A large number of requests for extension courses have recently been received by the College. Two large, active centers have already been organized, and have started work, one at Fostoria, and the other at Oak Harbor. The former meets at 4:15 P.M. on Thursdays and the latter at 7:00 P.M. on Tuesdays.

A third large group have also requested extension work in college geology; but this class is not yet in actual operation. Besides the two active classes in college geology, taught by Prof. Holt, Dr. McCain is offering a course in literature that meets at Oak Harbor; and Mrs. Gryting is soon to start a class in mathematics at the same place.

While certain other nearby colleges have been making vigorous attempts to invade Bowling Green territory and offer extension courses, the various requests for such courses to be given by State College professors have come wholly unsolicited. This is a fine tribute of loyalty to B. G. S. C. and professors; and also to the willingness of the college to serve her students and friends, even where a distinct sacrifice has to be made by giving such courses at night and at other times outside of regular class hours.

If there is a further desire for extension courses in other subjects than those already arranged for, it would be well to confer with President Williams regarding the possibilities of offering such courses.

The program of harp music presented by Alberto Salvi at 8:15 Tuesday evening, October 24, was well received by the faculty and students of the college. For the first part of the program Salvi played "Prelude" by Debussy-Salvi, "Lotus Land" by Cyril Scott, "Etude A Flat" and "Fantasie Impromptu," by Chopin, and "Grande Studio" by Alvars. "Foccata" by Louilette, "Alcmande" and "Gavotte, Bourree" by Bach, and "Feerie Prelude et Danse" by Fourner formed the second part of the program. And the last but not the least enjoyable part consisted of "Moment Muscrale" by Schubert "The Swan" by Saint Saens, and Salvi's "Scherzo Classic." The members of the audience returned to their homes, boarding-places, or dormitories after the program well-satisfied with the evening's entertainment.

The number desiring to go to the Century of Progress Exposition has so increased that a second large transcontinental stage will be necessary to carry the Bowling Green party. There are possibly three or four reservations left on the second bus, unless they have been engaged within the past 24 hours.

Anyone desiring to go on this final trip should see W. P. Holt (third floor of Science Building) today.

THE BULLETIN BOARD

There is possibly no greater and more continuous center of college information than the bulletin board in the main corridor of the Administration Building. It provides a switch board of college activities in every form. Much difficulty could be eliminated, errors avoided, if every one would make it his duty to include the bulletin board in his daily campus itinerary. Let's get the bulletin board habit!

THE KEY

We are to have a Key! Work was begun last week on the 1934 Key, and with such an early start, and such eager cooperation as has been shown, there is every indication that our 1934 Key will be a key, not only in name, but in reality, for an effort is being made to present every phase of campus life.

In this connection, the cooperation of the various campus organizations will be necessary. This week, a special request is being made to present every phase of campus life.

The solution of the countries marketing problems will come largely through the cooperator.

Do unto others as you would have done unto you and they will come back for more.

Education is to an individual as water is to a seed—it makes him grow.

Co-eds of Soviet Russia are majoring in shoe making and minor ing in carpet weaving so that they may be prepared for careers in the industrial world.

A bit of doggerel from the Carnegie Tartan:
Laugh at all professors' jokes
No matter what they be,
Not because they're funny ones,
Just because it's policy.

President Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University says: "No wender there is a lot of knowledge in the colleges—the freshmen always bring in a little and the seniors never take away."

University of Minnesota co-eds are liable to fines of ten dollars or a jail sentence of six days if caught wearing a fraternity pin—Tower Times.

A story from the Education Sun reaches us of the meanest man in the world. He is a professor of Syracuse, who, while recovering from an appendicitis operation, gave lectures in bed to his chemistry students with the aid of a microphone, telephone exchange and radio loud speaker.

Believe It Or Not

Experience is like medicine; some persons require larger doses of it than others, and do not like to take it pure, but a little disguised and better adapted to the taste; like medicine, also, it is a cure for many ills to which we are liable.

If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door—Emerson.

Love is the one lesson no one ever completely learns.

A young person is tempted by every possibility, and the possibilities are infinite. Limiting himself to a choice irks him. He wants to have every kind of friend; to take every possible journey; to embrace all learning; to embark upon every kind of a career; to experience every kind of love. BUT one of life's conditions is that he must limit himself; he HAS TO CHOOSE. Then and only then, can he live deeply and steadily.

