STUDIES ON MOTION PICTURES

Getting ideas from the movies reports a study of the extent to which children remember what they see in the movies and "the changes in quantity and accuracy of general information, including the direction and duration of the changes." Nearly 3,000 observers ranging in age from the second and third grades in school to adulthood, took part in one or more of the tests; 17 pictures were used. It was found that, if the information shown in the picture was correct, both children and adults increased their general information considerably by seeing motion pictures, but that inaccurate information is frequently accepted as valid "unless the incongruity is quite apparent." Even the second-third grade group of children remembered nearly 60 per cent as many of the specific points as did the superior adults. This retention of incidents continues for a long time. The action was best remembered when "it concerned activities such as sports, general action, crime, and fighting; when it had a high emotional appeal; and when it occurred in a familiar type of surrounding. . . ." It was remembered least "when it concerned unfamiliar activities such as bootlegging and business; when it had practically no emotional elements; and when it occurred in surroundings of an unfamiliar and interesting type."

EDITOR LEAVES

We regret very much the departure of Miss Grace Dussault, ex-editor of the B. G. News. Miss Dussault, who for the past semester served the capacity as editor of our college paper is taking up her duties elsewhere. Under Miss Dussault's skilful management, the News has risen to one of its greatest editions. There is a feeling that she will be missed greatly by the News Staff and student body.

We, the News Staff and student body wish to express our gratitude for the work Miss Dussault accomplished. For you and your achievement, we submit the following:

Though criticized by some
The praises over-lap
The greatness done,
For the working spirit fine
Records no wasteful time.
And Heaven stoops to the same.

COMMENCEMENT

Commencement exercises for thirty-one February graduates were held in the auditorium of the Administration building Friday morning, Feb. 2.

Dressed in dark blue caps and gowns the elementary education led the procession, followed by the degree graduates wearing black. The faculty and the board of trustees closed the march.

Prof. J. W. Carmichael pronounced the invocation, emphasizing the solemnity of the occasion. Special music was contributed by instructors in the music department. Miss Manette Marble played a prelude by Rachmaninoff, afterward accompanying Mr. Leon Fauley, who sang "The Lord is My Light" by Allitsen, with a clarinet obbligato by Mr. Chas. F. Church.

The commencement address was given by Supt. E. L. Bowser, of Ashland, Ohio, formerly a member of the board of trustees of Bowling Green State College. Mr. Bowser, in a humorous, informal talk, presented enthusiastically the future of education, mentioning the needs of the educational system of present-day Ohio, and the opportunities available to young men and women beginning their careers as teachers. He stressed the need of closer alliance between community and school, the danger young teachers incur by cutting themselves off from the society of the townspeople, and the great things to be accomplished by cooperation with parents.

President Williams introduced President Jacobs, of Ashland College, who spoke briefly previous to the presentation of diplomas. An especially striking part of the program was the short, impressive ceremony of conferring the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education.

TRAINING SCHOOL NEWS

Of unusual interest was a program demonstration given by the Fifth grade to the Fourth and Miss Lorenz, on Feb. 2nd. The Fifth Grade pupils showed slides and talked on the different kinds of work and play done in the West, about which they have recently studied. The program lasted for an hour, and the value of such a demonstration is evident. Besides giving the children who talked an opportunity to demonstrate their understanding of the material read, to present it in an interesting and logical way as possible, and to add to their ease and poise before a group, it also gave the children who listened an opportunity to demonstrate their understanding of the material read, to present it in an interesting and logical way as possible, and to add to their ease and poise before a group, it also gave the children who listened an opportunity to learn how to become a better audience, and to learn how such a program may best be conducted, as well as being a valuable social contact for both groups.
STUDENT OPINION

Last Saturday evening I attended the Five Sister Dance that was held in the Men's Gym and it made me agree more and more with the student who wrote the article on the P. A. Auditorium, that seems to be wrapped in cellophane. Listen to this picture, and see if it fits in with the men's gym: Beautiful girls belonging to the Five Sisters, and the rest of our lovely Co-eds, all dressed up in beautiful gowns in the atmosphere of a gym, with all the apparatus looking at them. Bare brick walls, a running track over head, the floor marked up with black, white and red lines. It reminded me of that beautiful poem burlesqued, "Apparatus to the right of them, Apparatus to the left of them, Grim and unattractive, Yet the Five Sisters carried On". Bless them and all the other sororities and fraternities that try to have a dance in that gym. It isn't the fault of the poor gym, it just isn't the place to have a dance. Why keep the P. A. Auditorium in a dark closet? I appeal to you, Dr. Williams, to open the P. A. Auditorium and let us use it. I know that you would find by popular vote that many others feel the same as I do. The crowd that attended the Five Sister dance could have easily been accommodated in the P. A. Auditorium, and how much more refined it would have been.

I agree with you, fellow students, lift the ban on the P. A. Auditorium to increase student pleasure.

Y. M. C. A. Book Exchange

The committee in charge of the Book Exchange take this opportunity to express their appreciation of the whole-hearted cooperation which they have received from the student body and others concerned in operating the Book Exchange this semester.

