitness program and then retaking the tests.

“We encourage the students to talk to recruiters about the program. It has proven to be an excellent ice breaker and it shows that students are not only healthy, but that they have other positive qualities, such as time management skills or the determination to set and achieve goals,” JoAnn Kroll, director of the University’s Placement Services, said.

This year, the Bowling Green Placement Services will arrange almost 10,000 employment interviews. Other colleges and universities have similar schedules.

While almost all of the students in those interviews will be bright and eager to please, many Bowling Green students will also have a certificate proving that in the long run they will save their potential employer money. It’s a small advantage, but for many it may be all the edge they need.
Three Earn Varsity BG Awards

Varsity BG Day, the annual celebration that brings former Bowling Green State University letterwinners back for a day of football, fellowship and feasting, is being held as part of today's festivities surrounding the football game.

It is a day to remember for three men, Glenn Van Wormer '47, Ford Murray '35 and Chuck Ramsey '60, who have given their time and effort to the University over the years. They will be recognized in a short ceremony prior to the start of the game.

Following the game a reception for the three honorees will be held in the BGSU Ice Arena Lounge until 6 p.m. Drinks and snacks will be served. The reception is free and you are encouraged to bring family and friends.

Van Wormer, a member of the University administration for 28 years, will receive the Honorary Letterman Award, Murray will receive the Golden Anniversary Award and Ramsey was selected to receive the Silver Anniversary Award.

The Honorary Letterman Award is presented to someone who has made a significant contribution to BGSU athletics but is not a letterwinner. The Golden Anniversary Award winner is given to a BGSU letterwinner who graduated 50 years ago and prior (1915-1940) while the Silver Anniversary Award is presented to a letterwinner who graduated at least 25 years ago but after 1940.

Van Wormer, who still resides in Bowling Green, attended BGSU for three years beginning in 1939 before being called away to military service. He returned from the service to complete his undergraduate degree in 1947.

During his senior year, he served as a part-time assistant registrar. After graduation, he joined the registrar staff full-time as the assistant to John Bunn. In 1951, he became the registrar, a position he would hold until 1968 when he became the Dean of Admissions and Records and Associate Dean of the Faculty. From 1972 until his retirement in 1979, Van Wormer served BGSU as the Assistant Vice-President for Resource Planning.

Van Wormer served on numerous committees while at BGSU including a stint as the secretary of the academic council. He also served as secretary of the BGSU Alumni Association between 1951 and 1953.

Van Wormer and his wife, Ruth, a BGSU graduate, spend their time in genealogy activities and gardening.

Murray earned a total of nine letters in the sports of track (1931), football (1931, '32, '33), basketball (1932, '33, '34) and baseball (1933, '34). He helped the Falcon track team to the Northwestern Ohio Intercollegiate Athletic Association title, in his only seasons a member of the team, running the dashes (100, 220, 400) and mile relay.

Murray, a graduate of Liberty Center High School, spent his sophomore season in football as a running back in a backfield that featured Doyt Perry as the quarterback. As a junior, Murray moved into the quarterback slot earning team MVP and third-team All-Ohio honors. He was also the Falcon punter. Murray also earned monograms as a member of the Falcon basketball team as well as in a relief pitching role in baseball.

The Bowling Green, Ohio native served as class president during his sophomore year while he was also vicer-preset of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

After graduation, he served as terminal manager for Interstate Motor Freight Systems in Toledo. Following military duty, Murray worked for the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company. He then began a 21-year relationship with Muskegon Business College and Baker College in Flint, Mich. During his tenure at the colleges he served as an instructor, placement director, counselor, admissions officer and Dean of the Business Administration department.

Beginning in 1966 until his retirement in 1976, Murray served on the Board of Directors and was the Vice-President at Baker.

He and his wife, Virginia, also a BGSU graduate, reside in Naples, Fla.

Ramsey, a graduate of Wellston (OH) High School where he was an All-Ohio selection in football, earned a letter as a member of the 1958 BGSU football team that posted a 7-2 record while the next season he was a member of the undefeated team (9-0) that claimed the Small College National Championship, Ramsey was a second team All-MAC selection at guard in 1959 while he was also the placekicker converting 16 of 18 extra point attempts and one field goal.

After signing a contract with the Los Angeles Chargers in 1960, Ramsey elected to begin his coaching career accepting a position as an assistant coach at Cuyahoga Falls High School where he was also a math teacher. From there, he moved to the top spot at Salem-Oak Harbor High School where he was also the athletic director. In 1965, Ramsey became an assistant coach at Dartmouth where he helped the Big Green to the Ivy League title and the Lambert Trophy. He concluded his coaching career with stints as an assistant coach at Cornell (1966-69) and Wichita State (1969-72).

Since 1972, Ramsey has worked for Pawnee Industries, Inc. starting as a salesman until in 1986 he became the President and Chief Operating Officer, his present title, of the firm.

Ramsey and his wife, Patty, a former BGSU cheerleader, reside in Wichita, Kansas. They are the parents of three children, Chuck, 29, Christine, 22, and Cathleen, 20.

'65 TEAM ALSO HONORED

As part of the Varsity BG Day festivities, the BGSU football team of 1965 will also be recognized today and at the reception following the game. This is the 25th anniversary of the MAC championship won by the 1965 team.

The team posted a 7-2 overall mark and a 5-1 league record to tie Miami for the top spot in the MAC. Under first-year head coach Bob Gibson, the Falcons won three of five conference games by a touchdown or less with the only loss to Miami by a 23-7 score. The 1965 team was the sixth BG football team in 10 years to earn the MAC title.
MAC Football
Heads Into 1990’s

As we enter a new decade, optimism prevails around the Mid-American Conference about the future of MAC football. The main reason for the optimism is the continuing growth of administrative commitment and support for taking the steps to keep the MAC at the top level of collegiate competition.

Think back to where the MAC was at the beginning of the 1980’s. Athletic budgets at MAC schools have nearly, and in some cases, more than doubled during the decade.

Over the last 10 years, one new stadium has been constructed, five have been renovated and enlarged, and plans are on the drawing board for new stadiums at two other MAC schools. Every MAC school made significant improvement to its weight training facility during the 1980’s; all nine MAC schools now have a full-time academic coordinator; and all nine MAC schools now have a full-time academic counselor on its athletic staff. Indoor practice facilities were constructed on two MAC campuses and several others are considering adding them in the near future.

In 1980, no MAC team had been to a bowl game in five years, but the MAC and the Big West Conference are now in the tenth year of a contract that was recently extended for four more years, pairing together their champions in the California Raisin Bowl.

Future MAC football schedules read like the Who’s Who of College Football. Next year alone, MAC teams are scheduled to play Florida State, Georgia, Kentucky, Michigan State, Mississippi, North Carolina State, West Virginia, Purdue, Washington, Wisconsin, and Wyoming!

Three programs are under the direction of new coaching staffs this year. Early signs are that Coach Nick Saban will keep Toledo’s program growing in the renovated Glass Bowl, and bright futures are ahead for Miami and Ohio. Miami and Ohio, which have been two of the MAC’s most successful programs over the years, struggled in recently but appear to be heading up under Randy Walker at Miami and Tom Lichtenberg at OU.

Thirty-six MAC football players were selected in the NFL draft during the 1980’s and 87 former MAC standouts played in the NFL during the past decade. See the stories on the following two pages for some of the top future pro prospects who are now playing in the MAC.

MAC schools stress a proper balance between athletics and academics. MAC student-athletes graduate at a rate equal to or higher than the student body in general. MAC football players earned first or second team Academic All-America honors 24 times during the 1980’s.

Parity is synonymous with the Mid-American Conference. During the 1980’s eight different teams won...
Mid-American Conference

Few Established Stars on Youthful MAC Offenses

A comparison of a Mid-American Conference pre-season all-conference team published in a collegiate football magazine with the official all-conference team selected by the coaches at the end of the season always produces several changes.

This year, contrast is likely to be a more appropriate word than compare. The reason is simple: a youth movement. Only one MAC team has a senior starting at quarterback; the majority of the running backs in the league are sophomores and freshmen; the 1989 first and second team All-MAC tight ends graduated as did six of the 10 All-MAC honorees in the offensive line.

The departure of some of 1989's most prominent MAC stars does not signal a drop off in talent this year. Any time new players are breaking in, there are growing pains and an adjustment period, but 1990 should produce some exciting moments as the talented, young players develop reputations and emerge as household names.

Despite the youth movement, there are several established stars returning to MAC offenses. Starting in the backfield, three full-time starting quarterbacks return this fall. Senior ANTHONY THORNTON of Ohio, who has started since his freshman year, combines excellent running ability with an improved passing repertoire. Junior JEFF BENDER of Central Michigan and sophomore BRAD TAYLES of Western Michigan won MAC Freshman of the Year honors in 1988 and 1989 respectively.

