Dean's List Extended
To Sophomore Class

Extension of the Dean's List to sophomores as well as juniors and seniors was announced during the summer in a letter to students with an average of 3 points (B) or better for the second semester of last year.

Dean Arch B. Conklin enclosed with the letters cards permitting those on the Dean's List to have access to the library stack room. This is a new privilege.

The 296 students on the Dean's List are exempt from the attendance regulation, with the exception of the first two weeks of the semester.

Of his list, Dean Conklin said, " Favorable results have been evident in the second semester of last year. The plan has been in operation for the second semester following three years on the Dean's List Extended plan."

The list is on a semester-to-semester basis, contingent upon the Dean's List for the second semester of last year.

Dean's List Are Granted

About 700 Attend Summer School

A successful summer term closed on Aug. 8 with commencement exercises for 103 graduates. The enrollment of approximately 700 was somewhat lower than that for the previous year. This drop in enrollment was attributed both to increased industrial activity and to the gradual reduction from year to year of the number of two-year diploma graduates who return for additional work.

A well-attended social program was planned by the social committee under direction of Chairman John Bronson. Students and faculty enjoyed several social dance parties supervised by Harry Horton, local N. Y. A. recreation director. An all campus picnic, bridge tournament, and bingo party were part of the summer social program.

Good Grid Team Looms

IN COACHING SHIFT

Whittaker Calls 44 Candidates

With a new coach, the varsity football team should have a "good" season despite the tough- est schedule in Falcon history and a team composed largely of sophomores.

Handling the squad will be Bob Whittaker, who joined the Bowling Green Football department last winter after 11 years as football coach at Sandusky High School. When his teams won 88 out of the 110 games they played.

Coach Whittaker directed spring practice here and has spent a large part of the summer in his 28-foot L-class sloop on Lake Erie, where in 1940 he was a winner in the Put-In-Bay Regatta.

The coach, who is married and has two children, is a graduate of Miami University. Then he played halfback on the football team coached by Paul Brown, new Ohio State coach.

"I believe Whittaker will be comparable to the same shift. He goes from the single wing to the balanced line, then once a day until the first game," Whittaker remarked.

The blue-eyed, brown-haired coach succeeds Harry Ocker- man, who was elevated to di- rect intercollegiate athletics and the Department of Physical Education. Ockerman had coached the Falcons for six years.

Whittaker's aides include M. Build Cox, new assistant football coach; Fred Marsh, freshman football coach; Joe Glander, trainer, and Harry Bear, sen- ior manager.

While the head coach is mak- ing no predictions on the out- comes this fall, others "in the know" look for the Falcons to do much better in a year when they won three, lost two and tied five.

Most of the 44 candidates in- vited to report for the first day of school 10 are expected to be present.

To date the draft has taken no football man eligible to play this fall. However, defense employ- ment will keep at least three gridiron—Amos, Anders and Usak.

Football practices will be carried on a day to day class schedule, then once a day until the first game, Sept. 27 with Wooster here.

Sofs To Rule

Current freshman football rules will go into effect Sept. 17 when fresh men kicks will make their appearance. Formation of the initial period will be deter- mined by the outcome of the an- ticipated formal war scheduled for Friday, Oct. 5. A freshman will win the game by the last indistinctive head gear that night at the football rally. If sophomores win the rules will be enforced for an additional week.

Included in the student on- field enforced rules for the first year students are a ban on use of the automobile and alcohol. The library, ability to sing the school songs on demand, and the re- quirement that freshmen tip- hats to upperclassmen.

Extension Work Offered

Deans to Lead Orientation

Men, Women Go In Four Sections

All freshmen are required during the first semester to take a non-credit course in Orientation, which meets once a week. Dean Arch B. Conklin has charge of the course, which is divided into several sections, and permits discussion in addition to the lectures on problems of personal development and moral adjustment to college environment. Men and women students meet in separate sections in Orientation.

Dean Conklin is a former superintendent of Bowling Green schools.

Nearly All Are Placed

By Fraternities, Sororities

With four fraternities and seven sororities, freshmen sometimes are bewildered by "rushing" on the campus. Following are some excerpts from the fraternity and sorority regulations that may help:

SORORITIES:

1. Only those girls having one semester's residence credit are eligible for group rushing.

2. Individual rushing may be done any time except formal rush week and silent period.

3. Group rushing may be done any time during the first four weeks of each semester.

4. Formal rush week is the fifth weekend of the semester;

5. Rushes will meet in the auditorium at 4 p. m. Monday of the fifth week to receive information on the procedure of rushing and signing of preference slips.

Paul W. Jones Joins Faculty of New Department

Paul W. Jones, for the past five years state editor of the Columbus Citizen, will become instructor in journalism in the newly created department of journalism. He will head the new depart- ment to be added this year. Mr. Jones will be in charge of the university News Bureau in addition to his teaching duties.

Courses to appeal to a varied interests are included in the curriculum. Students may choose between either the editorial, business, or art departments of either publication.

Editors Prepare For News, Key

Student editors are busy these days getting final plans in shape for the Bee Gee News and the Key for the coming semester. A number of new features will be noted in the Bee Gee News, according to policy editor Doug-pace, and Francis Ruth, Key editor, is planning what he hopes will be the best book he has ever written.

New offices will be occupied by each publication. The Bee Gee News will be located in the office room at the corner of administration building and the second floor corridor, formerly occupied by education department offices. The Key office will be at the end of the same corridor in the former history department office.

With the addition of another member to the journalism departmen, each publication will have a separate supervisor. Mr. Paul W. Jones, former state editor of the Columbus Citizen, will be the News advisor, and Jesse J. Currier will again be the advisor to the Key. Mr. Cur-die was also appointed the editor of both publications last year.

Students interested in trying out for a position on the bee or key publications should watch the corridor bulletin boards during the next two weeks for tryout dates. Any student is eligible for either the editorial, business, or art departments of either publication.

This digger is shown scooping out some of the first earth at the site of the new Student Health Center.

School Cast In Play

Smith Directs Three Act Comedy

Before the early semester festi- vity spirit subsides the student body will have the opportunity of enjoying an old fashioned Fall Festival sponsorship of the Bowling Green Chamber of Commerce. The street fair and glee club program will be held October 8, 9, 10.

Draft Official Urges College
