Northern Illinois University

Chartered in 1895, Northern Illinois University is a comprehensive teaching and research institution with a diverse and international student body of nearly 25,000. The main campus in DeKalb, Illinois, is located 65 miles west of Chicago in one of the most dynamic regions of the country. Northern also has regional outreach centers in Hoffman Estates, Naperville, and Rockford, as well as the Lorado Taft Field Campus in Oregon, Illinois.

NIU’s seven degree-granting colleges offer 63 undergraduate majors and 79 graduate programs, including 11 Ph.D. programs and the Juris Doctorate. Many of these academic programs are nationally accredited for meeting the highest standards of academic quality and rigor.

The College of Education at Northern Illinois University has been fully accredited by the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education since its inception. In its leadership role in the state and region, the College prepares professional educators who are responsive to the needs of the constituencies and audiences with whom they interact. Central to this mission are the promotion of high standards of professional education, the use of best instructional practices, support of scholarly and artistic activity, promotion of both individual and collaborative efforts, and a culture of ethical, professional behaviors.

The New Editors will assume leadership of the journal at the end of the 2010 conference. Please look for their call for proposals at the registration table and throughout the conference.
Welcome to MWERA 2010!

Advancing Educational Policy and Decision-Making through Research and Assessment

On behalf of the Board of Directors, officers, and Program Committee, I am pleased to welcome you to the 2010 annual meeting of the Mid-Western Educational Research Association. We have a very exciting program this year, with a wide array of choices for all conference participants. The program is comprised of keynote addresses, papers, workshops, poster sessions, invited addresses, and symposia, all of which have undergone a rigorous peer-review process. I wish to offer my sincere thanks for all who worked towards putting this program together.

In particular, we are excited to see so many proposals for papers and posters that fit the theme of the conference: Advancing Educational Policy and Decision-Making through Research and Assessment. The theme examines multi-disciplinary approaches for investigating and addressing complex issues in education. The current era of data-driven decision making and evidence-based practice underscores the need for increased dialogue among researchers and practitioners, with research informing practice and practice informing research. In this way, bi-directional communication can both enhance the effectiveness of practice and advance the boundaries of research.

The conference begins on Wednesday, October 13, with two workshops and two afternoon sessions. On Wednesday evening, we are privileged to host Dr. James H. McMillan, Professor and Department Chair of Foundations at Virginia Commonwealth University and Director of the Metropolitan Educational Research Consortium (MERC) for an informal conversation at our traditional Fireside Chat in the Great Southern Gallery. Dr. McMillan’s keynote address – The Perfect Storm: How Policy, Research, and Assessment Will Transform Public Education – will be delivered on Thursday, October 14 at 9:30 a.m. in the Grand Ballroom. This presentation will examine the convergence of policy, research, and assessment as powerful influences shaping public education and practice in the future.

The Luncheon Keynote Address on Friday, October 15, will feature Dr. Michael J. Feuer, Dean of the Graduate School at George Washington University. Dr. Feuer’s luncheon keynote address – Holding Assessment Accountable – will be delivered on Friday, October 15, at 12:00 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom. This presentation will consider the benefits and cautions of test use in educational reform.

On Saturday, October 16, we will welcome the current president of MWERA, Dr. Doug Feldmann. Dr. Feldmann is an associate professor in the College of Education and Human Services at Northern Kentucky University. His talk is titled The Maintenance of Teacher Autonomy in a Policy-Driven Era.

I invite you to enjoy the next several days, as you renew and establish friendships as well as enrich your professional knowledge. Please visit with me during the conference if there is anything I can do to enhance your experience.

Cordially,

Cynthia Campbell
MWERA Vice President and 2010 Program Chair
Conference Events and Highlights

Dr. James H. McMillan will open the 2010 Annual Meeting of MWERA with an informal Fireside Chat Wednesday evening at 8:00 p.m. in the Great Southern Gallery (coffee, tea and light desserts will be provided). On Thursday at 9:30 a.m., Dr. McMillan will present his Keynote Address, The Perfect Storm: How Policy, Research, and Assessment Will Transform Public Education, in the Grand Ballroom. Dr. McMillan will be available for further discussion and questions following the keynote in the Great Southern Gallery.

The Editorial Board of the Mid-Western Educational Researcher will meet on Wednesday from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. in the Deshler Parlor. All members of the Editorial Board should attend.

In an effort to keep members from having to choose between Division meetings and presentation sessions, Division Business Meetings have been scheduled in three timeframes across Friday. While the business meetings are shorter and more are scheduled simultaneously, a careful attempt was made to minimize conflict in divisions where memberships historically overlap. Two of the division meetings will have invited speakers. Remember, participation in a division is an important part of MWERA membership. Get to know some of your colleagues in a division and become active, including helping to recruit new members and plan next year’s conference.