Four of the top five rushers from last year are gone, but the one who returns is one of the MAC's best in recent years. BERNIE PARMALEE of Ball State should top the 3,000 yard mark in career rushing by mid-season and, barring injury, finish among the top five in MAC history.

MAC Volleyball Teams Seek Road to Battle Creek

Mid-American Conference women's volleyball teams have their Rand McNally road atlases out looking for the road to Battle Creek. Any cartographer can tell them that it is just off Interstate-94 a few miles west of I-69, but only four of them will successfully earn the right to make the trip to Kellogg Center Arena in Battle Creek, Michigan, for the 1990 MAC volleyball tournament on November 23-24.

The MAC volleyball teams are playing a single round robin schedule of eight conference matches each. The top four teams from the regular season qualify for the tournament which will determine the MAC's automatic berth in the NCAA tournament.

This is the fourth consecutive year using a format of a single round robin schedule and a four-team tournament.

However, in the three previous years the MAC regular season champion hosted the tournament.

The decision to switch the tournament to a predetermined, neutral site was the recommendation of the MAC volleyball coaches. It was made to allow more time to promote the tournament and to give it more of a tournament atmosphere. Among the benefits are a tournament luncheon, souvenir gifts for members of the participating teams, awards for the members of the championship team, and all-tournament and MVP plaques.

The MAC and the Battle Creek Amateur Sports Committee signed a five-year agreement last fall to stage the MAC tournament at the 5,000 seat Kellogg Center Arena from 1990-94.

Western Michigan won the MAC tournament in 1987, 1988 and 1989. However, the battle for the top seeding and berths in the 1990 tournament appears to be wide open as Western Michigan has just one returning starter.

Bowling Green ended Western Michigan's seven-year reign as MAC Champions last season, although the Broncos defeated BGSU in the finals of the MAC tournament to receive their eighth consecutive NCAA tournament berth. Bowling Green figures to be one of the top teams in the MAC this season along with Eastern Michigan, Miami, Ball State, Central Michigan and Western Michigan.
Are you tired of hearing coaches say, ‘defense wins championships?’ Can’t blame you if you are, but you know what? They’re right.

Once again this year, MAC line-ups are stocked with defensive standouts. Last year there was a plethora of talent in MAC linebacking corps. This year, it appears as though the strongest position is in the defensive line. Central Michigan defensive tackle J.J. WIERENGA has attracted numerous NFL scouts after ranking among the MAC sack leaders as both a sophomore and junior. Western Michigan end TERRY CREWS played in the shadow of Joel Smeenge, a fifth round NFL draft choice last spring, but should emerge as a star in his own right this fall.

Eastern Michigan has the MAC’s best record over the last three years, thanks in large part to its defense. The Hurons have another excellent defensive line this year headed by end CRAIG PETERSMARK and tackle DONSHELL ENGLISH.

Two of the MAC’s best defensive linemen play on teams which won a total of just two games last year. Miami defensive end JON WAUFORD and Kent defensive tackle ANDY HARMON are not likely to play in the 1990 California Raisin Bowl, but that is no reflection on their outstanding caliber of play. Another potential standout in the defensive line is Ohio senior MILES DAVIDSON who earned second team All-MAC honors as an offensive guard last year but was moved to defense in spring practice.

Graduation stripped the MAC of some of its best linebackers, but there are some talented players returning at this key defensive position. Central Michigan senior RICH CURTISS earned second team All-MAC honors last year; Western Michigan’s SEAN MULHEARN, who is in graduate school, is an Academic All-America candidate; and Toledo’s DWAYNE SMITH is the top returning tackler in the conference.

Developing relatively obscure players into standouts is a MAC tradition. No one has risen quicker to prominence in recent years than Eastern Michigan free safety BOB NAVARRO. Redshirted as a freshman and used sparingly in 1987 and 1988, Navarro emerged as the number one pass interceptor in the country last year, picking off 12 to lead the nation. If Navarro is not the top returning defensive back in the MAC, then the most likely candidate is Central Michigan free safety DAVID JOHNSON, an all-conference choice as both a sophomore and junior. Graduation took away five defensive starters including three first team All-MAC selections from 1989 MAC Champion Ball State, but one who does return is second team All-MAC cornerback LEO PORTER.

The MAC had more than its share of outstanding placekickers in the 1980’s. Ball State’s John Diettrich and Miami’s Gary Gussman won All-America honors in 1985 and 1987, respectively, and Central Michigan’s Kevin Nicholl deserved that honor last year. The records established by that trio may all fall by the end of the next season, though, as Ball State junior KENNY STUCKER combines consistency, accuracy, leg strength and clutch performance. He made two game-tying field goals on the final play of the game last year and has made 37 of 48 field goal attempts in his first two years at Ball State.

Bowling Green senior CRIS SHALE led the MAC in punting in both 1988 and 1989, and set several MAC records in the first few games of this season.
An Interview With MAC Commissioner Karl Benson

Editor’s Note: Karl Benson became the MAC Commissioner this past summer, joining the conference from the NCAA staff where he had served as the Director of Championships. A native of Spokane, Washington, Benson, 38, worked at the NCAA headquarters in Kansas City for four years prior to joining the MAC.

Q. What has occupied the majority of your time during your first three months as MAC Commissioner?
A. I spent the first eight weeks visiting each of our schools, meeting informally with administrators and coaches and touring the campuses. These visits gave me a better understanding of what the Mid-American Conference entails. Not having a MAC background, I felt it was important to make my own observations.

Q. What did you learn from these visits?
A. A conference and the success of a conference is only as good as the coaches and administrators at the member schools. The personnel at the Mid-American Conference schools appear to be on a par with any that I have met during my travels with the NCAA. I am heartened by the commitment that I see from each institution to remain Division I-A, and by the capital improvements which have been completed, are in their final phases of completion or are in the planning stage. On the other hand, there are still many facilities that need to be improved, and not just in football. Facilities are critical because they provide the first view of our programs in the public’s perception.

Q. How did your NCAA background prepare you for this position?
A. The services that the NCAA provides to its 800 member institutions are similar to what a conference office provides to its members. My experience in the NCAA Championships department is very helpful in terms of marketing, promotions and television. Also, knowing the entire structure of the NCAA operation allows me to duplicate those services to our schools.

Q. What do you consider to be your most important role as MAC Commissioner?
A. To be a spokesperson for the Mid-American Conference and its biggest fan. We need to get the message to the public through the news media that the Mid-American Conference is not only a strong proponent of the balance between athletics and academics, but also a competitive Division I conference on a national level. We will continue to profess a strong balance between athletics and academics, but we need to build on the success we have had athletically.

Q. What do you see as your most challenging task?
A. To change the perception that we are less than Division I. We need to convince the public that the Mid-American Conference is as good as it really is. I think the public perceives us to be less of a conference just because we are surrounded by some of the most prominent collegiate athletic programs in the country.

Q. How do you feel the national re-alignment of conferences will affect the MAC?
A. Obviously, we are not going to join with the Southeastern Conference or the Big 10, but there isn’t any reason that we can’t be competitive at a national level. There is a place for the Mid-American Conference in this era of developing so-called super conferences.

Q. Do you see the MAC expanding in the coming years?
A. We will continue to evaluate expansion. I see it happening, but not for television and revenue reasons as we see right now nationally. If we expand, it will be done for scheduling purposes and for expanding the breadth of the conference. Also, I expect it will be within our natural geographic boundaries. Our geographic closeness has long been a strength of the MAC.

Q. Where do you see the MAC headed in the 1990’s?
A. Intercollegiate athletics is at a critical stage right now. The foundation that the Mid-American Conference has, its solid commitment to academics and integrity, and a rededication to athletic success should make us a viable and integral part of major college athletics for the 1990’s.
To All Falcon Fans:

You are the key to success for our Falcon teams! The BGSU Athletic Department depends on the Falcon Club to raise more than $250,000 in 1990. This money will help fund athletic grants-in-aid, assist in the recruiting of prospective student-athletes, and provide funding for athletic facilities budgets.

Members of the Falcon Club are alumni, parents, friends and fans who provide financial support, volunteer hours and advisory expertise to the BGSU athletic program and share in the many benefits the Falcon Club has to offer.

The Falcon Club has ambitious goals for 1990 and is eager to involve YOU in our activities. The need to support our program is at an all-time high. Your financial contribution and BGSU’s athletic program are a winning combination.