The splendid spirit of participation in these efforts has enabled us to balance our budget with a small profit and to start paying out the money for the books sold heretofore. Come in some time this week and get your money for the books we have sold for you. We still desire more books to sell, so bring them in immediately as this is our last week of operation.

Those books which we have not been able to sell this semester, we ask the students to leave in our care until they are sold. We can possibly sell them at the summer term or the first semester of next year.

Food For Thought

The current magazines certainly supply a wealth of reading material in these critical, fascinating times. No thinking student who wishes to go beyond his own little sphere can afford to overlook the analyses and interpretations to be found in every magazine worthy of the name.

We were gratified to hear Boake Carter, the radio newscaster whom we prefer, speak of the Nation as "indispensable". We have long held the same opinion about this weekly, and also about Time and Newsweek, the two very similar reviews.

In Harper's for February, 1934, the authors of "Washington Merry-go-round", Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen, present intimate portraits of "The Men Around the President" in the same clever style. Physical Science students will be interested in "Discoveries Within the Atom" by George W. Gray. Here are given the latest developments in the study of nuclear structure.

Harry Hansen, in the same issue, has an interesting "Among the New Books". In this column he reviews, among others, Sinclair Lewis', "Work of Art" and Pearl Buck's latest novel of China, "The Mother".

Forum for February, 1934, contains many worth-while articles. Eddie Dowling in "Radio Needs a Revolution", presents a scheme for the reorganization of radio broadcasting. He would create five or six regional networks in lieu of the three nation-wide hook-ups under the present system. The scheme sounds good, but can it be put through? "Our New System of Business" is self-explanatory. It is by the able Lawrence Sullivan. John Langdon-Davies continues his popularization of science series with, "Was There a Creation?"

In conclusion, we embark into a new field, and recommend the poem, "O Still to Be" in February Forum.

BEAUTY CONTEST

Ladies and gentlemen, attention!

Watch for the Beauty Contest. Six females, chosen on the basis of V. Q. (visual quotient) and not I. Q. will be chosen for the Beauty section of 1934 Key. Names of the nominees will be selected by class officers. Watch for them on the Cork board. Election will be held on Valentine's day—Wednesday, Feb. 14th. Hooray!

EMERSON TAFFY PULL

To the tune of "Pop Goes the Weasel" members of the Emerson Literary Society discarded their accustomed dignity and had a "high old time" Wednesday night. The taffy was excellently made, but some of the uninitiated became all "stuck up" in it.

Among the dance-masters of the evening were: Meltha Carter, Ann Woestenberg, Dale Kellogg, and Shirley Kellogg, who led and demonstrated the Virginia Reel, the "oyster shell," and other intricate figures. A surprising number of these dignitaries are accomplished square-dancers.

The best charade of the evening was "walnut", demonstrated in a very natural manner by the Katzenjammer family, including Howard Braithwaite, Josephine Herman, Mollie Finkelstein, Anne Woestenberg, Elwood Ike, and Melvin Keenan.

QUILL TYPE

Members of Quill Type met Wednesday night, Feb. 8, at 7:30 in room 208 P. A. for their first meeting this semester. Plans for the dance, which is to be held this week, were discussed.

Following the business meeting, Arline Hutchinson, sang a solo; Paul Shafer read an article on Lincoln from a magazine; Charlotte Clingaman read a paper; Edgar Emerson gave a reading; and Naomi Curtiss played a piano solo.

The enrollment of Quill Type has been increasing all year. All commercial students are urged to attend.

Mile. Tressel: "So you're going to France. Do you know how to speak the language? Suppose you want to say 'egg,' what do you say?"

Don Cryer: "You just say "oof".

Mile: "But suppose you wanted two eggs?"

Don: "You say 'twas oof' and the silly old maid gives you three, and you give one back. Man, it's an awfully easy language."

A School Teacher's Utopia

It seems to me that a school teacher's Utopia would be a land where she could have plenty of time to accomplish all the things she attempts to plan in a day's work. I have heard so many teachers say "I haven't time" or "I'm too busy" that these phrases are associated in my mind only with teachers, but I forgive them because I think they surely acquired the habit in college.

Teachers are usually at the school building from about eight o'clock in the morning until four in the evening with the exception of the noon hour. These few hours are completely filled with classes to instruct, papers to grade, work to make up with students, grades to file, organizations to advise, and a hundred and one other things that make the teacher do much of his work at home.

Besides the school work that must be done in the evening, the teacher has clubs and other social activities in which she takes part. If she holds office in any of these she must make plans and take care of the duties of her office. This multitude of tasks, in and outside school, fill a school teacher's twenty-four hours very well when we consider that she is human and has to have some time to eat and sleep.

I think that in a school teacher's Utopia there would be provided as many hours in her day as she might need to read all the books she has planned so long to read. She would have plenty of time to visit with friends as long as she liked. Then she might enjoy grading papers occasionally—for a change.