New Members are encouraged to attend the New Member and New Student Member Welcome Session Thursday afternoon at 1:40 p.m. in the Great Southern Gallery. Come meet other MWERA members—both new and old—and find out why we are proud of our research efforts, collegiality, support, and friendships. Student Members are especially encouraged to attend! Come and get acquainted with your fellow students and the benefits of MWERA membership.

The MWERA Association Council will hold its annual meeting over lunch on Thursday, beginning at 12:00 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom. All current and newly-elected Association Council members are expected to attend.

The highlight of Thursday evening will be the President’s Cracker Barrel Social, scheduled from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. in the Foyer. Your host for the evening will be the current president of MWERA, Dr. Doug Feldmann, associate professor in the College of Education and Human Services at Northern Kentucky University. The social is a great way to unwind and catch up with your colleagues while enjoying food and drink. A cash bar and hors d’oeuvres will be provided.

Both 2010 and 2011 Division Chairs and Co-Chairs should attend the Division Chair Meeting (Orientation and Conference Feedback) on Friday at 5:20 p.m. in the Chittenden Parlor.

Everyone available is encouraged to attend the annual MWERA General Business Meeting, scheduled on Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 10:20 a.m. in the Grand Ballroom. President Doug Feldmann will preside over an agenda of issues critically important to the association. Your input is both needed and welcome!

At the Friday Luncheon Keynote Address, we are honored to have Dr. Michael J. Feuer as our speaker. Dr. Feuer’s address is titled Holding Assessment Accountable, where he will discuss issues associated with educational testing and reform. Remember, you must pre-register for the conference in order to be guaranteed a seat at the luncheon! Immediately following the luncheon, Dr. Feuer will be available for questions in the Great Southern Gallery beginning at 1:40 p.m.

Dr. Cynthia Campbell, the 2010 Program Chair, and Dr. Ellen Sigler, the 2011 Program Chair, are very interested in your feedback. Please complete a conference evaluation so that necessary changes can be made for the 2011 Annual Meeting in St. Louis, MO.

General Information

The 2010 annual meeting of the Mid-Western Educational Research Association will be held from Wednesday, October 13 to Saturday, October 16 at the Westin Great Southern Hotel in Columbus, Ohio. Registration and pre-conference workshops will begin on Wednesday afternoon, with the Fireside Chat launching the formal program at 8:00 p.m. Thursday, Friday, and Saturday will consist of research papers presented in a variety of formats, as well as invited speakers, meetings, and social events. The conference will conclude following the final sessions at noon on Saturday.

Meeting Registration is expected of everyone attending or participating in the 2010 annual meeting of the Mid-Western Educational Research Association. Advance payment for full registration for the meeting (as well as current MWERA membership dues) is expected of everyone. Registrants are provided a MWERA-10 name tag, which must be worn at all times during the conference. Those planning to attend MWERA-10 are strongly encouraged to pre-register for the conference and workshops and make hotel reservations as soon as possible. Pre-registrations and hotel reservations must be received by September 13, 2010. Registrations received after this date may not be received in time for processing, and on-site payment in the form of cash or a personal check will be required (if double-payment is later determined, a refund will be issued). On-site registration and packet pick-up will be available at the registration desk in the lobby of the Westin Great Southern Hotel at the following times:

Wednesday, October 13:  4:00-8:00 pm
Thursday, October 14 : 7:00 am-6:00 pm
Friday, October 15 : 7:00 am-12:00 pm & 1:40-4:40 pm
Saturday, October 16 : 7:00 am-10:30 am

Membership in the Mid-Western Educational Research Association provides reduced conference registration fees and a subscription to the Mid-Western Educational Researcher, the official MWERA publication. Attendees are encouraged to join. Conference participants must be paid members for 2010.

Session Formats

Paper Presentation
Paper sessions are intended to allow presenters the opportunity to make short, relatively formal presentations in which they overview their papers to an audience. Three to five individual papers dealing with related topics are grouped into a single session running one hour and twenty minutes. The presenter(s) of each paper is (are) allowed approximately 15 minutes to present the highlights of the paper. A single Session Discussant is allowed approximately 15 minutes, following all papers for comments and critical review. A Session Chair moderates the entire session. Presenters are expected to provide complete copies of their papers to all interested audience members.

All presenters are expected to upload their completed paper through www.mwera.org by September 13. Final papers not uploaded by the due date may be dropped from the program.

Roundtable Discussion/Poster
Roundtable Discussion/Poster sessions are intended to provide opportunities for interested individuals to participate in a dialogue with other interested individuals and the presenter(s) of the paper. Presenters are provided a small table around which interested individuals can meet to discuss the paper. Presenters may elect to provide small, table-top poster-type displays, ancillary handouts, or other table-top A/V materials to augment their discussions. Interested individuals are free to move into and out of these discussions/posters as they wish. Presenters are expected to make available complete copies of the paper on which the roundtable discussion/poster was focused.

