Spring 'Eyas' Sale Begins at Noon

Sale of 500 copies of the delayed spring-issue of Eyas, semiannual student magazine, will begin today at the Well. Copies will be sold at the regular 22-cent price.

Delayed in June because of an over-crowded schedule at the printers, Editor Glenn Smith promised "the biggest Eyas issue ever published" to go on sale in July.

Continuing 21 manuscripts, this third issue of Eyas will feature poetry, fiction, drama, and essays submitted by the students to the editorial staff. The staff, who judged the entries, is composed of an all-student membership, advised by Dr. Rea McCain, professor of English. Included on the staff are Glennia Smith, editor-in-chief; Gayce Schott, art editor, and Jacqueline Brooke, fiction editor.

First published in May, 1946, under the editorship of Dora Yebia, Eyas marks the first effort of a non-profit student publication on campus. Butting in on literary and other literary enterprises, the staff claims high marks for art and photography contributions.

The writers and artists, advised by Gayce Schott, and the name Eyas, meaning young falcon, was suggested by Bill Voakham.

Two Graduates Get Science Degrees

George Ray Burne, superintendent of schools, Rosdorf, and Alger Clampton, Utica high school, Utica, Mich., will be the first graduates of the University to receive the degree of Master of Arts in education and not for veterans. Any check unclaimed by 12 a.m., and from 1 to 3 p.m. Tickets may also be purchased at the door the night of the play.

Philosophy Dept. Adds 11 Courses

Eleven new philosophy courses will be offered for the first time this fall.

The courses are as follows:
- aesthetics, a study of beauty; types of philosophy, the study of contemporary realism, idealism, pragmatism, mysticism; two classics in history of religions, a study of 11 religions; philosophy of science, the nature and meaning of the presuppositions of science and the conclusions of the sciences as the data of philosophy.

Fire Finishes Hut

Less than 24 hours after superimposing the fire at Hut M on campus last Wednesday, Bowling Green Fire Chief Jim Smith died of a heart attack.

Although he had suffered from a heart ailment for the past two years, his death was sudden. He had been in his usual health while performing his duties in the City Building Thursday.

Upon returning to the John Brown farm, where he resided, he went to the barn to feed the steers. After about 15 minutes, his wife went to the barn to look for him, and found him dead.

Research Bureau Studies Children

Approximately 136 children this year have been referred to Bowing Green's Bureau of Juvenile Research which covers a surrounding 12-county area.

Dr. Maurice Newberger, recently appointed executive psychologist in the main office in Columbus, has been the consultant psychologist for Bowling Green since the establishment of the bureau on campus in 1942. The bureau is one of three branch bureaus set up in Ohio as a part of the State Department of Public Welfare.

The purpose of the Bureau of Juvenile Research is to study, observe, and treat children who are delinquent or who are behavior-educational, or placement problems. These children are referred to the bureau through schools, social agencies, courts, health departments, and crippled children services. Dr. Newberger has found that 50 percent of the children are referred to him through schools.

Fire, caused by lacquer flames igniting from the heat of the water heater pilot light, destroyed Hut M last Wednesday. It was one of 19 houses in the section, but was not being occupied this summer. Loss of building and equipment was estimated at approximately $6,000.

Lacquer Flames Ignite Hut M

by Betty Thome

A "flash fire," caused from the igniting of lacquer thinner fumes, destroyed Hut M on the last steel frame, late last Wednesday afternoon. It is one of 15 steel huts located east of the football field. E. J. Kreisler, business manager, has estimated the loss of building and equipment at approximately $6,000.

John Breithaupt and Dale Raths, students who were painting the floors, stated that fumes from the highly inflammable O.D. paint which they were using were apparently ignited by the flame from the water heater pilot light. Although there were no serious injuries, they said that the fire seemed to cover the entire floor before they could reach the door.

Bowling Green fire trucks arvailed for about five minutes after the fire was reported, but the fire burned hot and fast; thus the interior was already burned out and much of the sheet metal roofing and siding was melted before the booster pump could be used. Sev-fire extinguishers were discharged by the firemen when the fire went out.

Furniture and equipment destroyed included: eight beds, four desks, two chairs, eight cots, drawers, sixteen mattresses, sixteen pillows, and plumbing fixtures. The fire, caused by lacquer thinner, was carried on all of the property.

Bill McConahee, an occupant of the hut, reported that only four of the 15 huts are being occupied because of the fire. They were erected early in 1946 as a part of the temporary housing program.

Independent Group Organized for Men

An Independent Organization for men students is being organized now, to begin active participation in campus affairs this fall, according to Mike Sponse, organizer.