We are very proud that Bowling Green’s athletic program is recognized as one of the best in the country. All of our 19 teams are highly competitive and very representative. Falcon Club membership offers you the opportunity to support these teams. Falcon Club donations have greatly aided our program, and to continue that winning tradition throughout the 1990-91 campaign will require another supreme Falcon Club effort.

I look forward to having you join the Falcon Club in 1990!

Sincerely,

Charles F. Nagle
Associate Athletic Director

I am interested in learning more about the Falcon Club and its activities.

OUR BEST EVERY DAY!
BG’s Jackson Excels in the Classroom

by Jack Carle
BG Sentinel-Tribune

Instead, Jackson, a senior at Bowling Green, is able to combine academics and athletics, taking each to the highest level.

As a student, Jackson is an Academic All-America with a 3.96 grade-point average.

As a football player, he is the starting tight end after playing the last two seasons as a starting linebacker.

"Today, when we have so much controversy...whether there can really be student-athletes, I think Pat demonstrates the fact that you can be a good athlete and be a real good student at the same time," BG coach Moe Ankney said.

Jackson plans to graduate on time, after four years of school, in May. He has had only one ‘B’ in college, that in a finance course last year. Jackson was a second-team Academic All-America selection as a sophomore before earning first team honors after his junior year.

"In a way it was disappointing," Jackson said about his only grade below an ‘A’, "but it took a lot of pressure off me. If I get another ‘B’ it’s no big deal. It’s nothing to get all that upset about; it kind of brings you down to earth."

Jackson said earning Academic All-America honors “made all the work seem that much more worthwhile.”

On the football field, Jackson is back at tight end after spending most of the last two seasons as a linebacker. He was one of only two true freshmen to play in 1987, seeing action at tight end. Jackson started his sophomore season at tight end, but moved to linebacker when injuries depleted the Falcons at that spot.

“He’s a player a coach enjoys coaching because he’ll do whatever is necessary to help the team win,” Ankney said.

As one would expect, Jackson has a busy day, trying to balance academics and athletics.

“The main thing is you have a lot of reading and papers,” Jackson said of his 400-level business courses. ‘You don’t have a lot of busy work; it’s things you have to do. If you get behind in these courses, you’re in a hole. They require a lot more time and effort.”

Jackson credits a solid work ethic and the drive to secure a job for his success in the classroom.

“Once I got here, I really got after it right away,” Jackson said. “It really helped me out. I set up good study habits and I’ve pretty much used it all the way through.”

All the classroom work is going to pay off, Jackson hopes, with a job in procurement or as a purchasing agent.

“I like my management courses; it’s a good field,” he said. “My main goal is to get out and get a job and I still haven’t achieved that. Until I reach my goal of finishing school and getting a job, I can’t see myself slacking off.”

On the football field, Jackson has moved back to offense and enjoys the blocking which goes with BG’s added emphasis this season on the run.

“I don’t mind rush blocking. It’s you on the other guy and it’s evident if you do your job. If you get a good block it could be the difference between a five-yard loss and a five-yard gain,” Jackson said. “It’s a little bigger challenge than running routes.”

As for Ankney, he knows he has a special player.

“I think he’s an outstanding tight end,” Ankney said.

“He’s an excellent blocker and a pretty good receiver. I think he’s one of the best tight ends in the league.”

Offensive Stars

The top returning wide receiver in the MAC is Toledo’s RICK ISAIAH who caught 46 passes for 743 yards and six touchdowns in 1989. Western Michigan’s passing offense is one of the most sophisticated in the conference. Sophistication is not worth much without talent, and the Broncos have a talented group of receivers headed by senior ALLAN BOYKO.

Tight end is one of the least appreciated but most important positions on an offensive team. His blocking skills are critical to the running game and pass catching ability from the position adds another dimension to the passing game. Senior JERRY EVANS of Toledo is not only one of the MAC’s best, but he is also rated as the number one tight end in the country in one NFL draft publication. Evans finished just ahead of Ohio senior JIM SWANSON among 1989 MAC receiving leaders.

Without quality offensive line play, an offense is — literally — not going anywhere. This year, the MAC seems to be blessed with an excellent group of offensive tackles. STEVE BROCKELBANK of Eastern Michigan and CRAIG KULIGOWSKI of Toledo earned first team All-MAC honors last year. Western Michigan has a pair of imposing offensive tackles in 6’6”, 303 pound SCOTT THOMAS and 6’6”, 330 pound PAUL HUTCHINS. Ball State guard TODD WRIGHT was a first team All-MAC selection last year.
Nissen Epitomizes True Student-Athlete

by Rob Kaminski
CMU Sports Information

The groans can be heard already, as Central Michigan women’s basketball opponents scan the Chippewa roster, their eyes riveted to the line that begins, “No. 22...”

“She’s back? Again?”
“Well, we’ll double team...no triple team her.”
“Isn’t she ever going to graduate?”

To address the last question, yes, she will graduate in the spring, and probably would have done so sooner if she hadn’t taken the time to average 17.24 points and 9.08 rebounds for Central’s cagers the last three years. In fact, there’s no telling what kind of numbers Sue Nissen would put up if she were able to concentrate solely on basketball.

But, there is another side to the 6-foot-0, all-Mid-American Conference forward. In the often contradictory label “student-athlete,” she is every bit the student she as the athlete — perhaps even more so.

For two straight years, Nissen has been named to the academic all-MAC first team, and has earned academic All-America honors. A 3.51 student in pre-physical therapy and health fitness, Nissen is the 1990 Boyden Award winner at CMU, given to the senior athlete who best combines athletic ability with academics and community involvement.

“I’m proud of the academic All-America and all-league awards,” said Nissen. “The more active I am with basketball and classes, the better I perform in each because I don’t have a lot of extra time on my hands.”

That’s an understatement. Even during the summer Nissen was active trying to improve not only the sport of basketball, but all aspects of athletics for the collegiate student-athlete. Sue and another Chippewa athlete, football nose guard Jason Wilkie, were two of eight selected student-athletes to give presentations to the Knight Commission in Washington D.C. last June. The Commission, which includes NCAA executive director Dick Schultz, is designed to draw up proposals for changes in collegiate athletic policy.

“The NCAA has rules and regulations that affect (student-athletes), and we have no say in what they do,” Nissen said. “I spoke to the Knight Commission basically about concerns and ideas regarding freshman eligibility. I addressed the positive aspects of it, based on my experiences at Central Michigan. We don’t see any violations here and there is not a great deal of pressure. Subsequently, I’ve enjoyed a good balance of academics and athletics.”

Nissen was chosen to speak to the Knight Commission because of her work on the first-ever NCAA Student-Athlete Advisory Committee last year. One of 16 student-athletes from around the country and one of eight Division I representatives, Nissen attended NCAA conventions with the group, reviewing NCAA decisions and making suggestions from the students’ viewpoint.

“It was a good experience and I had a great time,” Nissen said. “The committee was formed so we could discuss proposals and give input from athletes across the nation.”

“Dave (Keilitz, CMU Athletic Director) nominated Sue because he felt she’d be an excellent representative,” said CMU head coach Donita Davenport. “She’s extremely mature, very smart, and understands what athletes go through in a college setting.”

Having done so much in three years, there is little room for an encore. With 1,466 career points, Sue needs just 62 more to become CMU’s all-time leader. On the MAC charts, Nissen is the ninth-leading scorer of all-time. She led the conference in scoring (17.2) and was third in rebounding (9.2) on her way to “Player of the Year” runner-up honors in 1990.

“You don’t talk about improvement with Sue Nissen. She’ll score and rebound and lead our team. She’ll control games. She’s one of the best all-around players I’ve ever coached,” Davenport said.

As she winds up her CMU career, opponents will be the only ones rejoicing.

MAC football championships, no team won back-to-back titles during the decade, and a different school has represented the MAC in the California Raisin Bowl each of the last seven years.

Ohio and Ball State will enjoy a cultural experience this year when they conclude regular season play on November 17 in Ireland, in the Shamrock Crystal Bowl. The game was organized by the Sport Marketing Group of Fort Lauderdale, Fl., and will be played at 30,000 seat Fitzgerald Stadium in Killarney in southwest Ireland.
MAC Basketball Season Fast Approaching

The leaves have turned glorious colors and are now laying on the ground to be raked; soon, headlights will be necessary on the way home from work; and the Halloween displays will be coming down, replaced by Thanksgiving decorations.

Autumn, which filters in quietly in September amidst left-over summer weather, is slipping quickly away. The beach bums, golfers and other summer-type folks are mourning its passing, but one vocal minority is getting excited: the basketball junkies.

MAC men’s and women’s basketball teams began practicing on October 15 in preparation for their season openers just after Thanksgiving. The MAC is entering its 45th year of men’s basketball competition and its 10th year of women’s play.

