Head coach Jaci Clark's fifth team will be young but features some of the best talent in the MAC.
Welcome to the final home game of the 1995 Falcon football season. We appreciate your attendance all season and hope to see you back next season when the Falcon open their home schedule Sept. 14 against Temple. Remember, next season BG opens the season at Alabama on Aug. 31.

Today is also the final home game for 14 senior members of the football team who have given everything they have for the last four or five years. Best of luck to this year's graduating class as they now move on to the next chapter of their lives.

Today's game pits two teams looking to get back on the winning side of the ledger while finishing off the year in a positive manner with an eye on the 1996 season.

Ohio, under first-year head coach Jim Grobe, has made some good strides this season and although their remaining two games are against two of the top teams in the league - Toledo and Miami - the Bobcats have a chance to win more games than any team since 1982.

Grobe, who spent 11 seasons as an assistant coach at Air Force before taking over at Ohio, brought the option offense with him from Colorado Springs and has implemented that style in Athens. He also recruited an option-type quarterback in freshman Kareem Wilson who will be calling the signals this afternoon.

Wilson, who ranks fifth in the MAC in rushing averaging 86.3 yards per carry, has all the tools to be one of the top option quarterbacks in the country before his career is over. He has had his problems throwing the ball this season having completed just 36-of-100 passes for 536 yards.

Wilson, from Valdosta, Ga., is sixth in the league in total offense averaging 153.3 yards per game. He has half of Ohio's 14 rushing touchdowns this season.

The only other running back with any significant yardage is another freshman - Steve Hookfin. Hookfin, ninth in the MAC averaging 66.0 yards per game, has helped the Bobcats average 192.4 yards on the ground this season, fourth in the MAC.

Wide receivers Lonche Thrash and Shawn Smith are the leading targets on passing downs. Smith has averaged 32.4 yards on his five receptions this season.

The Bobcats have three juniors, one sophomore, and one freshman on the offensive line led by left guard Jamie Caudill. OU is averaging 19.4 points in league play which dropped from a 23.5 average after their 6-3 loss to Ball State on Saturday.

On defense, three seniors carry the load for the Bobcats. Linebackers Benny King and Jabaar Thompson along with strong safety Damiso Johnson occupy the top three spots in tackles. King leads the team with 88 while Johnson has 80 and Thompson 72. Sophomore cornerback Brandon Cade leads the team with three interceptions.

OU has allowed 23 or more points in four of the five league games they have played.

While the Falcons have had their problems at home this season, OU has had its troubles on the road over the last 10 seasons. The Bobcats are 5-54-2 on the road over the last 13 meetings. At home down through the years, BG has a 12-10 edge having won seven in a row in Bowling Green. OU’s last road win in the series was a 21-20 decision in 1980. During BG’s current 12-0-1 run in the series, they have outscored the Bobcats, 290-113. BG has posted shutouts in each of the last two meetings.

When it comes to winning games, few have done it better than Bowling Green State University head coach Gary Blackney.

Blackney has resurrected a once-proud football program, guiding the Falcons to back-to-back Mid-American Conference titles - going undefeated in league play to win the titles - and second and third-place finishes the last two seasons.

To get an idea of how dominant Falcon teams have been in MAC play during Blackney's tenure, consider the fact BG has had a perfect record for 26 of the 32 weeks of league play over the last four years. In addition, Bowling Green has not had a loss on its slate for 29 of the 32 weeks. All in all, Blackney has led his teams to an eye-popping 28-2-2 (.906) record in MAC play.

This comes on the heels of five straight years when 5-6 was the program's best record.

In just four short seasons, Blackney has accomplished what some have not in a lifetime. He is the first, and only, BGSU coach to win a bowl game. He was the first BGSU coach to lead his team to back-to-back seasons of at least 10 wins. He tied the NCAA record for "rookie" head coaches winning 11 games in 1991. And, he led the program to a MAC-record 19 consecutive conference wins and a 22-game unbeaten streak to begin his tenure.

The 1995 season will present some new challenges for Blackney and his staff as they look to win a third title. In order to achieve what they have set out to, they will have to overcome the loss of Vince Palko, two-time MAC Defensive Player of the Year, and the record-setting receiving combo of Ronnie Redd and Rameir Martin. Nonetheless, he believes BGSU will be a factor again. But, overcoming obstacles is something Blackney, as a coach and person, has grown accustomed to.

All Blackney did, in not only his first season at BGSU but his first season as a collegiate head coach, was take a 3-5-2 team and turn them into a 11-1 squad, which won their last 10 games. The Falcons clinched the MAC title with two weeks of the league schedule still remaining. The final standings showed BG with a perfect 8-0 mark while the second place team finished at 3-1-4.

The top first-year coach in the country, Blackney was just the fifth coach in MAC history to lead his team to an outright conference title in his first season. He is also the winningest first-year head coach in BGSU history equalling the NCAA record for most wins by a coach in his first season in the top spot. The 11 wins by the 1991 team tied the school record.

For an encore, with the Falcons no longer an unknown as they were in 1991, the 1992 favorites gladly accepted that role and again won the league title with a perfect record. The Falcons earned the right to represent the MAC in the first Las Vegas Bowl and backed up the program’s first bowl victory in 1991 over Fresno State in the California Bowl with a thrilling 35-34 win over Nevada in Las Vegas.

Needless to say, the success that Blackney has brought to the program has also meant some prestigious honors along the way.

He became only the second coach in league history to earn Coach of the Year honors in back-to-back seasons earning the award in 1991 and 1992. He was also named the Coach of the Year in region 3 by his peers, the American Football Coaches Association, the same two seasons. The region included all I-A schools in the states of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and Big Ten member schools Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa. The BGSU mentor was also the 1992 Ohio Collegiate Coach of the Year.

A little less than five years ago, Blackney realized his dream of becoming a collegiate head coach. He certainly paid his dues serving as an assistant the previous 21 years at such programs as Wisconsin, UCLA, Syracuse and, most recently, Ohio State. The list of coaches he served under ranks among the best in the collegiate game—coaches such as Dick MacPherson, Terry Donahue, Earl Bruce, Rick Forzano and John Cooper.

The Plainview, New York native began his coaching career at his alma mater, Connecticut, in 1968, where he spent two seasons as a graduate assistant on a staff that included, in addition to Forzano, current Notre Dame head coach Lou Holtz, former Cleveland Browns head coach Sam Rutigliano, and Dave Adolph and Dan Sekanovich, both NFL assistant coaches.

That was followed by stops at Brown and Rhode Island, in addition to the aforementioned schools, with all but two of those seasons spent on the defensive side of the ball. In seven of the last 11 years, Blackney has helped a team to a bowl bid.

