Gladys Swarthout and Minneapolis Symphony Will Appear at B. G.

Two outstanding musical programs will highlight the assemblies to be presented at the University next year.

Gladys Swarthout, noted vocalist, will appear in an evening recital on Sunday, November 3, during the first semester.

On February 12 the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra will present a concert which will be the main event during the second semester season.

These programs have been scheduled by the entertainment committee, directed by Prof. John Swartz. Other programs for the year will be announced at a later date.

Expansion Begun On Bookstore

Permanent Quarters Ready Next October

Doubling the capacity of the University bookstores in the basement of the Ad Building is now underway. Temporary construction was begun last week and will add a section of the corridor to the bookstore. Permanent additions to be built over the Rec Hall are expected to begin next week.

Two counters will be made available by the temporary addition. Cash sales will be handled on the north side of the store, where the present show case is to be moved. Sales to veteran students will be made at the south side of the store.

Permanent quarters for the bookstore will not be ready when the fall semester rush begins. Completion of that construction cannot be expected before the middle of October.

Whereas the construction on this job begins, structural steel beams will be put in where the first columns in the Rec Hall are to be placed. The addition will be built upon them. Perhaps, if the cost is not prohibitive, an orchestra shell may be built beneath the bookstore addition in the alcove thus created.

An open house work shop and exhibit in elementary art education during the summer arts season will be held at 8 tonight in the art department in the Men's Gymnasium.

The work shop, conducted by Mrs. Ralph Trevilla, visiting art instructor, will work with groups wishing information or help in art education.

An invitation has been extended to all students to view the exhibit completed by those enrolled in art education during the summer session.

‘Perfect Alibi’ Flats Reminiscent Of Bygone Theatre Productions

Flats used in the scenery for “Perfect Alibi,” summer production of the University Theatre to be staged next Wednesday and Thursday evenings, August 7 and 8, tell all of the various elements which go into the making of the Milne community play.

“Well, these are the flats we have to use, and there is no new muscle to cover them.” So John Nagy and the stage crew started in with their brushes to repaint the canvas covered wooden frames which have provided the background for University plays the past seasons.

One light red flat goes way back to "Royal Family," the play of Archibald Barrington. Three more remind contemporary audiences of the two old maids who murdered to benefit their victims in "Arsenic and Old Lace." “Noah,” most recent production on the Milne Green stage, provides a wave effect. Even the Bard is represented with a flat from "Taming of the Shrew."

"Perfect Alibi" requires a light colored set which must be entirely uniform so as not to divert the audience from the play. Thus the flats have quite a problem in their hands repainting these flats. But the tradition of good plays and the fact that the work is done by students provide a morale that will carry the flats through the season.

New Fraternity Pledges 19 Men

Kappa Sigma Delta Has Largest Class

Kappa Sigma Delta, newly organized local fraternity, sponsored its first social activity, a smoker, at the Falcon's Nest on Tuesday, July 23. Elmer Brown, president, noted that Kappa Sigma Delta also was seated on the Bowling Green interfraternity council the same day.

Since that time, Arthur Laure, pledge master, announced that nineteen new members have been pledged to the fraternity. They are: David Aurelius, Lorain; James Carney, New Kensington, Penn.; John Compton, Toledo; Carl Dellassainta, Sandusky; Frank and Walt Ettinger, Chagrin Falls; Roderick Graves, Lorain; John Fisch, Lake Forest, Ill.; Edward Gensler, Fostoria; William Klahr, Wadsworth; Don Kinnaman, Fostoria; Rodger Kurtz, Sandusky; Tom McHugh, Toledo; James Pearce, Dayton; Carl Poppe, New Bremen; Bob Swarthout, Rochester, Mich.; Charles Warren, Findlay; Jack Waterhouse, Dayton; and Edward Weiss, Euclid.

Pledge pins are not being issued to new members in order to incur as little additional expense as possible to the fraternity as Kappa Sigma Delta is petitioning Kappa Sigma, national fraternity, and anticipates national membership early in the fall.

Trustees Discuss Red China On Wednesday

Harrison C. Forman, noted Far-Eastern correspondent, will speak on "Crisis in China" at the assembly next Wednesday morning, August 7, in the Auditorium. Mr. Forman has just returned from four years duty as a foreign correspondent in China for The New York Times, The London Times, Collier's, and the National Broadcasting Company.

Among the pertinent questions that he promises to answer are: Who are the Chinese Communists? Have they any connection with Soviet Russia? And what is the United States doing in China?

Mr. Forman's views on China have stirred up considerable discussion. His statements and facts about China reflect his "inside" work as a newspaper man. As a way to try to give those impressions, he promises to give "something that you don't get from the papers."

Students Needed At Local Plant For Canning Annual Tomato Crop

by Hank Lewis

Students are offered one of those rare opportunities to tell their employer just when and how long they want to work in helping the Heinz plant here to can this year's tomato crop.

