TRUSTEES TO SEEK PWA BUILDING ASSISTANCE

The Board of Trustees decided to apply for funds from the PWA for construction purposes, as follows: Extension of auditorium and women's gym, bleachers and a combination recitation and swimming pool building. A state architect is to begin shortly to complete the plans for the applications.

BUDGET TRANSFERS ARE NOT DECIDED

The question of transfers in the budget was presented to the Supreme Court of Ohio, Saturday, June 6. We understand, July 10, is the next date the court announces its decisions. The verdict upon the budget problem may be given then, as the court feels it is an emergency case.

THIRD PARTY PLANNED AT CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

In response to a call by five liberal Congressmen, more than 250 delegates from 27 states attended a National Conference at Chicago, to lay the ground-work for a new party for the 1936 elections. Representatives from nearly all the liberal, progressive, and radical groups of the country took part in the two day (July 5 and 6) meet, including: Farmer-Labor Party, Progressive Party of Wisconsin, Commonwealth Party of Washington, League for Independent Political Action, many trade unions, Farm Holiday Association, Farmers' Union, Unemployed League, People's Lobby, Technocrats, Socialists, and liberal Republicans and Democrats.

The conference, with Dr. Paul H. Douglas of the University of Chicago as chairman, organized the American Commonwealth Political Federation to be headed by Congressman Tom Amlie of Wisconsin, and adopted a 14-point "minimum program of immediate action".

1. Must be at least national—possibly international in scope
2. Must be at least national—possibly international in scope
3. Must be integrated—and based on fundamental tenets
4. Must have as goals: higher living-standards, economic security, and social justice.

This week (July 9) Dr. Williamson led the group in a discussion on the subject: Is a book-worm a mis-fit in society?

All-College Picnic Planned

The student body and faculty are to attend the College Picnic, Thursday, July 11 at 4 p.m. at Otsego Park. Games, swimming, and boating are some of the numerous activities that can be enjoyed.

Follow notices posted on the bulletin board for means of transportation.

Students present activity cards in registrar's office to secure lunch tickets before Wednesday at 2 P.M.

Niagara Falls Excursion Planned

You are cordially invited to join with the College on a specially conducted Lake Erie-Niagara Falls trip. For all who enjoy a cool Lake ride on "the finest ships on inland waters" this trip will have a special appeal.

More than 1400 people from the College and their friends have enjoyed these trips in past years; and after a lapse of several years this ever-appealing Lake Erie-Niagara trip is being offered again.

The cost this year is lower than ever before. Only $14.75 for the trip from Detroit to Detroit, including very fine meals, state-room reservations, transportation from Buffalo to Niagara, and sightseeing at the Falls.

Leave Detroit by boat July 12, returning to Bowling Green July 14.

This will be the only Lake Erie-Niagara Falls Special offered from here this summer, and is a most favorable opportunity for taking this very delightful water trip.

If you want to see Niagara Falls as they are today, and with an exceptionally fine group, this is the time to go.

On the return one can visit Belle Isle Park with its many attractions, and the famous Ford museum and village (at Dearborn) or various other places of interest in and around Detroit.

Reservations can be made thru W. P. Holt at the College.

STUDENT BODY STILL LARGELY FEMININE

The proportion of men and women in the present summer session enrollment still favors the women. So far this summer, 183 men and 430 women have enrolled. The most prominent factor responsible for this inequality in numbers seems to be the fact that but very few men choose courses leading to elementary teaching. In the regular year the men have rather consistently gained on the women registrations in degree courses until the figures for the first semester of last year were 329 men to 278 women enrolled in these courses. As long as men do not take to teaching in elementary grades, there will probably be a majority of women in attendance at Bowling Green State University.

Open Forum Debates Society Planning

The Open Forum, holding its second session last Tuesday, July 3, discussed the pro and con of "a planned society".

Introducing the subject with a quotation from Soule's book of that name, Dr. Bourne challenged the crowded room with a powerful indictment of the present planless social-economic order. Society, the speaker said, without a plan is in imbalance striving to achieve a balance which it can never attain.

Technological advances, it was pointed out, can only lead to a further disintegration in private industry, whereas under social control they could be developed for the benefit of all. Instances were then noted of fields in which private individual initiative could not hope to be effective.

Planless results in such economic faults as waste of natural resources, monopoly, high prices, mistreatment of labor, and mal-distribution of wealth; and in social evils: preservation of the unfit, slums, governmental irresponsibility, inefficiency and corruption, and undirected, incomplete, inadequate, and under-financed education.

Concluding her survey of the topic, "Must society be planned?", Dr. Bourne listed these four requisites for a satisfactory plan:

1. Must be long-range, long-time planning
2. Must be at least national—possibly international in scope
3. Must be integrated—and based on fundamental tenets
4. Must have as goals: higher living-standards, economic security, and social justice.

ENJOY COLLEGE LIFE

Are you interested in extra-curricular activities? Half the fun of college is outside a class room, yet some of us are missing the important features which help to complete our education. Our dances and entertainment numbers should be attended 100 per cent. Dr. Swanson has begun his classes in folk dancing for followers of the terpsichorean art, some of the instructors have organized field trips and picnics and then there is the Open Forum and Emerson Parliament for those who care to participate in discussion.