This group has already received the action of the administration, which is interested in seeing this started under proper auspices. This is not a veterans' organization of any kind, Mike emphases. We are an independent student on campus.

The purpose of such an organization is to give the independent man a representation in student government, and to make the non-fraternity a part of the integral part of campus life through participation in campus activities.

Plans are already under way for nationalization, and may be compared to the first year of an organisation.
Adorning the side of the new Falcon bus recently purchased by the athletic department is a silhouette of a new symbol of the University, an aggressive Falcon designed by Prof. Willard F. Wankelman, of the art department. Tired of the "dead looking bird perched above the door of the Nest," Mr. Wankelman decided that the school needed a symbol with some action portrayed.

Students of his commercial design class recently created other Falcons, combined with the name or letters of the University, and these drawings may be adopted as a design for transfers for automobiles and luggage. If none of these designs are satisfactory to the Administration, Prof. Wankelman's design may be used.

Assembly Lecture Features Carlson Attack on Communism

by Jack Miller

"The only way to get rid of communism in America is to make democracy work," Prior to this assertion, John B. Carlson scathingly denounced Rep. Rankin and Sen. McCracken and then went on to classify journalist Westbrook Pegler as "intellectually sterile."

Mr. Carlson, well known author who spoke at Assembly July 16, has been investigating anti-American organizations and propaganda. He decried statements about his fascist and communist sympathies when he said, I'm a middle-class American and that's what I'll always be."

"The revival of Hitlerism is a threat everywhere man must face. The bolsheviks are determined to become the battleground of the future. As America goes, so go the rest of the world."

People who are well fed, clothed and housed will not be interested in any ideologies. I think democracy will hold its own unless there is a major economic breakdown."

In outlining a seven point program for the preservation of the American way of life, he declared his opposition to all forms of religious and racial intolerance. His major points included: the creation of all anti-American groups, guarding against hate and intolerance through a well-informed populace and lastly, the importance of keeping the home and country.

Elaborating on the danger of communist infiltration, Mr. Carlson stated, communism is not fought effectively because so few of us understand it. Communism is stronger in our country today than at any other time. No part of the country is immune from it."

"Make democracy work" was the major theme propounded by Mr. Carlson and the only positive means of preventing foreign ideologies from taking hold in the United States. Stressing teamwork as one of the major factors in securing victory in World War II, he stated that "teamwork, too, can uphold a postwar democracy."

Graduates Teaching In and Out of Ohio

What will happen to this year's education graduates? Here is what some of them will be doing in the fall.

Jean Meek, music major, has a position at Cygnet. Dorothy Ashbrook will teach music at Mt. Horeb. Home economics major, Mary Frances Hyde and Evelyn Kihler will teach at Xenia, Mary Tomlinson at Cleveland Heights, and Virginia Pepple at Archbold.

Pat Kroft and Janice George, music majors, Mary Frances Hyde and Evelyn Kihler will teach at Xenia, Mary Tomlinson at Cleveland Heights, and Virginia Pepple at Archbold. To the literary snobs who ignore writing styles because it insults them to be erected. Two of the houses will be designed by Abe Lincoln.)"

"We are met on a great campus. And while we look forward to the dawn of what we see here, we long remember, what we say here, for what we say here will not perish from these sorority houses, of the so-called "Aurora Dawn" is a satire on advertising and, because of the success of the cover painting that "teamwork, too, can uphold a postwar democracy."
TALE OF A TRAINER

Enlargement of the training facilities now going on in the men's gym calls attention to one of the hardest working, but least publicized members of the University's athletic department. We are speaking, of course, of head-trainer, Al Sawdy. Al, whose expert training methods have kept Falcon athletes in tip-top condition since his arrival here in 1944, has had a wide variety of experience in this type of work.

After graduating from Michigan State Normal, where he was a football team mate of George Muehlen, he was appointed line coach at Fostoria High and remained there until his acceptance of a trainer's post with the Detroit Lions of the National Football League. From the Lions he moved on to Beloit College in Wisconsin as head swimming coach. In 1944, he was offered a similar position here at BG and remained in this capacity until he was succeeded by Sam Cooper.

Al, a World War I veteran, is married and the father of three daughters. He is an ardent fisherman and when there are no ankles to be taped or kinks to be kneaded, can usually be found angling alongside some shady Ohio or Michigan stream. Another of his numerous skills is the teaching of water safety and lifesaving, a field in which he is regarded as one of the top authorities in the State. This summer he is director of the University's natatorium program.

The ceaseless activity and tireless efforts of this virtuoso of the tape and towel has been, and will be, one of the most important factors in the success of Falcon athletic teams.