His success story is certainly one that makes all people feel thankful.

In March, 1986, Gary’s wife, Lauretta, suffered a basilar artery aneurysm which has led to her need for 24-hour care. Forced to take over the duties of running the household, which were previously handled by Lauretta, Blackney still keeps up with the demands of being a head coach and a father.

The MAC is one of the 10 Division I-A conferences in the country, along with the Atlantic Coast, Big Ten, Big East, Big Eight, Big West, Pacific-10, Southeastern, Southwest and Western Athletic conferences. Entering its 49th year of existence, the MAC consists of 10 state-supported institutions in the midwestern states of Ohio, Michigan and Indiana. Of the 10 current members - the University of Akron, Ball State University, Bowling Green State University, Central Michigan University, Eastern Michigan University, Kent State University, Miami University, Ohio University, the University of Toledo and Western Michigan University - nine schools have been members of the conference for 15 or more years. The University of Akron is the newest member having joined the league in 1992. The league will change composition in 1997-98 adding Marshall and Northern Illinois while the University of Buffalo will become a MAC member in 1998 or 1999 bringing membership to 13.

The 10 member institutions have a total enrollment of better than 220,000, with individual enrollments ranging from 16,000 to 30,000, and have produced more than one million alumni. The MAC is the fourth-largest conference in the country in terms of undergraduate enrollment. Throughout its existence, the MAC has been in the forefront of national legislation that has enhanced the academic integrity of intercollegiate athletics. The MAC had an academic progress rule, strengthened admittance standards, and qualitative grade point average requirements for its student-athletes long before the NCAA adopted or discussed implementing such academic standards.

The MAC currently sponsors 19 championships, 10 in men’s sports and nine on the women’s side. For men, the MAC has sponsored championships in football, baseball, basketball, cross country, golf, tennis, and track and field since its founding, and added swimming and diving and wrestling championships five years later. Men’s soccer was added as a MAC-sponsored sport in 1993.

In 1980, the MAC Council of Presidents voted to bring women’s athletics into the conference structure. The MAC currently sponsors women’s championships in basketball, cross country, field hockey, gymnastics, softball, swimming and diving, tennis, track and field and volleyball.

The MAC is the only Division I conference with its own Hall of Fame. A total of 52 individuals have been inducted into the MAC Hall of Fame since its beginning in 1988, including 21 inductees with football backgrounds. Some of those include Ara Parseghian (Miami), Doyt Perry (Bowling Green), Bo Schmeechler (Miami), Jack Lambert (Kent) and Phil Villapiano (Bowling Green).

Numerous MAC football teams and players have received national recognition during the MAC’s 48 years. Bowling Green was recognized as the national small college champion in 1959, and Ohio won similar honors in 1960. After MAC teams achieved major college status, Toledo compiled a 35-game winning streak from 1969-71, the second-longest streak in modern major college football history. Miami beat Florida, Georgia and South Carolina in the 1973, 1974 and 1975 Tangerine Bowls. In the last few years the non-conference victims of MAC teams include opponents from the Big Ten, Big Eight, SEC and WAC. For the fourth straight year, the MAC champion will play the Big West champion in the Las Vegas Bowl. This year’s game is scheduled for Dec. 14 at 6 p.m. This is the 15th season the winners of the MAC and BWC have battled in a bowl.

Bowling Green technology students build fire safety house for use by our youngsters

If it is true that the best way to learn is by doing, then elementary school children in northwest Ohio are today safer from the dangers of fire.

That’s thanks to the efforts of the Perrysburg Fire Department and students at Bowling Green State University, who built a model home for the youngsters to use to practice fire safety techniques.

The University students worked during the spring, summer and into the fall to construct the high-tech home. Built on a 8-by-28-foot trailer, the two-story home includes a kitchen, family room, a dining room, two bedrooms, and a second story outdoor balcony—all scaled to the size of an elementary school student.

The house also has an observation room where firemen can monitor the actions of the children and control the special features of the house which match-up with the lessons the firemen are trying to teach.

Children are taught that when they are in a fire they should drop to the floor and crawl to safety. To simulate that experience, the house can be filled with a non-toxic smoke.

The children are also taught to feel doors before opening them and to never open a door which is warm to the touch. The model home has several doors which have heating elements to warm the doors’ surfaces.

Different types of fires are also an issue, and in response, the model kitchen can simulate a real fire on command.

The house also comes equipped with smoke alarms, pull fire alarms and fire extinguishers so that youngsters can become acquainted with them.

There is even an escape ladder hanging from the balcony.

A closed circuit television system enables the children to see videotapes of their actions after the exercises.

The house on wheels was dedicated in early October and used for the first time during Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 8-14.

The University students who built the house were enrolled in the College of Technology’s Construction 306 class, “Residential Construction.” Taught by Dr. Wilfred Roudebush, an assistant professor, the class focuses on the principles of home construction.

“This was a perfect project for the students. They had to practice almost all the skills needed in home construction,” he said.

“When these students graduate, they will be finding jobs as project managers, general contractors and construction supervisors,” Roudebush said, adding that they will be supervising construction workers.

“ar to be a good supervisor, you need to know the ins and outs of the job. This project gave them good experience in areas such as estimating, planning, delegation of duties and teamwork, not to mention the basic skills of construction,” he said.

It was also nice, he added, to do a project which had real benefit to the community.

Keith Moosman, deputy chief for the Perrysburg Fire Department, also appreciated the students taking on the project.

The fire department, which had been working on the project for more than two years, had received donations of much of the materials needed but never seemed to find the number of volunteers necessary to build the house.

(Companies and organizations which donated money or materials to the project include State Farm Insurance, the Toledo Home Builders Association, corporate Protection Systems, the Stratford Door Company and the Exchange and Kiwanis clubs of Perrysburg.)

“Having Dr. Roudebush take it on as a class project is great,” he said. While monitoring the progress one evening this summer, Moosman added that he was happy with the way the project was progressing. “The students are building the house better than we would have and they are saving us six months or maybe a year.”

That’s time during which the firemen now can take the house to area elementary schools and other locations to teach youngsters how to be safe.

The house is modeled on one built by the Georgia State Fire Academy, which has proven to be successful at saving lives.

Ethnic Studies professor authors book on author

In 1977, famed author James Baldwin visited Bowling Green State University. The visit was to be the first of four, the result of being invited by Dr. Ernest Champion, professor emeritus of ethnic studies and past director of the cultural diversity curriculum.

Champion describes these meetings and examines the author and his writing in a book released last month by University Press of America.

