HRC plans three seminars

A seminar on student rights at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 28, will be sponsored by the Human Relations Commission. Dr. Robert Ladd, political science, will present "Student Rights and Responsibilities: A Discussion of the American Constitution and Regulations for Changing the Student Code." A panel consisting of Donald Rapson, student affairs; Karen Argentini, Graduate Student Senate; Donald Klett, Evergreen Gallagher, Undergraduate Student Government; and Dr. Russ Jordan, medical technology, will be led by the seminar, which will be held in the Crabbs Room of the Union.

The seminar, which is entitled "Racism in the Budget," will be held from 2 to 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, March 9, in the Crabbs Room of the Union. The event will be sponsored by the University Union, the American Association of University Women and the American Humanist Association.

The theme of the seminar is "Racism in the Budget," and the purpose of the seminar is to bring awareness to the fact that the budget for Ohio University may be affected by the federal government's cuts to social programs.
Sacrificed on March 11, 1982, was Dr. Donald Robinson, president of Bowling Green State University. This was a great loss to the Bowling Green community. As a former student of Dr. Robinson, I would like to share some thoughts on his life and legacy.

Dr. Robinson was a beloved figure in the Bowling Green community. He was a charismatic leader who was known for his passion for education and his commitment to his students. He was a mentor to many and a friend to all. His leadership was characterized by integrity, honesty, and compassion.

Dr. Robinson's contributions to the Bowling Green community were immense. He was a strong advocate for social justice and equality, and his leadership was instrumental in the development of the university's diversity and inclusion initiatives. He was also a strong supporter of the arts and humanities, and his commitment to these fields is evident in the many cultural events and programs that take place on campus.

The impact of Dr. Robinson's legacy is evident in the way that the Bowling Green community has come together to remember him. His death has saddened many, but his memory continues to inspire us to be the best we can be.

In conclusion, Dr. Donald Robinson was a truly great man, and his legacy will live on in the Bowling Green community for many years to come.
New system in place
Faculty play greater role in budget planning

New budgeting procedures which include a system of departmental budget-planning groups will take effect for the 1983-84 academic year. Each department and each unit within a department will work toward developing a departmental capital spending plan. In addition, a three-year capital spending plan will be developed by the university as a whole. This university-wide plan will be developed through a series of meetings and workshops involving faculty, staff, and student representatives. The plan will be presented to the Board of Trustees for approval. After the plan is approved, each department will develop a capital spending plan for the upcoming fiscal year, taking into account the funding available from the university-wide plan.

In addition to the departmental capital spending plans, each unit within a department will develop a capital spending plan for the upcoming fiscal year. These unit plans will be reviewed by the departmental capital planning group, which will present them to the departmental capital planning committee. The departmental capital planning committee will then present their recommendations to the departmental capital planning group for consideration. The departmental capital planning group will then present their recommendations to the university-wide capital planning group for consideration. The university-wide capital planning group will then present their recommendations to the Board of Trustees for approval.

The new budgeting procedures will allow for greater faculty participation in the budget planning process. This will enable the university to better align its budget with its academic priorities and to ensure that the budget is responsive to the needs of the faculty, staff, and students.