CHAPEL

Last Tuesday a very fine program was presented to the faculty and students. Marjorie Sams, whose lovely soprano voice we all like, sang two numbers "Dawn" by Curran, and "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal" by Quilter. She was accompanied by Fanchon DeVerna. The main feature of the program was a lecture on religion by the Rev. T. E. Winter of the Church of Christ.

Rev. Winter presented the idea that we never actually outgrow the essential parts of religion, and that the smaller parts of religion change with the growth of civilization. Religion is a part of man; thus, it has a life-wide function. The Psalms say, "Oh, taste and see that the Lord is good and happy is the man that trusteth in him." Likewise we must try religion before we can judge it, we must practice prayer before we can criticize it. A religious experience is similar to every experience. In it, something happens to you, you feel something, and you do something. The only genuine religions is that which is part of your own experience. We can never really outgrow the essential parts of religion without hurting ourselves.
Food For Thought

On the menu this time, we find two outstanding weekly magazines. One of these merely presents the news of the world; the other interprets current events in the light of modern liberalism.

The "appetizer" or mere news-recorder is Time, which should be read consistently by every college student. One who has not the time or opportunity for daily perusal of a newspaper will find the events of the week clearly, briefly, and concisely portrayed, with an absolutely non-partisan attitude.

The "piece de resistance" or news-interpreter is the Nation. This magazine, under the able hand of Oswald Garrison Villard, has long been a leader among the journals of liberal thought. The issue of October 18 contains several notable articles, of which we mention a few. Maurice Finklestein presents "The Dilemma of the Supreme Court —Will It Find the NRA and the AAA Unconstitutional?" He shows that "the Constitution and the precedents permit the Court to do practically anything it pleases," and concludes with the prediction of "a revolution in the Supreme Court." There are two articles on foreign affairs: "The German Nightmare" by Robert Dell, and "The Revolution in Spain" by Anita Brenner. They are both recommended as apparently authentic pictures of things as they are in Europe today.

Along the same line, is the anonymous "Arson DeLuxe" in October Horrors. This account of the firing of the German Reichstag last May will interest those who are following the trial of the five Communists charged with the deed.

In lighter vein, we note, for the benefit of S. S. Van Dine enthusiasts, that the current Pictorial Review contains the inciting installment of his latest mystery, "The Dragon Murder Case." Philo Vance here presents the solution to the series of puzzling crimes in his usual pseudo-scientific or semi-scientific manner.

Readers of the American Mercury will regret to learn that its editor H. L. Mencken is resigning in December. No finer tributes can be paid Mr. Mencken than that of the Nation, which rates him as "perhaps the most outstanding personality among contemporary American editors." His chair is being filled by Henry Hazlitt, for the past four years Literary Editor of the Nation.

"Paw, what's an advertisement?" asked little Hubert.

"An advertisement," explained the father, "is the picture of a pretty girl eating, cooking, chewing, smelling, gargling, smoking, rubbing, wearing or driving something which the advertisers are anxious to sell."

From a Dormitory Window

This dormitory window is like a choice seat at a three ring circus. I miss more than I see, but I see enough.

—Mr.

Um! Have you noticed the car Prof. Schwarz drives around the campus? And I used to think that school teachers (college professors included) had to walk, or drive Fords! Disillusioned again—but happily so.

If Kenny Weber has a cough it's his own fault for letting a certain little girl walk off with that box of cough drops! Better watch your heart, Kenny—you may lose it in the same manner.

Several girls have gone English and bought bicycles to ride to school. Charming, right.

So Gene Riffle goes with a high school girl now—and there are so many college girls! Wonder why? I can guess, but...

This rumor blew in the window, too. Friends of Doc Allensworth say that Doc is quite a business man, living two places, paying rent at only one.

Friday night in the dorm:

6 p.m. — Going to the dance?

Nope, I'm going to study!

8 p.m. — Going to the dance?

Nope, I'm going to bed!

12 p.m. — Well, how was the dance?

Great! Surely glad I went!

Moral: Yes means yes, and no means yes, too.

PROF. JOHN SCHWARZ TALKS AT ANNUAL P. T. A. CONFERENCE

The annual Parent-Teacher conference was held at the court house assembly room on Tuesday evening, October 17. Prof. Schwarz was the principle speaker. He said that common decency demands that we preserve and hand down to our children the things that have been constructive in our civilization. Through all the centuries men have been building economically, socially, politically, religiously, and educationally. That constitutes civilization. The breaking up, or destroying one or more of the fundamentals institutions is the breaking up of civilization. Today forces are at work tearing down civilization. The young people have a right to hold us responsible to preserve and to raise to higher levels the five institutions that bring about civilization.

