Graduate School Created Here

Dr. Shuck Is Named School Director

Creation of a Graduate School at Bowling Green was announced in last week by President Frank J. Prout. The Graduate School is a reorganization and expansion of the Division of Graduate Instruction, which has been offering work leading to the degree of master of arts, Dr. Prout said.

Bookstore Credit Sales Close at Month End

After July 31, all sales at the bookstore must be in cash, according to a memorandum issued this week. This means veterans must anticipate and purchase all the supplies that they will need for the remaining two weeks of the summer session. Such items charged to veterans' accounts must be returned after July 31. The bookstore will remain open.

Cashier Resigns

Leah M. Reese, Mt. Cory, this week completed six years in the business office at Bowling Green State University. Appointed cashier in December, 1940, Miss Reese submitted her resignation several months ago. For this month she will go to Sacramento, California.

Dr. Litherland Attends Miami Workshop Session

Dr. Herschel Litherland of the College of Education is attending the Miami Workshop Session on "School Financing" at Oxford, Ohio.

The 1946 session which is in progress from July 8 to July 19 is attended by the educational leaders of the state of Ohio and is under the sponsorship of the deans of the colleges of education of the Ohio state universities.

Two Departments Added For Fall

Two more new departments have been established at Bowling Green University beginning in September. These departments are physics and political science, both of which were branches of other departments in the past.

Physics, previously combined with chemistry, will have as its chairman Prof. Willard E. Singer, a Bowling Green faculty member since 1943. A graduate of Capi tal University and Ohio State, he is completing work on his doctoral dissertation at the latter institution.

A Virginian released by the end of the academic year Dr. Charles A. Barrett will direct political science, an offshoot of history. His degree and his campus is the University of Virginia and Ohio State. Dr. Barrett came here in 1946.

President Frank J. Prout said that the new departments are acting appointments.

Dr. Clarke E. Martin continues to head chemistry and Prof. John Schwarz historical.

Fraternities Pledge 43 Men

Forty-three men students have been pledged to five social fraternities at the end of the first summer rushing period, according to B. C. Conklin, Dean of Students. Names of pledges follow. Cashier Resigns

"What To Do About Russia" will be the subject discussed by Congressman Karl Mundt at an assembly next Monday, July 22, in the Auditorium.

Congressman Mundt spent 63 days on a study of economic and Near Eastern areas as a member of a special House Foreign Affairs sub-committee which was charged to make an in its survey from Leningrad in the north to Baku on the Caspian Sea, he may be expected to speak with some authority upon Congressman Mundt is a leading member of the House, having the largest district and population of any member, and his ideas which he wrote into House Resolution 1945, which was embodied in the United States League (UNESCO) as a part of the UNO.

He received his bachelor of arts degree at Carnegie College and his master's at Columbia, then entered teaching. Following high school work he became chairman of speech and instructor of social sciences at Union State Teachers College, Madison, Wisconsin. In 1935 he was elected to Congress.

Shortened class periods will be scheduled for Monday morning, as the assembly will run from 11:30 till 12:30. Class schedule is as follows:

Vets Group Enrolls 40 Per Cent Of G.I.'s

Slightly more than 40 per cent of the veterans enrolled at Bowling Green have joined in the Vets Group. About 150 of the 350 veterans are already members of the group, according to Barry Menaugh.

Membership is open to all veterans attending the University. The constitution of the Association was approved by Student Council in its last spring session and a copy is posted in the veterans' bulletin board at the north entrance of the well.

Applications for government educational benefits beyond the G.I. Bill of Rights totaled almost three million at the beginning of June.

"School Financing" at Oxford, Ohio, will be presented Wednesday and Thursday evenings, August 7 and 8. The play is offered without charge to those persons partially or totally deaf.

The purpose in rotation is two-fold: to relieve overloaded personnel of their administrative duties so that they may devote more time to instruction, and to provide opportunities for younger faculty members to try their hand at administrative work.