“Mr. Baldwin, I Presume: James Baldwin—Chinua Achebe: A Meeting of the Minds” is also the story of the historic meeting in Florida between Baldwin and the Nigerian author, a meeting suggested and facilitated by Champion.

The title refers to Achebe’s greeting upon meeting Baldwin, a witty play on the Stanley-Livingstone encounter, but also an astute representation of the two men as black “explorers” in the vast white American jungle.

While the book focuses primarily on Baldwin, it shows what both writers clearly understood and were attempting to get the world to see: that “colonialism and slavery are twins that have been separated since birth but have lived parallel lives,” Champion said.

Baldwin had once predicted if he, the direct descendant of slaves, and Achebe, the product of colonialism in Africa, were to meet, “the connection between slavery and colonialism will become all too embarrassing.”

“Colonialism and slavery gave rise to racism,” Champion explained. “The justification for colonialism was that the Europeans (thought they) were superior, particularly the English in Africa. It began with the exploitation of natural resources and ended in exploitation of human beings.”

Champion himself is in a unique position to comprehend the situation. He was born in the British colony of Ceylon, now called Sri Lanka, and taught in Sierra Leone, which at one time provided thousands of slaves to the British and Americans.

Baldwin “in many ways represented the anger and the frustrations of the disenfranchised people of the world—those on the outside looking in.”

BG Home Game
"A SACK FOR A SACK"

This season Kroger wants to help families in need. Each time a BGSU defensive player sacks the opposing quarterback, Kroger will donate a sack of groceries to food pantries throughout the region.

Last year, Kroger donated over $65,000 worth of food for food pantries serviced by the Mid-Ohio Food Bank. We encourage you to support your local food pantry. Together, we can fight hunger!

Wings Of The Falcons

BGSU Football Alumni Network

In its initial year, this "organization" was established to create a networking system that encourages former Falcon football players to attend BGSU games (home and away), team reunions, etc. in greater social numbers.

The program is also designed to better cultivate, through a caring attitude, those Falcons who are prepared or would be willing "to give back to Bowling Green football", not always in financial terms, but in the equally important aspect of spreading the positive word about Falcon football and BGSU in general.

Finally, via increased interaction amongst friends and peers, "Wings" strengthens the linkage that further enhances the tremendous life-long benefits that being a part of such a special program delivers.

Volunteer class representatives play a vital role in assisting the football staff by enlisting support and updating information on their former teammates.

Further information is available by contacting Jean Panning, football secretary at (419) 372-7083, or Ken Kavanagh, associate athletic director, at (419) 372-7054. Or stop by the "Wings" tent in the northeast corner of Perry Stadium before or after any home game.

Falcon Quest

One of only 46 institutions to have participated in the NCAA Life Skills 1994 pilot study, BGSU's "Falcon Quest" program is designed to address the "total development" of the student-athlete in preparation for the biggest game of all - the game of life. With the assistance of numerous University and Bowling Green community personnel, a variety of programs are held during the year. In its inaugural year, Falcon Quest created and activated the Student-Athlete Advisory board, held a comprehensive Life Skills conference - attended by nearly 500 student-athletes, initiated the Falcon Speakers Bureau, and organized the Fall Falcon Fling picnic. Falcon Quest provides a well-rounded program for BGSU student-athletes to develop the individual skills necessary to lead a productive, successful life.

Bowling Green State University’s success lies in offering its students the educational opportunities, diversity and excitement of a large university, while maintaining the personality, camaraderie and caring of a small college.

This success is fueled in large part by Bowling Green’s commitment to research and teaching which has attracted top faculty scholars and graduate students. They, in turn, have put the University on the cutting edge in the discovery of exciting new knowledge.

Bowling Green has nearly 875 full- and part-time faculty and 17,000 students on its campus. Degree programs are offered through the colleges of Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education and Allied Professions, Health and Human Services, Musical Arts, Technology and the Graduate College. Within the undergraduate programs are schools of Art, Mass Communication, Nursing, and Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

In all, the University offers more than 65 undergraduate degree programs, 13 master’s degrees in 60 fields of study and doctoral degrees in 14 departments with more than 80 specializations.

In addition to courses on the main campus, the university’s Firelands College, located in Huron, Ohio, offers 21 associate degree programs, as well as courses which fulfill the first two years of bachelor’s degree requirements. Firelands enrollment tops 1,400 students.

Fully accredited at the highest state, regional and national levels, the University has chapters of most national academic honor societies, including Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi. Bowling Green is also a member of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges.

The University’s faculty, more than 95 percent of whom have the highest degree in their field, include Fulbright Scholars, authors and nationally recognized researchers. The caliber of the faculty is reflected, too, in the number of academic programs which are regionally and nationally recognized, such as the industrial psychology program ranked fifth in the country in a recent U.S. News and World Report study. Also, faculty have been elected to high ranking positions in several national and regional professional organizations.

Three academic departments - chemistry, philosophy and psychology - are home to Ohio Eminent Scholars. The scholar program was created by the Ohio Board of Regents to attract world-class educators and researchers to the state’s universities. Only two other Ohio universities - Ohio State and Cincinnati - have more of these prestigious positions than BGSU.

While committed to teaching, faculty are researchers as well, generating new knowledge through independent research and involvement in University units such as the Center for Photochemical Sciences, the Population and Society Research Center, the Mid American Center for Contemporary Music, the Center for Quality, Measurement and Automation, the Center for Canadian Studies, the Center for the Study of Popular Culture, and the Social Philosophy and Policy Center.

Bowling Green is also the site of the National Drosophila Species Resource Center and the Mid America Stock Center - the largest scientific facilities of their kind in the world - where University faculty assist in supplying some 400 species of fruit flies to scientists involved in genetics and cancer research around the globe.

The University’s students come from throughout the United States and more than 80 foreign nations. While most students are between the ages of 18-22, the number of those older than 25 is increasing. Last year, more than 5,000 “non-traditional” students enrolled in undergraduate and graduate programs on a full- or part-time basis.

The University is also making great strides towards accomplishing its goal of making computers a vital part of each student’s education. There are currently 18 computer labs, including eight in residence halls, for use by students. In addition, nearly a half dozen departments have created computer labs for their students. This year the Board of Trustees has committed additional funds towards updating equipment in campus computer labs and additional networking of labs and academic buildings.

The focal point of the 1,338-acre campus is the nine-story Jerome Library, with its collection of more than four million items, including 1.8 million volumes plus journals, periodicals, microforms, government documents and other materials.

Special sections of the library include the Center for Archival Collections, which houses materials relevant to northwest Ohio history, and the Sound Recordings Archives with one million recordings. The Institute for Great Lakes Research, located in Perrysburg, contains an extensive collection of materials on the shipping industry’s past and present.