To hold these institutions we have to fight, for the moment you sacrifice on essentials, that moment you are losing sight of the future welfare of boys and girls.

"So your wife has gone to Palm Beach for her health. What did she have?"

"Eight hundred dollars her father gave her."

LETTERS TO A FRIEND

Your question of "What is the matter with the American home?" is a fitting title to one of the greatest chapters in American History.

When this country was being settled during the years of 1700 to 1800, marriage was an economic necessity with some love thrown in to complete the bargain, but since the end of the 18th century, the American home has taken on a different aspect. It would take pages for full discussion, so I shall just hit the high spots, dealing with the moral side.

First, we have the young couple who are just starting out in married life. They have made little preparation for earning a livelihood and find themselves without funds and soon they become aware that they cannot live on love alone and there is one failure.

Second, the class of love at sight, marriage at night, and divorce tomorrow, for that is just about what it amounts too.

Last, and greatest of all is when the passionate love of a husband for one another begins to weaken. When this happens their attempt to awaken that romance with other men or women while legally married results in the dis-union of a home. Even babies and older children are not strong enough to bridge this gap. When men or women near fifty years of age try to awaken the embers of romance with younger people it is like comparing diamonds to rubbish. The gap between the two is too great.

Love should be and is the greatest thing in a successful monogamous family life, but that love takes on different aspects with the aging of the husband and wife. The greatest encourager of these rising passions that wreck the American home is the moving pictures and novel, with their idiotic scenes of passionate love. Even Mark Twain's saying "Real love is a quarter of a century of married life", does not hold true now. When love comes to the stage where man and woman are united in work, play, trust, and peace, the American homes will be secure.

Yours truly till next week,

K. H. S.

FIVE SISTER NEWS

Although this is the first time that you have heard from us this year, it is not because we have not been active in campus activities, for the Five Sisters are as full of vim and vigor as ever. Down at our new house on East Court Street, live eleven coeds with our house-mother, Mrs. Forest. In our midst are representatives of all the classes from the "green freshies," hope they'll forgive me, to the "dignified seniors." When we are weary of hearing the old stories of the trials of writing observation papers, practice teaching and education documents, it is a relief to turn to our freshmen and listen to them enthusiastically give their first impressions of college life. However, we fear for the health of one of the members of this latter group, for she insists upon arising between the unearthly hours of three and six nearly every morning, much to the dismay of her room-mates as well as of the rest of the members of the house. But never fear, Frau, you'll soon learn to place a higher value on sleep. However, taking all things into consideration we are a very congenial bunch and have great times together.

In order to get acquainted with some of the new girls on the campus, we held our first social affair of the season on last Tuesday night. At eight o'clock, thirty guests arrived to attend the "Five Sister School." Dressed in our little girl frocks and carrying our toys and dolls, we all entered the school room when Monica Fay, our prim school marm, rang the bell.

Qed: "Our first social affair of the season will be held in a number of towns of Northwestern Ohio, discussions centering about Old Age Pensions, and the Ten Mill Tax Levy, both of which are questions confronting the voters of Ohio in the coming election. This is a new project, initiated by Prof. Carmichael, head of our speech department. Bee Gee teams are being sent to appear before audiences of voters to present to them the pro's and con's of these issues. This is a very commendable plan, for it makes debating serve the valuable purpose for which it was first intended.

Work will soon begin on the Ohio conference question, and the Pi Kappa Delta question, with all efforts pointed toward participation in the National Pi Kappa Delta tournament at Lexington, Ky., next spring.

MATHEMATICS CLUB

The Mathematics Club will hold a meeting next Wednesday evening, Oct. 11, in the Administration Building. The main paper of the evening, "History and Derivation of Logarithms," will be presented by Helen Sterling. The supplementary papers to be given are "Briggs and Napier" by Wilfred Ingall, and "Mathematical Puzzles and recreations."
Bowling Green Wins From Ohio Northern, 6-0

Football Team Is Victorious

Before a large homecoming crowd, Bowling Green fought to a 6-0 victory over Ohio Northern at Ada, Saturday. The Falcons, with the memory of their recent defeat spurring them on, had to fight to the very last to hold the lone touchdown lead.

The only score of the game came five minutes after the game had started. The ball was tossed by Murray to the two ends, Phillips and Schwartz. Schwartz grabbed the pigskin and Phillips blocked the safety man for Schwartz who ran over for the tally.