Such a policy is followed by a number of other schools, including the University of Michigan.

This change in administrative policy was recommended by unani mous vote of the executive and advisory committees.

Faculty members, some of whom have carried on the duties of department chairmanships for many years, were assured that their responsibilities would be reassigned and that they would be consulted upon the manner in which they would discharge these duties, "efficiently and without complaint."

Dr. Emerson C. Shuck of the English faculty was appointed as school director. A Bowling Green faculty member since 1945, Dr. Shuck will direct the department of English at Otterbein College, Ohio State University, and the University of Wisconsin.

Members of the new graduate staff are: Dr. W. E. Steidtmann, biology; Dr. Herschel Litherland, education; Dr. Shuck, English; Dr. Cecil L. Rew, foreign language; Prof. John Schwarz, history; Dr. Frank C. Ogg, mathematics; and Dr. C. Glenn Swanson, sociology. Each department with graduate courses is represented.

Of the 1,109 summer students at Bowling Green, 60 are taking graduate instruction.

Co-op Sponsors Youth Conference

One hundred and sixty young people will attend the annual con ference scheduled for this summer, according to the Wood County Farm Bureau Cooperative to be held at Bowling Green Aug ust 21-24. Information regarding this conference will be the main subject taught at the youth conference.

During the conference the young people will be housed at Shatell Hall.
IT SAYS HERE responsible leadership
by Bruce Sidebotham
The Veterans Association being organized on this campus has a two-fold purpose. First, it intends to help veterans adjust themselves more readily to academic and social college life. Second, it aims to be the spokesman for the veterans who will be a considerable group on the campus in the next few years. Both these purposes are sound and should be encouraged. But at the same time there is an element of danger which should also be recognized.

Veterans should be aided to rapidly become an integral part of the campus—but they should not become an independent part. In other words, the ex-serviceman in college is first a student, secondly a veteran. Hence there is danger in linking the veterans organization too closely with the veterans' political group. If they are responsible students they should realize that they have responsible leadership. Such an organization guided by capable men will be a great asset to this campus.

We can take a lesson from the veterans group at Ohio State. At Columbus the housing situation is about the same as here. Women students have been turned into the men’s dormitories where they can be more closely chaperoned. A few leaders of both groups began a demonstration in protest to this situation and petitioned the University. The veterans then applied to the governor for protection of the束 who have had the right to form their own organization. The university trustees thought this a good idea and the veterans organization was formed. In the present housing emergency. Had the veterans organization had responsibility they would have gone to the university officials first and determined all the facts of the problem. Then if the trustees did not or the veterans, they could have made their protest and see the petition, but only after a careful study of the whole situation.

The leaves it squarely up to the veterans themselves, who will have control of the association. If they are responsible students they will insure adequate leadership, and the association will become what it is intended to be, a worthy asset to the social and political life of this campus. If the members do not keep a constant watch over their leaders, then the danger is present. But at the same time there is an element of danger which should also be recognized.

Brooklyn Freshman Directs Student Employment Bureau

A student employment service has been organized by a veteran who realized the difficulties of living on $65 a month. However, this service is not limited to ex-servicemen.

Brooklyn, New York, has started the service for all students and townpeople. Already 30 students have applied for work such as baby sitting, lawn mowing, window washing, automobile repairing, clerical and farm work, selling, painting and similar jobs.

When a student signs up, he indicates preference of work and hours. Most of them prefer to work three hours a day. Rate of pay is determined by employer and employee. The former checks a card as to whether the work is satisfactory or unsatisfactory. Anyone desiring a student for part-time work should call 5951, which is Sal’s headquarters in the office of Dean of Students, Arch B. Conklin.

Brooklyn Green has long needed a service of this kind. “Now,” according to Sal’s motto, “let’s make it work by working.”