The University is continually improving its more than 100 existing buildings and upgrading facilities to meet current needs. This fall, the Speaker Center, which houses the School of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation, is open following a $9.5 million renovation. A year ago, a $13.5 million classroom building, Paul Olscamp Hall, was opened and dedicated. The new building features state-of-the-art telecommunications capabilities which open unlimited possibilities for classroom instruction.

Also, the Board of Trustees this summer approved spending $17 million to upgrade both Kreischer and Harshman Quadrangles, which each house 1,300 students. Kreischer should be completed in time for the start of the 1996-97 academic year and renovation work on Harshman will follow.

In the past three years, a $9.8 million addition to the Fine Arts Building was completed, Hayes Hall was converted into a computer center, an $8.7 million field house for intramurals, physical education classes and intercollegiate sports was opened, and a $15 million renovation of Founders Quadrangle was completed, creating one of the finest and most modern residence halls in the state.

In the past dozen years, more than $174 million has been allocated for new construction and remodeling projects.

Dr. Sidney A. Ribeau's appointment last spring as the ninth president of Bowling Green State University was met with a great deal of enthusiasm from faculty, staff, students, alumni and friends of the University. In the intervening months, that enthusiasm has not diminished.

He came to Bowling Green from California State Polytechnic University at Pomona where he had been vice president for academic affairs since 1992.

“Bowling Green is going to like Sidney Ribeau and Sidney Ribeau is going to like Bowling Green,” John Laskey, president of the University’s Board of Trustees, said at the time.

The search for Bowling Green’s new president was the most open in University history. Judge C. Ellen Connally, former president of the Board of Trustees and chair of the search committee, promised early that no constituency would be left out of the process.

“Dr. Ribeau fulfills the credentials that the Presidential Search Committee established after listening to all the constituencies of the University. He has a warm and easy manner that portrays the confidence he has in himself. I think Dr. Ribeau will not only do things right—he will also do the right things. That is a leader!” Laskey said.

In accepting the Bowling Green presidency, Ribeau said he was eager to accept the challenge of leading the University. “Bowling Green State University is ready to move decisively and quickly towards the challenges of the future. The president is just one player in a team that has to be prepared, motivated and ready to act. I am able...I am willing...to make my contributions to this process. I will not weary, I will not fail the University,” he said.

Ribeau was a popular selection. He was endorsed by the student newspaper and was the clear choice of the faculty and staff. “Sidney Ribeau was by far the number one choice of administrative staff,” said Pat Green, the former chair of the Administrative Staff Council.

“Bowling Green is very fortunate to have found such an able leader who can be supported by all campus constituencies,” said Dr. Fiona MacKinnon Slaney, chair of Bowling Green’s Faculty Senate.

Ribeau’s career in higher education includes extensive background in university administration and experience in the areas of strategic planning, faculty development, fund raising, program planning, communications and university relations.

At Pomona, he managed a division of approximately 1,300 faculty and staff and a $70 million annual budget. Ribeau also implemented a divisional strategic plan, developed a campus diversity plan, implemented a faculty professional development program and reorganized the divisional financial management system, among other accomplishments.

As dean of the College of Liberal Arts at Cal Poly San Luis Obispo from 1990-92, Ribeau increased faculty ethnic and gender diversity, developed a college strategic plan and initiated a college annual giving campaign during a time of significant budgetary reductions.

From 1987-90, Ribeau was dean of undergraduate studies at California State University at San Bernardino. From 1976-87, he was chair of the Pan African studies department and professor of communication studies at California State University at Los Angeles.

He has continued to teach throughout his administrative career and has maintained an interest in intercultural communication, African-American culture, relational communication, public discourse and race relations. He is the co-author of African American Communication: Ethnic Identity and Cultural Interpretations, which in 1994 received the Distinguished Scholarship Award for New Books, International and Intercultural Communication Division from the Speech Communication Association. He was selected earlier this year to give the 1995 B. Aubrey Fisher Memorial Lecture at the University of Utah. The lecture is one of the highest awards given to a scholar in the field of communications.

In the summer of 1994, he was invited to deliver the keynote address, “I, Too, Dream America,” at the Chautauqua Institution, Chautauqua, N.Y.

Ribeau, who grew up in the Detroit, Mich. area, holds a bachelor’s degree from Wayne State University. He received his master’s and doctoral degrees from the University of Illinois in 1973 and 1976, respectively.

Collaboration. Joint ventures. Mergers. Those are the buzz words sweeping hospitals across the nation as health care reform begins.

Mercy and St. Charles Hospitals applaud this way of thinking. In fact, right here in Toledo, we’ve been practicing this “new” philosophy for more than 20 years.

To us, it makes good sense for hospitals, and for the community. Because when administrative services, technology and staffing are shared, costly duplication can be greatly reduced or even eliminated.

At Mercy and St. Charles, we share a single source for gerontology services, purchasing, computer services, rehabilitation services and more than 15 other operations. Which has helped save tens of millions of dollars over our two decades of working together.

The savings are reward enough for doing business this way. But it’s also nice to know we’ve been a trend-setter for all these years.
Dr. Ron Zwierlein begins his second year as the director of intercollegiate athletics at Bowling Green State University having already accomplished a great deal in his short tenure.

During his first year as the director of Falcon athletics, he guided the men's sports program to the coveted Reese Trophy, symbolic of overall excellence in the Mid-American Conference.

Zwierlein, who was named to his present position on July 6, 1994, is more familiar with the BGSU athletic department, its operation, and the people than one would expect of a person recently appointed to the position. A 1968 graduate of BGSU who also has his master's from BGSU and a doctorate degree in athletic, physical education, and recreation administration from Ohio State, Zwierlein has been associated with the athletic department in many different capacities over the years.

Zwierlein, the 10th athletic director in the history of the department, spent the 1993-94 academic year as the interim vice-president for student affairs. In that capacity, he oversaw all student related activities, which included residential life, financial aid, recreational sports and the health center to name just a few of the areas.

Zwierlein comes from a diversified athletic background in athletics that includes everything from being a collegiate athlete himself, to coaching, to administration.

He returned to BGSU to head the men's and women's swimming and diving teams in 1981 while also serving on the faculty at the University. After three years as the head coach, during which his women's teams finished second in the Mid-American Conference all three seasons, Zwierlein accepted the position as the associate director of the Student Recreation Center on campus.

While still working as a director of the Student Recreation Center, Zwierlein was appointed to direct the planning and oversee the construction of the $8.7 million Bowling Green University Field House in 1991.

In 1992, he accepted the position as director of recreational sports, which included supervision of all facilities, staff, programs and financial resources associated with recreational sports. He was also responsible for overseeing the building and establishing the operational structure of the Field House.