After this whirlwind opening Ohio Northern tightened up and held B. G. to three first downs while they eked out nine themselves. Bowling Green .......... 6 0 0 0 – 6

Ohio Northern .......... 0 0 0 0 – 0

W. A. A. WILL HOLD FOREIGN FESTIVAL

The W. A. A. announces that there will be no regular meeting of the association next month. Instead a Foreign Festival for all college women will be held in Gymn A on November 1.

All girls who attend the Festival must be dressed in the costume of some foreign country and the evening’s entertainment is planned accordingly. The program of folk dances, games and specialty dances will begin at seven o’clock and there will be fun for everyone. Don’t forget to look up a costume over the week-end if you want to come to the Festival.

PHYSICAL ED. GIRLS HAVE HIKE AND ROAST

 Majors and minors in the Women’s Physical Education Department met at the Ad. building last Wednesday for a hike to the City Park and a steak roast there. The hike had been scheduled for Monday but was postponed because of rain. Marshmallows, hamburgers and weiners as well as steak made an appetizing supper for the girls after their short hike.

When the supper was finished they proceeded to get better acquainted. Three new members of the P. E. department, Geneva King, Mary Kirk and Freda Barron were put through a short initiation. Then each girl told what town she lived in, her class in college, and her course in the Department, major and minor. A few W. A. A. songs were sung and the meeting ended at eight o’clock.

TOLEDO ART MUSEUM FEATURES CINCINNATI SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, conducted by the noted composer, pianist, and violinist, Eugnie Goossens, will be heard in the Toledo Museum of Art peristyle, Oct. 31, as the second event in this season’s concert course. The organization has achieved its high artistic level both through the stress laid upon adequate rehearsals, and because its personnel has played together for so many years that the ensemble performs as one instrument. Today it ranks among the finest group of its kind in America. Its coming appearance in Toledo is being anticipated by all lovers of music.

MISS GRACE WILLS PRESENTS PAPER BEFORE WOMAN’S CLUB

At the meeting of the Woman’s Club, October 18, Miss Grace Wills gave the principal paper of the evening. She presented ably “A Critical Estimate of the Fair.” The present fair was contrasted with the Columbian exposition of 40 years ago. Among its outstanding differences is the fact that the past was searched for the exposition of 1893, while the future is looked into in 1933. The present exposition is practically American in its scope while the former was international. The commercial is stressed principally in the exhibits of 1933.

In defense of the much debated style of architecture Miss Wills contended that it is the expression of the times, the dash of the straight lines representing the progressiveness of America and the strong colors our restlessness. Miss Wills stressed in her discussion of this point that the designers are the ten outstanding architects of the day.

HALLOWE’EN PARTY

Friday night, Oct. 20, the Allen County Club sponsored an all-school Hallowe’en party in the Men’s Gym. The decorations, which were corn stalks, placed one immediately into the spirit of Hallowe’en. Many people were attractively masked. The prize for the best costume among the girls was given to Evelyn Wents, who was becomingly dressed as a Russian; the prize for the best costume among the boys was awarded to Mr. Lowry, who came as a giant and fearful ghost; the prize for the most original costume was won by Miss Holden, who was daringly dressed as a Hawaiian dancer. The evening was spent by dancing to the well-liked music of Leo Lake’s orchestra. Doughnuts and cider were served throughout the evening. Among the chaperons present were Mrs. Sharp, Miss Yocum, Dr. Martin and Dr. Otis.

Falcons In Many Celebrations

Three big shows in a row, is the program of our football team. Ohio Northern deserving to give her friends a real football game scheduled B. G. for her homecoming, Oct. 21. The boys brought the bacon home.

Toledo U. needed a real gate receipt drawing card for her grand homecoming game, Oct. 28th and could pick none better than our sturdy warriors.

The third homecoming for the boys is at home, November 4.

ORIOLES WIN FIRST HOCKEY GAME

The first hockey game of the season was played Wednesday, Oct. 18, on the new field behind the Practical Arts building. The girls of the Oriole and Bob-o-link teams played a lively game while the Tanagers held practice on the next field. The game ended with a score of three to two in favor of the Orioles. Two more hockey games are scheduled for Monday and Wednesday of this week.

COUNTY DISTRIBUTION OF STUDENTS

The student body of Bowling Green State College has representatives from forty-four counties in Ohio and five different states of the union. This distribution shows clearly the large drawing from nearby territory. Fifty-eight per cent of the students come from Wood County and adjacent counties. Fourteen per cent of the students come from Fulton, Williams, Defiance and Paulding. A tabulation with the number of students attending Bowling Green from each county is given below.