Symposium
A symposium is intended to provide an opportunity for examination of specific problems or topics from a variety of perspectives. Symposium organizers are expected to identify the topic or issue, identify and ensure the participation of individual speakers who will participate in the session, prepare any necessary materials for the symposium, and Chair the session. It is suggested, though not required, that the speakers or symposium organizer will provide interested individuals with one (or more) papers relevant to, reflective of, or drawn from the symposium.

Workshop
Workshops are intended to provide an extended period of time during which the workshop leader helps participants develop or improve their ability to perform some process (e.g. how to provide clinical supervision, using the latest features of the Internet, or conduct an advanced statistical analysis). Organizers may request from 1.5 to 3 hours, and are responsible for providing all necessary materials for participants. Many workshops are scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, although others may be scheduled throughout the conference. Organizers may, if they wish, receive an honorarium based upon the number of paid participants in their workshop and the fee schedule.

Alternative Session
The form, topics, and format of alternative sessions are limited only by the imagination and creativity of the organizer. These options are intended to afford the most effective method or approach to disseminating scholarly work of a variety of types. Proposals for alternative sessions will be evaluated on their appropriateness to the topic and audience, their suitability to meet the limitations of time, space, and expense for MWERA, and the basic quality or value of the topic. The organizer of alternative sessions is responsible for all major participants or speakers, developing and providing any necessary materials, and conducting or mediating the session. Because a variety of approaches may be proposed within this category, alternative session proposals should include a brief rationale for the alternative being proposed.

Best Practices Forum
The “Best Practices” sessions are intended to provide opportunities for individuals or groups to present “best” or “promising” practices impacting both K-12 and higher education. These sessions highlight unique and innovative programs that have demonstrated promise for improving and enhancing educational practice. Presenters will be grouped by similar topics to facilitate discussion between and among the groups and audience. Presenters are expected to make available complete copies of the paper on which the “Best Practices” session focused.
Professional Development Workshops

Emerging Scholars at Work: Establishing a Community of Practice in Graduate School

Wednesday, 2:00 PM to 3:50 PM --- Chittenden Parlor (CP) --- Marva Hall, University of Illinois at Chicago; Marlon Cummings, University of Illinois at Chicago; Deana Lewis, University of Illinois at Chicago; Chezare Warren, University of Illinois at Chicago

This hour and a half workshop will offer students practical knowledge and tangible strategies on how to develop a community of practice within their graduate program, addressing the isolation that many education PhD students face in graduate programs. We will describe the benefits and challenges of membership in graduate level communities of practice and strategies for creating them. We want to discuss its benefits to each one of us in our pursuit of the PhD degree as well as introduce a model that has served us well in terms of our motivation, accountability, and increased scholarship. Finally, we want to discuss the importance of these study groups as a community of practice and the benefits that it offers to graduate students, college and university faculty and departments.

A New Approach to Traditional Reflective Practices in Teacher Education

Wednesday, 2:00 PM to 3:50 PM --- Deshler Parlor (DP) --- Nicole Williams, Ohio State University

What is a blog? What is the purpose? How can we use it in teacher education? And, where do I start? The context of teacher education has changed as have our students. Our pre-service teachers are technology literate and their students will be as well. We must rethink our traditional methods of reflective practices in teacher education such as formal, paper-and-pencil journals. Blogs are an innovative culturally relevant approach to investigate the identity development of pre-service teachers. They give our students an informal space to continuously interrogate their identities in relation to their past, present, and future understandings and the related tensions that may occur as a result. Blogs also provide our students with an area to organize their resources, such as readings, articles, lesson plans, images, videos, course activities, philosophies, resumes, etc. in an online portfolio to demonstrate their progress in the teacher education program.

Using Wikis to Promote Collaboration and Reflective Teaching Across Higher Education Institutions

Wednesday, 4:00 PM to 5:50 PM --- Great Southern Gallery (GS) --- Helene Arbouet Harte, Northern Kentucky University; Lisa Bauer, Wilmington College; Karin Schumaker-Dyke, Wilmington College

This best practices session will describe how the use of Web 2.0 technology facilitates collaboration in areas of reflective practice and scholarship between teacher educators participating in a small pedagogy group. Members of this group represent three different colleges and universities in Southwest Ohio. Each member serves a different type of student population and delivers instruction using various formats, both online and face-to-face. During this session, presenters will describe how Wikis have facilitated sharing and implementation of best teaching practices, as well as supported reflection on practice, and production of scholarship. They will demonstrate how the use of technology, such as no-cost web pages, can facilitate interactive journaling and collaboration on writing. Finally, they will discuss logistics for forming pedagogy groups that effectively use a combination of face to face meetings and Internet space to promote best practices and scholarly activities.

