Monday, Feb. 7

Exhibit: American Basketball Hall of Fame. Films in the Kentucky Center for the Arts, 210 W. Main St., 8 p.m. and 11 p.m. $8. Guided tours given at 10:30 a.m., 3:30 p.m. Call (606) 272-7559 for information.

Exhibit: Summer Art Program. U.S. Forest Service Center for Environmental Education, 2000 E. Main St., 8 a.m.-4 p.m. Call (606) 272-3212.

Tuesday, Feb. 8

Exhibit: Appalachian Music. The Rhythm of Appalachian Music, a traveling exhibition sponsored by the West Virginia University Libraries, School of Music, and Center for Arts Education. Free.

Wednesday, Feb. 9

The University of Kentucky's Center for the Enhancement of Women in the Colleges and New England Women's College. Free.

Thursday, Feb. 10

Classified Employment Opportunities

New Vacancies

Monday, Feb. 15 or 16

1-11 Consultant Worker

2-6 Physical plant

2-11 Consultant Worker Supervisor

Faculty/Staff Positions

Former offensive coordinator, West Virginia State football coach, Bill Sykes, is now an assistant football coach at Pfeiffer College in North Carolina. Sykes said he plans to focus on the offensive side of the ball for the team.

New Vacancies

Monday, Feb. 15 or 16

1-11 Consultant Worker

2-6 Physical plant

2-11 Consultant Worker Supervisor

Faculty/Staff Positions

Former offensive coordinator, West Virginia State football coach, Bill Sykes, is now an assistant football coach at Pfeiffer College in North Carolina. Sykes said he plans to focus on the offensive side of the ball for the team.
Hahn, née Kipling named Distinguished University Professor

Two faculty members with impressive accomplishments were honored by the Board of Trustees last week.

Dr. Chan Hahn, a professor of management and Dr. Kenneth Kiple, a professor of history, were named University recipients of the 1990 faculty awards for significant achievements and the University's highest honor for teaching, research and community service.

In 1990, Dr. Hahn was named the Owens-Phillips Professor of Management, which was the University's first endowed professorship. It was created from a $250,000 gift from Owens-Phillips Inc. to the College of Business Administration. The National Association of Colleges and Universities has named the Owens-Phillips Professor of Management as one of its 100 most distinguished programs for its outstanding achievements and the award is given in honor of Dr. Hahn.

In 1989, Dr. Kiple was appointed a Distinguished Teaching Professor, the University's highest teaching award. He is also a founder and former president of the University Faculty Senate. Kiple is a member of the College of Arts and Sciences, where he is an associate professor in the history department.

Most recently, Hahn was named a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the nation's oldest and most prestigious honor society for contributions to scholarship. It is an honor that is conferred only on individuals who have made significant contributions in the sciences, humanities and the arts.

In 1990, Kiple's long career of service to the organization reached its apogee when he was named Distinguished University Professor, an honor that is reserved for the University's most outstanding scholars.

ASC hopes for successful presiding

Dr. Lester Barber, executive assistant to the president, has been named to the Committee on Academic Senate. He will be in charge of all academic senate business, including the election of a new president. The Board of Trustees has appointed Barber to the position of executive assistant to the president.

Although Dr. Barber has a contract with the board, his position as executive assistant to the president allows him to be on the same level as all the other senior administrators.

The president has not given any specific date for when the Board of Trustees will be in session, but it is likely to start sometime this summer.

The trustees have not announced any specific time for the meeting, but it is likely to be in the middle of the summer, after the Board of Trustees has finished its work on the budget.

Dr. Barber said they begin to negotiate the salary and benefits for the new president, and they want to make sure that they get a good deal for the University.

In the meantime, Dr. Barber will be working on the budget and the Board of Trustees will be working on their other duties.

The University appoints Foster as general counsel on legal affairs

Nancy S. Foster has been appointed University general counsel, effective immediately. Foster had been with the University since 1990 as an associate general counsel.

This part of the University's legal affairs will be divided into two parts: the University's legal affairs and the Office of the General Counsel. Foster will be responsible for all legal matters of the University, including the Board of Trustees and the Ohio Board of Regents.

Panel to speak on AIDS

The Student Health Service and College of Health and Human Services will present a panel discussion on AIDS at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 21 in the Student Center.

The panel will consist of people whose lives have been directly affected by AIDS, including patients, caregivers and health professionals.

The program is being sponsored by the Student Health Service and the College of Health and Human Services. The discussion will be moderated by Dr. Margaret McInerney, assistant professor of medicine at the University.

The panel will address issues such as the treatment of AIDS, the ethics of research and the impact of AIDS on society.

Events are planned to celebrate Black History

A celebration of black history is planned for the month of February. The theme of the celebration is "Black Power: The Power of Black History." The event will be held on February 17, from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. in the Student Center.

The event will feature a speech by Dr. Frank Porter, a professor of history at the University.

Dr. Porter will discuss the history of black power in the United States and its impact on society.

The event is open to the public and is free of charge.

Love is in the air: Prout Chapel spot popular to say "I do"

In search of love on campus this Valentine's Day, there is a popular spot on campus where students can get married. The University Chapel, also known as Prout Chapel, is a popular spot for weddings.

The chapel is a small, white, clapboard structure tucked in between Williams and Shaffer halls, it's small size makes it a perfect spot for a romantic wedding.

Unfortunately, there have been no recent news reports or comments from the University about any weddings taking place at the chapel or any other popular spot on campus.

The University Chapel is a quiet, peaceful spot, perfect for a romantic wedding. The Chapel has been in existence for over 50 years and has been a popular spot for weddings for many years.

