Ohio Colleges

Enrollment at Bowling Green State University has dropped 14.7 per cent in the last year, according to a report made by John W. Bunn, announced today, that 1,915 students are enrolled for the second sem-ster, which started Tuesday. This is less than the 2,135 students, part-time students, and graduate students, whose figures are in distributive edu-

Tryouts held for "Double Door" today. Twenty-five girls appointed in preliminary auditions for Season I. The men's auditions will be held next week.

Reporting for work Tuesday were: Gaynor W. Leitz, 25, and Mary Jane Tschirner, 28, both from Wellington; Anna M. Funk, 35, and Robert A. Funk, 27, both from Proctorville; James W. Wooters, 30, from Wheelersburg; and Anna M. Siler, 32, from Gallipolis.

2000 Women's College students will work at Double Door this week. The first performance will be next Tuesday, with the annual opening on March 15.

Rudolph, Radio Expert, Visits High School

John E. Bunn, radio expert, spoke from station WVL, Cincinnati, in the gymnasium on "The Science of Broadcasting." He told students how to operate a radio station at a large radio station in the nation. He also explained what radio engineers do at a broadcasting station.

Rudolph is a radio engineer at WVL and is a member of the National Association of Broadcasters.

About Dancing, Students! YWG Will Give Programs

The YWCA will present a series of afternoons of dance and music, sponsored this week. The dances will be held Tuesdays, at 7:30 p.m., in the Recreation Room. The first dance will be held on February 17, and end with a tea dance on February 20. A tea dance will also be held on February 20. The YWCA is selling tickets at the door.

Remember The Zero Hour

The time is 7:30 p.m. and the place will be completed at Bowling Green. The Zero Hour is a social event for the new students, under the direction of Lawrence M. Lee. Lee Minds will direct and arrange a round dance. Guest of honor will be Dr. Paul B. Johnson, President of the University.

Students Can Build University "Prestige"

To prevent a college from perpetuating itself and line up among those institutions of a national rank, every college really makes a name for himself. Bowling Green State University has such a person in Professor Z. R. Zaugg. As an example, the college of Bowling Green is not only in the field of music. Recently Mrs. Medalie H. Marshall announced the success Zaugg has been making a prediction for his future in the musical world.

Upon reading this dissertation on the following of Dr. Zaugg, director of the Bu- cingian and vice-president of the university, the student, remembering that Zaugg was a graduate of our University and of the University of Michigan, is impressed. Zaugg also has a survey made recently by the ad-

Bishops Bring Veteran Squad, Strong In

The Brown and Orange swimming team under the guidance of Coach Bud Cox will step into the second part of their 12-meet schedule on Wednesday, February 8th, when Bishop's from Ohio Wesleyan University will be in the swimming arena at 8 p.m. On Saturday, the team will have another meet with the Fighting Lutherans of Luther College in Iowa City.

Ohio Wesleyan was scheduled to visit the program in February against Oberlin but post-World War II shortages eliminated both their squad and ours. The meet was to be at the swimming arena in Jaysey, Indiana, where there is a large and enthusiastic support for the sport.

The Coxmen are anxious to get back into the competition, which the Bishop's performers hold in high esteem. Both teams are eager for this meet to see how the local contestants fall to the floor and the breaststroke by 441-31 count. In 1930 the Bishop's met our squad in the same arena and put us in place for a meet for the ages. It was a good meet but the Bishop's were in no way threatened, and Coach George Romanek of Bishop's Swim Club stated, "the Bishop's had some good swimmers, but they are not as good as we are now."

Both teams are in a good state of training and several members stated that the meet was one of the most searching for the Coxmen. The meet will be of a high order and we hope that our swimmers will come through with flying colors.

The Brown and Orange meet comes on immediately after the meet with the Fighting Lutherans of Luther College in Iowa City where the Coxmen vacillated with the Lutherans for the honor of being the first team to win the meet. The Lutherans won both ends of the arena and the Coxmen are anxious to see how they will fare against a new squad of swimmers from Bishop's University.

28. O. S. U. Men In Line For Army And Navy Positions

Melvin Bud Cox, Bowling Green's varsity swimming captain, and his squad, received notice last week that he had been recommended by Dr. W. P. Ash- well, head coach of the varsity, for the Navy, and Dr. W. H. Banks, head coach of the varsity, for the Army. The selection was made in the army or navy physical examinations.

Dr. Ashwell, member of the varsity faculty of the Bowling Green State Teachers College, said last week that Melvin was one of the finest swimmers the school has ever known. Only 106 returned their applications for the 1938-1939 season. Among these were several swimmers of national reputation, such as Dick Peterson, the 50-yard expert, and Richard Jones, the 100-yard engineer, who could win easily in those events. TheFinancial

Landis Revamps Line-Up As Four Regulars Are Lost From Bowling Green Quintet Comes Here Tuesday

Bowling Green State University's basketball squad de-parted yesterday for a trip designed to strengthen the basketball strength of the school with the addition of new players and the recovery of old players to the team. The trip was made by the seven-man squad under the direction of Coach Paul E. Landis and was one of the most successful trips ever made by the Greenie basketball team.

The trip was made to Ohio State University and included the visit to the school and the selection of new players for the squad. The trip was made in one day and was completed with the arrival of the squad at Bowling Green on Tuesday afternoon.

School Wall Have Enough Chemicals For This Semester

New Economic Program Is Adopted To Cure Shortage

It is "business as usual" in the classroom, and all fronts of the war are being affected by shortages of the materials needed to produce clothing. There is every indication that it will increase, instead of diminish, the purchasing power of the consumer. New or limited design materials will be found in great demand.

The new academic year begins and there will be a surge in the demand for clothing. The new economic program is designed to meet this demand and to provide a stable environment for the clothing industry.

Several students of the Fine Arts Department have finally received their diplomas from the school. Among those not return- ing to the studio next semester are Jack Amato, John Johnson, Har- old Koehl, Harold Humphrey, and the late Robert D. Brown. The students who have been drafted and will be inducted into the armed forces will be Miss Dorothy Johnson, Robert D. Brown, and Bill Smith.

The Art Department has already begun preparations for the new semester. The new economic program is designed to meet the demand for clothing and to provide a stable environment for the clothing industry.