Attending MWERA begins with registering for the conference and reserving a room at the Westin. These two steps require the completion of two different forms, mailed to two different locations, with different information needed and deposits.

DO NOT SEND YOUR CONFERENCE REGISTRATION TO THE HOTEL, OR SEND YOUR HOTEL RESERVATION IN WITH YOUR CONFERENCE REGISTRATION! This can delay your registration/reservation, or result in your not being registered for the conference and/or not having a place to stay in Columbus.

Pre-Registration vs. On-Site Registration

MWERA allows both pre-registration and on-site registration; however, pre-registration is strongly encouraged. Pre-registrants have first opportunity to enroll in Workshops, to purchase materials, and to attend the catered luncheon on Friday. Pre-registration is also less expensive! To pre-register for the 2010 Annual Meeting, complete the form on the following page and return it, with your check or money order for payment in full to MWERA Executive Officer Sharon McNeely.

Pre-registrations must be postmarked by September 13, 2010, to qualify for the reduced rates! On-site registration will be available at the registration desk in the lobby of the Westin Great Southern Hotel beginning at 12:00 pm on Wednesday, October 13, and continuing through 10:00 a.m. on Saturday, October 16. October 13-16, 2010 is an unusually-busy time in Columbus. Hotel space could be tight, if not completely unavailable, to those who do not have confirmed reservations. Our conference hotel, the Westin Great Southern, is holding a block of rooms for MWERA attendees; however, they will only hold these rooms until September 21! To ensure that you have a place to stay please make your reservations with the hotel early, the hotel must receive your reservations by September 21, 2010. Participants in the conference are strongly urged to register at the Westin Great Southern, as it directly affects the amount MWERA will owe the hotel. Please help us keep our costs low so that we can continue to provide a high-quality conference.

LCD projectors and screens will be provided by MWERA (traditional overhead projectors will not be provided). However, as was stated in our call, presenters needing additional A/V equipment, such as a laptop computer, are responsible for providing their own equipment or for arranging to rent from the hotel at the presenter’s own expense. The hotel has a wide variety of audio-visual equipment for rent. Contact the hotel directly well before the meeting for your needs, hotel pricing and availability, and payment.

W.0200.GR  Best Practices with Online Courses
C - Learning and Instruction --- Best Practices Forum
Wednesday, 2:00 PM to 3:50 PM --- Great Southern Gallery (GS)
Presenter
Robert Thiede, Ashland University

ABSTRACT
The presentation provides ideas and materials for the faculty member who is considering or implementing online courses. This information covers assessment techniques and instruments, instructional plans, technological strategies, and teaching pointers. With an increasing number of universities moving into online programming, the teaching and learning strategies that work most effectively in online courses must be noted and recognized. The presentation will not only present the best practices, but also encourage discussion and interaction with the participants to learn what other online ideas might be occurring at other higher education institutions. This presentation is an outgrowth of a book proposal which has been submitted to a major publishing company.

W.0200.CH  Emerging Scholars at Work: Establishing a Community of Practice in Graduate School
C - Learning and Instruction --- Workshop
Wednesday, 2:00 PM to 3:50 PM --- Chittenden Parlor (CP)
Presenters
Marva Hall, University of Illinois - Chicago; Marlon Cummings, University of Illinois at Chicago; Deana Lewis, University of Illinois at Chicago; Chezare Warren, University of Illinois at Chicago

ABSTRACT
This hour and a half workshop will offer students practical knowledge and tangible strategies on how to develop a community of practice within their graduate program, addressing the isolation that many education PhD students face in graduate programs. We will describe the benefits and challenges of membership in graduate level communities of practice and strategies for creating them. We want to discuss its benefits to each one of us in our pursuit of the PhD degree as well as introduce a model that has served us well in terms of our motivation, accountability, and increased scholarship. Finally, we want to discuss the importance of these study groups as a community of practice and the benefits that it offers to graduate students, college and university faculty and departments.
W.0200.DE A New Approach to Traditional Reflective Practices in Teacher Education
K - Teaching and Teacher Education --- Workshop
Wednesday, 2:00 PM to 3:50 PM --- Deshler Parlor (DP)
Presenter Nicole Williams, Ohio State University
ABSTRACT
What is a blog? What is the purpose? How can we use it in teacher education? And, where do I start? The context of teacher education has changed as have our students. Our pre-service teachers are technology literate and their students will be as well. We must rethink our traditional methods of reflective practices in teacher education such as formal, paper-and-pencil journals. Blogs are an innovative culturally relevant approach to investigate the identity development of pre-service teachers. They give our students an informal space to continuously interrogate their identities in relation to their past, present, and future understandings and the related tensions that may occur as a result. Blogs also provide our students with an area to organize their resources, such as readings, articles, lesson plans, images, videos, course activities, philosophies, resumes, etc. in an online portfolio to demonstrate their progress in the teacher education program.

