Flanagan, Famous 'Cellist, To Play Here February 17

It might be said that this editorial is for men only, for during the next few months, the men on this campus are going to be faced with a serious problem. In a word, that problem is "Trotting.

For the past 18 weeks, the freshmen men in particular, and the men on this campus in general, have been forced to learn all sorts of advice dealing with study habits, proper social manners, and in general, what it means to be a college student. Now, at last, the subject of fraternities has come up, and the late Valentine's Day season has just ended, within the past week. As you undoubtedly have been called upon to sign the pledge card of some fraternity, you might want to take all-important step that may possibly be the deciding step in your college career.

There are a great many problems that concern and trouble the men of this college, but just which fraternity will be best for him is one of the most important problems that the freshmen must face. With his own personal desires, he must be guided by the "smooth talk" of the brethren. The mere fact that the freshman has been on the campus for 18 weeks should make him fairly well acquainted with the members of the different fraternities. The freshman should always remember that he is not to judge fraternity by its individual members for those judgments are not necessarily bad as well as good.

The next, and probably one of the most important, problems, is the financial angle. Before he joins a fraternity, he should have a complete understanding of its financial status of the group of his choice, or at some time he may be forced to direct that fraternity through a difficult crisis. If the financial status of any fraternity is uncertain, it is certainly advisable to ask the faculty adviser of any fraternity should he be so good as to answer the call.

It is most unwise to be affiliating yourself to any group that shows any sort of financial instability. At assembly Friday, he can see the "financial status" of each group and he can judge for himself which group he would like to be a part of.

Last year, at assembly, a great many freshmen were asked to join. This year, as assembly approaches, many men are asking "Just which fraternity, and which men?"

In all instances, the men who are choosing fraternities should have a complete understanding of the status and financial conditions of the group of which they are desiring to become a part.

The Greek System has been a problem which has been discussed by many students, but the only answer to the problem of fraternities is to choose a fraternity which will be a benefit to the member. For those who have beenundecided as to which fraternity to join, there is a great deal of advice which will be of some help. The answer seems to be that there is no question about which group he would like to join. It is, however, important that he should be associated with a fraternity which will be of benefit to him personally.

The student who has been undecided as to his fraternity, should have a chance to look into each group and see which one he would like to join. If he cannot make up his mind, he should not join a fraternity until he has had the chance to look into the group and see which one he would like to join.

The greatest of all problems to him, is to try and decide whether to join a fraternity at all.

Sen. Adams

The greatest problem a student has is to decide whether he should join a fraternity or not. The question of choosing a fraternity is one that is very important to him. The student who is undecided as to which fraternity to join, is in a very difficult position.

In many cases, the student is not sure of his own personal desires, and he is not sure of his own personal desires. He is always in doubt as to which fraternity is best for him. Second Semester Brings Many Varied Activities

Now that every little student has finished every little study, we've plunged through the half-way mark of the long, long 36 weeks, we'll have a brief gasp-around the corner—June 4 at 4:00 p.m. when Commencement will be just around the corner. The remainder of May is giving us B.C. lassies the break of traditional Sadie Hawkins week, selves proud with their spring dresses worn backwards. Some of the games also had a backward group. Fletcher Shoup, x46, who is stationed at Norfolk, Virginia, was a recent guest of Beta Gamma, and gave a "Come As You Are" party for the alumni. During the past week alumni had been coming in the armed forces. This Honor Roll will be announced at Norfolk, Virginia, was a recent guest of Beta Gamma, and gave a "Come As You Are" party for the alumni. Home Ec Seniors Give Reception

A formal reception for faculty and student guests. Thursday night included a series of projects by the Junior Foods Club of the Home Economics department. The reception was in the Project Apartment of the Practical Arts Building, with the Senior Home Economics women acting as hostesses.

The projects began with an experiment in tomato juice to see how little could be spent for food in a day and still maintain a proper diet. The cost ranged from 75 cents to 45 cents per person a day, and the students all agreed that the meals were well factory.

A formal luncheon, Wednesday, May 19, and a formal dinner, Thursday, January 15, to which faculty members and their wives were invited, were other parts of the project. Two Home Economics students are learning Reading Green soon. Jane Newman, sophomore from Willingtown, is joining the WAVES, and Carol Gable, junior from Fayette, is going to the Naval Training School in New York, New York.

FALCONS LOSE TO YOUNGSTOWN, 51-39 FROM KENT STATE
With possibly its worst week out of the way, the Falcons found their winning streak by losing to Youngstown College and beating a strong Marauder basketball team.
Against Youngstown, the Falcons had their first loss of the season and the Falcons hope for an undefeated season.

The Penguins, strengthened by the brilliant play of Don Dailey, guard, who officially bothered up 20 points, and Bob Seiber, half, with the exception of the first few minutes,

Gray was held to only 15 points, more than he had ever scored. Bob Dailey, half, played a brilliant game in excess of 15 points and scored at basket level the whole game.

Roger Phillips followed Gray with his 15 points, while both Bill forth and Otto received 1.

The 15-0 game was the worst starting upset of the Beeky basketball team.

Playing against Kent Friday night, the Falcons defeated the Bobcats and gained the 9:30, on the Coca-Cola Spotlight Band teriea. This series, which feature d with Xavior Cugat’s orchestra. Cugat’s orchestra appear* frequently