Destiny?

We met at college long ago,
Back in the good old days;
She is the best girl that I know
I'll give her all my praise.

If B. G.'s halls I ne'er had seen,
If other paths I'd have trod,
An old bachelor I'd have been,
But I found my girl—thank God!

Just think if I hadn't gone to school,
Why what would my future have been!
Although I now am but an educated fool,
Life is real because of this friend.

She stayed by me thru all these years
Through toil and through some strife;
And for B. G. I give three cheers,—
On her campus I found my wife.

Jill: "How could you recognize it?"
Jack: "It had a big depression in the middle of it."

Sororities

FIVE SISTERS SPONSOR VALENTINE DANCE

The Valentine Dance, sponsored by the Five Sisters Sorority, was a real treat for old students after completing their exams and for new students also. Everyone seemed disappointed when the dance was over. The Varsity Rythm Boys furnished the music and also accompanied the Five Sisters Trio, Miss Sams, Miss Gill, and Miss DeVerna, who sang three songs. A plentiful and good supply of punch was served for all. We thank you, Five Sisters, for the enjoyable evening.

PHRATRA PHASES

Phratra Sorority members were entertained Monday evening by a delightful musical program arranged by sorority pledges, Naomi Curtiss and Lois Liggett. The program consisted of violin and piano solos, musical readings, and vocal selections. Lois Liggett, a hitherto unknown poetess read several of her own poems which are indicative of fine ability. Naomi Curtiss, violinist of no mean skill, made her violin talk with remarkable expression.

After the program, the pledges were given informal initiation. Tuesday evening pledges were formally initiated into the sorority. Afterward the "happy, family" spent an enjoyable and friendly hour together.

LAS AMIGAS

Last Tuesday night Las Amigas house was a scene of transfiguration. Seven pledges: Edna Orn, Alice Becker, Margaret Henneigh, Jane Mercer, Betty Miller, Dorothy Pace, and Martha Schaub threw off their cloaks of inferiority and with much solemnity and dignity entered the ranks of the revered members. After this impressive ceremony the girls enjoyed a social hour with light refreshments, being served by a committee in charge.

SHATZEL HALL NEWS

Of all our girls that have left us we miss Mae Myrice the most. Mae went home four weeks ago and because of her health can not return this semester.

We welcome Mildred Perolls, a newcomer to the dorm.

The Shatzel Girls are to have a Valentine Party Tuesday.

Who are the S. G. S's?
Friday night the Falcons defeated Marietta 34 to 29. This raised our standing in the Ohio conference to a tie for fifth place. We have three more conference games scheduled Heidelberg, Toledo and Ohio Northern. Each of these teams may cause plenty of trouble. Simply because they are lower than we are in rating, does not dis- close the strength of their ball clubs.

Weber replaced Shupe at center and is whipping into shape fast. Weber, a sophmore, is rather inexperienced but learning the tricks of the trade.

For a time it looked as if the game was going to be a defeat for B. G., but the driving, fighting, and smashing exhibited by the Falcons in the last few games made them winners. Johnson netted a foul shot and Shafer caged a long one. Hickel and Ball contributed two goals to place them in the lead. Shafer then tallied 7 points to put the Falcons in a lead which Marietta could not over come. W. Thomas, on an out of bounds play, made a long pass to Weber who sank it. Johnson and Ball exchanged fouling each other and each netted a point. Fenton 6'6" center made a goal as the half ended, 14-10.

Fenton opened the half with 3 points making the score 14-13. On a scoring spree, Shafer tallied 7 points, Cox 1 point, W. Thomas 1 point and Weber 2 points. Bartlett caged a long one for the opponents. Cox netted a goal on a pivot play and Sommers and Ball chalked up 3 points. Cox netted 3 goals and 2 free tosses and for the Southerners Sommers made 2 goals, Ball made two free throws and McKibbon one. Murray, Phillips, Wallace, Fearnside, replaced O. Thomas, Shafer, Johnson and W. Thomas. Murray received a technical and McKibbon received two free throws as the game ended, 54-29.

Shafer and Cox held scoring honors for the Falcons caging 17 and 10 points respectively. Ball and Sommers were high for the opponents with 9 points each.

Cox is doing nicely. His passing, shooting and spirit are fine. The moral of the entire team is changed. They mean to win and they do. Friday night Heidelberg will be here and it will be a fine game to witness. Let’s win that game, fellows—were with you.

1940-3440

_A Brief History of the World_

1940 A.D. is a convenient date with which to begin this history for in that year the Great European War, that had been predicted for a decade, broke out. Also 1940 is to be remembered as the date when San Garcia became Dictator over Brazil and Uruguay after years of revolution and anarchy. Canada had been granted her independence in 1937—following the Bancroft Riots of 1936–37, and in 1941, the Amalgamation Treaty was finally ratified, joining the United States, Canada and Alaska in a state known as the Republic of America. (By 1945, America was the only existing republic, South America having been united by San Garcia into the Federacion de Bolivar “Bolivara”).
