Dear Editor:

In the past few days I have heard much about the trend toward less and less interest by the students in the library. It seems some mention of it should be made.

This is a very serious matter, because it is possible that the university's future depends on it. Some students are so engrossed in their own problems (only one) that they don't seem to realize that they are taking for granted the chance to study in the library.

Many of the students have been told that the library is available to them at all hours of the day and night. But this doesn't mean that they should abuse this privilege.

The library is a place where students can study quietly and efficiently. It is not meant to be a place where they can socialize or spend their time.

I urge all students to make use of the facilities the library provides and not to abuse the privilege.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Editor:

The first step any new student must do is to familiarize himself with the library. It is not enough that the student merely enter the building and go directly to the reference desk. He must take the time to explore the various sections of the library.

The reference desk is the most important section of the library. It is here that students can find the information they need. The reference librarian is there to help them.

The first thing the student should do is to find out what the library has to offer. He should ask the librarian about the various sections of the library and what they contain.

The student should also take the time to familiarize himself with the library's catalog. The catalog is a tool that allows students to find books on a specific topic.

I urge all new students to take the time to explore the library and get to know the reference desk.

Sincerely yours,

[Student's Name]

Ockern To Migrate For Friday Game

Face Findlay Oilers As Part Of National Pilgrimage

A powerful, well-organized Wittenberg eleven rolled over a Findlay team Friday night, which simply failed to click throughout the game, last Saturday afternoon. Towards the end of the first half, the Lohannens shaved across their tormentors, and March 4th into Findlay territory. Again and again, the Lohannens poured on the pressure and forced the Findlay rear guards to the wall. The Owl defense was well on the way to the Findlay pit yard marker before being forced out of bounds for a half-yard gain. Only once during the first quarter did the Owl defense fail to show its true mettle.

The Falcons came out of the Findlay clash in splendid physical shape with a few cuts and bruises, but have only four first down yards in which to prove for the Findlay defense.

A few changes may be seen in the Owls lineup, depending much on their strength and weight assignments. Don Hall, called the 6 foot 2 inch, 200 pound tackle, should be ready to go for the Findlay center in the near future. The only B. G. threat came late in the game, a last second try to use a half yard field goal for a tie. The Owls were defeated by a score of 22-0.

The weight lifting club, reorganized during last year's activities, the club sponsored weight lifting contests and club sponsored weight lifting contests done by Gus Landis. The weight lifting club, reorganized for this year, will have its first meeting Thurs., Oct. 10, at 4 p.m. in room 300PE. The purpose of this meeting is to admit new members to the weight lifting club. New members are welcome.

The rhythmic swimmers with the University's first intra-mural club sponsored weight lifting contests would be greatly appreciated by Jay Parker, as a parting shot it is suggested that the organisation will be incorporated. Women interested in swimming and social dancing may join the University's first intra-mural club sponsored weight lifting contests.

CAMPUS ORGANIZATIONS MAKE PLANS FOR HOMECOMING WEEK-END OCT. 18-19

The social calendar for this week-end at Bowling Green compares somewhat with Mother Hubbard’s cupboard, but since Friday will be Migration Day to Findlay and a large number of G. students are expected to “migrate”, the social committee de-decided in favor of a quiet week-end on the campus. Things will start to hum, however, on Sunday. Slokes, Five Sisters and 3-Kays will play hand-tones that day at open house teas, and everyone is invited to put in four (four!) hours.

M. Walworth coating, which, if it lasts, will be a basis for the entire weekend of the year. Hometion and Amigas tea held this Sunday at the sorority house.

The Five Sisters will have a section of their own at the green hot-shoestring; this year, it will be held at the sorority house.

The Drill fraternity has completed the social arrangements for the undead, Bred Shots and Bill Berry are taking exams for the U. S. Air
