EDITOR, THE MAVOR: The University’s Welfare Committee would like to take this opportunity to thank all of those who have attended the Welfare Fair on May 2, 1985, for their participation. This year’s event will be held on Thursday, March 17, at the University. It is hoped that even more people will attend this year’s event, which will take place in the Grand Ballroom with the one and only Wellness Fair being held. Last year’s Welfare Fair was extremely successful for a first time event. Many of you have participated in past fairs and it is hoped that this year’s event will be as successful.

The Welfare Committee would like to thank all of those who have contributed to making this event possible. We hope that everyone will enjoy themselves and have a great time.

This year, the University administration is committed to providing the best possible educational experience for students. As such, they have decided to introduce a new policy to students and instructors.

The new policy requires that all students must now take an entrance exam before they can register for any class. This policy has been implemented to ensure that all students are able to handle the workload and are prepared for the challenges that lie ahead.

The University administration is pleased to announce the launch of a new program aimed at improving the educational experience for students. The program, which will be called the "Learning Assistance Program," is designed to provide additional support to students who may be struggling with their coursework.

The program will offer one-on-one tutoring sessions with experienced faculty members, as well as access to a variety of online resources and study materials.

In addition, the program will provide students with the opportunity to participate in a range of extracurricular activities, such as sports teams and clubs, which can help to enhance their overall university experience.

The University administration is confident that this new program will make a significant impact on the educational experience of students and look forward to seeing the benefits it brings.

As chair of the Administrative Staff Council which represents more than 2,000 members of professional staff, Greg Jordan (ASC) said he is most proud of the day-to-day accomplishments of his group: "I've been here 11 years, the role of ASC within the institution has evolved. In the beginning, the role of ASC was to help shape the outcomes of decision-making processes within the administration and for 11 years, said Jordan, the council has "increasingly focused on their role on the council for input on personnel and administrative issues. Also, the council has been given a lot of information on personnel issues pertaining to the classification of staff. However, he said, the council has received few responses to their recommendations on how classified staff should be done.

"One good piece of advice we can give our readers is to make the best decisions. The philosophy is the best decision for each member of staff" said Jordan. He was critical of the new pay plan that addresses expenses and the new classifications of staff. He said the new pay plan does not make enough progress for the major achievements of the council today. However, Jordan said that he is most pleased with the classification of staff as it is an important step toward change. He said that we need to keep looking at the overall picture in order to make the changes that we need.

"I believe we are making progress in the right direction," he said. He also noted that he has been working closely with the Labour Relations Officer to address issues related to personnel matters and the perception of staff that opportunities for advancement are limited. He said that ASC is strongly supporting the reclassification of employees from within the University.

To help compensate for the reduction in positions within the University, he said he added a "job loan program" to the job bank in order to make employees more aware of job openings and to help employees develop new skills.

Jordan also noted that the University's new policy on classified staff will allow employees to take advantage of opportunities for professional development in order to increase their chances of advancement. He said that we need to continue to work on this issue in order to provide opportunities for classified staff.

Muegro said that the principle concern of his group is the classification of staff as it is an important step toward change. He said that we need to continue to work on this issue in order to provide opportunities for classified staff.
