PERS representatives to give campus retirement orientation

All employees and retired employees, as well as students, are invited to attend a PERS retirement orientation on Monday, April 2, at 11 a.m. in University Hall.

The new PERS retirement system that became effective on April 1 is described in detail by two PERS representatives who plan to attend the retirement orientation to answer questions and give information.

The new retirement program is especially important for employees who plan to retire late in 1984 or early in 1985, and to schedule retirement planning in the near future.

According to the PERS spokesperson, the new retirement system offers employees the following:

- Flexibility and choice
- Earlier retirement options
- More favorable investment choice
- Possibility of higher benefits

In addition to the retirement orientation, employees will be able to attend personal planning sessions on specific strategies and options for retirement planning.

PERS representatives will also be available for personal interviews to review their retirement income options and to answer specific questions about the retirement system benefits.

Depending upon the demand, a second PERS representative will give the orientation on Tuesday, April 3 at 11 a.m. in the same location.

Employment Opportunities

Classified Employment

Positions available in the following areas:

- Maintenance
- Janitorial
- Cafeteria
- University Union

For more information or to apply, contact the Office of Personnel at 287-2326.

Graduate Student Positions

The Department of Information Services is accepting applications for a graduate assistant position. The assistant will work in the Graduate Information Services Center. The position is available immediately and is renewable through May 1984. The starting salary is $6,000 per year plus tuition waiver.

Dining Hall Employee

The following administrative staff positions are available:

- Computer Operator, University Bookstore
- Receptionist, University Bookstore
- Coordinator, University Union
- Coordinator, University Bookstore

For more information, contact the Office of Personnel at 287-2326.

Job openings at the University are advertised in the classified section of the Monitor, the Findlay Daily Times, and the Sidney Daily News.

Vacation days have changed

Vacation days are now available in the following areas:

- Maintenance
- University Union

For more information, contact the Office of Personnel at 287-2326.

Datebook

Exhibits

Sculpture by California artist John Paul Savitsky will be on display at the University Bookstore April 1-7. The exhibit will feature a variety of sculptures ranging in size from small to large. A reception will be held at the conclusion of the exhibit.

March 26

New Music Friday

Billboard

Olympic gold medalist Scott Hamilton will return to the campus with some of his fellow Olympians to perform at the annual New Music Friday, May 27, at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Recreation Center. The event will feature a variety of music and dance performances by Olympic athletes, including Hamilton, a two-time Olympic gold medalist in figure skating. A reception will be held following the performance.

March 27

Dinner theatre discount available

For additional information or to receive a "super discount" of $2 per ticket at the Westmont Dinner Theatre, call (419) 537-2287. The performance will be on Saturday, May 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the Westmont Dinner Theatre.

March 29

Spring Music Week

The following administrative staff positions are available:

- Computer Operator, University Bookstore
- Receptionist, University Bookstore
- Coordinator, University Union
- Coordinator, University Bookstore

For more information, contact the Office of Personnel at 287-2326.

Job openings at the University are advertised in the classified section of the Monitor, the Findlay Daily Times, and the Sidney Daily News.

Vacation days have changed

Vacation days are now available in the following areas:

- Maintenance
- University Union

For more information, contact the Office of Personnel at 287-2326.

Ice show tickets on sale April 16

Tickets will go on sale April 16 for the fourth annual Ice Show, the "Magic Kingdom on Ice," to be held at the University Arena on April 21 and 22.

Pay Range 1

The following administrative staff positions are available:

- Computer Operator, University Bookstore
- Receptionist, University Bookstore
- Coordinator, University Union
- Coordinator, University Bookstore

For more information, contact the Office of Personnel at 287-2326.
Administrative Staff Council

The final draft of a performance evaluation program for administrative staff recommended by Administrative Staff Council was approved by Administrative Staff Council on April 20. The program, presented at a symposium last December, is designed to provide a framework for evaluating and developing administrative staff across the University. It also aims to encourage open communication among administrative staff and between them and their department heads.

The council recommended that the performance evaluation program be implemented for all administrative staff, and that a budget be allocated to support the program. It also recommended that the program be reviewed annually to ensure its effectiveness.