W.0400.DE Mid-Western Educational Researcher Journal, Editorial Board Meeting
MWERA Annual Meeting --- Business Meeting
Wednesday, 4:00 PM to 5:50 PM --- Deshler Parlor (DP)
Chairs Savilla I Banister, Bowling Green State University; Julia Matuga, Bowling Green State University; Tim Murnen, Bowling Green State University
ABSTRACT
All MWER Editorial Advisory Board members are encouraged to attend this discussion about the focus and business of the Researcher. The editors will be there to direct the meeting and answer your questions.

W.0400.GR Using Wikis to Promote Collaboration and Reflective Teaching across Higher Education Institutions
K - Teaching and Teacher Education --- Best Practices Forum
Wednesday, 4:00 PM to 5:50 PM --- Great Southern Gallery (GS)
Presenters Helene Arbouet Harte, Northern Kentucky University; Lisa Bauer, Wilmington College; Karin Schumaker-Dyke, Wilmington College
ABSTRACT
This best practices session will describe how the use of Web 2.0 technology facilitates collaboration in areas of reflective practice and scholarship between teacher educators participating in a small pedagogy group. Members of this group represent three different colleges and universities in Southwest Ohio. Each member serves a different type of student population and delivers instruction using various formats, both online and face-to-face. During this session, presenters will describe how Wikis have facilitated sharing and implementation of best teaching practices, as well as supported reflection on practice, and production of scholarship. They will demonstrate how the use of technology, such as no-cost web pages, can facilitate interactive journaling and collaboration on writing. Finally, they will discuss logistics for forming pedagogy groups that effectively use a combination of face-to-face meetings and Internet space to promote best practices and scholarly activities.

Please complete a Conference Evaluation to help us improve our Conference in 2011!
This presentation will examine the convergence of three powerful influences that will shape public education in the future - policy, research, and assessment. Policy and politics have become driving forces that determine, rather than build on, sound educational research. Assessment will soon be nationalized and used in research for education accountability. These trends will be examined to show how their interdependency will impact educational practice. Suggestions for how research and assessment professionals can respond productively to this storm will be presented.

Dr. James H. McMillan is Professor in the School of Education at Virginia Commonwealth University, Chair of the Department of Foundations of Education, and Director of the Metropolitan Educational Research Consortium (MERC). MERC is a 20 year partnership between eight Richmond area public school divisions and VCU that conducts applied research and evaluation projects. Dr. McMillan is also Track Coordinator for the Research and Evaluation Track of the Ph.D. in education. He obtained his masters degree from Michigan State University in 1972 and his doctorate from Northwestern University in 1976. Dr. McMillan has published several editions of three research methods textbooks and two assessment textbooks, in addition to over 60 journal articles, and has made numerous national and state presentations. He has also chaired the AERA Classroom Assessment and Professors of Educational Research SIGs. His current research interests include classroom assessment, benchmark testing, and the impact of high-stakes testing on schools and students.
T.1040.CH  Advancing Change through Three New Models
A - Administration, Organization, & Leadership --- Alternative Session
Thursday, 10:40 AM to 12:00 PM --- Chittenden Parlor (CP)

PRESENTATION

- Advancing Change through Three New Models – Mohammed Issah, Bowling Green State University; Nick Neiderhouse, Bowling Green State University; Ron Schumacher, Bowling Green State University; Judith A Zimmerman, Bowling Green State University

Discussant Ted Zigler, Ohio Dominican University

ABSTRACT

The goal of this session is to present three original models of organizational change. Organizational change literature abounds across a variety of disciplines. Leaders in all fields are being charged to develop and communicate a guiding vision for their organizations while being attuned to their own strengths/weaknesses and the needs of their followers. Some opportunity for participant interaction will also be provided. The session moderator is a faculty member in leadership studies with a research interest in organizational change. The three presenters, from diverse backgrounds, are doctoral students in leadership studies. Additionally, Presenter 1 is a former policy advocacy officer for a national organization in Ghana and a current graduate assistant in leadership studies, Presenter 2 is a middle school teacher in a suburban district, and Presenter 3 is a vice-president for student services at a mid-size university in the Midwest.

Discussant Sharon Valente, Savannah College of Art and Design

ABSTRACT

The goal of this session is to describe a vision for the 21st Century change leader from diverse perspectives. Change literature abounds across a variety of disciplines. Globalization and the acceleration of technology impact the work of all leaders from schools to the social services to higher education. Organizations in the future will prize those leaders with synthesizing minds who can integrate concepts from different disciplines. The Session Moderator is a faculty member in leadership studies with a research interest in organizational change. The presenters, from various backgrounds, are doctoral students in leadership studies.