MAC teams will play a complete double round robin schedule of 16 conference games. The top eight men’s teams and the top seven women’s teams qualify for the MAC post-season tournament which will be held at Cobo Arena in Detroit on March 7-10.

‘Three-Peat’ Not Likely For Ball State Men

Ball State has two strikes against it in a bid for a third consecutive MAC men’s basketball championship. First of all, no team has won three consecutive MAC men’s basketball titles since Cincinnati won four straight from 1948-51 in the early days of the conference. More importantly, the nine seniors who played a major role in Ball State’s memorable two-year run are gone.

The MAC enjoyed one of its finest years ever last winter, yet this season may be even better. MAC teams compiled their third best non-conference record ever in 1989-90 with a 63-39 mark for a .618 winning percentage. That percentage ranked the MAC 11th among the 32 Division I conferences in the country. Because of the impressive record, three MAC teams received post-season tournament bids as Ball State competed in the NCAA tournament and both Kent and Bowling Green received NIT bids.

Ball State capped off its two-year run by representing the MAC in grand style in the NCAA tournament. The Cardinals knocked off PAC-10 Co-champion Oregon State in the first round and then advanced to the Sweet 16 with a second round victory over Metro Conference Champion Louisville. Eventual NCAA Champion Nevada-Las Vegas brought Ball State’s season to a halt in the third round, but not without a real struggle as the Cardinals fell, 69-67. It was by far the closest call for UNLV on its march to the NCAA Championship.

So if Ball State is not realistically in a position to ‘three-peat’, then who is the MAC favorite?

Like Ball State, 1990 MAC runner-up Kent suffered heavy graduation losses. However, the five teams who placed third through seventh return an average of nine lettermen and four starters each. Based on last year’s results and returning players, Bowling Green certainly figures to be at or near the top in 1990-91. The Falcons return their top 11 players from last year.

Miami, which tied with Bowling Green for third place last year, has four starters returning; fifth place Eastern Michigan has three starters and several key reserves back; sixth place Toledo has three starters returning; and seventh place Central Michigan, which reached the finals of the 1990 MAC tournament, has four starters back.

Eight players who received All-MAC honors last year are back this season. Bowling Green guard Clinton Venable and Western Michigan’s 6’10” Jim Havrilla were both first team All-MAC selections last year; Bowling Green forward Joe Moore and Eastern Michigan guard Lorenzo Neely were second team choices; and Ball State forward Chandler Thompson, Eastern Michigan forward Kory Hallas, Kent guard Harold Walton and Toledo forward Craig Sutters received honorable mention.

Wide Open MAC Women’s Race Expected

The five women’s teams that did not advance to the semi-finals of last year’s MAC tournament should all be better this season; maybe, much better. Yet it’s going to be difficult for them to move up because the top four teams from last year all look strong again.

Defending MAC Champion Miami returns four starters as do Ball State and Eastern Michigan. Central Michigan and Western Michigan both have their starting units back intact. MAC runner-up Toledo and Ohio each have three starters back. Bowling Green, which won its fourth consecutive MAC tournament championship last year, has two full-time and one part-time starter back. Kent has just one starter back.

Individually, the top returning players include first team All-MAC forwards Sue Nissen of Central Michigan and Kim Sekulski of Toledo; the Miami trio of Adrienne Spatz, Julie Howell and Regina Smith who all received All-MAC recognition last year; forwards Kim Barrier of Western Michigan and Ann Forbes of Kent; and guards Laura Reding of Ohio and Kelli Hipsher of Ball State.
MAC Baseball Produces Cy Young Winners

What do Steve Stone, Orel Hershiser and Bob Welch have in common? OK, what do they have in common besides being major league pitchers? Give up? This is somewhat presumptuous, but these three former MAC standouts have all won the Cy Young Award in the past 11 years. Presumptuous, because this is written before the playoffs and the announcement of the awards, but the statistics indicate that Welch would be joining his MAC brethren as a Cy Young Award winner.

Stone, who pitched collegiately at Kent, won the 1980 American League Cy Young Award after compiling a 25-8 record for the Baltimore Orioles. Hershiser, a standout at Bowling Green in the late 1970’s, won the 1988 National League Cy Young Award winner after compiling a 24-8 record. Welch, an All-MAC selection in 1975 and 1976 when he led Eastern Michigan to back-to-back appearances in the College World Series, just completed a phenomenal season. He was 27-6 in leading the Oakland A’s to their third consecutive American League west divisional championship. He is the first major league pitcher to win 25 games since Stone in 1980 and his 27 wins are the most since Denny McLain won 31 in 1968.

Welch is one of 15 former MAC baseball players who played in the major leagues this year. Among them are Welch’s teammate with the A’s, Curt Young, who pitched collegiately for Central Michigan; former Bowling Green pitcher Roger McDowell who saved 22 games for the Phillies this year; former Miami pitcher Charlie Leibrandt who rebounded from a serious arm injury to record the best earned run average on the Atlanta Braves; former Central Michigan pitcher Kevin Tapani who was 12-6 for the Minnesota Twins despite missing almost a third of the season with an arm injury; and former Miami infielder Billy Doran who hit .300 for the Astros and Reds.

Tennyson Enjoys Success on the PGA Tour

Jack Nicklaus, Ben Crenshaw, Nick Faldo, Seve Ballesteros, Tom Watson and Curtis Strange share something in common. Former Ball State standout Brian Tennyson has won more money on the 1990 PGA tour than all of them. As of October 1, Tennyson ranked 22nd on the PGA winnings list with $383,540. This position assures him of a berth in the season-ending Nabisco Classic in Houston, the richest event on the PGA tour. Tennyson’s record is a model of consistency. He finished second once and has five top five finishes.

Tennyson earned All-MAC honors at Ball State in 1982, 1983, and 1984. He has played on the PGA tour for three years. Miami star Bob Lohr is completing his fourth year on the tour. As of October 1, he ranked 107th on the PGA money list with $177,293, assuring him of maintaining his playing card next year. Lohr earned All-MAC honors in 1981, 1982 and 1983. Among current MAC golfers, the player who seems to have the brightest future is Miami senior Sean Gorgone. He has earned medalist honors each of the last two years at the MAC Championship. This December, he will be competing in Japan in the annual NCAA/United States-Japan Collegiate Golf Championships. The 16th annual event will be held at the Narashino Country Club near Tokyo. Gorgone’s selection for the Japanese trip is a result of his performance at last year’s NCAA Championship where he tied for 14th with a 72-hole total 289. Gorgone received honorable mention in last year’s All-America voting as did two Kent seniors, Brian Bridges and Dave Morland. Miami and Kent were two of the 30 teams that qualified for last year’s NCAA Championship.

MAC Softball Ranks Among Elite

The Mid-American Conference is one of just four conferences in the country to place a team in the NCAA Division I softball finals in at least three of the last four years. The only other conferences to be represented in the NCAA finals at least three times in the last four years are the PAC-10, Big West and Southwest. MAC Champions Central Michigan, Toledo and Kent won NCAA Regional Championships in 1987, 1989 and 1990, respectively, to advance to the NCAA finals.

Nine MAC softball players have earned All-America honors in the last three years. Five MAC players received All-America recognition last year alone: Toledo first baseman Rhonda King-Randolph earned first team honors; outfielders Pauline Maurice of Kent and Pam Stanley of Central Michigan were second team selections; and Kent pitcher Darby Seegrist and Central Michigan second baseman Beth Bull were third team picks.

The Student Recreation Center offers something for everyone.

The educational diversity and excitement of a large university combined with the caring and camaraderie of a small college. These are strengths of Bowling Green State University.

Bowling Green began in 1914 as a Normal School. On that first day, there were 15 faculty members and 158 students, all of whom were studying to be teachers. Today, the University has nearly 1,000 full- and part-time faculty and 18,000 students on its main campus. Degree programs are offered through the colleges of Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education and Allied Professions, Health and Human Services, Musical Arts, Technology and the Graduate College. Within the undergraduate colleges are schools of Art, Mass Communication, Nursing, and Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

In all, the University offers more than 170 undergraduate degree programs, 12 master’s degrees in 75 fields of study and doctoral degrees in 14 departments with more than 60 specializations.

In addition to courses on the main campus, the University’s Firelands College campus, located in Huron, Ohio, offers 23 two-year associate degree programs, as well as courses which fulfill the first two years of a bachelor’s degree requirement. Firelands’ enrollment tops 1,300 students.

Fully accredited at the highest state, regional and national levels, the University has chapters of most national academic honor societies, including Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa *Phi. Bowling Green is also a member of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant colleges.

