Men's Responsibility

Upon the five men of the Men's Union committee rests grave responsibility.

In order to carry out the provisions of the charter of the group, it is well to examine the background of the Men's Union, to be familiar with the Women's Self-Government Association.

For the purpose of organizing the group, four members were appointed. The charter was established by Dr. James W. C. Conklin. The members were Ralph Millikin, the student body president; Robert Ostrander, the student body vice-president; Ralph Williams, the student body treasurer; and Clark Kregay, the student body auditor. The committee was made to establish the Men's Union, to be part of the Women's Self-Government Association.

Falcon Cagers Win 9 Games; Beat Air Base, Two Colleges

By Bob Smith

Bowling Green's Falcon cagers advanced their winning streak to nine straight games without a single setback by doing double duty on Omaha's home court Thursday, the planes and the football stadium of the University of Nebraska.

The Falcons had little trouble disposing of the University of Omaha, winning 72-24. In the game, the Falcons had 29 baskets to the Mavericks' 11 and 29 assists to 5. The Falcons also had 19 steals and 11 blocks.

On Thanksgiving Day, December 21, winning easily with 88 points, the Falcons disposed of the Romulus Air Base, 66-101.

Sid Otten, 6 foot 11 inch cager, has been top scorer in six of the

Coed Cagers Begin Tonight

Bowling cagers will open its season tonight with 13 teams consisting of 15 women, the largest since the sport became a major sport of the university's intramural program.

The first game of the season will be played at 8 p.m. at the Fieldhouse.

The Blue team took the lead in the first half, but had little trouble in break-ging the score. In fact, the game was over by half-time.

The Blue team was led by Ruth Lenert, Edie Jones, and June Widner, each scoring 10 points. Ruth Lenert and June Widner, each scored 10 points.

ANDERSON'S CAGERS MEET CASE, 5-TIME LOSER, SATURDAY

Coach Harold Anderson's high-flying Falcons will attempt to add another feather to their cap when they meet the fast-moving Case Saturday night at 8:15 on the Bee Gee court.

The contest will be the Falcons' tenth start of the season, having won the previous nine games. Case has lost all of its past two and a half years, according to the coach, who announced the team's lineup today.

The Falcons will be without the services of John Geological, who is reported to have been hurt in a recent game.

Case's lineup will be led by the scoring and defensive ability of Davidson and Krayer who, in their respective positions, have been the team's leading scorer and rebounder the past two and a half years. The Falcons have been able to gain valuable experience in the absence of Geological, who is to return to the lineup for the first time this season.

The Falcons are scheduled to play against Case on Saturday night at 8:15.

A Tough War—or It Could Be Useful
By Berche Block Jr.
"This is the new frontier for New York State, and all through the trail. Not a soul was standing, except the pounding rain.
As the approach for the Thursday night session was nothing short of a sight. The track was slippery. The rain was coming down, and the rails were rough.