T.0140.SE  Best Practices to Facilitate Ed.D. Dissertation Completion
J - Postsecondary Education --- Best Practices Forum
Thursday, 1:40 PM to 3:00 PM --- Seneca Parlor (SP)

Presenter Beth Ann Kania-Gosche, Lindenwood University
Discussant Lynda Leavitt, Lindenwood University

ABSTRACT

Dissertation writing is often the most challenging aspect of the doctoral program. Those who teach doctoral students and chair dissertations oftentimes find themselves implementing practice similar to their own experiences. This best practice forum will provide an opportunity for discussion of best practices based on current literature and the participants own experiences with dissertations. The presenters will share results of their own research demonstrating a need for dissertation support. Based on this literature and their own research the presenters changed practice which has led to an increase in the quality of student writing and opportunities for individualized learning. The presenters and participants will engage in rich discussion, one of the few opportunities for professional development in the area of dissertation support. Faculty and graduate students are welcome at this session.
Revisiting the TAG Challenge: The Journey of the CORE Governance Team

K - Teaching and Teacher Education --- Symposium
Thursday, 1:40 PM to 3:00 PM --- Park Parlor (PP)

PRESENTATIONS

- Implementation and Improvement of the Teacher Education Core: A Reflection of Lessons Learned – Lynn S Kline, University of Akron; Shernavaz Vakil, University of Akron; Renee R Mudrey-Camino, University of Akron; Evonn Welton, University of Akron; Ruth Oswald, University of Akron; Huey-li Li, University of Akron; Karen M Herrington, University of Akron; Rebecca McElfresh, University of Akron; Glenn Lauzon, University of Akron

- Relationship between Success on the Praxis II Principles of Learning and Teaching and Education Transfer Assurance Guide (TAG) Courses – Karen M Herrington, University of Akron; Renee R Mudrey-Camino, University of Akron

- Professors' Emotional Regulation: Facing the Challenges of a Shared Governance Model – Renee R Mudrey-Camino, University of Akron; Rebecca McElfresh, University of Akron

Discussant Rollin (R.D.) Nordgren, Cleveland State University

ABSTRACT

Eight faculty members from a Midwestern university have collaborated to establish and maintain a shared governance model to address Ohio's mandated policy for transfer and articulation of core education courses and to assure students' developmental and scaffolded understanding of course content and related field experiences within the context of the Ohio Standards for Teachers. The session will include a segment on the lessons learned in this process, a segment about research conducted on the relationship between success on the Praxis II (Principles of Learning and Teaching) and the Education Transfer Assurance Guide (TAG), and a segment on the regulation of professors' emotions during a shared governance process. At the conclusion of all three segments, a time will be provided for discussion among the panel and audience members regarding these topics.

Bringing Teacher Leadership from Theory to Practice

A - Administration, Organization, & Leadership --- Symposium
Thursday, 3:10 PM to 4:30 PM --- Chittenden Parlor (CP)

Presenters JoAnn Hohenbrink, Ohio Dominican University; Grant Hambright, Wright State University; Pamela Williamson, University of Cincinnati; Ted Zigler, Ohio Dominican University

Discussant Jenny Kilgore, Miami University

ABSTRACT

This session will examine one state's attempt to develop Teacher Leader pilot programs, hoping to develop Teacher Leadership for school reform and sustainability within the state. This symposium will look at the environment, which leads to the Teacher Leader movement, involvement in a 5-state consortium, the state's own writing teams, and 3 pilot programs to develop the initial Teacher Leader Endorsement, which is an add-on to teacher licensure. Each of the pilot's programs are different, yet all adhere to one set of newly written Teacher Leader Standards, and the programs will highlight the successes and the drawbacks to their work.

- Missing Data Diagnostic Procedures and Multiple Imputation Using R – Deyu Xu, Ohio University
- SAS Procedures for Handling Missing Data – Robert Barcikowski, Ohio University

Chair  John Hitchcock, Ohio University
Discussant  Gordon Brooks, Ohio University

ABSTRACT
The purpose of the symposium will be to review a series of issues regarding the problem of missing data and present standard corrective approaches in SPSS, Stata, R and SAS. Allison (2002) states the best way to handle missing data is to not have any, but as researchers, this is not always the case. This symposium will offer general advice on prevention and techniques. The symposium will include five coordinated presentations, one for each of the above packages along with an introductory paper that provides a sense of how missing data can influence decisions in educational contexts.