The University’s faculty members, 71 percent of whom hold the highest degree in their fields, include Fulbright Scholars, authors and nationally known researchers. The caliber of the faculty is reflected, too, in the number of academic programs which are regionally and nationally recognized, including the chemistry and philosophy departments which host Ohio Eminent Scholars. A third Ohio Eminent Scholar grant will be added in the Department of Psychology in 1991. The scholar program was created by the Ohio Board of Regents to attract world-class educators and researchers to the state’s universities.

While committed to teaching, faculty are researchers as well, generating new knowledge through independent research and involvement in University units such as the Population and Society Research Center, the Center for the Study of Popular Culture and the Social Philosophy and Policy Center.

Bowling Green is also the site of the National Drosophila Species Center and the Mid-America Stock Center—the largest scientific facilities of their kind in the world—where University faculty assist in supplying some 400 species of fruit flies to scientists involved in genetics and cancer research around the globe.

The University’s students come from throughout the United States and nearly 60 foreign nations. While most students are between the ages of 18-22, the number of those older than 25 is increasing. During the spring term of the 1989-90 academic year, there were more than 3,300 "non-traditional" adult students enrolled in undergraduate and graduate programs on a full- or part-time basis.

The focal point of the 1,250-acre campus is the nine-story Jerome Library, with its collection of more than four million items, including 1.5 million volumes plus journals, periodicals, microforms, government documents and other materials. Special sections of the library include the Center for Archival Collections which houses materials relevant to northwest Ohio history and the Sound Recording Archives with 400,000 recordings. The Institute for Great Lakes Research, located in Perrysburg, contains an extensive collection of materials on the shipping industry’s past and present.

The University is continually refurbishing its more than 100 existing buildings and upgrading facilities to meet current needs. In recent years, nearly $83 million has been allocated for new construction and remodeling projects.

The University is also meeting the challenge of tomorrow’s high-tech education. It currently has 19 computer labs, including one in every residence hall complex, for use by students. And talk is now underway of installing computers in every residence hall room.

"An Environment for Excellence." Dr. Paul J. Olscamp adopted that slogan for his administration when he became Bowling Green State University's eighth president in 1982.

To create that environment, he charted a course that would move Bowling Green into the ranks of the country's most important colleges and universities. The effort has focused on teaching, research and service and has involved a University-wide commitment to excellence.

Since arriving on campus, the president has aimed at fulfilling that vision. Early in his administration, Olscamp and the faculty outlined the task ahead in a 27-goal document called the Role and Mission Statement. Most of the goals centered on improving the quality of undergraduate and graduate students, the academic programs, the learning environment and the faculty and its resources.

Now, as Olscamp begins his ninth year at Bowling Green, many of those original goals have been met and new priorities have been established, including the recruitment of minority faculty and students, and greater emphasis upon research production.

One of his most important accomplishments has been to fully involve the faculty in University governance. Faculty now have a key role in developing the annual budget and share authority with the president in interpreting the University's Academic Charter. The faculty also have greater control over the curriculum and development of new academic programs.

Olscamp brings a personal touch to the presidency and frequently hosts students for breakfast at his home, eats with them in campus dining halls and attends as many student events as his schedule permits. He also holds weekly forums for students wanting to discuss campus issues. During the past six years, he has played host to more than 675 faculty members at a series of "fireside talks" at his home.

HIGHLIGHTING THE OLSCAMPS ADMINISTRATION

A great deal has happened at Bowling Green since 1982. Here are some of the highlights:

Academic Programs
- Creation of Bowling Green's first endowed professorships, in management, finance, chemistry and philosophy.
- Development of the Center for Photochemical Sciences, the only one of its kind in the country. Photochemistry is a multibillion dollar growth industry and some key research for that industry is being conducted at Bowling Green.
- Appointment of an Ohio Eminent Scholar in both Photochemical Sciences and Moral Philosophy; the positions are the result of two $500,000 grants from the Ohio Board of Regents. In 1990, Bowling Green was awarded its third Ohio Eminent Scholar grant; this one in Psychology. The appointment is expected to be made in 1991.
- Addition of doctoral programs in Applied Philosophy and Photochemical Sciences; the 13th and 14th Ph.D. offerings at Bowling Green.
- Increasing in 1990 to 61 the number of National Merit scholars, the most ever in University history and a figure that places Bowling Green in the top 25 universities in the country.
- Establishing the University's first major scholarships for minority students.
- A network of computer labs throughout the campus, including labs in each residence hall. Now, there is talk of installing a computer in every residence hall room.
- Securing more than $5 million from the Board of Regent's Selective Excellence Programs, which are designed to attract top scholars, conduct pioneering research and develop centers of excellence. Grants have been awarded in both the sciences and the humanities.
- Increasing library holdings to more than four million items including 1.6 million books, plus journals, periodicals, microforms, government documents and other materials.

Physical Plant
- Nearly $83 million in state capital improvement funds for renovation and new construction projects.
- Completion of $7.2 million Physical Sciences Laboratory Building in 1984 and a $3.65 million addition to the Business Administration Building in 1988.
- A $9.1 million addition to the Fine Arts Building; the groundbreaking ceremony will be held this fall.
- $9.9 million in funding to construct a new classroom building.
- Major renovation and refurbishing of existing campus buildings including Williams, Overman, Hayes and Shatzel halls, and Eppler Complex. Construction of a $2 million office building to house faculty and staff temporarily displaced by renovation projects and later to be used for permanent offices.

University Finances
- Growth in the University endowment from $1.9 million in 1982 to more than $27 million by the end of 1990.
- Creation of an internal endowment fund of $4 million from various University reserves. The balance is approaching $8 million and is expected to reach $10 million in two years. Interest on the $10 million principle will be used to supplement the academic budget.
- Developing a plan that restructures debt service obligations and is projected to result in a $35 million principle in 12 years. Interest on that amount, which could approach $3 million annually, will go toward the academic budget.
- Most successful fund raising drive in University history. With the assistance of the development and alumni office, the 75th Anniversary Fund raised more than $15 million in three years; well above the $12.5 million goal. Donations included the University's first two $1 million gifts—from the Stranahan Foundation of Toledo for the Social Philosophy and Policy Center and from Harold and Helen McMaster of Perrysburg for the McMaster Leadership Institute. In 1988 the Stranahan Foundation awarded a $3 million grant to the Social Philosophy and Policy Center.
With the dawn of a decade comes the hope for 10 years of success equal to or greater than the previous 10 years. That won't be easy.

Bowling Green sports teams of the 1980s achieved a level of success matched by few. Bowling Green claimed 24 conference titles during the 1980s, 19 in the Mid-American Conference and four in the Central Collegiate Hockey Association. Twenty-one teams were involved in post-season titles during the 1980s, 19 in the Mid-American Conference and four in the Central Collegiate Hockey Association. Twenty-one teams were involved in post-season play in the NCAA, NIT and California Bowl.

Each of the 19 Falcon sports teams has helped build and maintain the "Winning Tradition" at BGSU.

BASEBALL — The Falcons will have a new leader in the dugout this season in first-year coach Danny Schmitz. Schmitz, who most recently was an assistant coach at Eastern Michigan, also played in the minor leagues at the AAA level. Many former players have gone on to play professional baseball including two of the top pitchers in the game today—Roger McDowell of the Philadelphia Phillies and Orel Hershiser of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

MEN'S BASKETBALL — Coach Jim Larrañaga's Falcons are in the hunt for a MAC championship. An NIT qualifier a year ago, BG will have its sights set on an NCAA Tournament berth with a veteran roster of 11 lettermen and five returning starters. The Falcons, who upset Big 10 Champion Michigan State last season, were ranked as high as 11th in the USA Today computer ratings. Historically, BGSU leads the MAC in post-season appearances (22 games) and victories (eight).

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL — Coach Fran Voll, a two-time MAC Coach of the Year, has led the Falcons to four-straight MAC Tournament Championships and four-straight NCAA Tournament appearances. BG has entered the NCAA, NIT and California Bowl.

FOOTBALL — Bowling Green closed out the 1980s by posting the second-best record in the MAC over the last 10 years. The Falcons had a winning record in league play in eight of the last nine years. BG won two MAC titles and made two trips to the California Bowl in the 1980s, while also setting the MAC single-game attendance record of 33,527 at Doyt Perry Field. Coach Moe Ankney's 1990 squad will feature 45 returning lettermen, including 12 starters.

GOLF — Coach Greg Nye's men's and women's golf teams play on some of the most challenging courses in the country and in some of the most prestigious tournaments on the collegiate level. The BGSU men's program has won four MAC Championships and made four NCAA Tournament appearances while the women's program is annually among the best in the region. The men had six top ten finishes last season while the women were among the top ten teams in four tournaments.

