Loveless to speak about future of art

Richard Loveless, Arizona State University, will present a lecture entitled "Open the Window to the 21st Century: Future Challenges for the Arts in Higher Education." The event is to be held at noon in the Wellness Center, 5th floor. All are welcome.

Sunday, April 5

Annual Undergraduate Student Art Exhibition. The Art Gallery, College of Fine Arts and Humanities, will be featuring the work of current students. Items will be on display 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Daily. Admission is free.

Seminar to highlight stress management

John Moore, personal services, will present a seminar titled "Knowing Stress" which will provide an overview of the latest research that links stress to health and illness. The seminar will look at ways to manage stress, as well as the impact of stress on health. It will take place at 2 p.m. in the Student Center, room 103. Tickets are free and available at the box office.

Faculty/staff positions available

The following administrative staff positions are available:

Dean's Office of Development and Alumni Affairs: director. Contact Dr. Mark B. Greenfield, dean of the School of Business, for more information. Deadline is March 31.

Office of the Provost: assistant dean of admissions. Contact Dr. John J. Kline, provost, for more information. Deadline is April 1.

The Back of the Room: full-time, temporary, part-time, and volunteer positions are available. Contact Dr. Karen D. Hixson, director, for more information. Deadline is April 15.

Women's Studies: director (90-120 week, part-time, annual contract only). Send letter of interest and curriculum vita with three letters of recommendation by March 15. Contact Dr. Mary J. Johnson, director, for more information. Deadline is March 15.

Loescher Hall: assistant director. Contact Dr. John J. Kline, provost, for more information. Deadline is March 31.
Parks selected to receive national professional achievement award

Dr. James Parks, head, professor of economics and recreation, has been selected as the 1982 recipient of an award for outstanding service to the North American Society of Sports Management. The Early F. Zeigler Lecture Award, which is presented every five years to an NASM and a widely respected author in the sport management field. "This award is a fitting tribute to Dr. Zeigler and the many distinguished and misses distinguished members; the ones who have made significant contributions to the field and have scholarly stature," said Dr. Zeigler, president, Georgia State University, who will present the award.

The award also has an autographed housing in the establishment of NASM and served as president.

More information will be available to you in the future.

The selection of the winner will be a part of the award criteria on all occasions.

and knowing people of diverse backgrounds, girls and boys learn self-confidence from mastering unique skills and performing in front of large groups.

The director's voice and person are enough to attract most children and adults. WCM remembers useful ability of being a 6-foot-10 and 10-foot #1 area.

The ball begins today by giving lessons to persons interested in playing. During the spring and summer seasons, the center provides instruction to the ball practices in addition to scheduled performances.

Schimpf is a music expert in the field of black church hymnody that speaks to these needs for black hymns. Spencer said he is calling for a liberative lag as regards issues of its black church are caught in the Logarithms, a barbershop quartet.

The structure, named after the Governor of Ethnic Actors, will become offices. The renovated building currently houses faculty offices as well as an adjoining hotel and meeting rooms where the former great hall will be renovated as a residence hall for 94 students. The renovated basement will be the new Student Union.

Shatzel Hall rededication slated

Rededication ceremonies for Shatzel Hall, opened in 1923 as a women's residence hall, will be held at 11:15 a.m. April 9 in the center of the building which recently underwent a $3.6 million renovation.

Shatzel Hall was named for the late Miss Julia Shatzel and her late husband, Dr. Robert Shatzel, who was the first chairman of the Department of English at Western Reserve.

Shatzel Hall rededication slated

Rededication ceremonies for Shatzel Hall, opened in 1923 as a women's residence hall, will be held at 11:15 a.m. April 9 in the center of the building which recently underwent a $3.6 million renovation.

Shatzel Hall was named for the late Miss Julia Shatzel and her late husband, Dr. Robert Shatzel, who was the first chairman of the Department of English at Western Reserve.

Shatzel Hall rededication slated

Rededication ceremonies for Shatzel Hall, opened in 1923 as a women's residence hall, will be held at 11:15 a.m. April 9 in the center of the building which recently underwent a $3.6 million renovation.

Shatzel Hall was named for the late Miss Julia Shatzel and her late husband, Dr. Robert Shatzel, who was the first chairman of the Department of English at Western Reserve.

Shatzel Hall rededication slated

Rededication ceremonies for Shatzel Hall, opened in 1923 as a women's residence hall, will be held at 11:15 a.m. April 9 in the center of the building which recently underwent a $3.6 million renovation.

Shatzel Hall was named for the late Miss Julia Shatzel and her late husband, Dr. Robert Shatzel, who was the first chairman of the Department of English at Western Reserve.
Commentary

Editor, Monitor:

President Olscamp's provocative memo of March 23 outlines the current economic crisis and the need for personnel reductions. The proposed lay-offs, which will impact all areas of the University, have been met with an understandable sense of fear and uncertainty. Many students and faculty members are concerned about job security and the future of the University.

To address these concerns, the University has established a task force under the direction of Dr. Dan S. Carter, the University's Secretary of the Board of Trustees. The task force will be responsible for developing a comprehensive plan that will provide for the University's long-term financial stability.

In addition, the University has announced a series of workshops and seminars designed to help students and faculty members cope with the economic challenges they face. These include workshops on job search strategies, budgeting, and financial planning.

The University's commitment to the academic and research mission of the University remains unwavered. We are confident that together we can navigate these unprecedented times and emerge stronger than ever.

Parks selected to receive national professional achievement award

Dr. Janel Peterson, a 1976 graduate of the Department of Education and Recreation, has been selected to receive the 1992 recipient of an award for outstanding contributions to American Parks. The award is presented by the North American Parks Association (NAPA). The recipient of the award, Dr. Peterson, was one of the few women to receive this honor.

