One hundred and twenty-five people were heartily welcomed Saturday to West Liberty to visit the spectacular Ohio Caverns which compare favorably with the best caves of Virginia and Kentucky.

The caverns are specially noted for the stalactite and stalagmite formations. Some of the rooms in the underground castle have myriads of dripped stone formations hanging from the ceiling and rising from the floor in never-ending variety. Among the superlative wonders seen by the group were "The Fountain of Wealth," "The Flowery Dome," "The Crystal Sea," and "Sunken City," "The ley of the Caves," "The Garden of the Gods." It may be of interest to know that the cave's passage is a mile long, the greatest depth of the cave was a hundred and three feet and the temperature 64 degrees, which remains constant throughout the year.

GEOLGY CLASS VISITS OHIO CAVERNS

125 People See Cave Wonders

ON AUGUST 21, the students of the GEOLOGY CLASS of B. G. College had the opportunity to visit the Ohio Caverns, located in the northwestern part of the state. The class was interested in visiting the cave, and the trip proved to be an educational and enjoyable experience.

The cave is known for its vast formations, which include stalactites and stalagmites. The temperature inside the cave is a constant 64 degrees Fahrenheit, and the humidity is high, creating a pleasant atmosphere for exploration. The cave is approximately two miles long and has a variety of formations that are stunning to behold.

Specialists to Assist

Two conferences which will prove highly interesting to superintendents and teachers of our summer student body will be held in our auditorium and are scheduled for July 20 and 21. On the first day, a conference on High School standards will be held under the auspices of members of the staff of the department of education.

In the field will be here to assist with the conference on visual education on July 21.

Invitations will be extended to other educators throughout the northwestern part of the state. More definite announcements as to programs will be made later.

Reach of teaching expanded

In an address on "The Reach of Teaching," given at the Cleveland World's Fair, Mr. Slutz discussed the importance of the multiple reach of teaching, which the name suggests, including the multiplicity of the unconscious reach of teaching. It is important to note that the unconscious reach of teaching is often illustrated by the activities of a teacher who is not even aware of the influence they are having on their students.

Dr. Slutz pointed out that teaching is not simply imparting knowledge, but also involves helping students to develop their own ideas and perspectives. He emphasized the importance of teachers being aware of the impact their words and actions have on their students, and of being open to learning from them as well.

Specialist to Assist

Mr. Slutz concluded by stating that the multiple reach of teaching is an integral part of the teaching process. He encouraged teachers to be aware of the various dimensions of the teaching experience and to use them to enhance the learning process for their students.

Music Festival at Ohio University

The Ohio University Music Festival was a vibrant event that showcased the talent of the university's music students. The festival featured a variety of performances, ranging from classical music to contemporary compositions. Attendees were treated to a diverse range of musical styles and were able to experience the beauty of music in different forms.

The festival began with a performance by the university's symphony orchestra, followed by a vocal recital and a concert by the university's chamber music groups. The evening concluded with a performance by the university's jazz ensemble, which brought the festival to a lively close.

In addition to the performances, the festival included a series of workshops and master classes, which provided opportunities for students to learn from experienced musicians and to refine their skills.

The festival was a great success, and its impact on the university's music program cannot be overstated. It provided a platform for students to showcase their talent, and it encouraged a sense of community and collaboration among the university's musicians.

Bee Gee News

Almost 1,000 delegates from forty-five states and Canadian provinces met in the Cleveland City Auditorium of North America, held at Lake Erie, Ohio, from June 23 to 28. Almost 1,000 delegates, as delegates to this Conference, gave voice to the people of the United States, and others. These commissions then met in a special session trying to improve and correct the conditions in the country.

The conference was divided into ten groups, or commissions, each to study one particular problem such as: "Building a New Economic Order," "The Christian and the Use of Alcohol," "Building a Warless World," "Military Action," and others. These commissions then reported to the whole conference, which voted upon their recommendations of goals. The following five important resolutions were adopted:

1. Every citizen should be given the right to vote in the election of public officials.
2. The living of boys and girls should be better than subjects of interest should be taught.
3. The skill to win the admiration of boys and girls, for only by the admission of all students shall we present them.
4. Four things in technique the special interest of innovation was improved.
5. Knowledge of piece of subject matter, the skill to present it.
6. The living of boys and girls should be better than subject matter.
If Winter Comes

There is a difference in attitude marking the average winter from the summer student at B. G. S. U. The summer student queries, "what shall we learn for tomorrow?" While the former student would ask, "How can I get through today?" The happy medium drawn between these two makes up the character of the many good students to be found in both sessions.

That most of these summer students actually believe in memorizing facts given by the instructors is difficult to state. I suspect that they are just wise enough, with their practical experience, to follow their assignments, however unreasonable, at least the time separating the grains from the chaff. Often the winter students are unable to do, and consequently wallow and long over these facts that "we'll never use anyway.

But the students become upper clammers they are experts at humorizing instructors and thereby receive better grades with less work and "beefing". It would be a revelation to most of the winter students to see the manner in which these summer students turn out their work without a whimper.

Professors and Politics

If a college education helped only in aiding to cast an elegant ballet, after a campaign such as that used by Mr. Roosevelt for president, I'd feel it well worth while. So much propaganda, usually straddling the issue, is put before us that it takes a clear thinking mind to get behind the facts concerned.