The University Chapel is located on the second floor of the Williams Hall building. It's small size makes it a perfect spot for a romantic wedding. The Chapel is open to the public and is free of charge.

The Chapel is a small, white, clapboard structure tucked in between Williams and Shaffer halls, it's small size makes it a perfect spot for a romantic wedding.

The Chapel has been in existence for over 50 years and has been a popular spot for weddings for many years. The Chapel is open to the public and is free of charge.

The Chapel is a small, white, clapboard structure tucked in between Williams and Shaffer halls, it's small size makes it a perfect spot for a romantic wedding. The Chapel is open to the public and is free of charge.

The Chapel has been in existence for over 50 years and has been a popular spot for weddings for many years. The Chapel is open to the public and is free of charge.
Hahn, Kiple named Distinguished University Professors

Two faculty members with impressive accomplishments were honored by the Board of Trustees at its Feb. 11 meeting as Distinguished University Professors.

Kipling is the first to receive a Distinguished University Professorship.

The honor is given to faculty members whose work in teaching, research and service is outstanding and who have made significant contributions to the University. The award is given in an honor in the spring.

In May 1990, Hahn was appointed a Distinguished Teaching Professor and in 1991, the Board of Trustees named him a Distinguished University Professor. In 1992, he was awarded the University's highest teaching award, the Distinguished University Professorship. In 1993, he was honored with the Distinguished University Professorship. In 1994, he was named a Distinguished University Professor.

Hahn has been in the business of teaching and research for more than 30 years. He has been a member of the University's faculty since 1967. He received his Ph.D. in agricultural economics from the University of Wisconsin in 1970. In 1970, he joined the University's faculty, where he has been a member of the Board of Regents, the Board of Trustees and the Faculty Senate.

The Board of Trustees announced that Hahn is being named an Distinguished University Professor. Hahn's work in the areas of teaching and research has been recognized by numerous awards and honors, including the University's Distinguished Teaching Professorship.

In addition to his work in teaching and research, Hahn has been active in community service. He has served as a member of the Board of Trustees, the Board of Regents and the University Council. Hahn has also been involved in the University's alumni association and other organizations.

Kiple has been a member of the University's faculty since 1970. He received his Ph.D. in agricultural economics from the University of Wisconsin in 1970. In 1971, he joined the University's faculty, where he has been a member of the Board of Regents, the Board of Trustees and the Faculty Senate.

The Board of Trustees announced that Kiple is being named an Distinguished University Professor. Kiple's work in the areas of teaching and research has been recognized by numerous awards and honors, including the University's Distinguished Teaching Professorship.

In addition to his work in teaching and research, Kiple has been active in community service. He has served as a member of the Board of Trustees, the Board of Regents and the University Council. Kiple has also been involved in the University's alumni association and other organizations.

Events are planned to celebrate Black History

A celebration of humanities and the arts between Africa and modern America is the umbrella theme for the University's celebration of Black History Month.

A series of events will be held throughout the month, including a lecture series, film screenings, a book signing, and a festival. The events will be held in various locations on the University campus.

The lectures will feature prominent scholars and authors, including Dr. Angela Davis, who will speak on the topic of Black women's history. The films will include a screening of the documentary "The Color Purple," written and directed by Tyler Perry.

The book signing will feature local authors, including Dr. Leonard Pitts, Jr., who will sign copies of his book "The Yellow Raft in Blue Water." The festival will feature a variety of performances, including a poetry reading by Dr. Cornel West.

The celebration will culminate with a visit by former President Barack Obama to the University campus. Obama will deliver a speech on the importance of Black history and the role it plays in shaping our society.

The events are open to the public and will be free of charge. For more information, please visit the University's Black History Month website.
H.B. 151 affects retirees to work

Monday, Feb. 14

Gael Biek, Director of Women in Urban and Suburban Research, will speak on "Women and the Economy of the Urban Suburb" at the noon session of the Women in the Workplace Conference, 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., 3rd Floor, League Union.

Wednesday, Feb. 16

Nancy Merrill, director of Personnel, will speak on "The Impact of Employee Development on Organizational Effectiveness" at the noon hour, 11 a.m. to noon, 3rd Floor, Union.

Saturday, Feb. 19

Ashley North, director of Advising and Counseling, will speak on "Supporting Your Students in the New Year," 3rd Floor, Union.

Sunday, Feb. 20

Contact the BGSU Symphony Band: 3 p.m., Kipper Hall. Moira Brown, assistant professor of music at the University of Illinois, will discuss "Music and Science," a musical adventure with an audience of scientists, including molecular biologists, human geneticists and neurologists.

Monday, Feb. 21

Contact the BGSU Jazz Ensemble: 7 p.m., Don-Cain Theater.

Wednesday, Feb. 23

BGSU Women's Basketball will host the University of Chicago, 7 p.m., Convocation Center.

Thursday, Feb. 24

The BGSU Women's Basketball Team will host the Case Western Reserve University, 7 p.m., Convocation Center.

Friday, Feb. 25

BGSU Men's Basketball: 1 p.m., Convocation Center.

Continued

Board considers hiring a consulting firm to aid it in presidential search

President John S. Herriott announced last week that the university will utilize the services of a consulting firm to assist it in the search for a new president.

"It is our intention to showcase our campus, key university groups and the community that constitute our area as an attractive place to locate a presidential search office," Herriott said.

"We will then begin a more thorough search from this point on in the state as we see the search continuing," he said.

Planning for the day long event has already begun. Labbe said that such events will be sponsoring four to five programs that will be offered at the presidential search office and one special group will be put on for faculty, staff and students. The greater the turnout will be from communities."