WE'RE TOLD:

June grads, Danny Marazon and Mark Marko will be assistant football coaches next season at Toledo Waite High. . . Another pair of 46 gridder, Al Schindler and John Tabler, will occupy similar positions at Sandusky while Cletus Swigart will assist ex-Falcon Ben Tenwele at Upper Sandusky. . . Maury Rosenthal, freestyler on last year's tank squad, is spending the summer as head recreational director at Camp Omabak at Casco, Maine. . . Old Athletic Department records show that BG's first intersectional game was played way back in '26 when the cagers treked to North Carolina, only to be defeated by Elon, 40-30. . . Play Activity Students

Practice Classroom Work

Students in the play activity class at the University are working in collaboration with Mrs. Roslyn Newcomer, recreation director at City Park. By working in conjunction with the city project, students are applying, practically, their classroom work.

Women's Physical Education

Stockroom to be Closed

The stockroom for women's physical education students which has been open in the afternoon, will be closed because of lack of demand for equipment. Table tennis, shuffleboard, and golf equipment may still be obtained for use by checking them out from 7 to 11 in the morning.

Sigma Chi Host for Leadership School

Sigma Chi national fraternity will conduct its first leadership school on the campus from Aug. 31 to Sept. 3 under the direction of Dr. Fred T. Mitchell, president of Mississippi State College.

The program will consist of sessions of discussion on four phases of fraternity life: rushing, pledge training, initiation, and chapter management.

There will be a recreation program of tennis, golf, softball, swimming, and volley ball with suitable parties for the weeks.

Each Sigma Chi chapter in the country has been asked to send three members. There will be approximately three hundred here for the school.

Dr. John Mosely, president of the University of Nevada, will be the guest speaker at the banquet to be held on the closing day.

Dean Harshman is taking care of all the arrangements for housing and meals.

University Offices

Use "Cast Off" Art

University business officers now boast a set of paints by William Wankelman, assistant professor of art. Two of his pictures are on display in Dr. Probst's office.

Professor Wankelman, who has stacks of paintings in his office, modestly announced, "I haven't enough room for them, so I'm pushing them off on the business offices. When they get tired of them, they can shift them around."

Actually, his paintings are hardly the type that would need to be "pushed off."

Prof. Wankelman, an Ohio State University alumnus, came to Bowling Green last September from Washington State College. Previous to that, he had been art supervisor at Port Clinton.

SCF Schedules Final Program

An overnight outing to Grand Rapids, Ohio has been planned for this week end by members of the Student Christian Fellowship. They will leave Saturday afternoon at 2:00 for the Grand Rapids Shelter House. There will be recreation, speeches, and worship under the direction of Rev. Jim Stoner.

This outing will be the final program for the summer.

The group will return Sunday morning in time to attend the Christian Church and hear a sermon by Rev. Stoner. Due to the absence of Mrs. Vera Lowrie, scheduled speaker for SCF Sunday evening, a student panel consisting of Bob Striegel, Jim Limbaugh, and Betty Hester was conducted with Rev. Stoner as chairman. The topic was "College Life vs. Moral Life."

Scholarship Won by BG Music Student

Miss Nelda Rudolph, Holgate, has received word that she was one of the 26 candidates among 350 to receive Parent Teachers scholarship of the Ohio Congress. The scholarship amounts to $200 toward college work. Miss Rudolph is now in attendance at Bowling Green taking Public School.

June Graduates Married In Vermillion Church

Two former Bowling Green students, Beulah Miller and James C. Meyers, were united in a double-ring ceremony at the Congregational church at Vermillion, Ohio. They were graduated in June.

Mrs. Meyers was a member of the Home Economics Club and president, of Kappa Delta sorority last year.

Gerald G. Acker, biology instructor, is training at Camp Perry with the National Guard for a two-week period. He will remain there until Aug. 3

Acker at Camp Perry With National Guard

by Kathy Arnold

Gerald G. Acker, instructor in biology, left Sunday for Camp Perry for a two-week field training period with the National Guard.

Mr. Acker organized the National Guard, Company C, 185th Infantry, at Bowling Green. He is the company commander. He received federal recognition on March 28, 1941. There are 45 men and two officers in the company.

July 20 to Aug. 3 marks the first field training of the National Guard at Camp Perry since the war. The training will be with the 57th division.

Before coming to Bowling Green in the fall of 1941, Mr. Acker had 59 months of service with the infantry, of which 34 months were in the European theater. He served in three campaigns, Northern France, Rheinland, and Central Germany. At that time he was a first lieutenant commanding head of Company D, 347th infantry, 87th division, with Patton's third army.

The governor of Ohio will review the troops on the first weekend at Camp Perry.
