Marion Guernsey was crowned queen of the May Day celebration amid much pomp and in the sight of a large crowd on this campus on the afternoon of May 21st. Dorothy Pace attended her and placed the crown upon her head. The central walks of the campus were thronged with students and townsmen who came to view the spectacle.

Miss Guernsey made a beautiful and graceful queen as she moved down the steps of the Administration building and across the circle to her throne set in a green bower. She was preceded by two heralds, Linda Dill and Marjorie Schum. The College Band furnished the opening music. Miss Guernsey was followed by her attendant, Dorothy Pace; the girls of the Senior Class; and representatives of campus organizations. After the coronation ceremony Lois Kindinger entertained the new queen and her court with a trumpet solo. Members of the women's Physical Education classes finished the day with a number of pretty and graceful May Day dances on the circle.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF GRADUATE COURSES FOR SUMMER TERM

Last Saturday a supplement to the summer session bulletin was mailed to the high school teachers of northwestern Ohio, containing the announcement of provisions for graduate study in the coming summer session. The bulletin deals with admission, residence requirements, the general regulations, and the courses offered. Graduate instruction this summer will include the following departments: Education, English, History, Mathematics, and Social Science.

Normally one full year or four summer terms or equivalent attendance of residence graduate study will be required to secure the degree of Master of Arts. There is an increasing demand for high school teachers with advanced degrees. Students who graduate in June of this year and former graduates should seriously consider starting work toward the Master's Degree this summer.

The annual catalogue which contains the announcements for 1935-36 was sent to the printer last week. It will contain the course of study in the new College of Business Administration and also announcements for graduate work.

DEAN OVERMAN DISCUSSES NEW UNIVERSTY PLANS

Dean Overman discussed plans for the future of the institution under its new name at Assembly May 22. He announced that the bill had been signed by Governor Dewey and went on to discuss the changes to be made. The Dean of the College of Business Administration will be appointed next fall. Courses will be offered, at first, in general business, accounting, marketing, secretarial science. Juniors taking the pre-commercial course can finish their work here next year.

Arrangements for graduate work is in the hands of a committee made up of the President, the Deans, and three faculty members. Graduate work in education, English, history, social science, mathematics will be offered this summer. Other courses will be added as it is possible. The fees will be the same as for undergraduate work.

Senior's graduating this spring were urged to begin work on degrees this summer because of competition. Next year graduate courses will be given in the late afternoon and on Saturday to permit teachers to attend. The fees for next year will probably not be increased but on the following year they, no doubt, need to be raised a little.
THE ANSWER—

This is not an attack on the contributor to last week’s issue, but rather an explanation of why it becomes necessary to charge for certain student activities.

We are sometimes ridiculed by students of other colleges as being in the embryo-stage insofar as college social life is concerned. Why? Well, one reason is that we are asked to pay a $5 activity fee whereas State students, for example, are required to pay $10. Obviously, we are much curtailed, comparatively speaking. Now after our fee money is used up, we have the choice of doing without social functions, or, by charging admission. Apparently some organizations prefer the latter. Anyone who cares to attend, are privileged to do so; if some prefer not to attend, it is their affair. It seems to me that the administration is very fair in asking a minimum fee, and then allowing those who are interested to sponsor pay-activities.

I would suggest that students do a bit more analyzing before criticizing some of our practices.

I wonder if the contributor to “Student Opinion” last week sat down to figure out just how far his $5 went toward providing for our social activities. Our small contributions do not begin to cover all that we get from the privilege of owning an activity book. If students had to pay the regular rates at all the home football and basketball games, their activity books would approximately take care of these events—but that is all—no dances, lectures, college paper or concerts would be included. Why? Well, one reason is that we expect a world with a fence around it. What do you think?—A Student

The critic teachers of Ridge Street School and Miss Hayward gave a very attractive tea for the student teachers who have entered this spring. It was held in the cafeteria of the school.

Miss Roth gave an assembly talk telling about her visit to Daresbury near Chester, England, the birthplace of Dodson who wrote Alice in Wonderland. She told about the windows which are soon to be installed in the small church where Dodson’s father was rector. Scenes from the book will be portrayed in the windows. She also told about the statue of Peter Pan which was erected in Kensington Gardens overlooking the artificial body of water called the Serpentine. The statue is about twelve feet high, and at its base are niches or puddles in which are carved small mice, pigeons, and other small animals. On one side Wendy is shown, and surmounting all stands Peter Pan.

The sixth grade has just issued another copy of The Ridge Street Messenger. Its cover shows Skippy in the rain. It was drawn by Morris Miller.

The students of the university who have been doing FERA service at this building this entire year were entertained by the teachers and Miss Hayward. They all saw “Chu, Chin, Chow” at the Cla-Zel, then had dainty refreshments at Harvey’s Restaurant.

The first grade had the highest percentage of attendance at the PTA meeting for May. It will receive a book. The first grade mothers served the refreshments at the meeting.

After all the mix-ups about the dates of the various dances, the week of the Country Club Formal has arrived. Undoubtedly, you have heard that it will be something new in the way of dances and that some try Club Formal has arrived. Undoubtedly, the various dances, the week of the Central numbers. Afterwards they visited with the pupils and examined samples of their work. The demonstration was in the way of final exercises before the class goes into Junior High School.

The Training School will hold the short summer session for six weeks this summer. All grades from kindergarten on up will attend regular classes in the morning. Attendance is voluntary for those who wish to take advantage of the opportunity.

A party for mothers was given by the first grade last Friday. The guests were served punch and cookies made by the class. The napkins, cups, plates, table covers were decorated by the class in their art work. Fifteen mothers and a number of friends were present.

Helen Bovee and Betty Onofrio of the fifth grade have passed the Athletic Badge Test for girls of the National Recreation Association given Friday, May 17. They will each receive a bronze pin.

The exhibit of the year’s work given by the sixth grade last Tuesday afternoon was attended by about twenty-five friends. The visitors heard a regular lesson in arithmetic and in music. They saw the children working on their special projects, climatic maps and medieval castles and knights. The guides were entertained by the harmonica band and piano and orchestral numbers. Afterwards they visited with the pupils and examined samples of their work. The demonstration was in the way of final exercises before the class goes into Junior High School.

FALCONS PLACE THIRD IN CONFERENCE MEET

The Falcons of Bowling Green placed third in the Ohio Conference track meet at Wooster College on Friday and Saturday. Oberlin won the meet and Wooster finished second. Toledo U, having previously won two meets at B. G., finished fifth.

John Hartman was the individual star of the meet. John won the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash and the 220 yard low hurdles. Ken Weber won first in the discuss to give the Falcons their four first. Stevenson took a third in the high jump.

Coach Landis won the golf tournament for the coaches and officials by posting a score of 85.

The sports staff of the B. G. News extends hearty congratulations to Coach Landis and his track team for their fine showing in the conference meet and also in the meets during the season. The best of congratulations and best wishes for success goes to John Hartman for making track history at B. G.

His performances and records will stand a long time before they are equaled. His graduation will be a serious loss to the Falcons. The Falcons place third in the Ohio Conference track meet and it will be hard to fill his shoes. Good luck John.
