Advisory committee to help ensure asbestos safety

An Advisory Committee to help ensure asbestos safety has been formed in response to the University's and state's asbestos problem. Members of the committee, for which 11 have been appointed, will work with University officials and the state to make the campus asbestos-free. The committee is composed of UW-O students and educators from Engineering, Science and Business.

The University's administrative staff, members of the state's asbestos task force, members of the state's asbestos task force, and other community leaders have been asked to participate.

The University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh has been designated as a leader in the state's asbestos task force. The University has been asked to help ensure the safety of its employees and students.

Faculty Senate

Probationary faculty received a new "bill of rights" in a series of amendments to the University's bylaws. The amendments, narrowly approved by the Faculty Senate at the meeting held Wednesday (Feb. 28) in New Hall, were in response to the concerns of the probationary faculty and to the suggestion of the Faculty Senate at its meeting held last fall.

The amendments, with one exception, will go into effect on May 1. The exception is the amendment concerning the nonrenewal or termination of the probationary faculty. This amendment has been referred back to the Senate by the Faculty Senate Committee on Probation and cannot be considered again until the next meeting of the Senate.

Dancer to visit area schools

The University's Arts Unlimited program invites dance professionals from across the country to the region each spring. The arts education program is sponsored by the Office of the Arts and the Office of the Dean of Students. The program is directed by Dr. Brendan D. Markow, assistant professor of theater and director of arts education at Bowling Green State University. "We create an environment where students can interact with these professional dancers and learn about the importance of dance," said Dr. Markow. "The arts education program is one way we are creating a more arts-conscious campus." He added that the arts education program is one way we are creating a more arts-conscious campus. Phi Beta Kappa

to speak on Indian politics

Sukanta Bose, a professor in the history department at the University of California, Berkeley, and an expert on Indian politics, will speak on "Hindu-Gandhi and the Yuga Generation in India" at 7:30 p.m. Friday (March 1) in the Alumni Room of the University Union.

Professor Bose, a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Visiting Scholars program with support from the Ford Foundation, is delivering an eight-city schedule of lectures throughout the United States. His visit is being coordinated by Dr. John L. G. Rodley, chair of the political science department.

For tickets or more information, contact the University Union at (2-2515).

The festival, held each year in March, recognizes prominent scholars and writers in such fields as music, popular culture, and ethnic studies. This year, the festival features lectures by noted scholars in the fields of music, popular culture, and ethnic studies.

The festival features a wide range of events, including lectures, panel discussions, and a concert. The festival's goal is to bring together scholars and students from a variety of disciplines to explore the relationship between music, popular culture, and ethnic studies.

The festival's featured events include:

- A lecture by John L. G. Rodley, chair of the political science department, who will discuss the origins of the Yuga Generation in India.
- A panel discussion on Indian politics, featuring panelists from the University of California, Berkeley, and the University of Chicago.
- A performance by a local music group, highlighting the influence of Indian music on American popular culture.

The festival will be held at various locations on the University of California, Berkeley, campus, including the UC Berkeley Graduate Library, the UC Berkeley Student Center, and the UC Berkeley Student Union. For more information, visit the festival's website or contact the UC Berkeley Student Union at (2-2181).