Beginning on August 17, right after the end of the summer session, Heinz will start hiring workers and especially wants students, male and female, and veterans attending Bowling Green. No quota has been set on the total number of workers to be hired. Rather a policy of "come one, come all" will be followed in order to prevent any shortage.

The freshest harvest will begin about August 10, reach its peak around September 8, and continue into the early part of October, Heinz officials said.

Because of the acute labor shortage, students are urged to pitch in and help save the tomato crop. Pay and a choice of hours are offered. It seems like an excellent opportunity to stack up a little pin money for that freshman course in Nestology next fall.

a Student union

Despite widespread objection to use of the Falcons’ Nest as a mess hall for the Cleveland Brown’s football squad now training on our campus, evidently the husky gridironers must continue to have their supper there. Such arrangements as could be made to feed the Brownies elsewhere have removed them from the student union for two meals.

College Spirit

However, the Bee Gee News can at least correct a possible misunderstanding among the student body on one score. In so far as the management of the Falcons’ Nest is concerned, the student union is primarily for students.

Concrete evidence of this real college spirit is offered by the tea dance sponsored by the Veterans’ Association which was held in the Nest two weeks ago. The Association expected to pay for the twenty-five gallons of iced tea served, Mrs. Wright refused to accept payment and has the bills for the ice, sugar, lemons, and tea.

How About Helping?

Gripes about the long lines and slow service are always run into whenever several waiting students run out of comments on the weather. As a matter of fact, however, the service at the Nest is nearly as poor as one might expect. It is likely that several hundred students during the rush hours which occur with disturbing regularity three times a day. If students think the service is poor they could do a few things like taking their dishes back to the cart at the south end of the counter. But of course those who grip loudest are the ones who never lift a hand themselves.

georgia goes back

by Bruce Sidebotham

Reconnaissance forces have again taken over in Georgia. Through a block voting system in which Gene Tully and Charles T. Wilson are the right counties, Governor Ellis Arnall’s men were defeated in the Democratic primaries despite his majority of the ballot in the elections. Thus the blood stained banner of “white supremacy” will again fly over the exodus of the students.

Puerto Rican Boy Scouts

Join B. G. ‘Latin Colony’

Three years ago Jaime Vives and Antonio Maldonado were members of the same Boy Scout troop in Utuado, Puerto Rico. They are now in Bowling Green, where they enrolled this summer.

They became interested in the Boy Scouts and decided I should go to college in a small American city and convinced Antonio to come along, Jim recalled.

Twenty years old this summer, the boys are away from Puerto Rico for the first time. They came to New York City by air. After visiting relatives in the big city, they missed getting together on the trip here.

Their plan had been to take “the” Bowling Green train on a certain day. Little did they realize the complexities of New York under the hat

ACCIDENTS WILL HAPPEN...

“Ker-plunk” and before she knew what was happening Joan Eichenover found herself sitting on the ground in front of Shnatel Hall. A sprained ankle is no fun when it comes to dancing...

Not once but twice, Bob Mudgett has unfortunately been hit in the foot in the door of the Nest and has been somewhat embarrassed as the closing door slaps up against him from the rear.

Some slip on bars of soap, others walk into walls... Was it a wall that gave Dorothy Eschmeyer a black eye? She claims it happened the morning she was hurrying to keep an appointment with her boyfriend...

WATER VOLLEY BALL...

Tom McHugh, Bill Frounfelder, John Rickard, and Bill Mellen found themselves up against some mighty stiff competition in the water volleyball boxkicking. The opponents were Ginny Roush, Joan Crowley, Margaret Crowley, and Ellen Crowley...

TRAVELER FOR LOVE

Irene Maldonado, dashing off to Joliet, Ill., last weekend... Why?... To pin coed Joan MacDonald who’s spending the summer vacation at home while he stays here to hit the books...

A WATERMELON SPLASH...

Milk parties once a week, watermelon the next. Ross Maples, Bert Deitrich, Bruce Beldor, Willy Secor and Joe Babcock dove into four (not five) huge tasty watermelons, using the old fashioned method of eating it with their hands...

NESTY NIGHT NONSENSE...

The Nest was jumping with live, Nesty night... Dolores and Bob Greune with their latest jitter steps proved that rhythm runs in the family... Chuck Seri’s imitation of Gilda on the recording, “Put The Blame On Mame” was especially effective with body contortions... Wearing a striking red suit in contrast with her lovely blond hair, Pat Underwood got quite a bit of attention when she walked in with her boyfriend... In the midst of all the tumult the singing live music of a heated six handed pinocle game went on...

Ruth and Marian Horton, George Cump, James Fink and Jack Mutchia and Lois Jean Davies were so absorbed in the game they never gave the dancers a second look... Maud Pet Москов, dressed as three policemen walked in... First time they ever joined a social gathering with the students... (Oh yeah—ed.)
The Hot Corner
by Bill Sherman

The Cleveland Browns, who arrived on campus this week, are up to their necks in a court battle which has been the talk of football circles for the past several weeks.