Zwierlein was also involved in the athletic department at John Carroll University in University Heights, Ohio, near Cleveland. While at JCU, Zwierlein served as the head swimming and diving coach (1975-81) and athletic director (1977-1981). In his six seasons heading the men's swimming and diving program Zwierlein led JCU to the Presidents Athletic Conference title once while they placed seventh in the NCAA meet in 1980-81. During his tenure as JCU's swimming and diving coach, Zwierlein helped develop 28 swimmers and divers who earned All-America honors.

Zwierlein's collegiate swimming and diving teams combined to compile a 92-37 record while he had a career mark of 171-50, including his time spent coaching at the high school level.

During his tenure as the athletic director at JCU, he also served as chair of the physical education department, which included overseeing all aspects of both areas.

A native of Rochester, N.Y., Zwierlein earned three letters as a member of the Falcon swimming and diving team, serving as team captain in 1967-68 as a senior. Zwierlein was a diver, finishing among the top four in the one-meter event at the MAC Championships as a junior and senior.

During his undergraduate days, Zwierlein also served as BGSU mascot Freddie Falcon.

After graduation from BGSU, Zwierlein served as head swimming and diving and soccer coach at Monroe High School in his hometown and as swimming and diving coach at Fremont (Ohio) Ross High School.

Zwierlein and his wife Cindy, a 1969 BGSU graduate, have three children, Heidi, Heather and Chad. Heidi and Heather are both students at BGSU.
Another football season draws to a close, but not without fond memories of another fall at 'Ol BG. Today's halftime finale for '95 will be a trivia contest of sorts. It includes 18 themes from favorite television shows of the past 35 years. The only clues for long-time TV viewers are the indication that the opening medley includes nine themes from detective/police programs, while the closing medley contains all comedy show themes. Not all themes appear in their entirety, so keep careful count as the list grows!

The Falcon Band extends warm appreciation to Athletic Director, Ron Zwierlein, Coach Gary Blackney, and Falcon Athletics for their continued moral support of the BGSU Band. We further acknowledge the parents, football fans, and long-time band supporters with our sincere thanks for another great season.

Although today is the Falcon Band's outdoor season finale, the annual Marching Band Concert will take place in Kobacker Hall of the College of Musical Arts on Saturday evening, November 18 at 8:00 P.M. Tickets are available in advance at the Kobacker Hall box office. See you there!

BGSU Athletic Department

The tradition of excellence that is Bowling Green State University athletics continued in 1994-95 as the Falcon men's athletic programs earned the top award from the Mid-American Conference, the Reese Trophy, for overall athletic excellence. It is the second successive year the men have captured the all-sports award. The Falcon women's programs have captured the Jacoby Trophy four of the last eight years, including three consecutive years between 1992 and 1994.

As we move further into the final decade of the 20th century, the accomplishments of BGSU's coaches and student-athletes solidify BGSU's place as one of the top athletic programs in the country.

Bowling Green sports teams of the 1980s achieved a level of success matched by few and, based on the performance of Falcon teams as we approach the midway point of the 90s, they are maintaining their place among the elite in collegiate athletics.

Bowling Green claimed 24 conference titles during the 1980s with twenty-one teams earning berths in postseason play. Halfway through the 90s, BG teams have already won 10 league titles with nine teams making appearances in postseason action.

The following is a brief synopsis of each program in the BGSU Athletic Department.

Baseball - The program has a young, energetic leader in sixth-year head coach Danny Schmitz who has developed one of the top programs in the region. Schmitz, who played eight seasons of professional baseball, has steadily built the program into one of the best in the MAC which culminated with the 1995 league title, the program's first since 1972. BG has won 62% of its games the last two seasons. Many former BGSU players have gone on to play professional baseball including two of the better pitchers in the game, Roger McDowell and Orel Hershiser.

Men's Basketball - Coach Jim Larranaga's 10th team will make a run at the league title with a young, energetic squad led by the return of all three players who played eight seasons of professional baseball. The Falcons are the winningest team in MAC history having captured six league tournament and five regular season championships. The success of the program has attracted large crowds to Anderson Arena, including 4,408 fans for the 1993 NCAA Tournament game against Florida.

Cross Country - The program is in good hands with Sid Sink in charge of the men and Steve Price directing the women. Sink, a former track and cross country All-American at BGSU, coached the BG women to four cross country titles in the 1980s. Now, he's working his magic with the men. Price, an experienced coach on the national and international level, is in his sixth year as the head coach.

Football - Two MAC titles and a run at championships each of the last two seasons has put the program back among the elite. BG won 19 straight league games in head coach Gary Blackney's first three seasons while compiling a 28-2-2 MAC mark over the last four years. BG's 36-8-2 overall record the last four seasons is the seventh best mark in the country among Division I-A schools. With five bowl games and 10 MAC titles in its history, BGSU alumni have included NFL all-pros Phil Villapiano (Oakland), Mike Weger (Detroit), and Doug Smith (Los Angeles Rams), 12-year veteran Bob Reynolds (St. Louis), and Jamie Rivers (St. Louis).

Golf - Coach Todd Brunsink's men's and women's golf teams play on some of the most challenging courses in the country and in some of the most prestigious tournaments on the collegiate level. The Falcon men's program, which was second in the MAC last season, its best finish since 1983, has won four league titles and made four NCAA Tournament appearances while the women's program is annually among the best in the region.

Gymnastics - Year in and year out, Coach Charles Simpson fields a MAC title contender. With three MAC titles since 1980, the Falcons have qualified as a team for postseason competition five of the last 12 years. In each of the last six seasons, his teams have consistently increased the school record for team score.

Hockey - A winning tradition is what the Falcon hockey program is all about with head coach Buddy Powers leading the 1994-95 squad to a top 10 national ranking and a second-place CCHA finish. One of only five teams in the country to earn 20 or more wins every year between 1981 and 1990, BGSU will be looking to make its fifth NCAA Tournament appearance in the last 10 years this season. In all, the Falcons have appeared in nine NCAA Tournaments winning the 1984 national title. In all, the Falcons have won 11 conference titles. BGSU has produced some of college hockey's greatest names, 10 of which who currently play in the NHL, including defenseman Garry Galley and Rob Blake and forward Nelson Emerson. BG is also the home of two players who have captured the Hobey Baker Award.

Soccer - The program, which has made three NCAA Tournament appearances, posted a winning record in all but one year of the 1980s and the success has continued in the 90s with the team compiling a 64-24-4 record over the last five seasons. BG ranked sixth in the Great Lakes Region in 1994 and second in Ohio. The BGSU schedule annually includes perennial NCAA power Indiana along with the Kwik Goal/BGSU Classic. BG has won 12 or more matches in six of the last ten years for a 37.2 winning percentage.