GYMNASTICS — Year in and year out, Coach Charles Simpson fields an MAC title contender. With three MAC titles since 1980, the Falcons have qualified as a team for post-season competition four of the last seven years. In each of the last two seasons, his teams have consistently increased the school record for team score led by Mary Beth Friel, only a sophomore, who qualified for the NCAA regional meet last winter.

HOCKEY — A winning tradition is what the Falcon hockey program is all about. One of only five teams in the country to earn 20 or more wins in each of the last nine seasons, BGSU will be looking to make its fifth consecutive appearance in the NCAA Tournament this season. In all, the Falcons have appeared in nine NCAA Tournaments winning the 1984 national title. Coach Jerry York ranks among the best collegiate coaches of all-time with 406 career wins having led the Falcons to four CCHA regular season championships and one league play-off title. In all, the Falcons have won seven conference titles. BGSU has produced some of college hockey's greatest names, including 10 players who currently hold positions on NHL rosters.

SOCCER — Coach Gary Palmisano's Falcons posted a winning record in all but one year of the 1980s and his 1990 team has the potential to be one of the best ever. Last fall, playing with seven freshmen starters, the Falcons were under consideration for an NCAA bid after posting a 12-3-3 record. The Falcons concluded the season as the #4 team in the region. The BGSU schedule annually includes perennial NCAA power Indiana and other top teams in the region. BGSU also hosts the Kwik Goal/BGSU Classic having won the title in four of the five years the tournament has been contested.

SOFTBALL — Head Coach Jacquie Joseph begins her third year in charge of the Falcon softball program. Two strong recruiting classes should produce a BG team that will be ready to challenge for the MAC title. The Falcons last won the MAC Championship in 1988, a year that ended with BGSU playing host to the NCAA Midwest Regionals.

SWIMMING — Coach Brian Gordon, MAC Co-Coach of the Year in 1988, is back for his fourth year with the Falcon men and women hoping to reap the benefits of his work recruiting during his tenure. The Falcon women have made winning a habit. It began with the 1981 MAC Championship and continued with second-place finishes in each of the next seven seasons. Last winter, the men hosted the MAC Championship at beautiful Cooper Pool, one of the Midwest’s top swimming and diving facilities and this season the women will take their turn as the host.

TENNIS — The Falcon tennis teams have the advantage of playing and practicing at one of the finest facilities of its kind in the region—Robert Keele Courts. The men’s team, under the guidance of third-year coach Gene Orlando, is continuing to improve and will have five veterans returning for the 1990-91 campaign. The women’s program has a new leader in first-year coach Penny Dean. Dean will have seven letterwinners returning from a team that won 15 dual matches in 1990, a school record.

TRACK & FIELD — Bowling Green, long associated with success in track and field, is fast becoming a regional power in the field events. The Falcon men have claimed an MAC champion in the shot put or discus the last three years, while the Falcon women have produced the last three MAC discus champions, including two-time All-American Beth Manson. Sid Sink heads the men’s track team, while Steve Price directs the women’s program.

VOLLEYBALL — Seven years of hard work by head coach Denise Van De Walle paid off in 1989 as the Falcons captured the regular-season MAC title breaking Western Michigan’s seven-year stranglehold and the Broncos 98-match league winning streak. Van De Walle earned league Coach of the Year honors for a third time after the ‘89 season, if the Falcons are to repeat, Van De Walle will need to find a replacement for setter Linda Popovich who concluded a brilliant career setting two MAC records while earning conference Player of the Year honors.

Improved Facilities Aid BG Athletes

By Paul Jewell

Bowling Green’s 1990 Falcon football team members returned to campus this fall as the beneficiaries of a completely renovated locker room and a greatly improved athletic fitness center.

A three-year capital improvement project to modernize the football locker room, situated on the northeast side of Doyt L. Perry Field, was completed this summer, according to Ken Kavanagh, BGSU assistant athletic director.

The plan’s first phase was completed in 1988, when the entire locker area was waterproofed, providing the base for future improvements.

In the summer of 1989, the area was enlarged by removing a wall that divided the main locker area from an adjoining room. The one larger locker room that resulted was re-painted last year, as well.

The final phase was finished this past summer with the addition of new carpet and 95 open-air wood lockers. The carpet is brown in color and features a large orange Falcon head in-lay, matching BGSU’s official athletic logo.

The lockers, arranged numerically by players’ jersey numbers, allow for convenient storage of all pads, helmet, athletic gear, clothes and personal items, with plenty of open space to spare.

The objectives for the renovation, Kavanagh said, were to create more space in the locker area with functional, single-station lockers. The result is a first-class facility, sure to please both players and coaches.

Bowling Green’s 5,800-square foot fitness center has grown with the addition of several new pieces of equipment.

Joey Batson, BGSU’s athletic strength and conditioning coach, said the additional equipment was necessary to effectively execute exercise programs for student-athletes on all 19 BGSU intercollegiate teams.

The new equipment, funded in part by a generous contribution from the Varsity BG Club, includes benches, heavy dumbbells, a power clean platform, and a substantial amount of free weights.

“The Varsity BG Club saw the need and added a real boost to the program,” said Batson.

The additions were made at an ideal time — right before the start of winter conditioning. An increased number of athletes can be in the center at one time because of the new equipment. More equipment allows Batson to schedule more workouts for shorter periods of time, increasing productivity.

The football team’s off-season conditioning program has improved from the changes with increased attendance and enthusiasm by the players, said Batson.

Batson said his short-term goal for the fitness center is to complete the free weight area. Looking at his long-term goals, Batson hopes to purchase the more durable (and more expensive) weight machines.

“The fitness center has the potential for continued improvements,” Batson said.

Both Batson and Kavanagh agree, Bowling Green has made great strides to get the most out of their facilities the last few years. The newly renovated locker room and the improved fitness center are just two examples of the improvements the University is committed to making to keep BGSU competitive with the best programs in the Mid-American Conference.

JACK GREGORY

Since his appointment nine years ago as director of athletics at Bowling Green State University, John C. (Jack) Gregory has set a standard of excellence designed to place Falcon men's and women's teams on equal terms with today's elite intercollegiate athletic programs. To reach these goals, Gregory challenges his staff of administrators, coaches and classified personnel to settle for nothing less than the very best. His challenge has resulted in some of the finest moments in the history of intercollegiate athletics at BGSU:

• the 1984 NCAA Division I Ice Hockey Championship;
• 13 Mid-American Conference regular season championships in football, men's and women's basketball, softball, women's cross country, gymnastics, men's golf, and last fall, volleyball;
• two California Bowl victories in football, and softball and women's basketball games during Gregory's tenure. Soccer, volleyball, gymnastics and softball are drawing larger crowds, too.

Last fall, the Falcon football team played before two of the 10 largest crowds in the 23-year history of Doyt L. Perry Field. More than 24,000 fans turned out for the first night game in Perry Field history.

In 1983, 33,527 fans packed Perry Field to witness the Bowling Green-Toledo football clash, one of the most successful coaches in the MAC single game attendance marks fell that afternoon. Two years later, the Falcons drew a record 112,110 fans for five home games, giving BGSU the second-largest average attendance (22,422) in MAC history. In 1987, Bowling Green set still another MAC attendance record by playing in front of 84,574 fans at Penn State. Sell-out crowds for BGSU hockey games are a tradition. The 1989-90 season featured the addition of 1,700 seats to the BGSU Ice Arena, and all attendance records were broken, including single game (5,005) and season (79,376).

With the growing interest in TV sports programming, Gregory has aggressively negotiated for live television coverage of BGSU sports events. Last year, Falcon football, basketball and hockey all attracted live TV coverage. This year promises more of the same. Falcon football and basketball will be aired as part of the MAC Game of the Week broadcasts, while Falcon hockey will continue to play in front of a national TV audience as part of the CCHA Game of the Week.

Gregory, 62, has also been instrumental in the development of the Falcon Club, the University's official athletic department booster club. Recent membership drives have encompassed all of northern and west central Ohio, resulting in unparalleled growth in cash and pledges. The Falcon Club has more than doubled its income and grown to such an extent that it compares favorably with any athletic support organization in the country.

Still, Gregory understands the integrity of college athletics depends on the continued emphasis of the "student" in student-athlete. In that regard, he appointed an academic coordinator in 1984, the first such appointment in the MAC. Many BGSU student-athletes have excelled in the classroom. Volleyball's Linda Popovich was the MAC'S first female to receive the Byers Scholarship from the NCAA in May, 1990. There were more than 150 BGSU scholar-athletes with grade point averages of 3.0 or better in 1989-90, including three who were named Academic All-Americans, raising the total to 14 Academic All-Americans in the last four years.