The hubbub all started when the Browns signed two former Rams, halfback Gaylon Smith and tackle Chet Adams. It seems that both Smith and Adams signed to play with the Rams at the time the team was located in Cleveland, but did not consider themselves property of the Rams when the team franchise was moved to Los Angeles.

In a recent interview Coach Paul Brown issued this statement: "Adams and Smith both admitted signed to play for the Cleveland Rams, but not the Los Angeles Rams. This is our offer of consent.

At the present time both players in question are with the Browns, but this may not be permanent. Watch the papers for the outcome of this battle.

Ridge Falls to Appear

To explain the reason for this Owen Ernsthausen phoned Stony Ridge and found that the Ridge's manager had resigned due to an argument with other team officials and had failed to secure the baseball game last Wednesday were quite angry when no game was played. SUMMER GRIDDERS WORK OUT

Average age of the 66 summer football candidates at Bowling Green State University is 22 1/2 years and their weight 187 pounds.

Aaron (Bill) Croop, sophomore from Massillon, at 241 pounds is the heavy weight of the squad. He was a Falcon tackle in 1941 before leaving for service.

Oldest candidate is 27-year-old Noel Apple, sophomore from Bowling Green. Youngest and lightest is Douglas Smith, 126-pound half-back from Convoy, Van Wert County. He is 17.

Summer conditioning ends August 1 and fall practice starts September 2, Coach Bob Whittaker said.

COEDS BALL GAME ENDS IN 9-9 DRAW

Prist Power and Edie Conrad were chosen captains of the women's intramural softball teams last week. The first clash between Power's Bees and Conrad's Gees resulted in a 9 to 9 tie.

Umpire at Own Risk

Errors were still plentiful, but with the old mainstays from Shat nel and a few spectacular plays from the other players some of the spectators could still remark that those girls can really play ball. The umpire for this fracas was George who was hit with a flying glove sent with the compliments of the Geo's captain.

PEG'S POINTERS
by Margaret Finney

The proposed women's tennis tournament died a painful death because of lack of publicity and apparent disinterest among the women students. Only one co-ed, out of five-hundred enrolled, offered to play in the all-campus tournament.

Outside of one press release and an insidious piece of notebook paper hung in the main hall of the Women's Building there was no publicity. No posters appeared in the Well, the Nest, or the dorms. It wasn't even talked up.

However, the women should shoulder part of the blame. If anyone reads the News last week they should at least know that the tournament was to be sponsored. From the number that inhabit the tennis courts all day, the lack of response could hardly be due to an inability to play.

If the University lacks organized recreation, who is at fault? Stewart Goes to Ottawa Hills

Wayne Stewart, former Falcon fullback star, was recently appointed head football and basketball coach at Ottawa Hills High School. Stewart moves from the head coaching job at Wauseon, Ohio, where he compiled a fine record.

Stewart was graduated from Bowling Green in 1938.

Cleveland Browns Arrive For Four Weeks Training
by Cortes Shepherd

With the Falcon training session almost completed, the Cleveland Browns, professional team, has taken over the University training area for their pre-season warm up. The players led by Coach Paul Brown arrived on Sunday and started practice immediately amid the prospect of two law suits over the signing of players.

The Browns will be here for four weeks in which time Brown hopes to have his present oversized roster cut to the limit set by Conference regulations.

Since this is the first year that the All-America Conference, of which the Browns are a member, has operated, they hope to start it with a championship team.

Championship on Paper

Taking a look at their roster of former college, professional, and service team stars, it hardly seems possible for them to miss. However it must be realized that there are nine more teams in the league which are also loaded with stars. This means there is going to be plenty of competition for the players conditioning themselves to the grind ahead.

Among those who reported for training here on the campus are several former All-Americans, including the former Northwestern quarterback, Otto Graham.

On Graham's shoulders will probably fall the brunt of the offense. However he is expected to get plenty of support from Dippy Evans, who played at one time for Notre Dame, and the Fekete brothers, George and Dave, from Findlay. Gene is a former Ohio State star.

To lead this brilliant array of backs, Brown also has signed several other stars, Jim Yonker, Notre Dame's All-American end in 1943 being the leading candidate. No less spectacular, however, are tackles Ernie Blain, former Tulane and Jim Danieli of Ohio State.

FALCONS TRAVEL TODAY:
FROMMONT HERE THURSDAY

Today the Gibsontown team takes place host to the Falcons in a return game. The Falcons trounced them here two weeks ago 7 to 2. Tomorrow the university team meets Fremont on the local diamond.

The game scheduled for last week between the Falcons and the Stony Ridge nine was cancelled when the visiting team failed to make an appearance. This game will be played at a later date.
