BUDGET INCLUDES IMPROVEMENTS

The budget of this college for the biennium 1933-35 was submitted to the assembly last year, and $566,845 was asked for other expenses. The amount requested was estimated on a reduced salary scale of approximately twenty to one. That is too high in 1935.

During the biennium 1933-34, the present ratio of students to instructors was more than twenty to one. That is too high for normal educational efficiency, according to Dr. C. L. Wright, president of Baldwin-Wallace College, who will address the assembly on the biennium budget today. During the biennium 1933-34, the institution must provide building space for an increased enrollment. Four music instructors are needed for the library.

Special Problems in Demonstration

The Special Problems demonstration was given Jan. 24 in the Arts building. The Special Problems class is composed of four students who wish to select a project which will give them valuable training and work it out so as a class demonstration of the problem given.

Dr. Williams Attends Miami University

Dr. Williams attended the conference of the presidents of state supported colleges and universities held at Columbus, Jan. 24. The major question under discussion was the application of the sales tax to the colleges. Budgets were also discussed.

Dr. OHIO STATE BAND FESTIVAL

Prof. Church attended a meeting of college band directors at Miami University, Jan. 27. The meeting was called to make arrangements for the Ohio College Band festival to be held at that college this spring. The festival will be sponsored by the Ohio Intercollegiate Band Association of which Mr. Church is president.

Attendance Sought at Commencement

All students who are here on Friday should attend Commencement exercises. Dr. Wright's address will be worth while to hear. The program should be supported by the student body in the same way as any other campus activity. Attendance will be small this year, and we leave Thursday after the last examination. The number of graduates and their relatives can make only a small audience. It will make the occasion more interesting if we at least have a few courtesy to the graduates if all come who can.

YUWA Hears Dr. Bourne

Dr. Bourne gave the Y. W. C. A. members a new slant on the world peace movement at the YWCA on Thursday, Jan. 24. After making striking comparisons between the conditions of the very and the eradication of the war, Dr. Bourne presented four specific and practical suggestions, which are the influence of our economic system. In the discussion of the world peace movement, the need of a World Court and League of Nations was portrayed. Dr. Bourne suggested that women, as teachers, might teach the true cause of war, the false sense of honor and the protection of a few who want the profits of trading in belligerent territory. The honor of a country lies in its peaceable and peaceful contributions. Christians do not follow the teachings of Christ when they wage war.

Dr. FURNESS WAS SPEAKER HERE

Dr. Furness, of Western Reserve, spoke here last Wednesday afternoon. He talked on the Scientific and Industrial Hygiene. His lecture was packed with practical and perhaps gruesome information and was very interesting.

WYA HEADS BUSINESS SURVEY

Four Students Aid in Local F. E. A. Project

Dr. G. C. Kohl of the Social Science department, with the assistance of four students, has recently completed an intensive study of the菠萝 industry in the Bowling Green trading area. The results were presented by Dr. Kohl in an address before the Ohio State Horticultural Society, Jan. 30. The survey involved the tabulation and analysis of questionnaire sent to local businesses, and the collection of much other data from census reports and other records.

Bowling Green, according to Dr. Kohl's report, is a market community in which 15,000 people are served by 300 retail merchants. A large majority of the merchants reported business gains in 1934 over the loss and gains of the local Chamber of Commerce.

The week has finally ended. It's been full of two amusing things: the previous week's dinner and the debate afterwards. Seven were guests from Missoula. The Missouri team was Eloise Wehner and Mrs. Hazel Morse. Other guests were Miss Virginia Johnson, Miss Evelyn Reinhardt, and Prof. Forrest Rose.

ZAM CRAMMING

The Seven Sister Flashes are busy this semester with a new and an old series advancing as well as nearing the end of the 1948-49 season. Business final exams have been written, the game with Capital is still in the future but here's our very best wish that you all will be there rooting for you, as the motto of two of our members goes, "Not good, but loud."

Of course, the Commoner Combine will be a big success. You've got to give credit to the B. G. Players; you do know how to put on dances. The customary oohs by you, Don Grimes, Brothers and Commoners.

PHRATRA PHASES

A different atmosphere has pervaded our domain recently. The change, as you may have guessed, is occasioned by that dreaded word—finals. Each door is closed, each desk occupied, and each head bent laboriously on a book. Silence reigned everywhere, and a steady click of a typewriter hatchett writing caused a stir in the silent library.

Yes, the ancient art of cramming is known to us all. We know the fruits of our efforts when, on that eventful day of next semester, it is time to pack up our books and go home for the holidays.

Shatzel Hall News

Did you ever go swimming in the middle of January? If you haven't, five girls from Shatzel, Misses Dorothy Carter, Helen Hitchcock, Margaret Hubbs, Mrs. March Schlabach, and Miss Bader, are wading into the pool as we write. You tell me about it—Mr. YouTelle, will you about such an experience. It was last Sunday night. The girls were given a tour of the pool, and also practice teach in a class. The coach was Dr. Swanson.

Williams Hall News

How do Williams girls pass an exam?

They keep on their lights till the wee hour of two, so that they never always "pull through".

"Clifty" still comes to see Ida each night, and other than at Williams they are a most common sight.

Another couple that also is seen, in the Williams Hall parlor, is "Chuck" and Eileen.

We often have noticed there too, Betty Ide, by the radio sitting, Bob Ruth by her side.

Two other people who are part of the scene are Mr. and Mrs. Adkins and his girl-friend, Charlotte.

We mustn't forget our Amy and Steve, for they are in love we surely believe.

And now we will close with "Judy" and Ace, For the others, we think, they are setting the pace.

Why does Eloise go home every night? To find out the answer, just ask her to tell you about "The Scandelmonger"

The Lima team won state honors last year but was beaten only after a terrific play-off with the Clyde outfit. The entrance of Bowling Green in this league is likely to see it take several trimmings before the boys get on the fast track of the above mentioned teams.

Selection of candidates from among men in Lima in many classes has sifted the squad down to the following members: E. G. Book, F. Graf, F. Huber, R. Kruse, B. Overmyer, C. Kowalski, D. Laffin, P. Matsich, B. Rodgers, W. Slagle, H. Sizemore and G. Hopper.