Winslow, ’41, Observes Weather For Atom Bomb Test at Kwaalein

Chief weather observer on Kwaalein for the recent atom bomb test at Bikini was Capt. Kenelm Winslow, who was graduated in August, 1941, from Bowling Green.

After leaving the University, Capt. Winslow spent a year at the College of Mining and Technology at Houghton, Mich. He is preparing to become a mining engineer.

At Kwaalein, Kenelm found that weather forecasting techniques, using balloon data from five islands, gave the right answers 75 per cent of the time.

"Science can often be beaten by the local man's experience," Kenelm explained.

In an interview published by the Baltimore Sun, he said errors could be reduced still further if the personnel had longer experience in the immediate area.

Kenelm, who is 25 years old, has one younger brother and two younger sisters. He is a direct descendant from Kenelm Winslow, a Pilgrim and brother of Edward Winslow, third governor of the Plymouth Colony.

His father, Leon L. Winslow, now director of art in the schools of Baltimore, Md., was a Bowling Green faculty member from 1914, when the University opened, until 1918. He received the honorary degree of doctor of pedagogy here in 1918, August.

His mother, the former Lois Ham, was a Bowling Green graduate. She was appointed to the University faculty in 1924, when the University opened, until 1918. She received the honorary degree of doctor of pedagogy here in 1918, August.

Cooper Becomes Athletic Coach
Sam Cooper, recently appointed as an athletic coach at the University, will report September 15, as announced by President Frank P. Stout. Cooper will have charge of cross country and swimming and assist in track according to Athletic Director Harold Anderson.

After graduating in 1936 from Oberlin College, Cooper coached and taught one year at Sandusky before going to Oberlin. He served eight years at Bellevue and three coached most sports.

At Bowling Green he succeeds Joe Glander, who became swimming coach at the University of Oklahoma August 15.

Fred Marsh Returns
In September Fred Marsh will have been discharged from the U. S. Navy as a Lieutenant Commander and will be back on the job to assist in various sports. Before the war, March was a freshman coach of football and basketball but since the Falcon teams will be playing freshmen yet this fall, he will therefore assist in varsity football and basketball and will likely go back to golf coaching next spring.

Pennants Shape Toward Series
With the ever increasing evidence that the New York Yankees are not the Yankees of old, it looks as though, this year at least, the Cubs have to do to wait for the end of the season, to wrap up the pennant in the American League. True the Yankees may overtake the Cubs, but this, although not impossible, is highly improbable.

Next Wednesday the Falcons will journey to Norwich to tangle with the "Ethiopian Clowns," negro cluster team, in a night contest commencing at 8 p.m. Bredzi

Splash Party, Box Social
Scheduled for Week-end

A splash party Friday evening in the Natatorium and a box social Saturday evening on the tennis courts are featured in the social events for this weekend. Both events are sponsored by the social committee and start at 8:30 p.m.

A style show in bathing suits through the past century will be the main attraction of the splash party. Also in the Saturday evening entertainment are dancers from the Balboa Swing Club, mixed dancing with Phil Miles will direct the Columbia Dixieland Band and Phil Miles will direct the competitive glee club. Betty Royer has charge of refreshments.

Circus is Theme of Kohl Hall Dance

Jack Bunyan’s eight piece orchestra from Toledo provided a background for the circus dance theme of Kohl Hall’s informal dance last Saturday night.

Multi-colored streamers from the balcony provided bars for the cages which housed wolves (some of BG’s best specimens were there) lions, tigers and bear cubs.

General chairman for the dance was Marjorie Maier. Committee chairmen were Katherine Arnold, publicity, and Almeda Vanmeter, refreshments.

Vets Hold Tea Dance

A Tea Dance sponsored by the Veterans Association was held in the Nest, Monday afternoon from 2:30 until 5.

Iced tea was served throughout the dance.

Bucky Monogah was chairman for the event, and Fred Pay acted as his assistant for music.

“Palm Beach Swim” will be swimming to music, contests, and special entertainments. Bessie Huard and Phil Miles are the committee in charge of refreshments.