Research capabilities enhanced with equipment acquisitions

Some of the most advanced equipment in the physical sciences and natural sciences is housed in a new building on the campus. The building, which is designed to enhance research capabilities and education, is located near the School of Education. The facility includes laboratories for research in the fields of chemistry, physics, and biology. The building also contains a computer and multimedia center, which will be used for teaching and research.

The facility is a result of a $25 million donation from the philanthropic foundation, which is dedicated to the advancement of science and education.

Have you noticed change in campus environment?

There has been a noticeable change in the campus environment over the past few months. The change is due to the implementation of a new policy that requires all students to attend a seminar on the history of the university. The seminar is offered in the fall and spring semesters.

The seminar, which is led by a faculty member, focuses on the history of the university, including its founding, growth, and current status. Students are also encouraged to participate in discussions and share their thoughts and experiences.

From the Library

In an effort to promote reading and writing, the library has launched a new initiative called "Write Now." The initiative provides students with access to writing and reading materials, including periodicals, books, and online resources. The goal is to encourage students to engage in daily reading and writing activities.

The library has also added a new feature to its website, "Read Now," which allows students to search for books and other materials. The library is also planning to add a new service, "Write Now," which will provide students with one-on-one writing and reading support.

Dinner, lectures highlight "African Week"

A panel of experts will discuss the role of the United States in African history. The panelists include historians, economists, and political scientists. The panel will be moderated by a faculty member from the history department.

The event will be held in the university's lecture hall from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. on Friday, April 20. Students are encouraged to attend the event and engage in discussions with the panelists.

Record conference on campus April 5-7

The University will host the 18th annual conference of the American Association for the Study of Roman Culture, April 5-7. The conference will feature panels and workshops on a variety of topics, including ancient Roman art, literature, and society.

The conference will be held in the university's conference center, and is open to the public. Students and faculty are encouraged to attend and participate in the discussions.

Institutional studies, announced that...

The council also heard a report from the institutional studies department. The report highlighted the university's efforts to improve student retention rates and increase graduation rates. The council was impressed by the department's work and expressed its support for their initiatives.

Researcher adds power analysis tool to R

A researcher from the university's statistics department has added a new tool to the popular statistical software R. The tool, called "powerR," allows researchers to calculate the statistical power of their tests.

The tool is available for free on the university's website, and is designed to help researchers plan their experiments and analyze their data more effectively.

FOR SALE

The department of English has for sale a number of new and used books, including "The Art of the Novel," "The Cambridge History of American Literature," and "The Norton Anthology of English Literature." The books are available in a variety of conditions, and prices vary depending on the condition.

Bette J. Logsdon, health, physical education, and recreational sciences, was...

Bette J. Logsdon, health, physical education, and recreational sciences, was announced as the new director of the university's health and physical education department. Logsdon brings a wealth of experience and knowledge to the position, having served in various leadership roles in the field.

Logsdon is a passionate advocate for promoting healthy lifestyles and physical activity among all members of the university community. She will be working closely with faculty members and staff to develop new programs and initiatives aimed at improving health and wellness on campus.

Teaching, Education and American Society, will...

Dr. Graham, a long-time faculty member of the Department of Teaching, Education and American Society, will be leaving the university to take a position at the University of California, Los Angeles. Dr. Graham has made significant contributions to the field of education research and has published extensively on topics related to teacher education and policy.

The department will be holding a farewell reception for Dr. Graham on Friday, April 20, from 4:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m., in the department's lounge. All faculty, students, and friends are invited to attend and celebrate Dr. Graham's achievements.
SUPPLIES ON DISPLAY. Surplus items acquired during the past several weeks by inventory management 2-300 to 11 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. at the Pike Street Warehouse. During these hours branches of different department employees will be present to sign up for and discuss items. Applications are available at the Rec Center. There are as yet $5.50 per person (or for an optional. 14.22.

SIGN UP FOR RETIREMENT CONFERENCE. Friday (April 13) is the deadline to register for either a general retirement conference from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Tikki Pavilion or a more intensive 3-day faculty retirement seminar from April 23 to 25. To register for either an official or an optional conference, contact the Office of Personnel Retirement Service, 372-0472.