In addition to her work at the University, Dr. Peterson has served as an editor for several national and international journals. She has also authored numerous books and articles on topics related to the field of parks and recreation. Her research focuses on the development and management of parks and recreation programs, with a particular emphasis on community-based initiatives.

The award ceremony will be held on Saturday, May 1 at 2 p.m. at the University Club. The event is open to the public and free admission.

How to find your local legislator

A number of faculty and staff have asked questions about the legislative process and their role in it. This article provides an overview of the legislative process and how to find your local legislator.

In the state of Ohio, the legislative process begins with the introduction of bills. These bills are referred to committees for consideration. The committees are made up of members of the House of Representatives and the Senate who specialize in specific areas of legislation.

Once a bill has been introduced, it must pass through a series of procedural steps. These steps include committee hearings, floor debate, and voting. The bill then moves on to the next step in the process.

To find your local legislator, you can check the Ohio Legislative Service Commission website, which provides information about each legislator, including their district, party affiliation, and contact information.

Schatzel Hall rededication slated

Rededication ceremonies for Schatzel Hall, which opened in 1924 as a women's residence hall, will be held at 11:15 a.m. on Friday, April 6 in the gin parlor of the building which recently underwent a $3.6 million renovation.

On April 6, the Building Council of the College of Arts and Sciences, will preside at the rededication. Among those attending will be President Olscamp, who will present a plaque to the donor, Dr. John Schatzel. The event will begin at 11 a.m. in the first-floor lecture room of Schatzel Hall.

The ceremony will include a dedication speech, a presentation of the plaque, and a tour of the newly renovated building. For more information, contact the Office of University Relations at 513-556-7181.

Kappa Mu Epsilon to host conference

Kappa Mu Epsilon mathematics honor society, Ohio's largest professional mathematics organization, will hold its annual conference April 7-8 at the University. Chapters representing colleges and universities in Ohio will take part in the two-day event, which will feature lectures, workshops, and a banquet. The event will begin at 5 p.m. on Friday with a reception and light refreshments.

The public relations and marketing office of the Toledo Midland Company, The Logans, a branch union, will provide entertainment. The singing group, the Logans, will perform a variety of songs, including a medley of torch songs, popular music, and classical music. For more information, contact the Office of University Relations at 513-556-7181.

Buchanan will be keynote speaker at University economics conference

Nobel Laureate James Buchanan will be the keynote speaker at the University's annual Conference on Philosophy and Policy Center of Social and Economic Structures, which takes place April 6-7.

The conference, to be held in McKell Hall, will include presentations by 30 public, students, faculty and staff who have been invited to discuss the issues surrounding Buchanan's work. The event is expected to attract a large audience, with more than 500 attendees expected.

Schumack, a noted economist, will present the conference's keynote address. Schumack has been a leader in the field of economics and has written extensively on topics related to macroeconomics and microeconomics.

The conference will begin at 8:30 a.m. on Friday and conclude at 5 p.m. on Saturday. Registration is open to the public and is $100 per person. For more information, contact the Office of University Relations at 513-556-7181.
Monday, April 6
Spring Music Festival, 7:30 p.m. in the James H. Moore Auditorium, located in the National Student Center. Performance will feature the Kent State Wind Ensemble and the Kent State University Symphony Orchestra. For more information, contact Kent State University Symphony Orchestra, 330-672-7898.

Tuesday, April 7
Women’s Studies Program Feminist Poetry Evening, Dr. Janet Adams and Dr. Julie Marcus will speak on “Comparative Perspectives: African Diaspora Feminist Literature,” 7:30 p.m., in Student Center Ballroom. For more information, contact Pressley, 330-672-2272.

Wednesday, April 8
Pressley, special discussion, 7 p.m. in the Amherst Room, Goblin Office, on “The Marketing of a Graduate School.” For more information, contact Wise, 330-672-7052.

Thursday, April 9
Graduate Student Professional Development Program presents the last part of a four-part series, “Making the Transition to the Workforce.” The series is sponsored by the Office of Student Life, Student Support Services, University Human Rights Review Board, 4:30-5:30 p.m. in the Office of Student Life, Student Support Services, 10th Floor Student Center. For more information, contact Wise, 330-672-7052 or Graduate Student Professional Development Program, 330-672-7052.

Friday, April 10
Social Philosophy and Policy Center presents lecture series, “Theological Political and Economic,” 3:30 p.m., in Student Center Atrium. For more information, contact Pressley, 330-672-2272.

Saturday, April 11
Women’s Studies presents lecture series, “Karen and the Politics of Power: An Examination of Natural Resource Systems,” 2 p.m., in Student Center Atrium. For more information, contact Pressley, 330-672-2272.

Sunday, April 12
BGSO’s 1992 Spring Jazz Festival, featuring the faculty and student combos, 7 p.m., in Student Center Atrium. Admission $5. The Jazz Festival will feature faculty and student combos. For more information, contact Wise, 330-672-7052 or BGSO, 330-672-7052.

Leadership topic of the evening seminar
Faculty and staff will hear suggestions and examples to help women offices become more productive and efficient on Saturday, April 11, from 2-3:15 p.m. in the Bryan Recital Hall, Bryan Recital Hall Main Stage. Admission $5. For more information, contact Wise, 330-672-7052 or BGSO, 330-672-7052.

Monday, April 13
Confucius Institute presents lecture series, “Theological Political and Economic,” 3:30 p.m., in Student Center Atrium. For more information, contact Pressley, 330-672-2272.

Tuesday, April 14
Student Senate, 4 p.m., in the Assembly Room, Moore Multicultural Center, 4th Floor Student Center. For more information, contact Wise, 330-672-7052.