Our modern newspaper system is so constituted that certain self-appointed men with the necessary capital also have the privilege of determining which side of a battle we should read. In some areas in spite of 3 or 4 local newspapers only one side of the issue is presented. When a scoop from the enemies' campus is published, but elsewhere in two larger papers a broad reading articles to counteract any wrong impressions the reader might have gathered.

The government will never be permitted to regulate the press for obvious reasons. No plausible method of control can be found. We will prevent, among other things, these capitalistic lots from yelling, "Bode, "Communists", every time a liberal idea is offered that interferes with the choice position they now hold as self-appointed spokesmen.

It is a challenge to the teachers of America to develop citizens with an open mind and a background broad enough to students turn out their work without a whimper.

Facts and Figures

It is interesting to know:

That we have 106 acres in our campus and 91 planted, but elsewhere in two larger papers a broad reading articles to counteract any wrong impressions the reader might have gathered.

That the cost of the buildings and grounds is well over $2,000,000.

That we house 211 students in the dormitories which will prevent, among other things, these capitalistic lots from yelling, "Bode, "Communists", every time a liberal idea is offered that interferes with the choice position they now hold as self-appointed spokesmen.

That 49,000 volumes and 163 periodicals in our library are a challenge to the teachers of America to develop citizens with an open mind and a background broad enough to students turn out their work without a whimper.

FREEDOM

The press of America is free. It has cast off its Fetters and is reading the world to its heart's content. Logically the college press of America is also free, not only in reality, but they are as free as the press of the land.

In the college authorities must remain inviolate. Like the king, Hitler, and Mussolini, they can do as they please.

College traditions must carry on unplagied. However moth's and dust, however dirty they are, they will always be a joy forever. Such must be the college spirit.

Anyone or anything connected with the school income must be free. Freedom of thought, speech and press must be available to all.

There must be no department infringement on publicity. The paper make-up is entirely in the hands of the editor. He has carte blanche, and all the latitude in the world; but if the paper makes a single error, the whole college will have to assume the responsibility.

This is as Caesar's wife, above reproach. Criticism of state officials is in journalistic heresy, but the truth and entirety is quite secured by proper means.

Ye Olde Five Brothers

Ye Olde Five Brothers spirit was much in evidence around the freshman house Tuesday evening, June 23. The old brothers and the active brothers were there. At this meeting the foundation was laid for an active chapter of Five Brothers at the campus this summer. Mr. Moosman was elected Ye Olde Ekul, Mr. Marshall as scribe and miser, and Mr. Thomas was elected to serve in the most important capacity of G. A. P.

It was decided that on June 30 there would be an informal dinner at the house with a meeting immediately following. If this plan proves successful, it will be made a weekly event. All brothers are cordially invited and urged to attend both the dinners and the meetings.

And so summer school brings sophomore sisters back together again. We hope 3-Kays of last year's chapter welcome you of our alumnae list onto the campus again. Those of you who didn't get to see very often tended to "become" a name and now we feel that you know that you really are G. A. P. We like it to be that way and here's to a happy summer of work and play at G. B. G. and many happy reunions later.

A TALL STORY

If your girl doesn't want you to give her the moon, says she'll be satisfied with the "big dipper" don't be too elated— you still have a big job.

It takes 7 years for light to pass across the top of the bowl of the great dipper, a distance of 1,400,000,000,000,000 miles. If you were able to take a train across the brim, at the present rate per mile, your ticket would cost $1,201,736,199,000 and even if you could count the bills, your lifetime would be over before the train was far away from the station.

If the great dipper were filled with water, it would hold 125,751,077,675,543,512,000,000,000,000,000 cubic miles. If there existed a giant large enough to be able to use this dipper, the highest balloon ascension man has ever made, would not clear the epidermis on the bottom of his feet. So if he wants the big dipper—better buy her a "cake."

dren. At Duke, Mr. Abernethy was awarded highest honors in mathematics. He won the Archibald H. H. M rchon Prize for his work in mathematics at the University of North Carolina. At the University of Michigan he was elected to Sigma Xi, scientific honorary fraternity. He also is an associate member of the American Institute of Actuarial science since the hot weather doesn't seem to concern Mrs. Neiswonger's cooking. But in spite of a nightmare accompanied by a lusty scream, a broken window, and those breakfasts at dawn, we think our home life presents an ideal of perfect domestic accord.

TWO-ROUND SOFTBALL SCHEDULE OPENS

BAYLIS AND SCHALLER TEAMS

WON IN PRACTICE

This week brings the opening softball games of a proposed two-round schedule. Four teams are entered and captained by Bayliss, Hawkins, Van Atta, and Schaller, each determined to capture the B. G. S. U. summer softball title.

In the practice games played last Thursday afternoon Bayliss defeated Hawkins with a score 7-5, while Schaller led his boys in a 21-14 win over Van Atta. This practice session did much to point out the glaring weaknesses and battery combinations.

The schedule calls for games to be played Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 3:00. Each game is to be a seven inning affair, unless hindered by unforeseen difficulties such as tied scores, thunder storms, or deliberate misconduct. The spirit and enthusiasm shown thus far bears out the predictions that this is to be one of the most enjoyable sessions ever to be planted.

Come out some Tuesday to watch the fun.
