Thirty-Two Years of Emerson As Campuss Group Is Reviewed

Emerson Literary Society, the oldest organization on campus, celebrated its thirty-second anniversary this week. For- mated in 1914, it has maintained a steady record of activities. In the spring of 1914, its members had a meeting and decided to form a literary society. The first officers were elected and the society was formally organized. The society met regularly and its activities included a weekly meeting, a monthly luncheon, and a yearly banquet. The society's main purpose was to promote literary activities and to provide a forum for discussion of literature and ideas.

The society has continued to thrive over the years, with a membership of over 100 students. Its activities have included readings, discussions, and guest lectures. The society has also published a literary magazine, the "Emersonian," which has featured works by many of the society's members. The society has continued to be an important part of the campus community, providing a forum for the exchange of ideas and the promotion of literary activities.

The celebration of the thirty-second anniversary this week included a special meeting of the society, which was attended by past members and current members. The meeting included a recap of the society's history, a discussion of its current activities, and a look at the future of the society. The society's leaders expressed their commitment to continuing the society's tradition of promoting literary activities and providing a forum for the exchange of ideas.

Bowling Green students felt personally the effect of strikes when they couldn't wire or call home, or get hope for long-distance calls. Their hometown newspapers may now be found in the Library. Strikes have been waged in many basic industries such as automoto 17\times\frac{1}{2} per cent. And yet General Motors and Ford have followed Henry Kaizer's lead and seized the plants, the cause of the strike below any day's output in the past 50 years.

Mr. Wilson asks the public to support the strike. "Would any decent man or woman go back when General Motors is ready to talk..."

Beyond these strikes, which we felt almost senile. His characterization is completely convincing. The public is inclined to go off the deep end claim it will resolve..."

The emerson literary society was formed in 1914 for the purpose..."

Monday evening local basketball fans saw big Donald Otten make his appearance on the Bowling Green hardwood in a Falcon uniform. Otten was one of the big factors in the team's nationally recognized basketball power.

When he first enrolled in the University in 1942, the Belle-Honored Otten was presented with a trophy by the Students' Basketball Club, and a pen and pencil box, after being selected as a member of the Collegiate All-American team. He teamed with All-American Guard Sid Otten played his last game for the Bowling Green floor Monday night. The win in the Round Robin tournament was against John Carroll 55-37. "Sid story.

Camp Atterbury proved too much for the Falcons Saturday night as they won the third place spot in the Round Robin tournament in Chicago Stadium, 65-49. It is thought that the Atterbury defeat will carry a great deal of weight in the final standings in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament. The Atterbury defeat has put Del'aul in the finals of the National tournament, the Falcons in the consolation bracket.

The real spectacular in the game was the way the Del'auls played. The Falcons are hoping for an easier task in the East. They will be at DePaul and McGill before ever going to Oklahoma. A Chicago tournament game.

Several top-notch teams are expected to vie for the championship of the tournament. A win over Valparaiso 72-49 in Fort Wayne recently has far surpassed the Falcons.