PRESENTATION
- Relationships in Teaching: Reflecting on Thinking and Learning in a Peer Mentoring Project – Kristen Chorba, Kent State University; Anne Morrison, Kent State University; Michael Brown, Kent State University; Kallie Brown, Kent State University

ABSTRACT
Current research (see Bernier, Larose, & Soucy, 2005; Campbell & Campbell, 1997; Wang & Wu, 2008; Smith, 2008; and Ugrin, Odom, & Pearson, 2008 for examples) has discussed the positive influences that a mentoring program can have on both the mentors and the mentees who participate in this type of relationship. This symposium will be an overview of a Peer Mentoring Project at a large, Midwestern university. An overview of the Project and the research that has been conducted to date will be given. Reflections from a number of perspectives, focusing on how the learning and thinking of a number of participants in this Project has evolved, will be shared. Voices will include faculty, a graduate student researcher, and undergraduate peer mentors. We will also discuss the literature relating to mentoring and how Peer Mentoring can benefit students. Audience participation and dialogue are encouraged

Test-driven accountability did not start with No Child Left Behind. In fact, it didn't even start in the 20th century: standardized testing has been the darling of reform-minded education policy makers since the dawn of the common school movement, circa 1840, and though its form and functions have evolved since then, its basic tenets have not. On the benefit side, well designed tests used for specific purposes can provide objective information that can inform complex decisions; on the negative side, tests can provoke unwanted behavioral responses and provide misleading data to parents, educators, and the general public. Fortunately, though, and thanks to a sustained research effort, we are now in a much better position to contemplate the virtues - along with the risks - of relying on tests for various education reform goals. A key to continued progress is devising a system of accountability - for the design, implementation, and uses of educational assessment.

Michael J. Feuer is the dean of the Graduate School of Education and Human Development at George Washington University. Prior to his deanship, Dr. Feuer served as the executive director of the Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education at the National Research Council of the National Academies, where he was instrumental in shaping the National Academies’ prominent role in education. Also, he has served as a senior analyst at the Congressional Office of Technology Assessment, where he specialized in educational technology and measurement. He has held faculty positions at Drexel and Georgetown universities and has been a senior adviser to a number of foundations and educational institutions in the U.S., Europe, and Israel. Dr. Feuer is a member of the National Academy of Education, a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and a fellow of the American Educational Research Association. He has published widely in social science, economics, and education journals. His most recent book, “Moderating the Debate: Rationality and the Promise of American Education,” was published by Harvard Education Press in 2006. He holds a B.A. in English from Queens College (CUNY), an M.A. from the University of Pennsylvania’s Wharton School, and a Ph.D. in public policy from the University of Pennsylvania.

- Ashland University's Educational Administration Simulation Project: Construction, Application, and Results – Amy L. Klinger, Ashland University

Discussant: Phyllis Ann Davis, Mount Vernon Nazarene University

ABSTRACT

While simulation learning itself is not a new instructional tool, the use of online simulations to replicate administrative decision making is an exciting new application that maximizes student learning. This session will discuss the construction, application, and instructional outcomes of an educational administration simulation used with graduate students at Ashland University. A demonstration of the survey, along with preliminary results from a study of decision making that compared practicing administrators and pre-service administrators' performance in the simulation will be presented. The session will focus on three distinct elements of Ashland's Educational Administration Simulation Project: (1) the conceptual and technical aspects of simulation construction (2) the application of simulation-based learning in administrative preparation programs and (3) the initial findings of research conducted both on participants' administrative decision making and their reactions to simulation learning experiences.

Evaluating Ohio's Striving Readers Project

H - Research, Evaluation, & Assessment in Schools --- Symposium
Friday, 1:40 PM to 3:00 PM --- Hartman Parlor

Presenters: Raeal Moore, Ohio State University; Weijia Ren, Ohio State University; Charles Okonkwo, Ohio State University; Deborah Kwon, Ohio State University; Jing Zhao, The Ohio State University

Chair: William E Loadman, Ohio State University

ABSTRACT

The focus of this symposium is to address the evaluation of a Striving Reader's Grant awarded to the Ohio Department of Youth Service's (ODYS) Buckeye United School District. The ODYS project, Striving to Achieve Reading and Re-Entry (StARR), took a two-pronged approach to improve district's incarcerated youths' reading ability. The first approach was a targeted intervention for youth below basic in reading but not illiterate. The second approach provided all teachers in the district professional development in literacy instructional techniques intended to improve youths' reading ability regardless of the level of reading deficiency at ODYS entrance. The five major evaluation components focusing on three years of program implementation will comprise the proposed symposium, including: (1) the evaluation of the implementation of the targeted intervention, (2) the impact of the targeted intervention on youths' reading ability, (3) the evaluation of the implementation of the whole school professional development, (4) the impact of the professional development on youths' reading ability, and (5) a synthesis of these results.