“Sad Sack Social” is the name of the box social and square dance to be held Saturday evening. Jane Nelson’s orchestra will play for both square and round dancing, with the box social being held during the intermission. Sacks packed by the social committee, instead of boxes, will be distributed according to numbers given both men and women students as they enter. The man and woman who hold the same number will share the lunch in their sacks as it is called out by the auctioneer.

McCarthy Wins Amateur Contest

A singing football player with a sweet tenor voice walked away with the first prize in a student amateur talent contest at Bowling Green. Friday night, James McCarthy, Medford, Mass., won a $5 meal ticket for his rendition of “A Little Bit of Heaven.”

A pair of nylon—tobothbrushes—were awarded to second place winners Bernard Becker, freshman boogie pianist from Cleveland, and a box of Kleenex to third place winner Bob Adams, freshman vocalist from Cleveland, who sang “Everybody Know But Me.”

Bruce Siedleboth, N. Baltimore, was master of ceremonies and Ronnie kern, Toledo, and Claude Huard, Versailles, Mo., were co-directors.

Those participating in specialty numbers were: Irv Potts, novelty saxophonist; Spanish students, native dance; Phil Miles, original ditties; George Winters, boogie woogie; and Ronnie Kern, intimate reading, “Casey at the Bat.” These students were not eligible for the prizes.

It is hoped that more students will try out for the next amateur show which will be given next fall according to Claude Huard. The show was sponsored by the social committee.

Finney and Whyte Join News Staff

Two additions to the staff of the summer Bee Gee News have been made since the summer session began. Appointment of Richard Whyte and Margaret Finney was announced last week by Nelson Williams, editor.

In addition to her work as women’s sports writer, Peg Finney has been appointed as shop assistant. In her new job she assists in page make-up at the shop plus writing deadlines and other copy desk work.

Richard Whyte, who served on the circulation staff during the spring term, has been promoted to circulation manager for the summer Bee Gee News. He is in charge of circulation to students on campus and also of mailing the paper to the faculty, advertisers, and subscribers.

Business Experience Requirements," an article by Miss Nellie Ogilve, associate professor of business education at Bowling Green, appeared in the June bulletin of the National Association of Business Teacher-Training Institutions.

Miss Ogilve has had charge of the supervision of office practice work since it started at Bowling Green 18 years ago.

“Ave Maria” Highlights Jean Dickenson’s Recital

by Rosemary Goldman

As a third encore number, Jean Dickenson’s rendition of Schubert’s “Ave Maria” highlighted a classical program varied with modernistic compositions presented last Wednesday evening in the University Auditorium. An audience of slightly less than 1,000 students and townspeople enjoyed the voice of the coloratura soprano radio and operatic star known as the “Nightingale of the Air Waves”.

Miss Dickenson’s coloratura soprano voice, although not forceful, has a clear quality. Her personal appearance impressed the audience and Miss Dickenson sings with appeal and animation displaying her radiant personality.

Robert Macdonald at the piano accompanied the artist capably, although they do not regularly appear together.

Miss Dickenson’s program was grouped into five divisions, the first being compositions of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. Groups two and three were operatic selections. Of especially outstanding quality was Miss Dickenson’s rendition of Carl Ecker’s “Swiss Echo Song,” one of the most renowned pieces sung by Jenny Lind.

Late nineteenth century compositions including several French and Latin selections comprised part four. Miss Dickenson’s performance of Cesar Franca’s “Pans Angilicius” made it one of the outstanding numbers of the evening.

The last group, modern compositions, included the familiar “Song Folks” by Stephen Foster.

Reception Held For Opera Star

Members of Gamma Phi Beta sorority on campus during the summer session joined with the Bowling Green alumni group in entertaining Jean Dickenson, radio and opera star, at an informal reception following her recital here last Wednesday. Miss Dickenson is a University of Denver initiate of Gamma Phi Beta.
