Falcons Smash Oberlin; Flashes Next Cardinals Basketeers Fall By 53-36 Count, Kent Staters Come Here Next Tuesday

Gold And Blue Cagers Will Risk Win Streak Of Their Own Against Rampaging Landisiam

The Bowling Green University cagers will be out to increase its winning streak at its home place against the Oberlin Conference when they play host to the Golden Flashes from Kent State on Tuesday evening.

The Cardinals added two more games to their win column when they scored impressive victories over Haldane and Oberlin last week to give them fourteen wins in eighteen contests.

The Kent Staters, who have won ten and lost seven, are in the midst of a short winning streak and are expected to offer the Falcons a sterner task than they fought last year. The B. G. team won the contest by the score of 53-36, which was high for the Cardinals until the teams met again here in the Ohio Conference.

The Bowling Green State University will continue their game against the Ohio Conference Saturday morning when they kick off the contest by the score of 33-31. The B. G. team won the contest by the score of 76-53.