F.0310.DE  Developing Partnerships to Increase the Speed of School Reform
A - Administration, Organization, & Leadership --- Symposium
Friday, 3:10 PM to 4:30 PM --- Deshler Parlor (DP)

Presenters
Ted Zigler, Ohio Dominican University; JoAnn Hohenbrink, Ohio Dominican University; Dan Brilhart, Ohio Dominican University

Discussant
Judith A Zimmerman, Bowling Green State University

ABSTRACT
This symposium will facilitate a discussion of how partnerships can aid in the school reform movement, of their necessity, and using what we know to aid in the development of new partnerships. The presenters will base their discussion on experiences with 2 very different partnerships: one with a large urban district and one with a small charter school. Background on the national work on partnerships will be presented as the backdrop for this discussion.
F.0310.CH  To Define (Educated), or Not to Define--That is the Question
A - Administration, Organization, & Leadership --- Alternative Session
Friday, 3:10 PM to 4:30 PM --- Chittenden Parlor (CP)
Discussant  Harold Edwin Wilson, Ashland University
ABSTRACT
It may be that public education is impervious to reform and improvement because we have not defined what it means to be educated. This session discusses this possibility as it challenges the conference theme. It asks: "Can we 'advance educational policy and decision-making through research and assessment;’ or must we first define what it means to be educated?"

ABSTRACT
All CURRENT Division Chairs and Co-Chairs from the 2010 Conference and all NEW Division Chairs and Co-Chairs for the 2011 Conference should attend this session. This session will provide an orientation for new Division Chairs and will provide an opportunity for current Division Chairs to provide feedback that will be integrated into the conference planning. An overview will be given of the conference program development process ad of issues with which all Division Chairs should be familiar as they begin their service. New Division Chairs should attend even if they have been a Division Chair before so they can become familiar with the processes to be used in the MWERA 2011 annual program development.

S.0800.GR  12 Steps Towards Anti-Racism
G - Social Context of Education --- Alternative Session
Saturday, 8:00 AM to 9:20 AM --- Great Southern Gallery (GS)

ABSTRACT
The purpose of this session is to introduce an adaptation of the 12-step format introduced by Alcoholics Anonymous in 1939 to the topic of racism. The perspective of this presentation is that racism is a societal disease that is present in all persons; thus, the 12 steps will help any individual recognize and counteract the effects of racism in their own life while simultaneously working for social change. Attendees will leave the session with an understanding of the adapted 12 steps and having participated in critical reflection based on the first step.

“The Maintenance of Teacher Autonomy in a Policy-Driven Era”

Particularly in the past ten years in the United States, there has been no shortage of government-mandated reform efforts in public education. It can be argued that these efforts - which have originated from local and state entities, as well as federal ones - have eroded at least a portion of the professional decision-making power of teachers in public school classrooms. Furthermore, these policies can (and often do) filter down through the district and school levels as well, as administrators issue edicts that mandate "Direct Instruction," "Common Assessments," and other ideas. These efforts to achieve alignment in practice - though well-intended - are sometimes misguided, possibly serving to undermine teachers' creativity, and perhaps, even their enthusiasm for their work.

With the existing challenges already facing teachers in today's classrooms, it is urged that reasonable autonomy is cultivated and maintained for educators, while yet preserving a common core of guiding professional principles to be observed. Dr. Feldmann will offer suggestions to address these issues.

ABSTRACT

Preparing the responses for a required accreditation report is a daunting task at best. Achieving no recommendations or no mandated follow ups is an even loftier goal. As a member of the team at an institution that recently achieved no recommendations, there is no one magic wand or answer. The answer is it takes an extraordinary effort in leadership, assessment of student learning, administrative assessment, technology, knowledge and appreciation of an accrediting body's tenets, and an understanding of current issues in higher education to achieve such an incredible outcome. This session utilizes a Jeopardy template to address the critical confluence of these topics, thus providing a flexible format to personalize the session for those in attendance, yet cover key tenets. Participants will leave with concrete strategies that support successful outcomes.

ABSTRACT

Between 2001-10, a collaboration of educators and researchers in Ohio joined efforts to evaluate the preparation of teachers in all of the state’s public and private institutions. Known primarily as the Ohio Teacher Quality Partnership, this collaboration has proceeded through its development, implementation, and reporting phases of the study. Through the course of the investigation, extensive planning, development, and funding led to the acquisition of essential research findings; however, professional, methodological, collaborative, and stakeholder challenges occurred that affected this research partnership. The goals of this session include (a) presenting an overview of the partnership from inception to current status, (b) reflecting on lessons learned from the partnership, (c) providing insight on best practices in longitudinal survey research, (d) acknowledging strengths and weaknesses of this particular partnership, and (e) offering suggestions for researchers who are implementing large scale, teacher education research.