SOFTBALL - Third-year head coach Rachel Miller-Reif will have another title-contending squad in 1996 with many of her key players returning. The program earned league titles in 1993 and 1988. The program annually plays some of the top teams in the country besides its demanding league schedule.

SWIMMING AND DIVING - Randy Julian begins his first year with the men's and women's programs looking to continue to make winning a habit. Thirteen dual meet wins in 1991-92 by the women's program established a school record while they have finished third or better in 12 of 14 MAC meets. The Falcons train at beautiful Cooper Pool, one of the Midwest's top swimming and diving facilities.

TENNIS - The Falcon tennis teams have the advantage of playing and practicing at one of the finest facilities of its kind in the region - Robert Keefe Courts. The men's team, under the guidance of 1994 MAC Coach of the Year Dave Morin, has never finished lower than fourth. The women's program is under the guidance of Penny Dean, who is in her sixth season.

Track & Field - Bowling Green, long associated with success in track and field, have had 10 athletes compete in the NCAA meet the last four seasons. Among the track alumni is six-time NCAA All-American and 1972 Olympic gold medalist Dave Wottle. Sid Sink, a seven-time All-American at BGSU, heads the men's track team, while Steve Price directs the women's program.

Volleyball - Coach Denise Van De Walle has steadily built the Falcon volleyball program into one of the best in the country. The 1992 team won a school-record 30 matches on its way to a third MAC title in four seasons. BG has won 20 or more matches seven of the last nine years. Van De Walle, three times named the league Coach of the Year, has led the Falcons to 206 wins over the last seven seasons or a victory three out of every four times they've played.

VARSITY BG CLUB SAYS GO FALCONS!

ABOUT THE VARSITY BG CLUB
The Varsity BG Club is an exclusive organization open only to former Bowling Green State University varsity letterwinners, who, for a non-tax deductible contribution of $20 per year, can help operate the club and support BGSU athletics at the same time. Almost 600 former Falcon letterwinners were Varsity BG Club members last year. Again this year, the Varsity BG Club is offering a lifetime membership for $200; no other dues will ever be required. Lifetime memberships for those 65 and older are only $100.

The Varsity BG Club undertakes two major projects each year. In July we will enjoy another Doyt Perry Golf Outing at the BGSU Forrest Creason Golf Course. Each fall, the annual Varsity BG Day festivities take place in conjunction with a Bowling Green football game. It's a great day to return to campus and visit with former classmates and teammates.

We are looking forward to another big year for the Varsity BG Club and Falcon athletics, and all we need from you is your participation.

MEMBERSHIP BENEFITS
All active members of the Varsity BG Club will receive:
• Membership in an exclusive organization open only to BGSU varsity letterwinners.
• A list of special activities and programs, such as the ones described above.
• Subscription to the quarterly newsletter.

Doyt L. Perry Stadium, with its 30,599 seating capacity, is celebrating its 30th year as the home of Bowling Green State University football.

Built in 1966 for approximately $3 million as a replacement for the 43-year-old University Stadium, Perry Stadium had a capacity of 23,272 until bleacher seats were installed in both end zones in 1982.

One of the largest and most attractive athletic facilities in the Mid-American Conference, Perry Stadium holds the conference record for single-game attendance.

On October 8, 1983, a huge crowd of 33,527 packed into Perry Stadium for the annual Northwest Ohio rivalry between Bowling Green and Toledo, establishing a school and MAC record for single-game attendance. The Falcons went on to set a season record, breaking the six-digit figure for five games with a total draw of 100,021. It marked the first time in history that Bowling Green averaged more than 20,000 fans for five home football games.

In 1944, BG fans bettered the mark of 1985 as 114,802 fans, an average of 22,960, attended the five home games. The Falcons begin the 1995 season looking to maintain their home dominance where they have compiled an 18-1-1 record during head coach Gary Blackney’s tenure.

Perry Stadium is more than just a football facility. The east side of the stadium includes dressing rooms, equipment and training rooms, along with the Athletic Department offices. The west side received a face-lift seven years ago.

The football facility at BGSU was formally dedicated as Doyt L. Perry Stadium on Sept. 26, 1992. Doyt’s wife, Loretta, is joined by Varsity BG Club President Tom Vogtsberger (far left), BGSU Athletic Director Dr. Ron Zwierlein (next to Vogtsberger) and head football coach Gary Blackney. A plaque (inset) was put up on the west side of the stadium commemorating the dedication.
A physical fitness center/weight room opened its doors to all 19 intercollegiate athletic teams in the summer of 1988. Also situated on the west side of Perry Stadium is the Falcon Club offices and clubhouse, the office for the Director of Academic Affairs, the track and cross country offices, as well as maintenance and storage areas.

Sitting atop the press box on the west side of the stadium is the plush Stadium Club. By Opponent     42, Xavier, 11/13/94

Bowling Green won the first game ever played in Perry Stadium, defeating Dayton, 13-0, on October 1, 1966. Since that time, the Falcons have won over 67 percent of their home games, compiling a 94-43-6 record in the 143 games played at Perry Stadium. Over the last 13 seasons, Bowling Green is 50-10-4 at home for a .813 winning percentage.

Perry Stadium is located at the top of the east side of the stadium, provides luxury seating for President Sidney Ribeau, his guests, and other supporters of Falcon football.

Alma Mater
Alma Mater hear us,
As we praise thy name
Make us worthy sons and daughters
Adding to thy fame.

Time will treat you kindly
Years from now you'll be
Ever dearer in our hearts,
Our University.

From your halls of ivy
To the campus scene,
Chimes ring out with gladness
From our dear Bowling Green.

When all is just a mem'ry
Of the by-gone days,
Hear our hymn dear Alma Mater
As thy name we praise.

Ay Ziggy Zoomba
Ay Ziggy Zoomba Zoomba Zoomba
Ay Ziggy Zoomba Zoomba Ze
Ay Ziggy Zoomba Zoomba Zoomba
Ay Ziggy Zoomba Zoomba Zi

Roll along you BG warriors
Roll along and win for BGSU

Ay Ziggy Zoomba is Bowling Green's unofficial fight song. Gil Fox, an Air Force bombadier in World War II stationed in Italy, brought a loose translation of a Zulu war chant back with him, and since its introduction in 1946 to a campus spirit assembly, it has kept its place in BGSU history. The Falcon football team traditionally sings “Ay Ziggy Zoomba” after each victory.