A 1952 graduate of East Stroudsburg State College and holder of a master's degree from Temple University, Gregory was a teacher and coach at William Penn High School in New Castle, Delaware, and later at P.S. Dupont High School in Wilmington, Delaware. In 1959, he returned to East Stroudsburg as head football coach and assistant professor of physical education. One of the most successful coaches in the school's history, Gregory was inducted into the East Stroudsburg Athletic Hall of Fame in October, 1983.

In 1965, Gregory was named assistant football coach at the U.S. Naval Academy. Two years later, he was named head football coach at Villanova University. In 1969, he moved to the University of Rhode Island, where he served as head football coach for seven years. In his 25 years as a head coach, Gregory's teams compiled a record of 132-69, including four undefeated seasons and seven league championships. He was twice selected as NAIA Coach of the Year, twice selected as Pennsylvania Coach of the Year and was named NCAA District Coach of the Year once.

Gregory joined the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League in 1976 and served in the personnel department for three years before becoming associate director at Yale University from 1978 to 1982.

Jack and his wife, Peg, reside in Bowling Green and have two sons and one granddaughter.
Today's Halftime Show

1990 FALCON MARCHING BAND

The place . . . Detroit, Michigan! The time . . . late 60's, early 70's. The musical sounds were unique, refreshing, and certainly a style that has stood the test of time. The Bowling Green State University Falcon Marching Band presents for you today a musical montage based upon the sounds of "Motown".

We begin with the Jackson 5's smash hit, "I'll Be There!" Who could forget the piercing voice of a young Michael Jackson! Better yet, who would have predicted his meteoric rise as a pop superstar? From "I'll Be There", the band moves into formation after formation with The Temptations' driving tune, "Get Ready!"

The music of Motown began with various vocal and instrumental groups. One of the pioneering groups was three young ladies whose hits such as "Stop, In the Name of Love", "You Can't Hurry Love", "I Hear A Symphony", and "Baby Love" were always at the top of the charts. You knew them as ... "The Supremes!"

After an onslaught of vocal and instrumental groups, individual talents and personalities began to reach for star status. One young woman was tabbed as the "Queen of Soul". Her name was Aretha Franklin and her signature song was entitled "R-E-S-P-E-C-T!" Keep your eyes on the field during this one!

The Falcon Marching Band closes with a tribute to one particular group and one single star. The group . . . The Temptations, and the star . . . Diana Ross. The selections include "My Girl" and "Ain't No Mountain High Enough".

ATHLETIC PROMOTIONS
by BRAD BROWNING
Director, Marketing & Promotions

Hello everyone and welcome to another day of home Falcon football. Today's game has been designated Varsity BG Day and during pregame activities we will recognize this year's honorees. Varsity BG Day is an annual event that brings former Falcon letter winners back to campus. In addition, there are three awards presented. Congratulations to this year's recipients!

Glenn Van Wormer, Honorary Letterman Award
Ford Murray, Golden Anniversary Award
Chuck Ramsey, Silver Anniversary Award

Today is also Group Day and I would like to wish all of today's participants an enjoyable visit to BGSU and Perry Field.

As mentioned, both the men's and women's basketball squads will be in home exhibition action within the next two weeks. On Friday, November 2 Fran Voll's team will host an AAU Team beginning at 8:00 p.m. Then, Jim Larranaga's men will be in home action on Thursday, November 8 against Verich Reps Association starting at 8:00 p.m. Admission is free to both games. Come on out to Anderson Arena and preview these highly-touted teams!

Thank you for coming today and supporting the Falcons! We hope to see you again for our final home game on November 10 against Western Michigan.

Alma Mater
Alma Mater hear us,
As we praise thy name
Make us worthy sons and daughters
Adding to thy fame.
Time will treat you kindly
Years from now you'll be
Ever dearer in our hearts,
Our University.
From your halls of ivy
To the campus scene,
Chimes ring out with gladness
From our dear Bowling Green.
When all is just a mem'ry
Of the by-gone days,
Hear our hymn dear Alma Mater
As thy name we praise.

Ay Ziggy Zoomba Zoomba Zoomba
Ay Ziggy Zoomba Zoomba Ze
Ay Ziggy Zoomba Zoomba Zoomba
Ay Ziggy Zoomba Zoomba Zi
Roll 'em down you BG warriors
Roll 'em down and win for BGSU

Retired Jersey
The only football jersey ever retired at Bowling Green is #29. It was worn by Paul Miles from 1971-73, when he rushed for 3,239 yards and 25 touchdowns. He was a three-time All-Mid-American Conference running back, gaining more than 1,000 yards in each of his three years on the varsity.

Frieda & Freddie Falcon
Frieda Falcon and Freddie Falcon are the official mascots of the Bowling Green Falcons. Together with the BGSU Cheerleaders, Frieda and Freddie boost spirit at intercollegiate athletic events. Tryouts are held each spring, and the winners remain anonymous to the student body until each is beheaded at the last home hockey and basketball games.

Why Orange and Brown?
Burnt Orange and Seal Brown have been the school colors at Bowling Green State University since 1914, the first year of classes. Legend has it that Leon Winslow, an industrial arts faculty member, got the idea from watching a woman's hat on a bus trip to nearby Toledo, OH. He liked the brown and orange color combination.
The NCAA—Working Together Toward a Common Goal
By David Housel, Sports Information Director, Auburn University

What is the NCAA? The question could be answered simply by saying “National Collegiate Athletic Association,” but in reality the NCAA is much more than four words beginning with the letters N-C-A-A.

It is also much more than a staff working in Overland Park, Kansas, on administrative details of America’s intercollegiate athletics programs.

To say that the NCAA is a staff or a group of people is to misunderstand not only what the NCAA is, but what its goals and objectives are. It is to misunderstand its very reason for being.

In reality, the NCAA is composed of some 1,000 colleges universities and organizations across the United States. The NCAA, in its truest sense, is every member institution working together for the common good of all. It is democracy in action. All rules, all policies, all procedures, even the directions and goals of the NCAA are determined by the colleges and universities working and voting together in a common body.

As with any organization made up of individuals or member institutions, the requirements in any given area, be it academic or enforcement, are continually changing in response to the desires of the membership. But the goal is always the same—a sound mind, a sound body, a spirit that is unafraid and a clean sports program that develops those qualities individually, institutionally and nationally.

Perhaps no area of the NCAA comes under more inspection than the enforcement program. Yet, even there, the NCAA is responsive to the needs and concerns of the individual institutions working together for what they perceive to be the common good. The colleges and universities make the rules. The NCAA staff, working under the direction of the colleges and universities, simply administer the programs designed by the members. And it is the Committee on Infractions, which is comprised of college administrators from around the country, that determines sanctions levied against fellow members.

Just as integrity is the key to an academic program, it also is vital to healthy competition between NCAA member institutions. The colleges and universities seek to create an atmosphere in which all institutions have an equal chance to recruit America’s outstanding student-athletes. It is then up to member schools to help the individual student-athletes be as good as they can be, both in the classroom and in their athletic endeavors.

For all of the attention it receives, the enforcement program is but one small part of the NCAA’s total concern. The NCAA administers 77 championships in three divisions in 22 sports. More than 15,000 men and women student-athletes compete annually in these events, designed to determine the national champion.

Other programs under the auspices of the NCAA include the National Youth Sports Program, cosponsored by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Office of Community Services, Family Support Administration, and the nation’s colleges and universities. NYSP is a unique summer program that offers sports skills instruction, competition, improved physical fitness, and enrichment opportunities for economically disadvantaged youth between the ages of 10 and 16.

The NCAA conducts free Youth Education through Sports (YES) clinics in many sports, annually providing thousands of youngsters expert instruction from the best collegiate coaches, as well as important information about academics and substance abuse prevention.

The NCAA also administers several scholarship programs that benefit not only deserving student-athletes but also students in general. The NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship Program has distributed more than $3.2 million to some 2,000 student-athletes for full-time graduate study; two Walter Byers Postgraduate Scholarship winners annually receive $7,500 renewable stipends; the NCAA Ethnic Minority Enhancement Program and the NCAA Women’s Enhancement Program each provide scholarship awards to qualified individuals for postgraduate study in sports administration; and the NCAA makes available grants to undergraduate student-athletes who have exhausted their institutional financial aid opportunity and who wish to complete their undergraduate degrees.

More information about these scholarship programs is available from the NCAA administration department.

The NCAA also sponsors one of America’s foremost honors programs, which is designed to recognize yesterday’s and today’s top athletes, and the contributions of intercollegiate athletics as a whole to the country and society.