For Sale. The department of English has for sale an early 19th century Italian oil painting valued at $500. The painting is housed in a black Gaelic theme. The auction will be held at 7:30 p.m. April 25 in the contact Suzanne Andrews, English, at 372-2516.

IT'S TRATHIONL TIME. The Student Recreation Center is looking for facultystaff teams for its 4th an nual Track and Field competition. To participate, teams must be registered by April 29. Participation and recreational are encouraged to organize a track and field team, which will include a rec center, 3-mile relay race, an 800-meter run, a 1,500-meter race, and a team relay. Applications are available at the Rec Center. There are as yet $5.50 per person (or for an optional. 14.22.

Research capabilities enhanced with equipment acquisition

Some of the most useful and popular of the professional science laboratory equipment available today for teaching and research is the 3,500-square-foot University of Illinois Science Resources Laboratory, which was built in cooperation with the National Science Foundation and the Department of Education. The laboratory includes laboratories for general chemistry, organic chemistry, and inorganic chemistry. It also houses laboratories for biology, physics, and mathematics. The laboratory is equipped with a variety of instruments, including spectrometers, chromatographs, and mass spectrometers.

Effective teaching topic of colloquium

"The Dancing of the Dancers," a colloquium on the theme of "Teaching, Education, and American Society," will be held on April 13 at 3 p.m. in the Coliseum. The colloquium will feature a panel of educators from the University of Illinois and will be moderated by Dr. James Logsdon, a professor of economics and education.

Dinner, lectures highlight 'African Week'

A Howard University professor,Db. Thomas Eakin, will be the guest speaker at the African Week dinner on April 13 at 7 p.m. in the Coliseum. Eakin will discuss the role of African nations in the world economy and the impact of African culture on contemporary society. The event is sponsored by the African Student Association and the African Studies Program.

Have you noticed change in campus environment?

It has been a year since the Committee on Women and Minorities issued its report and recommended changes for the campus community. And it has been a year since the University's Action Committee on Women's Rights was established. In response to the recommendations of the committee, the University is currently implementing a policy on sexual harassment. The policy requires all employees to complete a training program on sexual harassment and to report any incidents of sexual harassment.

From the Library

What's new in the library? A lot, according to the library staff, who report that the library is undergoing major changes. The library has added new software, databases, and online catalog systems. It has also expanded its hours of operation and added more staff. The library is also planning to move to a new location in the near future. For more information, please contact the library staff.

(Continued on page 2)
The University Theater will pay tribute in the 25th anniversary of a milestone in American theater when it produces one of the best written and performed plays of modern times. "The Diary of Anne Frank," adapted by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett from the book by Anne Frank, will be performed April 4-7 in the Joe E. Brown Theater. Winner of the New York Drama Critics Circle Award in 1958 as "Best Play," the play is the first written by a woman to be produced on Broadway. It was adapted by the New York stage director of the play, Gertie Frank. Ms. Goodrich and Mr. Hackett will be guest artists during the production, sponsored by the Alumni Student Senate.

The play, directed by Norman Myers, editor of Center Press, which since 1960 has been dedicated to publishing books of poetry and conventional prose. His first book, "The Night of the Streaks," was published in 1984. He has written 13 books of poetry, including "South Africa: The Discarded" (1984), and in 1985 was the recipient of the National Endowment for the Arts fellowship for poetry. His most recent book, "Sleek for the Long Flight, Ruining the Ballroom, University Union," will be open to the public for non-perusal by students and faculty.

Part of the building also is a pavilion and roof observatory. The pavilion will be open to the public at least 27 that will be open to the public at least 27 that will be open to the public at least 27 that will be open to the public at least 27 that will be open to the new facility.

The building was designed by the Bowling Green Building and Construction Division, Co. of Bowling Green. The library will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., east of the Moore Building, north of the Moore Building. The library will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., east of the Moore Building, north of the Moore Building. The library will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., east of the Moore Building, north of the Moore Building. The library will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., east of the Moore Building, north of the Moore Building. The library will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., east of the Moore Building, north of the Moore Building. The library will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., east of the Moore Building, north of the Moore Building. The library will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., east of the Moore Building, north of the Moore Building. The library will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., east of the Moore Building, north of the Moore Building.