Frieda & Freddie Falcon
Frieda and Freddie Falcon are the official mascots of the Bowling Green Falcons. Together with the BGSU cheerleaders, Frieda and Freddie boost spirit at intercollegiate athletic events. Tryouts are held each spring, and winners remain anonymous to the student body until each is “beheaded” at the last home basketball and hockey game. The Freddie Falcon tradition began in 1950 while Frieda Falcon was added for the 1979-80 athletic year.

Retired Jersey
The only football jersey ever retired at Bowling Green is #29. It was worn by Paul Miles from 1971-73. Miles rushed for 3,239 yards and 25 touchdowns in his career and was a three-time first team All-MAC selection. He was just the third back in NCAA history to rush for 1,000 or more yards in three consecutive seasons.

Why Orange and Brown?
Burnt orange and seal brown have been the school colors at Bowling Green State University since 1914, the first year of classes. Legend has it that Leon Winslow, an industrial arts faculty member, got the idea from watching a woman’s hat on a bus trip to nearby Toledo, Ohio. He liked the brown and orange color combination. So, too, did former Cleveland Browns’ head coach Paul Brown. Following a trip to BGSU in the 1940s, Brown used the colors for his All-America Conference team.

Fight Song
Forward Falcons, Forward Falcons
Fight for victory,
Show your spirit, make them fear it
Fight for ‘ol Bee Gee
Forward Falcons, Forward Falcons
Make the contest keen
Shout out the fame of our mighty name
And win for Bowling Green!

Why The Falcons?
The 1994-95 season marks the 68th anniversary of Bowling Green’s nickname, Falcons. Before 1927, BG teams were called the Normals or Teachers. Ivan Lake ’23 suggested the nickname, Falcons, after reading an article on falconry. Lake, managing editor and sports editor of the Sentinel Tribune in Bowling Green at the time, proposed the name change because it fit headline space and because falcons were “the most powerful bird for their size and often attacked birds two or three times their size.”
Place-kicker Brian Leaver is pictured with Bob Hope at the taping of the Bob Hope Christmas Show last winter where the members of the Associated Press first team All-America team were introduced. Leaver, who set a school and MAC record for kickers with 105 points last season, also earned first team All-America honors from Football News. Leaver finished second in the balloting for the Lou Groza Collegiate Place-Kicker Award.

Office of Admissions Holds Preview Day

If you see some new faces on campus today, they no doubt belong to visiting high school students, their parents, and teachers who are here participating in the Office of Admissions Annual Preview Day Program.

Display booths featuring information on academic programs and student services and activities were viewed this morning in the Grand Ballroom. Campus tours were conducted throughout the morning and special open houses and demonstrations were offered by various departments.

The Office of Admissions hosts Preview Day each year in order to provide prospective students with an opportunity to view many segments of college life. This year, over 2,500 students, parents, and teachers will participate in Preview Day activities and a second Preview Day is scheduled for December 2.

Special recognition is given to the Bowling Green State University Alumni Association, whose financial support helped make today's program a success.

For those students and parents who participated, we hope you found Preview Day to be a worthwhile and enjoyable experience.
ing in," Champion said. "For me, the real clue (to Baldwin's achievement) was when I began to see the connection between colonialism in Africa and slavery and racism in America."

Achebe, who now teaches at Bard College, also shoulders the burden of speaking out against U.S. treatment of blacks and the whole colonial order in Africa. He is equally critical of the developments under black rule in Africa today.

Champion further illustrates the connections between the two men, and "by extension, between African-Americans and Africans," writes David Leeming, Baldwin's biographer, in the foreword to "Mr. Baldwin, I Presume." Besides sharing a common ancestry, both men had to master a language: "white" English. Baldwin said of this, "We have to adapt to all these white centuries."

But after they had mastered this language, "they turned around and used it to challenge the very system they had mastered," Champion said.

Both authors showed in their work "the two faces of colonialism. Pharaoh governs and Moses liberates. This is the problem of success: If you allow Moses to go too far, he will succeed in liberating the people." This paradox is dealt with in Baldwin's "Go Tell It on the Mountain" and Achebe's "Things Fall Apart."

A chapter called "The Writer We Met; The Man We Saw" describes the reaction of Baldwin to the campus community and of it to him. Though he was sometimes sharp-tongued and sarcastic with faculty, he was a serious teacher and had an informal, comfortable relationship with his students.

"Mr. Baldwin, I presume—James Baldwin—Chinua Achebe: A Meeting of the Minds" is available in both hardcover and paperback editions.

Recruiting more minority students goal of BG/INROADS partnership

Bowling Green State University and INROADS Toledo Inc. have signed a formal partnership agreement that will increase educational and career opportunities for minority students.

The pact calls for the organizations to work together to identify minority students to take part in education and work-related experiences that will help to ensure these individuals complete their schooling and embark on successful careers.

In signing the agreement, Charles Story, national president and CEO of INROADS, said his organization has been pleased by Bowling Green's "let's do it" attitude in establishing the joint agreement.

"We're establishing a model at Bowling Green that we'd like to establish at other universities around the country," Story said. INROADS currently has working relationships with about 500 colleges and universities nationwide.

Bowling Green President Sidney A. Ribeau pointed out that far too many students begin but fail to finish their educations. "Students need a massive amount of support to succeed in this society. They need mentors, faculty supporters, community leaders, family, friends and churches all to come together to provide support. This partnership is the first to provide that," he said, noting, "Bowling Green is in the forefront and the benefactors are students."

Victor Head, managing director of Toledo INROADS Inc., said the partnership is unique because campuses and INROADS affiliates around the nation traditionally have viewed themselves more as competitors than collaborators.

"In the past we've looked at each other as competing for the same students. With this formal agreement, INROADS and Bowling Green are going to share our resources, and we'll recruit together. We will help recruit students for Bowling Green," Head explained.

Since its establishment in 1970, INROADS, a nonprofit organization funded by corporations, foundations grants and private contributions, has sought to develop and place talented minority youth in business internships. Preference goes to Hispanic, African American and American Indian high school and college students with 3.0 or better grade averages.

The partnership will directly benefit each organization, said Dr. Jack A. Taylor, Bowling Green's assistant vice president for student affairs and director of multicultural affairs. He noted that the University, which has an enrollment of about 845 minority students, seeks to increase diversity among its students.

Initially the primary focus of the partnership will be on recruiting talented minorities from the Toledo area, emphasizing work-related experiences, understanding cultural programming, community service projects and a speakers bureau of students who can and Hispanic residence hall advisers and Hispanic students. "Mr. Baldwin, I presume—James Baldwin—Chinua Achebe: A Meeting of the Minds" is available in both hardcover and paperback editions.