It has been said, and rightfully so, that sports is but a microcosm of society. Never before has it been more true, for sport and for the NCAA.

However, the goal of the NCAA is still the same—America’s colleges and universities working together for the common good of higher education, and the young men and women who study and compete for NCAA member institutions.

Doyt L. Perry Field, with its 30,000-plus seating capacity, is celebrating its 24th year as the home of Bowling Green State University football.

Built in 1966 for approximately $3 million as a replacement for the 43-year-old University Stadium, Perry Field had a capacity of 23,272 until bleacher seats were installed in both end zones in 1982.

One of the largest and most attractive athletic facilities in the Mid-American Conference, Perry Field holds the conference record for single-game attendance.

On October 8, 1983, a huge crowd of 33,527 packed into Perry Field for the annual Northwest Ohio rivalry between Bowling Green and Toledo, establishing a school and MAC record for single-game attendance. The Falcons went on to set a season record, breaking the six-digit figure for five games with a total draw of 100,021. It marked the first time in history that Bowling Green averaged more than 20,000 fans for five home football games.

That figure was topped in 1985, when Bowling Green posted a perfect record (11-0) in the regular season and clinched the MAC Championship by shutting out arch-rival Toledo at Perry Field in November. More than 28,000 fans turned out that day, raising Bowling Green’s season attendance to an all-time high 112,000, an average of 22,400.

Perry Field is more than just a football facility. The east side of the stadium includes dressing rooms, equipment and training rooms, along with the Athletic Department offices. The west side received a face-lift three years ago. A physical fitness center/weight room opened its doors for all 19 intercollegiate athletic teams in the summer of 1988.

Also situated on the west side of Perry Field are the Falcon Club offices and clubhouse, the academic affairs office, the track and cross country offices, as well as maintenance and storage areas.

Sitting atop the press box on the west side of the stadium is the plush Stadium Club. Now in its 11th year of operation, the Stadium Club’s 106 theater-type seats, which are all sold, provide loyal BGSU fans with a fine view of the game. The President’s Box, located on top of the east side of the stadium, provides luxury seating for President Paul J. Olsbamp and other supporters of Falcon football.

Bowling Green won the first game ever played in Perry Field, defeating Dayton, 13-0, on October 1, 1966. Since that time, the Falcons have won almost 65 percent of their home games, compiling a 75-41-3 record in the 119 games played at Perry Field.
Field. Over the last seven seasons, Bowling Green is 26-6-1 at home for a .757 winning percentage.

A multi-purpose facility, Perry Field has also hosted concerts, NFL exhibition games, and major soccer tournaments.

Perry Field is named in honor of the man who led Bowling Green to a 77-11-5 record in his 10 years as the head coach of the Falcons. Doyt L. Perry was simply one of the greatest football coaches of his day. His .855 winning percentage over 10 seasons in the Division 1-A list are above that figure — Knute Rockne at .881 (Notre Dame) and Frank Leahy at .884 (Boston College and Notre Dame).

Perry, 80, known for his well-organized practices and attention-to-detail meetings, never stopped thinking of ways to succeed. He was a winner in football and as a high school basketball coach. His basketball teams were 161-35 over nine seasons and his high school track teams won 70 county titles in nine years.

"First, I always tried to get the best assistant coaches possible," Perry said of his success. "Then we sought to eliminate mistakes as far as possible."

After stepping down as Bowling Green’s head football coach in 1964, Doyt Perry remained as the BGSU athletic director for six years.

WELCOME TO DOYT L. PERRY FIELD

The Varsity BG Club is an exclusive organization open only to former Bowling Green State University varsity letterwinners, who, for a non-tax deductible contribution of $10 per year, can help operate the club and support BGSU athletics at the same time. Almost 500 former Falcon letterwinners were Varsity BG Club members last year. Again this year, the Varsity BC Club is offering a lifetime membership for $100; no other dues will ever be required. Lifetime memberships for those 65 and older are only $50.

The Varsity BG Club undertakes three major projects each year, the first of which is the spring Recognition Reception honoring the College Coach of the Year, the High School Coach of the Year, and the Special Recognition Award Winner. Then in July we will enjoy another Doyt Perry Golf Outing at the BGSU Forrest Creason Golf Course. Each fall, the annual Varsity BG Day festivities take place in conjunction with a Bowling Green football game. It’s a great day to return to campus and visit with former classmates and teammates.

We are looking forward to another big year for the Varsity BG Club and Falcon athletics, and all we need from you is your participation.

MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS
All active members of the Varsity BG Club will receive:
• Membership in an exclusive organization open only to BGSU varsity letterwinners.
• A list of special activities and programs, such as the ones described above.
• Subscription to the quarterly newsletter.
• Personal satisfaction in contributing to BGSU athletics through your continued involvement.

OPTIMISM ABOUNDS AS FALCONS READY FOR SEASON OPENER

Seven Seniors Return From NIT Team

Bowling Green State University head basketball coach Jim Larranaga is probably the envy of the Mid-American Conference coaches, if not most coaches on the national scene.

No, the Falcons haven't added the next Ralph Sampson, whom Larranaga coached at Virginia when he was an assistant there, to the 1990-91 squad but the Falcons do have depth and experience returning at every position. BG is one of the most experienced team in the country.

"This will be the most experienced team we've had in my five years," said Larranaga, who has guided the Falcons to a 57-57 record during what could be termed a four-year development period. "It is a group that has enjoyed some success and is anxious to take another giant step forward. This group has worked extremely hard to be in position to challenge for the MAC title."

The Falcons have all the ingredients needed to contest for conference and national honors beginning with 11 returning letterwinners and a talented group of first-year players. The last Falcon team to capture the league title was John Weinert's 1982-83 team while the last BG appearance in the NCAA Tournament was in 1967-68 season.

As is the case in any team sport, a leader is needed to be successful and the Falcons have one of the best in the MAC in senior point guard Clinton Venable. BG's 5-11 "quarterback" has already been named to the pre-season All-MAC team after leading the team in scoring (16.8), free throw shooting (.864), assists (133), steals (46) and three-point shooting (.352). Venable's shooting from the free throw stripe placed him seventh in the nation last season while also earning first team All-MAC honors.

Venable has been tabbed by two magazines, Dick Vitale's Basketball and Big Ten, as the pre-season favorite to be the league MVP.

Also returning after earning all-league kudos, second team, is 6-3 forward Joe Moore. Moore is one of the most versatile players in the league, leading the MAC in field goal shooting (.603), while also ranking among the leaders in rebounding (7.3), steals (1.24) and scoring (12.4). He ended his junior season with a 30-point performance in the NIT game against Cincinnati.

Larranaga will also have players returning at each of the other three positions who started last season.

Junior guard Kirk Whiteman averaged 5.6 points while making 19 starts, senior center Ed Colbert averaged 6.9 points and 5.3 rebounds and senior forward Steve Watson also returns after averaging 10.7 points and 6.2 rebounds. Watson was also 18th in the country in free throw shooting connecting on 86.9% of his attempts.

In the frontcourt, the Falcons will rely on the experience of senior Derek Kizer and Tom Hall to provide spark off the bench. Hall averaged 7.9 points and 4.6 rebounds as the "super sub" last season including a 16-rebound performance against Miami. Newcomers Jason Crump (6-10, center), Matt Otto (6-5, forward), Juan Street (6-6, forward) and Jason Hall (6-7, forward) will add depth at the position. Crump, a native of Tilston, England, is a member of the English National Team. His presence gives the Falcon coaching staff the option of putting a big lineup on the floor when Crump is inserted along with Colbert.

In the backcourt, senior Billy Johnson and sophomore Vada Burnett both have collegiate experience and should contribute, Johnson was third on the team last season with an 11.5 point average.

Sophomores Michael Huger and Joe Bair will also vie for playing time. Huger could be the best three-point shooter on the team while Bair will shift his focus from football to basketball after the Nov. 10 game against Western Michigan. Bair is the back-up strong safety on the BG football team.

"We are an experienced team, and with experience comes responsibility," Larranaga said. "The upperclassmen have learned what it takes to win at this level and they have to help all of our rookies to learn our system and what it takes to be successful."

The Falcons, 18-11 one year ago and 9-7 in the MAC, play exhibition games Nov. 8 and 16 and begin the regular-season Nov. 26 at home against Heidelberg. BG's non-conference schedule also includes a Dec. 1 showdown with Michigan State in Anderson Arena, and road contests against Western Kentucky, St. Peter's and Siena. BG is also playing in the Ameritus Classic hosted by Nebraska.

The Falcons open MAC play Jan. 2 at Miami and will play at least twice, Jan. 5 and Jan. 12, on the MAC Game of the Week.