The Physical Education department has organized games for those who are athletically inclined, and a few of our ambitious students have been swimming at the city pool and Portage quarry. Thursday will be the All-College Picnic; with all these forms of amusement a summer at Bowling Green should be quite a lark. Enter into these activities to round out your education and enjoy yourself. Let's go swimmin'.

Get Behind the News

The Bee Gee News is a college paper published by the students for their benefit and enjoyment. Let’s make this, our student publication, one of the best in this section of Ohio. The only way this can be done is for everyone to get behind it and lend his talents by contributing items. If you are not one of those who enjoy writing, induce one of your friends to write up the article you have in mind.

Personal items create student interest. Every day something happens on the campus that is of interest to other members of the student body. If you see or hear something unusual in class—professors are human and often make amusing remarks; in the library, or among your associates, jot it down and drop it in the news box in the Administration Building. The staff can not do everything, but much can be accomplished with a little cooperation. Get behind the news and let’s have a real live college paper full of zing, zest and zip.

Self respect is the prime requisite of success. Respectability surpasses money to make life worth while.
Parliamentarians Meet Despite Many Obstacles

Despite the fact that many of its members had left for home, the Fourth, Emerson Parliament met as usual last Wednesday night. And in spite of rain, lightning, and flood about thirty intrepid souls gathered for continued drill in parliamentary law with Prof. Schwarz as mentor.

With Dale Kellogg in the chair, the group discussed the possibility of a third national political party. A motion favoring such a move was first defeated, but after more discussion was reconsidered and referred to a special committee of seven members. A move to make this committee predominantly masculine, was defeated by a united feminist stand, and the final membership was four women, three men. It is reported that the committee has met and is planning to bring out a report urging Parliament to back Huey Long or Will Rogers for president in 1936.

All members and others interested should be present tonight when action is taken on the report of the special committee—7:00 P. M., 103-A.

Independence Day

The celebration of the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence has been celebrated in various ways. Many went to parks to hear speakers and see the display of fireworks. Many went on trips for the week-ends.

The students who went home came back happy but tired. Those that had will power stayed. Many did school work to celebrate the Fourth. Many walked around the neighborhood and saw local fireworks. A good time was had in celebrating the 4th.

The faculty of Toronto University has prohibited students from having stenographers take notes for them during class. This edict will cause untold hardship among delicately reared pupils . . . A Kentucky student attended a geology class for a week before he discovered it was not a class in German. Maybe it was the professor's accent . . .

Mens' Indoor League
Organized for Summer

Since the summer term has no schedule for any form of athletics in competition with other colleges the men's athletic department has organized a league of six teams which play indoor baseball. Much interest is being shown and to date nearly eighty men have signed up. Each team plays off against a game a week. At present the standings of these teams are:

<tbody>

Martens, Stout, Brandon, Fretz, Pickens and Johnson, respectively, are captains of the above teams. If you are interested there is still a chance to sign up. See the Bulletin Board in Administration building or Men's Gym.

Three professors were lunching at the University of Maryland.

"What kind of students are these?" bewailed one. "They come and ask me: 'What's a good course to take Monday at 10, any course as long as it's at that hour?' That's a sad commentary."

"That's nothing," replied the second.

"When I was teaching at Dartmouth, I had an advisee who bragged about never taking a course later than eleven o'clock."

To which the third added: "Nothing at all. When I taught at N. Y. U., in a nine-story building, I had a student come up and ask me for a good course between the first and third floors."—The Michigan Daily.

General Smuts Talks Again

A generation or so ago, General Jan Smuts was leading the Boers in their war against Britain. Since then he has commanded British soldiers in France and is one of the trusted advisers on foreign policy for the Empire.

In a recent speech at Capetown, General Smuts continued his policy of frankly discussing international issues. He favors close cooperation between Great Britain and the United States and fully realizes the danger to the world peace in Asia. A struggle in the Pacific, he said, would probably eventually involve not only Japan and China or Russia or the United States, but also the British Empire as well.

"If Japan knew that, treaty or no treaty, there existed in fact a policy of practical co-operation between the British and American group, that knowledge of itself would, in all probability, suffice to insure peace in the Pacific."

"The dominions desire the closest association possible between Great Britain and the United States in world affairs for their own future security. They look partly to the United States, for they feel sure that what happened in the Great War would happen again, and that in any grave crisis of the future and in any hour of danger these two groups would be found side by side, treaty or no treaty."

Anglo-American cooperation for the maintenance of the integrity of China and future peace is the most important step that could be taken in international affairs.

Many Americans will agree with General Smuts. There is certainly a great need for a definite policy of cooperation between the British and Americans. Such a common front would eliminate the danger of war for a long time.

Women's Physical Education and Swimming Class Popular

Mrs. King is the instructor of the beginners' swimming class. Twenty young mermaids are enrolled and are very eager to learn. At present they are being taught the crawl stroke and keeping their head under the water. Perhaps one of these girls will someday be swimming the English channel.