Ten years after Multicultural Affairs making a difference

Ten years after Bowling Green State University created an Office of Multicultural Affairs with the intention of making the campus more responsive to the needs of students of color, administrators say it has made a difference.

"We're a university that values diversity more than in 1988. People are more appreciative and understanding of different cultures," Dr. Jack A. Taylor, assistant vice president for student affairs and director of multicultural affairs and student services, said.

To celebrate the 10th anniversary, a special day-long program was held last month. The program featured panel discussions and a speech by Dr. Calvin O. Butts, pastor of the Abyssinian Baptist Church in New York City.

"At Bowling Green, we've come a long way," Taylor said, pointing to several new academic programs and greater involvement of African-Americans and Hispanics in student activities.

For example, there are more African-American and Hispanic residence hall advisers and directors than ever and the number taking honors-level classes is greater than in the past. "That relates directly to one of the office's missions which advocates diversity in the faculty, staff, student body, curriculum and educational/cultural programs of the University," Taylor said.

The University has also taken other measures to increase diversity. One effort is the Pre-College Enrichment Program, which in the past eight years has provided 191 African-American and Hispanic high school students an early introduction to college life and encouraged them to continue their education. Almost all of them have gone on to college.

In 1991, Bowling Green began requiring all incoming students to take a course dealing with cultural diversity to provide a greater understanding and appreciation of different cultures.

Taylor is quick to point out that the Office of Multicultural Affairs is not responsible for the gains by itself. "But we have helped lead the effort to make people aware of the need to be responsive to others," he said. "It is a total campus effort. I think Bowling Green recognizes the value and importance of having an Office of Multicultural Affairs that can assist students and initiate programs to educate the rest of the community."

32-0 last season, and 20-0 in 1993. Overall, OU's last series win was a 23-21 contest in 1981 at home.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL PREVIEW

Young and inexperienced. Two adjectives that describe this year's Bowling Green State University women's basketball team. They are also two adjectives that make many coaches cringe. However, fifth-year head coach Jaci Clark only sees those two words as a positive motivator.

"We're going to be young. Nine of the 14 players on the roster will have one year or less of collegiate experience," said Clark. "Because of our youth, there will be a lot of excitement in the way we play. Our enthusiasm and desire to be a better team will be a strength of ours."

Many of the players who will be key to the success of the 1995-96 team saw valuable action last season which should only translate into bigger and better things from this young, yet talented team. This year's squad has the potential to get the program back at the top of the league standings. The Brown and Orange have compiled a 198-69 record over the last nine seasons, while winning six Mid-American Conference Tournaments and five regular season titles.

Said Clark, "We should get better because some of the key players we will be counting on this season earned enough minutes last season, and that, combined with the natural progression of a player, gives us a solid nucleus of experience to work with."

With the loss of four of the top six scorers from last year's team, including second team All-MAC pick Michelle Shade, that natural progression will have to translate into creating more scoring opportunities and improved scoring numbers from a handful of players.

Some say that a player develops most between their freshman and sophomore seasons. The Falcons are hoping that is true as they are counting on a pair of sophomores to carry most of the scoring load.

Guard Sara Puthoff, the only returnee with a double-figure scoring average (12.4 ppg), was named the 1994-95 MAC Freshman of the Year. The team's top three-point threat last year, Puthoff connected on 53-of-124 attempts. She also led the league in three-point percentage (42.7%) and was third in three-point field goals per game with a 2.0 average.

Forward Charlotta Jones, the team's top rebounder a year ago (6.3 rpg), is looking to better her 7.5 points per contest average as well. As a starter late in the year, Jones improved her averages to 10.0 points and 9.0 rebounds.

An area of concern, however, is the post position.

"The question at the post positions is not so much who is going to take over, but which one of the players will win the starting position and which will earn playing time in a reserve role," said Clark.

"We have a number of talented players vying for time, and I'm confident we will have more than one give us quality minutes this season."

Clark will have eight players to choose from to play the post positions. At center, junior Michelle Terry, who averaged 6.6 points and 4.7 rebounds in her first season as a Falcon, adds more athleticism to the frontcourt, while Kristi Koester, one of only two seniors on the roster, is the most experienced on the team in terms of games played with 69. Junior Sarah DeLoye as well as sophomore Netta Smith should also figure in. DeLoye is still recovering from knee surgery and Smith averaged 17 points and nine boards as a high school senior in 1993-94.

Two newcomers, freshman Jacki Raterman, a Division III All-Ohio pick last year, and Candy Day, a junior transfer from Roberts Wesleyan College, are capable of playing either the center or the power forward spot.

Day, a two-time NCAA All-American, averaged 16.8 points and 12.2 rebounds a game during her two year stint at Roberts Wesleyan.

Jones, who has the potential to become one of the top players in the MAC over the next three years, returns to the forward position. Jill DeFosse, an incoming freshman, along with Day and Raterman are available as well.

DeFosse was a prolific scorer throughout her prep career, netting 1,135 points.

"The guard position will be the Falcons strongest, with six candidates vying for playing time."

At the wing position is Puthoff, who made an immediate impact in her first season at BG, averaging almost 14 points a contest in the first six games of her career. Her 53 three-point field goals was a school record, while her 396 points was the third-highest total ever by a freshman. Senior Jena Ault and freshman Chrissy Biller will compete for playing time as well.

Ault has played in 56 games over her career. Biller is an outstanding all-around athlete who scored over 20 points a contest at a high school senior.

The likely starter at point guard is sophomore returnee Bridget Andrews. Andrews dished out 67 assists last season, second best on the team, in a reserve role. She will be backed up by sophomore Brooke Belcher and newcomer Jenifer Gafford.

Belcher, who saw limited playing time a year ago, had an assist-to-turnover ratio of 2.25-to-1. Gafford was a first team Division III All-Ohio pick last year.

The team's youth and inexperience will be put to the test early as the Falcons meet three teams who participated in the NCAA Tournament last season (Mt. St. Mary's, Penn State, Georgia), a 1994 national women's invitational tournament team (Notre Dame) and the Big Ten Tournament runner-up (Ohio State), all within the first month of the season.

The Falcons open up with Ohio State and Notre Dame before participating in the 17th Annual Dial Soap Basketball Classic in College Park, Md. There, BG will clash with first round foe Penn State before meeting up with Mt. St. Mary's or tourney host, Maryland.

And, as always, the Brown and Orange have a demanding 18-game MAC schedule to contend with.

Said Clark, "With a very competitive schedule, our confidence, because of our inexperience, will have to come from playing well, winning some games early, and getting our feet underneath us."

The women open the season Monday night at 7:30 with an exhibition game against a team from Moscow.
