Second Semester Dean's List
Gains 46 Honor Students

According to the figures released by the office of the Dean of Men, the number of students listed on the Dean's List has increased from the first semester to the second semester this year. This semester, as compared to the first semester of the 1940-41 school year, the number of students on the second semester Dean's List started at 185.

Comparison of the two lists shows that there were fewer students on the second semester list than on the first semester list. However, some students who were on the list for the first semester, but not for the second semester, may not have met the requirements for the second semester's criteria.

A. E. Cook, professor of English, believes that this would be difficult, because many of the subjects included in the first semester's criteria were not included in the second semester's criteria. He believes that the list of students on the second semester's list is more representative of the students who can perform well in their studies.
John C. Matthews, special correspondent for the Bee News, found a receptive audience when he addressed the Bowling Green State University last week. Matthews referred to his widely noted book, "The Intellectual," a study of the role of intellectuals in our society. Matthews said that intellectuals are very often neither approved nor disapproved, but only not stated. Yet, the intellectual is the very fiber of our society, a fundamental body that is essential to the well-being of our society. He concluded that a person who is an intellectual should beClick here to check your address.

Kent State Brings Improved Squad To Gain Revenge

Bowling Green State University’s Falcon mermen will men in their 18-0-11 home swimming schedule this week when they entertain the championship-edged Kenyon College, Lords, Saturday and Kent State’s splashers next Tuesday.

The coaches will be out to salvage the final meets of the season that has seen them start strong and then fall into an extended losing streak that took the first two Friday nights when they lost to the “toughies” of Western Reserve of Cleveland by a jaunty score. Their season’s record stands at five wins in 12 starts.

This week’s opponents will have the fewest chances of improving their bowling before meeting the Gin-

The Kenyon squads in the small college teams in the midwest are narrowing a long, hard track lead and needs to be second in team scoring. Other star members to Coach Joe Glander are credited with final try-outs also tonight and next Wednesday night.
